Institutional Policy Manual

Volume I: University Governance
Gannon is a Catholic, diocesan, co-educational University located in the heart of Erie, Pennsylvania. Classified today as a Comprehensive Master's I institution, Gannon's history began as the vision of Bishop John Mark Gannon who, in 1925, delivered a homily in St. Peter Cathedral in which he stressed the importance of "providing in Erie for the college education of high school graduates." Mother Helena Dillon and Sister Stella Harrington, Sisters of St. Joseph, were in the Cathedral congregation that morning, and, immediately after Mass, they approached Bishop Gannon and Monsignor Joseph "Doc" Wehrle, superintendent of the Catholic school system, to request permission to create a college for women in Erie. Villa Maria College was opened in time for the next academic year, only months after the original request.

Eight years later, under Villa Maria's charter, "Doc" Wehrle, with the support of Bishop Gannon, founded Cathedral College for Men. In 1941, after purchase of the Strong Mansion (now known as Gannon's "Old Main"), Cathedral College was moved and renamed Gannon School of Arts and Sciences, once again under Villa Maria's charter (Gannon received its own charter in 1944.) In an announcement to the Erie community, Bishop Gannon expressed his vision for Gannon: "I don't think the right to a college education should be based on wealth or social standing. I think the right to a college education should be based on virtue and talent. The College will be open to young men of any creed or color. They shall receive an education and at a minimal cost - a cost which they can well defray by a newspaper route."

"Doc" Wehrle served as Gannon's president until 1956. He was succeeded by Monsignor Wilfrid Nash, who facilitated the establishment of Gannon's first graduate program in 1964 and the transition to a co-educational institution in 1969. In 1977, Dr. Joseph P. Scottino became Gannon's third president. Under his leadership, Gannon College achieved University status in 1979. Gannon's fourth president, Dr. M. Daniel Henry, served from 1987 to 1991, overseeing the merger of Villa Maria College and Gannon University in 1989. Villa still retains its identity as one of the schools of study at Gannon University, the Villa Maria School of Nursing.

Monsignor David Rubino, Ph.D., succeeded Dr. Henry and served as president for ten years. During his tenure, Gannon's financial resources grew, campus facilities were renovated, and the Waldron Campus Center built.

Dr. Antoine M. Garibaldi served as president from 2001 to 2010. Under his leadership, Gannon's enrollment increased by 24 percent, the University's endowment more than doubled; the number of colleges increased from two to three; more than two dozen buildings were constructed, acquired and renovated; and Gannon completed the largest comprehensive campaign in the University's history, raising more than $31.5 million in private gifts and nearly $40 million total, including two first-ever multi-million dollar federal grants from the U.S. Department of Education (Title III and Student Support Services) and more than $5 million of federal and state grants to establish the Erie Technology Incubator.
Dr. Keith Taylor became Gannon's seventh president in 2011 and immediately laid out a vision with four primary themes for the University: to encourage student success and leadership through classroom integration and experiential education; to enhance faculty excellence and scholarship by continuing to build an active learning environment for students and faculty and community-based scholarly work; to strengthen and revitalize partnerships with the City of Erie, Erie County, and the Diocese of Erie through the Erie-GAINS initiative; and to deepen the University's commitment to globalization on campus and to focus on Gannon's responsibilities to the world community. In his Inaugural address, Dr. Taylor said, "The development of our Master Plan for campus facilities, the ongoing Strategic Plan, the evolving Erie-GAINS project, and our more defined globalization efforts are establishing a framework upon which we can intentionally and conscientiously transform our great University. A focus on excellence and on action will be our calling card."

Gannon University is comprised of two vibrant campuses in Erie, Pa. and Ruskin, Florida. Gannon's Erie campus has three colleges - the Morosky College of Health Professions and Sciences, the College of Engineering and Business, and the College of Humanities, Education and Social Sciences - and offers more than 90 degree programs including 66 bachelor's degree programs, 27 master's degree programs, and six doctoral programs. The heart of a Gannon undergraduate education is the Liberal Studies Program, which challenges students and colleagues to answer the question: "How shall I live my life?"

Although Gannon has changed significantly since its founding, it continues to maintain the tradition of its founders, basing its teaching and learning mission on the holistic development of its students. This is conveyed in the University motto: "Sanitas, Scientia, Sanctitas," or, "Soundness of Mind, Knowledge, and Holiness of Life." Equally important, the University realizes that the true measure of its academic excellence is reflected in the personal and professional accomplishments of its graduates, who currently number 33,500 successful engineers, scientists, lawyers, teachers, physicians and nurses, business executives, government professionals, media personalities, and religious personnel who are leaders in their professions, in their churches, and in their communities.

To understand Gannon fully, however, one must understand its Christian inspiration, expressed in the statement On Catholic Identity: Respect, Community, Service, Sacramentality, and Dialogue between Faith and Reason. Gannon aspires to be more than an educational institution; it aspires to be a community that draws people together to search for truth, meaning, and beauty. At Gannon, these aspirations lead to faith in action.
The seal of Gannon University is actually a combination of two different sets of symbols.

The right side of the shield is proper to the Gannon family and represents the spiritual symbolism in the baptismal names of our founder, Archbishop John Mark Gannon. The three crosses in the upper right corner express faith in the Trinity. In color, the crosses are depicted on a green field that symbolizes the virtue of hope. In the lower right corner the halved eagle is the apocalyptic symbol of St. John the Evangelist. In a colored version, the eagle is depicted on a red shield which refers to the martyrdom of St. Mark.

The left side of the shield includes traditional symbols of learning: the lamp of learning, the book of knowledge, and the sun as a symbol of enlightenment. The waves indicate that the university is located adjacent to Lake Erie.

The three Latin words on the ribbons - sanitas, scientia, and sanctitas - stand for soundness of mind, knowledge, and holiness of life.

The Latin letters that circle the seal state that Gannon is situated in Erie, Pennsylvania, and was founded in 1925.
The Gannon University colors are maroon and gold.
The Gannon Athletic men's teams are called the Golden Knights and the female teams are called the Lady Knights.

Purpose of the Pre Tenure Review Committee

During the 2015-2016 academic year, a pre-tenure review process was created at Gannon University. This process was established to provide comprehensive formative feedback for faculty at an impactful time in the tenure process. A pre-tenure review committee (PTRC) participates in this pre-tenure review by serving as reviewers of the applicants' sample narratives. The proposal can be viewed in the IPM, volume IV, 4.5.5.6.0.0.0.

Membership

The PTRC is a standing committee of the Faculty Senate. It is comprised of current and past members of the Gannon University College and University Rank and Tenure Committees, and is designed to help candidates interface with experienced, tenured faculty. Membership is composed of:

Reviewer assignments shall be made by the PTRC chair and agreed upon by the members of the PTRC. Gannon is responsible for assessing each job to determine if colleagues are at risk of exposure to blood or other potentially infectious materials (OPIM).

Where the potential for exposure exists, Gannon will provide training, implement engineering and work practice controls, provide personnel protective equipment, and offer the hepatitis B vaccine. In the event of an exposure incident Gannon will provide free of charge:

1. A confidential post-exposure medical evaluation;
2. Medical follow-up, including post exposure prophylaxis;

Colleagues may elect not to receive the hepatitis B vaccine; however, they must observe all other procedures stipulated in the Blood Borne Pathogens policy. A copy of this policy is presented to all colleagues newly employed or assigned to positions that involve a risk of exposure and is available in the Human Resources Department.
Gannon maintains a material safety data sheet (MSDS) on any chemical substance that is used by colleagues in the performance of their respective functions. Each MSDS provides detailed information on whether or not the chemical substance presents risk to colleagues of exposure to physical hazards or health hazards.

Colleagues at risk of exposure will be instructed on all aspects of the hazardous chemical substances in their work area (i.e., physical hazards, health hazards, etc.).

1. Physical hazards such as fire or explosion will be explained and proper prevention methods discussed as per the MSDS(s).

2. Health hazards such as toxicity, irritation, cancer, reproductive hazards, corrosiveness, sensitization, etc. will be explained and proper prevention methods discussed as per the MSDS(s).

Colleagues will be trained in safe handling, personal safety equipment that should be worn when handling various chemicals, and emergency response procedures. They will be provided access to an interpretation of lists of chemicals MSDS(s). They will be trained on labeling systems and labeling requirements. OSHA's purpose, scope and application, employer responsibilities, and colleague rights will be reviewed.

Supervisors are responsible for obtaining an MSDS for all chemicals and chemical mixtures purchased in their department.

All containers of chemicals are to be properly labeled according to OSHA requirements.

Colleagues are to contact the Human Resources Department relative to problems, questions or concerns about the Hazardous Chemical Communication Plan.

Additionally, the University encourages members of the Campus Community who wish to be informed of the identities of registered sex offenders residing in the surrounding area to visit the following website: http://www.psp2.state.pa.us/svp/index.htm.
In compliance with the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act (the "Clery Act"), 20 U.S.C. 1092 (f), Gannon University issues timely warning reports to notify the campus community of Clery Act crimes or other serious incidents that the University determines represent a serious and ongoing threat to the campus. The University may distribute timely warning reports using a variety of means, including emails, text-messages, voice messages, flyers, and website announcements posted on the University network/website.

Further details, duties and descriptions are also available in the University's Crisis Communication Plan & Emergency Response Manual which is also posted on the University website.

Timely warnings are issued on a case-by-case basis for Clery Act crimes or other serious incidents reported to the Campus Police and Safety Office or local police agencies and that pose "serious and ongoing threats" to students and employees on campus or in the immediate campus community. In deciding whether to issue a timely warning, the University considers all of the facts surrounding the incident such as the nature of the crime, the continuing danger to the campus community and the possible risk of compromising law enforcement efforts. Incidents that may result in issuing a timely warning include the serious incidents and the following Clery Act crimes:

- Criminal homicide
- Negligent manslaughter
- Sex offenses
- Robbery
- Aggravated assault
- Burglary

- Arson
The University will issue a timely warning as soon as it determines there is a serious and ongoing threat to students or employees on campus and/or in the immediate campus community. The determination will be made based on the information that Campus Police and Safety or the Erie Police Department has available to it at the time.

The Director of Campus Police and Safety or his designee is responsible for issuing the timely warning and for preparing and distributing timely warning reports. The Director or his designee may contact the Marketing and Communications Department for assistance in this matter.

In most instances, the timely warning will be issued through the University's email system to students, faculty and staff. Depending on the particular circumstances of the crime or threat, Campus Police and Safety may also post a notice through text messages, flyers posted at residence halls, academic buildings, and on the University website. The Emergency Alert System will be used for incidents that involve immediate and imminent threat to those on campus. This will include any emergency incident including those not covered under the Clery Act. See the Emergency notification Policy.

The intent of a timely warning is to enable members of the campus community to protect themselves. A timely warning will include information that promotes safety and aids in the prevention of similar crimes, such as the following information:

- A brief statement of the incident
- Possible connection to other incidents, if applicable
- Physical description of the suspect, if available
- Composite drawing of the suspect, if available
- Date and time of the incident

Anyone with information about a Clery Act crime or other serious incident should report the circumstances to Campus Police and Safety, by phone 814-871-7690 or in person at the Campus Police and Safety office in the Harborview apartment building.

2.3.9.0.0.0 Missing Student Policy

Revision Date: 6/10/2014   Approval Date: 6/10/2014   Current Version

The purpose of this policy is to establish responsibilities and guidelines for the Gannon Police and Safety Department's response to reports of missing students living in on-campus housing.

It is the policy of this Department to expeditiously respond to and thoroughly investigate all reports of missing persons. All available resources will be immediately directed toward the investigation of a student who is missing under unusual circumstances and considered "at risk", until sufficient information to the contrary is confirmed.

In accordance with the Higher Education Opportunity Act of 2008 (20 U.S.C. Â§ 1092(j)), Gannon University has adopted this Missing Student Notification Protocol. Each student has the option to register a Confidential/Emergency Contact person who will be notified by Gannon University if the student is determined to be missing or in the case of a health or safety emergency. The students will be advised of this when they choose to live in on-campus housing, even if it is in mid-year. This contact is considered confidential and will only be used for a personal emergency.

Confidential Contact information will be kept confidential and will only accessible by authorized personnel in furtherance of a missing person investigation or in the case of a health or safety emergency.

In addition to notifying the Confidential Contact, the University is required to notify a custodial parent or guardian of the missing status of any student under the age of 18, and not emancipated.

Missing Student Procedures

Anyone may contact the Gannon University Police, Student Development Office or the Office of Residence Life at any time to report concern that a student may be missing. If the report did not originate through Gannon University Police, the information will be immediately conveyed to University Police to begin an investigation.

If the Gannon University Police investigation determines that the student is missing, the University will notify the student's Confidential Contact no later than 24 hours after determining that a student is missing. If the missing student is under the age of 18, and not emancipated, the University will contact a custodial parent or guardian, in addition to the Confidential Contact within 24-hours. The University will also notify the appropriate local law enforcement agency (City of Erie Bureau of Police) within 24 hours of the determination that the student is missing.

In the event of a missing student scenario, nothing in this protocol shall be interpreted as requiring the University to defer any action or to delay contacting any individual, law enforcement authority or other entity.

Members of the Gannon University Community should immediately report missing persons to Gannon University Office of Police & Safety by calling (814) 871-7777 or (814) 871-7690. Within Gannon University, responsibility for investigation of missing person reports rests with the Office of Police & Safety. There is no waiting period for reporting a missing person. Responding officers will carefully record and investigate the factual circumstances surrounding the disappearance. Particular care will be exercised in the instances involving those who may be mentally or physically impaired or others who are insufficiently prepared to care for themselves.

Reports of students missing from off-campus residences will be referred to the police department having jurisdiction over the student's local residence, if known, or the student's permanent residence if a local residence cannot be determined.

Revision Date: 6/16/2015   Approval Date: 6/16/2015   Current Version

The following policy applies to the use of mobile computing devices. Examples of mobile computing devices include laptops, tablets, smart phones, and e-readers. Gannon University's IT Code of Conduct governs the use of any mobile device that is used on the University's network regardless of whether or not that device was purchased with University funds.

Because of their portability, mobile devices are easily misplaced and susceptible to theft. Along with the privilege of accessing University resources comes the additional responsibility to safeguard a mobile device from potential theft, damage, and unauthorized usage. Individuals that access University data and resources are responsible for ensuring their mobile device is secure and must take precautions to prevent damage to or loss/theft of the mobile device.

All mobile devices that access University resources are governed by this policy regardless of whether University or privately owned.
Mobile device users are expected to provide reasonable care and effort to protect their mobile device.

1. Mobile devices are to be configured to lock the console after a period of inactivity with a password required to unlock the device. Maximum period of inactivity is 30 minutes.

2. Configure the mobile device to erase all data after not more than ten failed attempts to enter the password.

3. Mobile devices are to be kept in a secured location when not in use.

4. Mobile devices are not to be left unattended in public places.

5. Mobile devices are not to be left unsecured in an unlocked office or meeting place.

Sensitive information is not to be saved on a mobile device. Individuals are to use the University's secured network storage. Storing sensitive information in the cloud or in public drop-boxes is not allowed. When accessing sensitive information using a mobile device, precautions should be taken to protect the information:

1. Keep software (including anti-virus) up-to-date. Many software updates correct security issues.
   a. Warning: anti-virus software is not available on some smart phones

2. Only install apps from trusted resources. Apps can host malware that will expose your passwords, credit card numbers, or anything else you type into your mobile device

3. Turn off Wi-Fi and Bluetooth if you aren't using them. Wireless features give remote access to hackers.

4. If a public WI-FI is used, the University's VPN must be used to access the sensitive information. When accessing sensitive information, usage of a public, non-secured WI-FI is prohibited.

5. Sensitive information stored on a mobile device is to be encrypted. If encryption is not supported on your mobile device, the sensitive data is not to be stored on this device.

Sensitive information includes, but is not limited to, education records of students, and confidential internal University information. Sensitive information includes any data that is protected by University policy, or by local, state, or federal laws or regulations; such as: 1) The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) is a Federal law that protects the privacy of student education records. 2) The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) Privacy Rule provides federal protections for personal health information held by covered entities and gives patients an array of rights with respect to that information. 3) PCI Data Security Standards that governs security of credit card data.
Unauthorized usage or the loss of any (University or privately owned) mobile device accessing University resources must be reported to the Director of ITS immediately. Theft or loss that is known to have occurred on campus is to be also reported to Campus & Public Safety.

Individuals are to pay due diligence when installing applications. Many applications require access to and provide real time tracking of your location, contacts and data files, and personal information. Individuals are responsible for ensuring, to the best of their ability, University data will not be compromised by any application. Some applications require the entry of individual user-id and password. Individuals should take every precaution to secure their network credentials and keep track of applications that require the credentials.

The Chief of Staff and Director of Marketing and Communications assists the President in responding to and initiating media contacts and will, under the President's direction, disseminate any statements of policy.

The Chief of Staff and Director of Marketing and Communications may call upon certain administrative and academic personnel to issue information in an attempt to ensure accuracy or expert commentary on particular matters. In those cases, the Chief of Staff and Director of Marketing and Communications will assist, in an appropriate manner, those so designated. If any Gannon University employee, administrator, or faculty member is contacted by media representatives, the employee will refer all inquiries to the Chief of Staff and Director of Marketing and Communications or the Media Relations and Marketing Manager immediately.
2.5.2 Crisis Communications Plan

2.5.2.1.0.0.0 Overview

Revision Date: 8/1/2017  Approval Date: 8/1/2017  Current Version

This Crisis Communications Plan is intended to provide key leaders at the University with a hands-on plan to better manage all types of crisis communications. Successful media relations begin with proactive rather than reactive management of messages, also known as "strategic communications."

A crisis is defined as any type of event(s) that could harm members of the Gannon University community, an emergency situation, or a crisis that could negatively impact the University's image and/or reputation for a short or prolonged amount of time.

During an emergency/crisis situation, Gannon's communications efforts will strive to fulfill the following objectives: maintain a focus on known facts and positive behavior; represent Gannon University as responsible, responsive, and caring; maintain stakeholder confidence in our leaders and in our Institution; and effectively communicate with all employees, students, Gannon's external key audiences, the media and the public.

A crisis usually attracts a large amount of media attention. While the University can never control what the media reports, the University spokesperson/people can and must control the University's message, as well as the flow and content of all information released from the University. All Gannon community members can help control the University's message by referring all media inquiries and external communication to the University Marketing and Communications Office.

Please note: This plan is NOT intended to serve as a tactical or procedural plan. The Gannon Campus Police and Safety Office maintains and manages the University's Emergency Plan (see also Subsection 2.3.3 Purpose  Procedures Responsibility). This Crisis Communications Plan is intended to manage the communications process during and after the crisis.
2.5.2.2.0.0.0 Crisis Communications Policy

Revision Date: 8/1/2017  Approval Date: 8/1/2017  Current Version

The University Marketing and Communications Office bears primary responsibility for maintaining and safeguarding the University's public image. All media inquiries during an emergency should be directed to the University Marketing and Communications Office, which shall adhere to these policies:

1. To work with the Campus Police and Safety Office and to be an authoritative, reliable source of accurate information for news agencies and to the public, as well as all members of Gannon's internal and external audiences. The Chief of Staff and Director of Marketing and Communications and the Director of Campus Police and Safety can update members of the Gannon community and the neighboring local community with updates and important information via the University's Emergency hotline number at (814) 871-5555 and can also utilize the broadcast email, text, and voicemail services.

2. To distribute news and safety information to all employees and students of Gannon University before or at the same time it is being released to the public/media. The primary methods for communicating to the Gannon community will be via the Intranet, website and broadcast emails and phone/text messages.

3. To issue the University's first press release soon after notification of the emergency and to provide periodic updates to the Gannon community and to the media via the University website and other applicable modes of communication.

4. To coordinate and arrange media updates with the President or other designated spokespeople when possible and appropriate.

In the event that an emergency or crisis occurs that may affect or has affected the health, safety and/or welfare of our students, faculty, staff or campus visitors, the Crisis Communications Team will be mobilized and the Crisis Communications Plan will be implemented. The Director of Campus Police and Safety will first alert the President and then Chief of Staff and Director of Marketing and Communications. The Chief of Staff and Director of Marketing and Communications will contact all key permanent members of the Crisis Communications team via text message and will then mobilize the team by phone or text message if/when the President or designee deems necessary.

In the event that landlines and/or cell phones are not working, the Chief of Staff and Director of Marketing and Communications will work with the Associate Vice President for Information Technology Services, to provide information via e-mail, the Intranet and the website.

Once all key members of the Crisis Communications Team are informed about the known facts about the crisis and the University's key messages, the Crisis Communications Team members can then direct their own staff members to assist accordingly in the ongoing management of the crisis both during the actual crisis and after the crisis has occurred and has been resolved. Secondary members of the Crisis Communications Team may also become involved in the process at this time. *Note: Select members of the Crisis Communications Team may also meet with Campus Police and Safety staff and others to discuss tactical plans to handle the crisis.
Initially, the key permanent members of the Crisis Communications Team will meet in the President’s Office or they will arrange a conference via telephone. If the larger Crisis Communications Team should need to meet and if it is safe to meet on campus, and if the crisis occurs during normal business hours, the Crisis Communications Team will meet in the Board Room of Old Main or in the Emergency Command Center on the fourth floor of the Knight Tower. If it is not safe to meet anywhere on campus, the Crisis Communications team will meet at St. Mark’s Catholic Center, located at 429 East Grandview in Erie. If the crisis occurs during non-business hours, members of the Crisis Communications Team should still report to campus when feasible. The Crisis Communications Team should not only meet when a crisis occurs, but should also meet once a semester or on an as-needed basis to share possible issues or problems on campus that could develop into a crisis. Thus, the Crisis Communications Team may be able to anticipate and prevent a crisis before it occurs.

2.6 Institutional Review Board Policies

2.6.1.0.0.0.0 Mission Statement

Revision Date: 11/7/2008    Approval Date: 11/7/2008    Current Version

For research involving human subjects, Gannon University is guided by the ethical principles found in the report by the National Commission for the Protection of Human Subjects of Biomedical and Behavioral Research entitled Ethical Principles and Guidelines for the Protection of Human Subjects of Research: the Belmont Report.

These guidelines will be followed for all research without regard to source of funding.
When human beings are used as subjects in research projects, safeguards must be established to protect their health, well-being, and rights. Gannon University’s special identity recognizes the dignity and sacredness of all human beings and thus endorses such safeguards and protection. Under the policies established by the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), this protection was extended to all human subjects regardless of the nature of the research being performed. This protection required that an Institutional Review Board (IRB) be established at colleges and universities to review and act on all research proposals involving human subjects.

On June 23, 2005, HHS revised Code of Federal Regulations (CFR), Title 45 Public Welfare; Part 46 Protection of Human Subjects. Those exemptions notwithstanding, all university research is subject to these rules and regulations. Therefore, in those cases where research involves human beings as research subjects, the investigator must submit the proposed project to the Gannon University IRB Committee for the Protection of Human Subjects for review of the proposal. Approval of projects involving human subjects by this IRB is a prerequisite for the approval of any grant that may be recommended to the Vice President for Academic Administration for funding by the University or for seeking or using research or grant funds from external agencies.

This document establishes policies and procedures as it relates to IRB membership, procedures for IRB review, maintenance of IRB records, and an overview of the types of research requiring IRB review.
2.6.3.0.0.0 Research Requiring Review by Gannon University IRB

Revision Date: 5/28/2009   Approval Date: 5/28/2009   Current Version

All research involving human subjects that is conducted under the auspices of Gannon University must have approval of the Gannon University IRB before it is initiated. A review of research activities will be made by the IRB for studies sponsored by students, faculty, staff, or administration of Gannon University. In those instances where individuals not affiliated with Gannon University wish to conduct research on its campus, a faculty or staff member of the University must sponsor the application to the IRB. Students are bound by the same procedures and policies as the faculty and staff. Moreover, no proposals to the IRB from either an undergraduate or a graduate student will be reviewed unless sponsored by a faculty member. The Gannon University IRB, which has been duly constituted in accordance with HHS guidelines, is the Committee for the Protection of Human Subjects.

To approve a research project the IRB shall determine that all of the following requirements are satisfied (CFR Title 45 Part 46.111):

1. Risks to the subjects are minimized.
2. Risks to the subjects are reasonable in relation to anticipated benefits, if any, to the subjects, and the importance of the knowledge that may be reasonably expected.
3. Selection of subjects is equitable.
4. Informed consent will be sought from each prospective subject or the subject's legally authorized representative.
5. Informed consent will be appropriately documented.
6. Where appropriate, the research plan makes adequate provision for monitoring the data collected to insure the safety of the subjects.
7. Where appropriate, there are adequate provisions to protect privacy of subjects and to maintain the confidentiality of data.
8. Where some or all of the subjects are likely to be vulnerable to coercion or undue influence, such as persons with acute or severe physical or mental illness, or persons who are economically or educationally disadvantaged, appropriate additional safeguards have been included in the research to protect the rights and welfare of these subjects.
9. The design of the study is consistent with sound scientific principles, ethical norms, and regulatory requirements.
Gannon University IRB has authority to (a) approve, (b) require modifications in or (c) disapprove all research proposals that include the use of human subjects for research. The IRB shall have the authority to suspend or terminate approval of research that is not being conducted in accordance with IRB requirements or that has been associated with unexpected serious harm to subjects. Any suspension or termination of approval shall include a statement of the reasons for the IRB's action and shall be reported promptly to the investigator and appropriate University officials.

The IRB reserves the right to consult with subject matter, medical, or legal experts concerning any project submitted for review. If expert review of a proposal is deemed necessary by the IRB, a substantial delay in IRB action should be anticipated. CFR requires that research involving any level of deception be followed by appropriate debriefing of all subjects. Debriefing procedures should be specified in the IRB application forms.
Specific research activities NOT subject to IRB review are (a) samples from deceased individuals; (b) samples collected for diagnostic purposes only; (c) Samples or data that are available from commercial or public repositories or registries; (d) established cell lines that are publicly available to qualified scientific investigators; and (e) self-sustaining, cell-free derivative preparations including viral isolates, cloned DNA or RNA.
2.6.3.2.0.0.0 Membership of Gannon IRB

In compliance with CFR Title 45 46:107:

1. The IRB shall consist of members with varying backgrounds to promote complete and adequate review of research activities commonly conducted by the institution. The IRB shall be sufficiently qualified through the experience and expertise of its members, and the diversity of the members, including consideration of race, gender, and cultural backgrounds and sensitivity to such issues as community attitudes, to promote respect for its advice and counsel in safeguarding the rights and welfare of human subjects. In addition to possessing the professional competence necessary to review specific research activities, the IRB shall be able to ascertain the acceptability of proposed research in terms of institutional commitments and regulations, applicable law, and standards of professional conduct and practice. The IRB shall therefore include persons knowledgeable in these areas. If an IRB regularly reviews research that involves a vulnerable category of subjects, such as children, prisoners, pregnant women, or handicapped or mentally disabled persons, consideration shall be given to the inclusion of one or more individuals who are knowledgeable about and experienced in working with these subjects. The CFR requires at least five members on an IRB. Gannon University IRB consists of 13 members.

2. Every nondiscriminatory effort will be made to ensure that the IRB does not consist entirely of men or women. Consideration of qualified persons of both sexes shall occur, so long as no selection is made to the IRB on the basis of gender.

3. No IRB may consist entirely of members of one profession.

4. The IRB shall include at least one member whose primary concerns are in nonscientific areas: for example: lawyers, ethicists, members of the clergy; and at least one member whose primary concerns are in scientific areas.

5. The IRB shall include at least one member who is not otherwise affiliated with the institution and who is not part of the immediate family of a person who is affiliated with the institution.

6. The IRB shall not have a member participating in the initial or continuing review of any project in which the member has a conflicting interest, except to provide information requested by the IRB.
7. The IRB may, in its discretion, invite individuals with competence in special areas to assist in the review of complex issues which require expertise beyond or in addition to that available on the IRB. These individuals may not vote with the IRB.
2.6.3.3.0.0.0 Selection and Term of IRB Members

Faculty membership of the IRB shall comply with the existing regulations of the Department of Health and Human Services, HHS, as set forth in the CFR.

Gannon University Institutional Policy Manual recommends that membership of the Gannon University IRB shall include six members from the College of Humanities, Business and Education, six members from the College of Sciences, Engineering and Health Sciences who are appointed at the discretion of the College Dean, and one community member - a total of 13 members.

Members of the IRB who are not faculty or staff of Gannon University, and who meet the requirements of CFR, shall be recommended for appointment by the IRB members to the Vice President for Academic Affairs. The Vice President for Academic Affairs shall have final authority to appoint such members to the IRB.

Gannon University Institutional Policy Manual states term of service shall be three years without prejudice to re-appointment. The IRB Chair is to be elected by the members of the IRB for a two-year term.
A list of the members of the IRB shall be on file in the Offices of the President and the Vice President for Academic Affairs of Gannon University and shall be updated annually. The list of the IRB members who shall be identified by name will include the following information:

1. Earned degrees;
2. Representative capacity;
3. Indications of experience such as IRB certifications, licenses, professional credentials that are sufficient to describe each member's chief anticipated contribution to IRB deliberations;
4. Employment or other relationship between each member and the institution; for example: Full-time employee, part-time employee, member of the governing IRB, paid or unpaid consultant.

This list shall be made available to the Secretary of HHS as required when the University seeks federal funding for research that involves human subjects in compliance with existing federal regulations.
In accordance with requirements set forth in the CFR, Gannon University Institutional Policy Manual Section I page 3.17 states the functions of the IRB Committee for the Protection of Human Subjects shall be to:

1. Review and approve all faculty and student research proposals involving human subjects.

2. Establish, monitor, and periodically evaluate all criteria for such review in compliance with federal laws and regulations for Institutional Review Boards.

3. Serve as Gannon University's IRB for external grant certification purposes.

4. Implement the IRB policies of Gannon University as they relate to human subjects for research.

5. Annually, report findings and recommendations to the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs of Gannon University. Any changes in federal regulations and resultant policy updates should also be included in the annual report.

IRB approval of a project constitutes only a statement by the Gannon University IRB that it believes the rights of human beings will be adequately protected. All research projects that have been approved by the IRB may be subject to further review or disapproval by appropriate officials of the University. Projects that have been disapproved by the IRB may not subsequently be approved by any other University Administrator or official.
CFR requires annual IRB meetings. The Gannon University IRB meets monthly September through April (when there is business to conduct) on the last Tuesday of the month that Gannon University is in session. Standard Reviews will not be conducted in May, June, July, or August. The IRB meeting Schedule is available in the IRB Office and is posted online at Gannon University's web site. Standard reviews are conducted at scheduled IRB meetings. Other reviews are conducted on an individual basis.

PLEASE NOTE: For Standard Review, applications must be submitted to the IRB Office no later than noon, ten days (10) prior to a scheduled IRB meeting. Applications for Standard Reviews submitted fewer than 10 days before a scheduled meeting will be held until the next monthly meeting.

2.6.6.0.0.0 Types of IRB Review

Although all forms of research involving human subjects must be reviewed by the IRB, there are three types of IRB reviews: (1) Exempted from standard review, (2) Expedited, and (3) Standard. Standard reviews are conducted at a meeting of a majority of IRB members. Questions concerning application procedures and guidelines should be referred to the Chair of the Gannon University IRB.

The criteria used to determine if a proposed research qualifies as exempted from standard review, expedited review, or standard review is detailed below.
Certain studies may be exempted from standard review which is a review by a majority of IRB members. Reviews of research that is exempted from standard review are conducted by a single IRB member. The review may be carried out by the IRB chair or by one or more experienced reviewers designated by the chair from among members of the IRB. In reviewing the research, the reviewers may exercise all of the authorities of the IRB except that the reviewers may not disapprove the research. A research activity may be disapproved only after Standard Review. However, a single reviewer may recommend a standard review be conducted. The categories of research that may be exempt from Standard Review according to federal regulations include:

1. Research involving common educational practices;
2. Research involving standard educational tests or assessment instruments;
3. Survey research;
4. Observational research;
5. Research involving existing data;

PLEASE NOTE: No Exempted from standard review criteria apply to research involving prisoners or pregnant women. See also Subsection 2.6.9 below (Vulnerable Populations) and paragraph 2.6.9.2 (Exemption from Standard Review for research Involving Children).

Anything exempted from standard review in CFR Title 45 Part 46.101b [http://ohsr.od.nih.gov/guidelines/45cfr46.htm] will be exempted from standard review here. The specific categories for exempted from standard review are described below:

1. Common Educational Practices: Research conducted in established or commonly accepted educational settings, involving normal educational practices, such as (a) research on regular and special educational instructional strategies, or (b) research on the effectiveness of or the comparison among instructional techniques, curricula, or classroom management methods.

2. Educational Testing I: Research involving the use of educational tests (cognitive, diagnostic, aptitude, or achievement), survey procedures, interview procedures, or observation of public behavior. The exemption does NOT apply if the information is recorded in such a manner that subjects can be identified, directly or through identifiers linked to the subjects, and disclosure of a subject's responses outside the research could reasonably place the subjects at risk of criminal or civil liability or be damaging to the subject's financial standing, employability, or reputation.

3. Educational Testing II: Research involving the use of educational tests (cognitive, diagnostic, aptitude, or achievement), survey procedures, interview procedures, or observation of public behavior that is NOT exempt in #2 above is exempt under these conditions; (a) the human subjects are elected or appointed officials or candidates for public office, or (b) federal statutes require without exception that the confidentiality of the personally identifiable information will be maintained throughout the research and thereafter.

4. Existing Data: Research involving the collection or study of existing data, documents, records, pathological specimens, or diagnostic specimens, if these are publicly available or if the information is recorded by the investigator in such a manner that subjects cannot be identified, directly or through identifiers linked to the subjects.

5. Public Benefit or Service. Research and demonstration projects which are conducted by or subject to the approval of federal department or agency heads, and which are designed to study, evaluate, or otherwise examine (a) public benefit or service programs, (b) procedures for obtaining benefits or services under these programs, (c) possible changes in or alternatives to those programs or procedures, or (d) possible changes in methods or levels of payment for benefits or services under those programs.

6. Taste and Food Quality. Research that involves taste or food quality evaluation and consumer acceptance studies if (a) wholesome foods without additives are consumed or (b) if a food is consumed that contains a food ingredient at or below the level and for a use found to be safe, or agricultural chemical or environmental contaminant at or below the level found to be safe, by the Food and Drug Administration or approved by the Environmental Protection Agency or the Food Safety and Inspection Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Exempted from standard review may be provided for a single research or for a group of related studies. Claims for exempted from standard review are evaluated by the IRB representative within the appropriate academic unit.
2.6.6.2.0.0 Expedited Review

Revision Date: 11/7/2008    Approval Date: 11/7/2008    Current Version

Certain studies may qualify for expedited review. Expedited reviews are conducted by a single IRB member rather than a majority of the IRB members. The review may be carried out by the IRB chair or by one or more experienced reviewers designated by the chair from among members of the IRB. In reviewing the research, the reviewers may exercise all of the authorities of the IRB except that the reviewers may not disapprove the research. A research activity may be disapproved only after Standard Review. However, a single reviewer may recommend a standard review be conducted.

An IRB may use the expedited review procedure to review either or both of the following: (a) some or all of the research appearing on the list and found by the reviewer(s) to involve no more than minimal risk or (b) minor changes in previously approved research during the period (of one year or less) for which approval is authorized (CFR Title 45, 46.110).

Other categories of research which federal regulations permit expedited reviews include:

1. Research involving no manipulation of the subjects' behavior and involving no stress to the subjects - such as studies or perceptual or cognitive processes or studies for developing or evaluating tests;
2. Study of existing data, documents, records, pathological specimens or diagnostic specimens;
3. Moderate exercise by healthy volunteers;
4. Voice recording for research purposes, such as for research of speech defects.

 Expedited review may be provided only if the research involves (a) no more than minimal risk, that is, risk that is no greater in probability and severity than that ordinarily encountered in daily life during the performance of routine physical or psychological examinations or tests (Title 45 CFR 46.102.g) and (b) if the research falls into one of the following categories:
1. Clinical studies of drugs and medical devices only when condition (a) or (b) is met.
   a. Research on drugs for which an investigational new drug application (21 CFR Part 312) is not required. Note: Research on marketed drugs that significantly increases the risks or decreases the acceptability of the risks associated with the use of the product is not eligible for expedited review.
b. Research on medical devices for which (i) an investigational device exemption application (21 CFR Part 812) is not required; or (ii) the medical device is cleared for marketing and is being used in accordance with its cleared/approved labeling.

2. Collection of blood samples by finger stick, heel stick, ear stick, or venipuncture from adults and children under restrictions.
   a. From healthy, non-pregnant adults who weigh at least 110 pounds. For these subjects, the amounts drawn may not exceed 550 ml in an 8 week period and collection may not occur more frequently than 2 times per week, or
   b. From other adults and children, considering the age, weight, and health of the subjects, the collection procedure, the amount of the blood to be collected, and the frequency with which it will be collected. For these subjects, the amount drawn may not exceed the lesser of 50 ml or 3 ml per kg in an 8 week period and collection may not occur more frequently than 2 times per week.

3. Prospective collection of biological specimens for research purposes by non-invasive means, such as hair and nail clippings, sweat, and saliva. Examples:
   a. Prospective collection of biological specimens for research purposes by non-invasive means, such as hair and nail clippings, sweat, and saliva. Examples: hair and nail clippings in a non-disfiguring manner;
   b. Deciduous teeth at time of exfoliation or if routine patient care indicates a need for extraction;
   c. Permanent teeth if routine patient care indicates a need for extraction;
   d. Excreta and external secretion (including sweat);
   e. Uncannulated saliva collected either in an unstimulated fashion or stimulated by (chewing gum base or wax or by applying a dilute citric solution to the tongue);
   f. Placenta removed at delivery;
   g. Amniotic fluid obtained at the time of rupture of the membrane prior to or during labor;
   h. Supra- and subgingival dental plaque and calculus, provided the collection procedure is not more invasive than routine prophylactic scaling of the teeth and the process is accomplished in accordance with accepted prophylactic techniques;
   i. Mucosal and skin cells collected by buccal scraping or swab, skin swab, or mouth washings;
   j. Sputum collected after saline mist nebulization.
4. Collection of data through non-invasive procedures (not involving general anesthesia or sedation) routinely employed in clinical practice, excluding procedures involving x-rays or microwaves. When medical devices are employed, they must be cleared/approved for marketing. (Studies intended to evaluate the safety and effectiveness of the medical device are not generally eligible for expedited review, including studies of cleared medical devices for new indications.) Examples:

a. Physical sensors that are applied either to the surface of the body or at a distance and do not involve input of significant amounts of energy into the subject or an invasion of the subject's privacy;
b. Weighing or testing sensory acuity;
c. Magnetic resonance imaging;
d. Electrocardiography, electroencephalography, thermography, detection of naturally infrared imaging, Doppler blood flow, and echocardiography;
e. Moderate exercise, muscular strength testing, body composition assessment, and flexibility testing where appropriate given the age, weight, and health of the individual.

5. Research involving materials (data, documents, records, or specimens) that have been collected, or will be collected solely for non-research purposes (such as medical treatment or diagnosis). NOTE: Some research in this category may be exempt from the HHS regulations for the protection of human subjects [Title 45 CFR, 46.101(b) (4)]. This listing refers only to research that is not exempt.

6. Collection of data from voice, video, digital, or image recordings made for research purposes.

7. Research on individual or group characteristics or behavior (including but not limited to, research on perception, cognition, motivation, identity, language, communication, cultural beliefs or practices, and social behavior) or research employing survey, interview, oral history, focus group, program evaluation, human factors evaluation, or quality assurance methodologies. NOTE: Some research in this category may be exempt from HHS regulations for the protection of human subjects [Title 45 CFR 46.101(b) (2) and (b) (3)]. This listing refers only to research that is not exempt.

8. Continuing review of research previously approved by the convened IRB as follows:

a. Where (i) the research is permanently closed to the enrollment of new subjects; (ii) all subjects have completed all research-related interventions; and (iii) the research remains active only for long-term follow-up of subjects; or
b. Where no subjects have been enrolled and no additional risks have been identified; or
c. Where data analysis poses ongoing risk to participants (e.g., privacy or confidentiality issues).

9. Continuing review of research, not conducted under an investigational new drug application or investigational device exemption where categories (2) through (8) do not apply but the IRB has determined and documented at a convened meeting that the research involves no greater than minimal risk and no additional risks have been identified.
2.6.6.3.0.0.0 Standard Review

Except in those cases that qualify for exempted from standard review or expedited review as detailed above, a Standard review is conducted at a meeting of the full IRB membership that has a majority of members present and includes at least one member whose primary concerns are in nonscientific areas. Approved research shall receive the approval of a majority of those members present at the meeting.

For Standard review, applications must be submitted to the IRB Office no later than noon, ten days (10) prior to a scheduled IRB meeting to allow time for members to thoroughly examine proposals. Applications for Standard Reviews submitted fewer than 10 days before a scheduled meeting will be held until the next monthly meeting.

The Gannon University IRB meets monthly September through April, when there is business to conduct, on the last Tuesday of the month that Gannon University is in session. Standard Reviews will not be conducted in May, June, July, or August.
2.6.7.0.0.0.0 IRB Dispositions

Revision Date: 11/7/2008   Approval Date: 11/7/2008   Current Version

Four dispositions are possible from the IRB review: (1) Full Approval, (2) Approval with Recommendations, (3) Approval with Conditions, or (4) Disapproval.
2.6.7.1.0.0.0 Full Approval

Revision Date: 11/7/2008       Approval Date: 11/7/2008       Current Version

Upon notification of Full Approval the investigator may begin the proposed research immediately. The investigator is required to immediately notify the IRB for further review of the research in the event that any of the following should occur:

1. A major change in the method of collection of data;
2. Unanticipated adverse effects on the human subjects;
3. Unanticipated difficulties in obtaining informed consent or maintaining confidentiality;
4. The research is not completed within 12 months of the notice of approval from the IRB.
2.6.7.2.0.0.0 Approval with Recommendations

Revision Date: 11/7/2008   Approval Date: 11/7/2008   Current Version

Upon notification of Approval with Recommendations the investigator may begin the proposed research immediately. Note however, that while the IRB has approved the research, the IRB has chosen to make recommendations to the investigator regarding possible improvements to the research plan or appearance of written materials to be used in the research. The investigator is required to immediately notify the IRB for further review of the research in the event that any of the following should occur:

1. A major change in the method of collection of data;
2. Unanticipated adverse effects on the human subjects;
3. Unanticipated difficulties in obtaining informed consent or maintaining confidentiality;
4. The research is not completed within 12 months of the notice of approval from the IRB.
2.6.7.4.0.0.0 Disapproval

Revision Date: 11/7/2008   Approval Date: 11/7/2008   Current Version

If the IRB disapproves of the research, the investigator is notified of the specific reasons for Disapproval. The investigator should schedule a meeting with the IRB Chair to discuss the research and what actions need to be taken to remedy the problems. When an application receives a disposition of Disapproval, the investigator must submit a new application with supporting materials to the IRB for the application to be reviewed again. The proposed research may not begin until Full Approval or Approval with Recommendations has been granted by the IRB.
2.6.8.0.0.0 Requirements for Informed Consent

No investigator may involve a human being as a subject in research covered by these regulations unless the investigator has obtained the legally effective informed consent of the subject or the subject's legally authorized representative. An investigator shall seek such consent under circumstances that provide the prospective subject or the representative sufficient opportunity to consider whether or not to participate. These circumstances must also minimize the possibility of coercion or undue influence. The information given to the subject or the representative shall be in language understandable to the subject or the representative. No informed consent, whether oral or written, may include any exculpatory language through which the subject or the representative is made to waive or appear to waive any of the subject's legal rights, or releases or appears to release the investigator, the sponsor, the institution, or its agents from liability for negligence.

Informed consent requirements are not intended to preempt applicable federal, state, or local laws which require additional information to be disclosed in order for informed consent to be legally effective. Nothing in these regulations is intended to limit the authority of a physician to provide emergency medical care, to the extent the physician is permitted to do so under applicable federal, state, or local law.

1. A statement that the research involves research;
2. An explanation of the purposes of the research;
3. Notification of the expected duration of the subject's participation;
4. A description of the procedures to be followed;
5. Identification of any procedures which are experimental;
6. A description of any reasonably foreseeable risks or discomforts to the subjects;
7. A description of any benefits to the subject or to others which may be reasonably expected from the research (PLEASE NOTE: Money or other compensation for participation is NOT considered to be a benefit, but rather a compensation for research-related inconveniences.);
8. A disclosure of appropriate alternative procedures or course of treatment, if any, that might be advantageous to the subject;
9. A statement describing the extent, if any, to which confidentiality of records identifying the subject will be maintained;

10. An explanation of contact procedures, including a name and phone number, for answers to pertinent questions about the research;

11. An explanation of contact procedures, including a name and phone number, for answers to pertinent questions about the research subject’s rights;

12. An explanation of contact procedures, including a name and phone number, in the event of a research related injury to the subject;

13. A statement that participation is voluntary;

14. A statement that refusal to participate will involve no penalty or loss of benefits to which the subject is otherwise entitled;

15. A statement that the subject may discontinue participation at any time without penalty or loss of benefits;

16. A dated signature of the subject or the subject's legal representative.

If more than minimal risk is involved informed consent documents shall include:

1. An explanation as to whether any compensation or medical treatments are available if injury occurs and, if so, what they consist of, or where further information may be obtained;

Where appropriate, the following elements of informed consent must also be included:

2. A statement that the particular treatment or procedure may involve risks to the subject which are currently unforeseeable;

3. Anticipated circumstances under which the subject’s participation may be terminated by the investigator without regard to the subject’s consent;

4. Any additional costs to the subject that may result from participation in the research;

5. The consequences of a subject’s decision to withdraw from the research and procedures for orderly termination of participation by the subject;

6. A statement that significant new findings developed during the research which may relate to the subject's willingness to continue participation will be provided to the subject; and

7. Disclosure of the approximate number of subjects involved in the research.

The IRB has the authority to approve a consent procedure which does not include or which alters some or all of the previously mentioned elements of informed consent or waive the requirements for informed consent if, either:
1. The research involves no more than minimal risk;
2. The waiver or alteration does not adversely affect the rights and welfare of the subjects;
3. The research could not practically be carried out without the waiver or alteration; and
4. Wherever applicable, the subjects will be provided with additional pertinent information: or
5. The research is to be conducted for the purpose of demonstrating or evaluating:
   a. Federal, state, or local benefit or service programs which are not themselves research programs;
   b. Procedures for obtaining benefits or services under these programs; or
   c. Possible changes in or alternatives to these programs or procedures; and
   d. The research could not practicably be carried out without the waiver or alteration.
Informed consent shall be documented by the use of a written consent form approved by the IRB and signed by the subject or the subject's legally authorized representative. A copy shall be given to the person signing the form. The consent form may be either of the following:

1. A written consent document that embodies the elements of informed consent. This form may be read to the subject or the subject's legally authorized representative, but in any event, the investigator shall give either the subject or the representative adequate opportunity to read it before it is signed; or

2. A "short form" written consent document stating that the elements of informed consent have been presented orally to the subject or the subject's legally authorized representative. When this method is used, there shall be a witness to the oral presentation. Also, the IRB shall approve a written summary of what is to be said to the subject or the representative. However, the witness shall sign both the short form and a copy of the summary. A copy of the summary shall be given to the subject or the representative, in addition to a copy of the "short form."

The IRB may waive the requirement for the investigator to obtain a signed consent form for some or all subjects if it finds either:

1. That the only record linking the subject and the research would be the consent document and the principal risk would be potential harm resulting from a breach of confidentiality. Each subject will be asked whether the subject wants documentation linking the subject with the research, and the subject's wishes will govern; or,

2. That the research presents no more than minimal risk of harm to subjects and involves no procedures for which written consent is normally required outside of the research context.

In cases where the documentation requirement is waived the IRB may require the investigator to provide subjects with a written statement regarding the research.
2.6.9.0.0.0 Vulnerable Persons

Revision Date: 11/7/2008   Approval Date: 11/7/2008   Current Version

CFR provides additional protections for vulnerable populations including (a) pregnant women, human fetuses, and neonates; (b) prisoners; and (c) children. Gannon University IRB will refer to CFR as needed regarding all vulnerable populations. Since many researchers at Gannon University recruit children as the subject of research, those regulations are detailed below.
2.6.9.1.0.0.0 Additional Protections for Children Involved as Subjects in Research

Revision Date: 11/7/2008   Approval Date: 11/7/2008   Current Version

Children are those persons who have not attained the legal age for consent to treatments or procedures involved in research, under the applicable law of the jurisdiction in which the research is conducted.

CFR states that IRBs may approve only those research proposals which satisfy the following conditions:

1. Research not involving greater than minimal risk to children, provided adequate provisions for soliciting the assent of the children and the informed consent of their parents or guardians is proposed.

2. Research involving greater than minimal risk but presenting the prospect of direct benefit to the individual subjects only if (a) the risk is justified by the anticipated benefit to the subjects; (b) the relation of the anticipated benefit to the risk is at least as favorable as that presented by available alternatives and (c) adequate provisions for soliciting the assent of the children and the informed consent of their parents or guardians is proposed.

3. Research involving greater than minimal risk and no prospect of direct benefit to individual subjects, but likely to yield generalizable knowledge about the subject's disorder or condition provided adequate provisions for soliciting the assent of the children and the informed consent of their parents or guardians is proposed.

4. Research not otherwise approvable which presents an opportunity to understand, prevent or alleviate a serious problem affecting the health or welfare of children.
2.6.9.2.0.0.0 Exemptions from Standard Review for Research Involving Children

Revision Date: 11/7/2008   Approval Date: 11/7/2008   Current Version

Some exemptions from Standard Review are applicable to children as subjects. Exemption #1 Common Educational Practice, #3 Educational Testing, #4 Existing Data, #5 Public Benefit or Service and #6 Taste and Food Quality as listed previously in the Policy and Procedure Manual are applicable. The part of Exemption #2 regarding educational tests is applicable. However, Exemption #2 regarding survey procedures, interview procedures, or observation of public behavior are not exempt. Research involving participant observation is exempt only if the investigator does not participate in the activities being observed.
2.6.10.0.0.0.0 Responsibilities of Investigators

Revision Date: 11/21/2008 Approval Date: 11/21/2008 Current Version

Investigators are responsible for applying for IRB approval when their proposal meets the definitions of (a) research and (b) involvement of human subjects. Proposals involving non-human subjects may require approval of a different Review Board. Investigators responsibilities include:

1. Waiting to receive notification from the IRB as to the disposition of the application before beginning research activities. Depending on the disposition, the research project may either (a) proceed or (b) be held until approval is granted after conditions are satisfied or additional information is supplied to the IRB. The CFR requires IRB approval prior to beginning any research involving human subjects.

2. Familiarizing themselves thoroughly with these guidelines and CFR resolving any questions regarding proposed research activities by consulting with IRB members.

3. Notifying the IRB and the Department Chair/Supervisor of any injury - physical, psychological, or social - that is suffered by subjects because of their participation in a research activity.

4. Requesting a continuing review if the research is judged by the IRB to involve more than minimal risk.

5. Reporting the status of their research annually on the anniversary of the original IRB approval in cases where research is not complete within 12 months. Research is considered to be ongoing as long as intervention is occurring, data is being collected, or analysis of identifiable data is being conducted.

6. Informing the IRB in writing when:
   a. The investigator has terminated the research project; or
   b. The following criteria have been met:
      i) The data have been de-identified. That is, when personal identifiers have been removed from the data, and
      ii) No further investigation, intervention, or data collection is ongoing, and
      iii) No further analysis of identifiable data is ongoing.
7. Developing and implementing a plan to keep records, documents (including informed consent forms), and data securely and confidentially stored for at least three years following the completion of the study, or for a longer period if judged necessary.

8. Providing a written explanation of these plans and a plan for the destruction of the records, documents, and data within the application for IRB review.

9. Maintaining contact with faculty sponsor and faculty advisors and notifying them of IRB dispositions and of any conditions which require notification of IRB.

10. Submitting a completed IRB application packet and preparing the necessary copies for review by the IRB.

For Exemption from Standard Review. Submit (a) an original application that includes original signatures, supporting documents, and one copy of the research proposal and (b) one photocopy of the original application including signatures, supporting documents, and research proposal. The original will be retained in IRB records. The photocopy will be forwarded from the IRB Office to the departmental representative for review.

For Expedited Review. Submit (a) an original application that includes original signatures, supporting documents, and one copy of the research proposal and (b) one photocopy of the original application including signatures, supporting documents, and research proposal. The original will be retained in IRB records. The photocopy will be forwarded from the IRB Office to the departmental representative for review.

For a Standard Review. Submit (a) an original application that includes original signatures, supporting documents, and one copy of the research proposal and (b) thirteen (13) photocopies of the original application including signatures, supporting documents, and research proposal. The original will be retained in IRB records. The photocopies will be forwarded from the IRB Office to the members of the IRB for review.
Definitions

To comply with existing federal regulations the following definitions are applicable:

Assent means a child's affirmative agreement to participate in research. Mere failure to object should not, absent affirmative agreement, be construed as assent.

Guardian means an individual who is authorized under applicable state or local law to consent on behalf of a child to general medical care.

Human subject means a living individual about whom an investigator conducting research obtains (a) data through intervention or interaction with the individual or (b) identifiable private information.

IRB means an Institutional Review Board established in accord with and for the purpose expressed in this policy.

Minimal risk means that the probability and magnitude of harm or discomfort anticipated in the research are not greater in and of themselves than those ordinarily encountered in daily life or during the performance of routine physical or psychological examinations or tests.

Parent means a child's biological or adoptive parent.

Permission means the agreement of parent(s) or guardian(s) to the participation of their child or ward in research.

Research means a systematic investigation, including research development, testing and evaluation, designed to develop or contribute to general knowledge. Research is completed when the following criteria have been met:

1. The data have been de-identified. That is, when personal identifiers have been removed from the data, and
2. No further investigation, intervention, or data collection is ongoing, and
3. No further analysis of identifiable data is ongoing.

Also research is completed when the investigator has terminated the research project.
2.7 Gannon Intellectual Property Policies

Revision Date: 01/18/2023  Approval Date: 02/01/2023  Current Version

Purpose:

To establish policy and procedures for disclosure and ownership of potentially patentable inventions and copyrightable works created in the course of work at Gannon University or with more than incidental use of Gannon resources. These requirements extend to the faculty, staff, employees, students, and contractors/visitors involved in research. This policy is designed to incentivize innovation, invention, and, ultimately, commercialization of intellectual property.

Gannon University reserves the right to amend at any time and without notice the policies and other materials contained herein.
2.7.1.1.0.0.0 Intellectual Property

Revision Date: 01/18/2023   Approval Date: 02/01/2023   Current Version

Intellectual Property (IP) is a legal concept which refers to creations of the mind for which exclusive rights are recognized. Under intellectual property law, owners are granted certain exclusive rights to a variety of intangible assets, such as musical, literary, and artistic works; discoveries and inventions; and words, phrases, symbols, and designs. Common types of intellectual property rights include copyright, trademarks, and patents.
A patent is a legal document issued by a government giving that gives the owner (who is not necessarily the inventor) the right to exclude others from making, selling or using the invention within a country. An invention is patentable if it is new, useful and non-obvious as determined by the applicable Patent Office – in the United States that is the United States Patent and Trademark Office ("USPTO"). In the United States, an invention becomes unpatentable unless a formal patent application is filed with the USPTO within 12 months of disclosure through publication or public use of the invention. Other countries are stricter and will find the invention unpatentable if a formal patent application has not been filed prior to any disclosure. This means that if foreign patent protection is desired, a U.S. application must be filed before any public disclosure of the invention is made.
2.7.1.3 Invention

Revision Date: 01/18/2023    Approval Date: 02/01/2023    Current Version

An invention is a novel and useful idea relating to processes, machines, manufactures, and compositions of matter. It may cover such things as new or improved devices, systems, circuits, chemical compounds, mixtures, etc. Patents granted for these types of inventions are called "utility patents," which are the most common. "Design patents" are issued to protect ornamental features of an article of manufacture. "Plant patents" protect certain types of plants and seeds. An invention can be made solely or jointly with others as co-inventors. A co-inventor must have conceived of an essential element of an invention or contributed substantially to the general concept. Under U.S. Law, the actual inventors of a what is claimed in the patent must be accurately identified. An incorrect identification of inventors is grounds to invalidate an issued patent.
2.7.1.4 Patentability

Not all inventions are patentable. The Atomic Energy Act of 1954 excludes the patenting of inventions useful solely in the utilization of special nuclear material or atomic energy for atomic weapons. The courts have held that the laws of nature, physical phenomena, and abstract ideas are not patentable subject matter.

The patent law specifies that the subject matter must be "useful." To be "useful" the subject matter must have a useful purpose and must also be operable or perform a function. A machine which will not operate to perform the intended purpose is not considered useful, and would not be eligible for a patent. The utility requirement is generally not at issue during patent prosecution.

A patent cannot be obtained upon a mere idea or suggestion. The patent is granted for the new process, composition, machine, manufacture, etc., but not upon the idea or suggestion of the new process or machine. A complete description of the actual machine or other subject matter for which a patent is sought is required. Accurate drawings are extremely important.
2.7.1.5 Copyright

Revision Date: 01/18/2023   Approval Date: 02/01/2023   Current Version

A copyright protects any "original works of authorship" which have been fixed in any tangible medium from which they can be perceived, reproduced, or otherwise communicated, either directly or with the aid of a machine or device. These works include:

- a. Literary works such as books, journals, articles, poems, manuals, memoranda, tests, including instructional material, bibliographies and compilations;
- b. Musical works including any accompanying words;
- c. Dramatic works, including any accompanying music;
- d. Pantomimes and choreographic works (if fixed, as in videotape);
- e. Pictorial, graphic and sculptural works, including photographs, diagrams, sketches and integrated circuit masks;
- f. Motion pictures and other audiovisual works such as videotapes;
- g. Sound recordings.
- h. Computer programs, software, and databases;
- i. Architectural works, including maps and architectural plans.
2.7.1.6 Commissioned Works

Revision Date: 01/18/2023  Approval Date: 02/01/2023  Current Version

Under U.S. copyright law, an employer owns the rights to copyrightable work specifically commissioned from an employee under the "work for hire" rule if the work is not created within the scope of employment, fits one of the categories enumerated in the Copyright Act, and the employer and employee agree in writing that the work will be "work for hire."
2.7.1.7 Normally Available University Resources

Revision Date: 01/18/2023  Approval Date: 02/01/2023  Current Version

This refers to resources available to all members of a particular group. In the case of students, examples include university computers in laboratories and commonly installed software. For faculty, this would include a computer, software, an office, and library resources. Staff resources are those tools and spaces the university provides to do their jobs plus library resources.
2.7.1.8 More Than Incidental Use of University Resources

Revision Date: 01/18/2023  Approval Date: 02/01/2023  Current Version

This includes:

1. The use of, specialized research-related facilities, laboratories, computer centers, equipment, supplies, computer hardware, or software provided by the University for academic purposes; or,
2. Significant use of "on-the-job" time.
2.7.1.9 Casual Use

Revision Date: 01/18/2023  Approval Date: 02/01/2023  Current Version

The occasional and infrequent use of the following would typically not constitute "more than incidental use of University resources" and would also qualify as “Casual Use”:

1. Routinely available, office-type equipment, including desktop computers and commercially-available general-purpose software;
2. Reference materials or other resources collected on the University campus, and which are generally available to the public in non-University locations.
2.7.2  Background

Revision Date: 01/18/2023  Approval Date: 02/01/2023  Current Version
2.7.2.1 Conditions for Obtaining a Patent—Novelty and Non-Obviousness:

Revision Date: 01/18/2023  Approval Date: 02/01/2023  Current Version

For an invention to be patentable it must be "new" and "novel" as defined in the patent law. Thus, an invention cannot be patented if there has been "prior use", which the statute defines as:
"(1) the claimed invention was patented, described in a printed publication, or in public use, on sale, or otherwise available to the public before the effective filing date of the claimed invention" or
"(2) the claimed invention was described in a patent..., or in an application for patent published..., in which the patent or application, as the case may be, names another inventor and was effectively filed before the effective filing date of the claimed invention. “ (35 U.S.C. §102.)

Accordingly, a U.S. patent will not be issued if the invention was described in a printed publication anywhere in the world or used publicly or on sale in the U.S. more than one year before an application for a U.S. patent is filed. It is immaterial whether the printed publication or public use was by the inventor himself/herself or by someone else. To preserve patent rights in many foreign countries the inventor must file on or before the date of first public use or disclosure.

Even if the subject matter sought to be patented is not exactly shown by the "prior art," and involves one or more differences over the most nearly similar thing already known, a patent may still be refused if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the relevant prior art would be obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having "ordinary skill" in the art. In other words, the subject matter sought to be patented must be sufficiently different from what has been used or described before to the extent that it would not be obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the area of technology related to the invention. For example, the substitution of one color for another, or changes in size, would be obvious possible changes that would not ordinarily be patentable.

Any commercial activity relating to an invention, e.g., public use, sale, offer of sale or publication, can prevent one from obtaining a patent. Even if a patent is obtained, it can be declared invalid later by a court of law because of prior commercial use or publication. Thus, inventors should file their patent applications as soon as possible and in all cases within one year of any activity that might arguably be a bar under 35 U.S.C. §102.

Activities within one year prior to application for a patent which would bar its issuance include: sales, offers of sale, quotations, invoices, receipts, drawings or blueprints distributed to others, sales releases, newspaper articles, technical publications, bids, displays or shows such as trade shows, demonstrations, test marketing, advertising, or the like. If in doubt about an activity, consult the Vice President for Academic Affairs.
2.7.2.2 Copyrightable Works

Several categories of material are generally not eligible for statutory copyright protection, including:

1) Works that have not been fixed in a tangible form of expression. For example: choreographic works that have not been notated or recorded, or improvisational speeches or performances that have not been written or recorded.
2) Titles, names, short phrases, and slogans (but short phrases and slogans can be trademarked if affixed to goods sold in commerce); familiar symbols or designs; mere variations of typographic ornamentation, lettering, or coloring; mere listings of ingredients or contents;
3) Ideas, procedures, methods, systems, processes, concepts, principles, discoveries, or devices, as distinguished from a description, explanation, or illustration;
4) Works consisting entirely of information that is common property and containing no original authorship. For example: standard calendars, height and weight charts, tape measures and rulers, and lists or tables taken from public documents or other common sources.
Inventors and innovators at Gannon University should own the majority of the IP they create. Students at Gannon University are paying the University for the opportunity to become educated and examine new ideas. Now and then students may have new ideas which may be of commercial value. The primary role of faculty scholarship is to develop IP and publish that IP in the open literature. However, some IP developed may be appropriate for commercialization.

Gannon University staff members are employed primarily to assist with the efficient and effective operation of the University. During their employment they may at times develop ideas and inventions which may have commercial value.

Gannon University will take an interest in any IP when the University makes a significant investment or allocation of resources to develop, seek legal protection, or commercialize the IP. Gannon University’s interest in IP will typically not be in the form of equity ownership, but other forms may be adopted on a case-by-case basis. Gannon University has the right to block dissemination of any IP which would cause material harm to the university. Gannon University will implement a process to evaluate IP for university support. This process will be managed by the Vice President for Academic Affairs. Decisions relating to administration of IP policies are the responsibility of the Vice President for Academic Affairs.

Waivers of the provisions of this policy may be granted by the Vice President for Academic Affairs on a case-by-case basis, giving consideration among other things to University obligations to sponsors, whether the waiver would be in the best interest of the university and whether the waiver would result in a conflict of interest. In addition, the President for Academic Affairs may expand upon these provisions and shall adopt rules, based on the same factors as well as appropriateness to the University’s relationship with inventors, for the ownership of potentially patentable inventions created or discovered with more than incidental use of University resources by students when not working as employees of the university, by visiting scholars and by others not in the University's employ.

This policy shall apply to all inventions conceived or first reduced to practice following final approval of this policy by the University.
2.7.3.1 Student Policies

Revision Date: 01/18/2023   Approval Date: 02/01/2023   Current Version

Students own 100% of any IP they create themselves using normally available university resources or as part of a class. Absent an agreement to the contrary, IP resulting from a sponsored class, thesis, or capstone project will first lie with the sponsor of the thesis or capstone project. If a thesis or capstone project is supported by a grant, then ownership of the IP will be subject to the conditions of the grant or belong to the university and faculty member. If a non-disclosure agreement (NDA) is required for a project, students cannot be compelled to sign an NDA. The faculty and/or Gannon University will work with the sponsor in good faith to develop alternatives, such as assigning other students to the project or limiting the scope of disclosure, etc.

Students are cautioned that their ownership of IP comes with all the obligations that attach with those rights. Students should seek counsel to explore their options for commercialization. Gannon University resources and affiliated partners may be available for consultation or assistance. Gannon University has no obligation to spend any additional resources beyond incidental information and there may be additional out-of-pocket expenses that may be charged to the student as may be determined on a case-by-case basis.
2.7.3.2 Faculty Policies

IP developed using only normally available university resources is 100% owned by the faculty member. IP developed by casual use of laboratory resources without incurring significant cost are 100% owned by the faculty member.

Certain course materials are exempted by the University from the "work made for hire" doctrine and considered owned by the faculty-creator. Ownership of copyright for all of the below belong to the faculty-creator unless the material in question was a) developed with significant input from others at Gannon University b) derived significantly from use of University resources, or c) the faculty-creator received special or additional compensation to create the course beyond his or her regular compensation. Faculty may NOT distribute or sell course materials or content for commercial purposes. Faculty may NOT use course materials or content to teach the same course outside of Gannon University while employed at Gannon University. Examples of course materials owned by the faculty creator include:

a) Course syllabi
b) Lecture notes
c) PowerPoint or other digital presentations
d) Class assignments, exams, and supplemental materials
e) Digital course materials, including a limited, insubstantial part of a digitally produced or digitally reproduced lecture (but not the entirety of any single lecture or multiple lectures)

Examples of permitted use of exempted course materials include: Distribution of content to peers at other academic institutions for noncommercial academic or personal use outside of Gannon University; Distribution for scholarly publication; Inclusion in an occasional lecture at another institution while still employed at Gannon University; or Teaching or other re-use at other non-profit educational institutions after leaving Gannon University. Faculty may NOT distribute or sell content for commercial purposes.

Gannon University may use course materials created by the faculty-creator under the following conditions:

a) With the express written permission of the faculty-creator; or
b) Without the express permission of the faculty-creator if the faculty-creator is unreachable or incapacitated and Gannon University needs to complete a course with a substitute instructor.

Faculty is cautioned that ownership of IP comes with all the obligations that attach with those rights. Faculty should seek counsel to explore their options for commercialization. Gannon University resources and affiliated partners may be available for consultation or assistance. Gannon University has no obligation to spend any additional resources beyond incidental information and there may be additional out-of-pocket expenses that may be charged to the faculty member as may be determined on a case-by-case basis.
Whenever there is any ambiguity regarding the ownership of intellectual property in which Gannon University resources are being used, a written agreement designating who will own the intellectual property must be entered into before the creation and/or development of the material in question.
2.7.3.3 Staff Policies

Revision Date: 01/18/2023  Approval Date: 02/01/2023  Current Version

The primary role of staff is to support university operations and provide their abilities, knowledge and innovation to improve and optimize operations. From time to time staff may create IP which could be used commercially beyond Gannon University. In that instance Gannon University will in good faith provide a benefit to the staff member rewarding their innovation. IP developed by staff outside of regular job responsibilities belongs 100% to the staff member.
2.7.3.4 Third Party IP

Interest in IP created under contract to another organization or individuals will be governed by the contract with the other organization or individuals.
2.7.3.5 Retroactive Application of Policy

Revision Date: 01/18/2023   Approval Date: 02/01/2023   Current Version

The policies detailed herein shall also apply to IP created prior to the institution of these policies. Nevertheless, the terms of any agreements or contracts related to IP and Gannon University shall be enforced as written unless modified under the terms of such agreements or contracts.
2.7.4 Invention Disclosures

An invention disclosure is a document which provides information about the inventor(s), what was invented, circumstances leading to the invention, and facts concerning subsequent activities. It provides the basis for a determination of patentability and the technical information for patent counsel to draft a patent application. An invention disclosure is also used to report technology that may not be patentable but is protected by other means such as copyrights. It also provides the basis to opening discussions between the inventors and Gannon University for the expenditure of more than casual use of Gannon University resources.

Inventors should prepare and submit an invention disclosure for each potentially commercially viable IP as soon as continued development will require more than casual use of Gannon University resources. The inventor must make a full disclosure of an invention to the Vice President for Academic Affairs (or a designee) promptly in writing using the Gannon University Invention Disclosure Form ("GU-C Form"). The inventor must also inform the inventor’s department chair, supervisor, or unit administrator of the intent to disclose a potentially patentable invention.

The following practical considerations relate to invention disclosures:

a) Individuals covered by this policy are expected to apply reasonable judgment as to whether an invention has potential for commercial use. If such potential exists, the invention should be considered "potentially patentable" and disclosed to the University.

b) Individuals may not use University resources, including facilities, personnel, equipment or confidential information, except in a purely incidental way, for any non-University purposes, including outside consulting activities or other activities in pursuit of personal gain.
2.7.4.1 Development by the University

Revision Date: 01/18/2023   Approval Date: 02/01/2023   Current Version
2.7.4.1.1 Ownership Provisions

Revision Date: 01/18/2023   Approval Date: 02/01/2023   Current Version

When intellectual property is created with more than incidental use of University facilities, but not directly arising from sponsored research, the university shall have right, but not the obligation to secure patent or copyright protection and, in such case, will retain some ownership rights to the property. The amount of ownership will be negotiated with the inventor/creator at the time of filing the copyright registration or patent application. If the University is the sole owner of the intellectual property, the University may elect to develop and commercially exploit such intellectual property as a trade secret without applying for a United States or other patent or copyright to same.

IP requiring review by the Vice President for Academic Affairs, but not chosen to be pursued by the University, may, upon request of the inventor(s), be released back to the inventor(s) and the University will transfer any applicable ownership interest to the inventor(s) with no further claim on the IP. Such request will not be unreasonably withheld.
2.7.4.1.2 Net Proceeds

Revision Date: 01/18/2023  Approval Date: 02/01/2023  Current Version

If the intellectual property is developed solely by the University, proceeds shall be shared as set out in Section 5 of this Policy.
2.7.4.1.3 Waiver/Assignment of University’s Rights

Revision Date: 01/18/2023   Approval Date: 02/01/2023   Current Version

When/if the University decides it does not wish to pursue or continue patent or copyright protection, or commercial exploitation of intellectual property as a trade secret, the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs (or a designee) shall inform the inventor in writing, and the University shall take the necessary steps to meet sponsor requirements or other obligations before transferring the ownership rights to the inventor. If the ownership rights are transferred to the inventor, the inventor shall then be responsible for any patent or copyright expenses incurred from the date of University's notice.
2.7.5 Licensing and Royalties

Revision Date: 01/18/2023   Approval Date: 02/01/2023   Current Version

This Section outlines the licensing and royalty guidelines under which IP solely owned by the University may be commercially exploited. The University encourages the development by industry for public use and benefit of inventions and technology resulting from University research. It recognizes that protection of proprietary rights in the form of a patent is often necessary to encourage a company to invest its personnel and financial resources to conceive, create and develop the invention. In some cases, an exclusive license may be necessary to provide an incentive for a company to undertake commercial development and production. Nonexclusive licenses allow several companies to exploit an invention.

The research and teaching role of the University shall take precedence over patent considerations in most cases. While the University expects some financial reward from the licensing of patents which result from the research which it supports, the direction of University research should not be unduly influenced by patent considerations or personal financial interests.

The Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs handles the evaluation, marketing, negotiations and licensing of University-solely-owned inventions with commercial potential, upon the advice of legal counsel. Royalty distribution shall be as follows:
2.7.5.1 Cash Royalties

A deduction of 10% to cover the University administrative overhead is taken from gross royalty income, followed by a deduction for any directly assignable expenses, such as legal and patent filing fees. After deductions, royalty income is allocated one third to the inventor, one third to the inventor's department and one third to the inventor's University school. In the case of independent contractors, the inventor may assign the third of the royalty income that would otherwise go to the inventor's department to the independent contractor. When more than one department is involved, the inventor shall designate the distribution of the department and school thirds based on their respective contributions in support of the work. Disputes over distribution of royalties shall be reviewed and resolved by the Vice President for Academic Affairs within these guidelines.

When an invention is conceived jointly by two or more inventors, then each shall share in the net income in proportion to their contribution(s) as mutually agreed upon. If the joint inventors fail to reach such an agreement, then the income shall be distributed among the inventors in proportion to their contribution(s) as determined by the Vice President for Academic Affairs or a designee unless provided in a separate agreement. In no case shall the total payments to joint inventors exceed the amount that would have been paid to a single inventor for a particular invention. The proportionate distribution schedule of income between the inventors will also be used.
The University encourages the start-up of companies, as evidenced by University support of the Erie Technology Incubator ("ETI") and the Small Business Development Center ("SBDC"). Such support may involve transfer of University intellectual property, provided that any potential conflicts of interest are accounted for and appropriately resolved, to the satisfaction of the Vice President for Academic Affairs. The University may at times accept equity as part of the licensing fees. Agreements covering these types of Vice President for Academic Affairs arrangements are often complex and must be evaluated and negotiated by the appropriate designee and the Vice President for Academic Affairs.
2.7.6 Copyright Policy

Revision Date: 01/18/2023  Approval Date: 02/01/2023  Current Version
2.7.6.1 General Policy Statement

Revision Date: 01/18/2023   Approval Date: 02/01/2023   Current Version

Gannon University recognizes that copyright is the ownership and control of the intellectual property in original works of authorship which are subject to copyright law. It is the policy of the University to comply with the Digital Millennium Copyright Act of 1998 ("DMCA"), the Copyright Act of 1976 and subsequent amendments to either of these Acts. Gannon University recognizes that all rights in copyright shall remain with the creator unless the work is one of the following: a work-for-hire by an employee within the scope of his/her employment (and copyright vests in the University under copyright law); is an institutional work; is supported by a direct allocation of funds through the University for the pursuit of a specific project; is commissioned by the University; makes significant use of University resources or personnel; or is otherwise subject to contractual obligations. This policy shall apply to all works created in a fixed form following final approval of this policy by the University.
2.7.6.2 Institutional Works

Revision Date: 01/18/2023   Approval Date: 02/01/2023   Current Version

The University shall retain ownership of works created as institutional works, rather than solely through personal effort. Institutional works include works that are supported by a specific allocation of University funds or that are created at the direction of the University for a specific University purpose, or that is or would be a "work for hire" if the creator were an employee of the University. Institutional works also include works whose authorship cannot be attributed to one or a discrete number of authors but rather result from simultaneous or sequential contributions over time by multiple faculty and students. For example, software tools developed and improved over time by multiple faculty and students where authorship is not appropriately attributed to a single or defined group of authors would constitute an institutional work. The mere fact that multiple individuals have contributed to the creation of a work shall not be itself cause the work to constitute an institutional work.
2.7.3 Works for Hire

"Works for hire" is a term defined in the Copyright Act as "a work prepared by an employee within the scope of his or her employment." This definition includes works prepared by employees in satisfaction of sponsored agreements between the University and outside agencies. Specially ordered or commissioned works also are works for hire if the parties so agree in writing.

The University by law is the "author" and hence the owner of works for hire for copyright purposes. Works for hire subject to this principle include works that are developed in whole or in part, by University employees. Where a work is jointly developed by University faculty or staff or student employees and a non-University third party, the copyright in the resulting work typically will be jointly owned by the University and the third party. In such instances, both the University and the third party would have non-exclusive rights to exploit the work, subject to the duty to account to each other. University ownership in a work for hire may be relinquished only by the Vice President for Academic Affairs.
2.7.6.4 Use of University Resources

Revision Date: 01/18/2023   Approval Date: 02/01/2023   Current Version

Gannon University resources are to be used solely for University purposes and not for personal gain or personal commercial advantage, nor for any other non-University purposes. Therefore, if the creator of a copyrightable work makes more than incidental use of the services of University faculty, employees or University resources to create the copyrightable work, he or she shall disclose the work to the appropriate University designee and assign title to the University. Examples of incidental use include ordinary use of desktop computers, University libraries and limited, incidental administrative resources.
2.7.6.5 Re-conveyance of Copyright to Creator

When copyright is assigned to Gannon because of the provisions of this policy, the creator of the copyrighted material may request the Vice President for Academic Affairs to re-convey ownership back to the creator. Such a request may, at the discretion of the Vice President for Academic Affairs, be granted if it does not: violate any legal obligations of or to the University; restrict appropriate University uses of the materials; create a real or potential conflict of interest for the creator; or, otherwise conflict with University goals or principles.
2.7.6.6 Determinations of Ownership and Policy in Unclear Cases

Questions of ownership or other matters pertaining to materials covered by this policy shall be resolved by the Vice President for Academic Affairs (or appropriate designee).
Royalties will normally be allocated in accordance with the University's policy on Licensing and Royalties (see Licensing and Royalties Section 5 above). If copyright protection alone is claimed, royalties normally will be allocated in a similar manner, with the "inventor's share" allocated among individuals identified based on their relative creations and contributions to the work. Where royalty distribution to individuals would be impracticable or inequitable, the "inventor's share" may be allocated to a research or educational account in the department where the copyrightable material was developed. Such determination will be made on a case-by-case basis by the Vice President for Academic Affairs.
No assignment, license or other agreement may be entered into or will be considered valid with respect to copyrighted works owned by the University except by the Vice President for Academic Affairs or other Gannon official specifically authorized to do so.
2.7.6.9 Policy Regarding Instructional Materials and Course Presentations

Revision Date: 01/18/2023   Approval Date: 02/01/2023   Current Version

For instructional materials and course presentations that are the property of Gannon University, Gannon University prohibits the sale, license or commercial publication, distribution, transmission, or display of notes or other recordings of any material presented or prepared by instructors in courses offered or sponsored by the University, without the prior written consent of the course instructor(s). Violations of this policy by students are subject to enforcement under the University Student Disciplinary Code. Violations of this policy by students and others are also subject to enforcement under federal and state law.

This policy is not intended to compromise the legal rights of students or the legal obligations of the University with respect to disability accommodation.

Instructors should provide a copyright notice and statement on their Syllabi similar to the following: "C in a circle {year of creation}. Gannon University. This {syllabus/course material} is for the use of students enrolled in {course name and number}. It may not be reproduced, published, or transmitted electronically for commercial purposes without the Instructor's consent." The University retains an unlimited license to use the Instructor’s Syllabi in its day to day operations, including sharing such Syllabi with other University Instructors teaching similar courses for reference purposes only.
On-line courses and other Technology Based Material ("TBM") represent complex and evolving areas of intellectual property. Agreements should be negotiated between all relevant parties early in the process of developing on-line courses, TBM, and related materials, consistent with the University's Intellectual Property Policies.

Technology-based materials are typically copyrightable, although there may also be some such as computer programs and software for which patent and license policies apply. TBM copyrights belong to the creator, where the creator has made only incidental use of University resources and is not a staff member working within the scope of employment. Patents belong to the inventor/creator unless the inventor/creator is a staff member whose invention/creation is developed within the scope of his/her employment or the inventor/creator has made more than incidental use of University resources and the University develops the patent as provided under Section 4 above.
The University retains a right of approval over licenses of copyrightable TBM created with more than incidental use of University resources, as well as a perpetual, royalty-free license to use such materials for University purposes but not to sell or distribute them to third parties. Use of electronic media, including course management software, shall be considered merely incidental use of University resources. TBM created with more than incidental use of University resources may be used by other members of the University community, whether or not the creator is employed by the University. However, said other members of the University may not claim ownership to any material whether altered or in its original form at any time unless granted written permission by the University.

The University has the right to determine appropriate use and/or compensation for the University name and logo.

Delivery systems and other supporting materials supplied by other University employees, such as staff in Continuing Education or Information Technology Services, shall remain the property of the University.
2.7.6.10.2 Rights and Responsibilities of the Creator

Revision Date: 01/18/2023   Approval Date: 02/01/2023   Current Version

Course materials and instructional tools delivered via electronic media that are created as a result of normal teaching, research, or administration of assignments shall be deemed to belong to the creator. Creator may assign any or all of these rights to the University in a written contract.

Where TBM belongs to the creator, the creator retains the rights to update, edit, revise, or distribute electronically developed course materials and to place a time limit upon its use.
2.7.6.10.3 Duplication of TBM for Student Use

Revision Date: 01/18/2023   Approval Date: 02/01/2023   Current Version

At each site at which a distance education course is offered and where facilities and staffing permit, a copy of the TBM relating to such course may be made at the site to allow students to review a missed class, with the instructor's permission.
2.7.6.10.4 Releases and Consents

Revision Date: 01/18/2023   Approval Date: 02/01/2023   Current Version

Before recording of course presentations by audio, video, or other mechanisms, the University, through responsible officials or agents (including but not limited to instructions officers), shall obtain written releases and consent from persons appearing in such recordings. This provision is subject to the requirements of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act as well as other relevant state or federal law.

The University, through responsible officials or agents, shall obtain releases and consents for intellectual property used in the production of TBM.
2.7.7 Prosecution for Infringements

Revision Date: 01/18/2023   Approval Date: 02/01/2023   Current Version

When a University-administered Intellectual Property asset is infringed, the University shall have the right to prosecute the infringement and the inventor(s) or creator(s) will provide reasonable assistance.
Dispute resolution with regard to intellectual property will be handled by an ad hoc committee composed of the Chair of the University Review Council (who will chair the committee), the head of the unit where the dispute is taking place (unless the dispute involves that person, in which case another individual mutually agreeable to the Vice President for Academic Affairs and the inventor/creator will be chosen).
2.7.9 Exceptions to the Policy

Revision Date: 01/18/2023    Approval Date: 02/01/2023    Current Version

Exceptions to this policy shall be administered by the Vice President for Academic Affairs (or a designee) or other official designated to administer the policy in regular consultation with the Vice President for Academic Affairs.
The Vice President for Academic Affairs or a designee shall be responsible for the administration of this policy. The Vice President for Academic Affairs
2.7.11 Effective Date

Revision Date: 01/18/2023  Approval Date: 02/01/2023  Current Version

This policy shall become effective after the approval of Faculty Senate, the Vice President for Academic Affairs, the President, and as of the date of its approval by the Board of Trustees.
2.7.12 Periodic Evaluation of Policy

Revision Date: 01/18/2023   Approval Date: 02/01/2023   Current Version

Under the direction of the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience or designee, this policy shall be reviewed periodically and revised in light of legal developments and experience gained.
2.7.13 Administration, Interpretation of Application and Amendment of Policy

Revision Date: 01/18/2023   Approval Date: 02/01/2023   Current Version
2.7.13.1 Administration

Revision Date: 01/18/2023   Approval Date: 02/01/2023   Current Version

The Provost and Vice President for Student Experience or a designee shall be responsible for the administration and interpretation of this policy, and to make exceptions in appropriate cases. The Vice President for Academic Affairs will issue administrative guidelines as necessary or appropriate to assist with policy interpretation and to facilitate its administration. Such guidelines shall include procedures for the reporting and resolution of alleged policy violations and shall reserve to the University the right to initiate civil or criminal complaints for policy violations as well as to pursue University corrective or disciplinary action.
2.7.13.2 Application

Revision Date: 01/18/2023  Approval Date: 02/01/2023  Current Version

The policies articulated in this document are binding on all members of the University community, including - but not limited to - faculty, staff, students and administrators.
2.7.13.3 Applicable Law

Revision Date: 01/18/2023  Approval Date: 02/01/2023  Current Version

University records and documents shall be produced in conformance with governing federal and state law, including - but not limited to - the law regarding access to student educational records and the provisions and exemptions of the State Public Records Act.
2.7.13.4 Periodic Evaluation and Amendment

Revision Date: 01/18/2023  Approval Date: 02/01/2023  Current Version

Under the direction of the Vice President for Academic Affairs or designee, this Policy shall be reviewed periodically and revised in light of legal developments and experience gained. All revisions, regardless of their source, shall be approved by Faculty Senate, the Vice President for Academic Affairs, the President and as of the date of its approval by the Board of Trustees.
2.8 Institutional Advancement Policies
2.8.1.1.0.0.0 Introduction

This document attempts to define and clarify the guidelines for gift counting and recording that will be used by the Advancement Office during the upcoming campaign. In establishing these guidelines, Gannon seeks to comply with all applicable state and federal laws and adhere to the management and reporting standards published by NACUBO (National Association of College and University Business Officers) in conjunction with CASE (Council for Advancement and Support of Education) and the CASE Campaign Standards, a published guideline on standard gift counting practices.

It must be stressed that gift counting is a collaborative, University-wide effort and the development of an acceptable gift counting policy will necessitate frequent communication between the Vice President for University Advancement and the Vice President for Finance and Campus Operations.
2.8.1.2.0.0.0 Gift Types

Revision Date: 11/7/2008  Approval Date: 11/7/2008  Current Version

Recordable gifts come in two forms - outright gifts of tangible assets and pledges. A pledge is a promise to make a gift. It must be written and signed by the donor and include information on the anticipated gift amount, gift type (stock, real estate, cash), fulfillment date, intention (payment schedule), and purpose (fund allocation).
Pledges can be unconditional or conditional. An unconditional gift is given without any attachments. A conditional gift is given with specific criteria, for example, a challenge: "I will give $1 million to Gannon if you raise $500,000 to support men's basketball" or "I will give $1 million to Gannon when xxxx stock price reaches $xxxx."

Pledges will be set up with a specifically stated pledge payment schedule, with a maximum payment schedule of five years.

All pledges that are to be paid with cash or securities are counted at full face value for campaign reporting. Deferred gifts will be considered separately as outlined in the Deferred Gifts section below.

Oral pledges will not be entered in the University gift system, or counted in campaign totals.
2.8.1.3.2.0.0 Cash Gifts and Pledge Payments

Revision Date: 11/7/2008   Approval Date: 11/7/2008   Current Version

Gifts of domestic currency are counted at face value on the day the gift is deposited. Exceptions are made at calendar year-end, when gifts are counted as of the postmarked date. At fiscal year-end (June 30), a grace period of not more than two weeks is given to enable donors to receive gift credit in the fiscal year that is closing.

Credit card gifts are counted at full face value on the day the gift is deposited. As with domestic currency, exceptions are made at calendar year and fiscal year-end.

Foreign currency is counted as determined by the exchange rate on the date the donor relinquished control of the asset. The University does not accept foreign currency gifts under $25 because the cost of conversion is prohibitive.

Wire transfers are counted at the full amount of the gift transferred by the donor.
2.8.1.3.3.0.0 Matching Gifts

Revision Date: 11/7/2008    Approval Date: 11/7/2008    Current Version

Corporate matching gifts are counted at full value as gifts received from the corporation on the date that the match is received from the corporation. The donor whose gift is being matched receives acknowledgment and recognition (a soft-dollar credit) for the matching funds, but matching gifts are not counted as pledge payments on donor pledges.
2.8.1.3.4.0.0 Marketable and Closely Held Securities

Revision Date: 6/4/2018       Approval Date: 6/4/2018       Current Version

There are two types of securities: marketable and closely held.

Marketable securities can be sold immediately. Closely held securities must be held by the University for a certain period of time, either by donor restriction or restriction on the security itself.

For marketable securities, the University Finance and Campus Operations Office bases valuation on the average between the highest and lowest quoted price per share at the close of the market on the day the donor surrenders control of the asset. For closely held securities exceeding $10,000 in value, University Finance and Campus Operations Office counts the gift based on an independent appraisal, provided by the donor, of the value of the securities on the day the donor surrenders control of the asset. Closely held stock valued at $10,000 or less may be valued at the per-share cash purchase price of the most recent transaction. If no transaction has occurred in the campaign reporting period, closely held stock in this category may be valued by an independent certified public accountant who maintains books for a closely held corporation, or by a qualified independent appraiser.
Only the Vice President for Finance and Campus Operations or a designee has the authority to accept a gift of real property. These gifts may be made in five forms:

1. Outright gift: Gift credit is given at the time the University received the property for the appraised value, less any mortgage indebtedness.

2. Undivided interest in real property: If a donor contributes a portion of land to the University but retains control over the property's use, the donor is given gift credit for the appraised value of the portion of land contributed, less any mortgage indebtedness.

3. Retained right of residence: Gift credit is given for the appraised value of the property, less any mortgage indebtedness and less the value of the retained right to occupy the residence. Donors are responsible for taxes, insurance, repairs, and general upkeep.

4. Bargain sales: The gift amount is the difference between the purchase price and the appraised value of the property, less any mortgage indebtedness.
There are two types of gifts-in-kind, those that are donated to Gannon and then sold by the University, and those that are donated to Gannon and retained by the University. Examples of gifts-in-kind include artwork, furniture, office equipment, etc. Receipt of these gifts must have the prior approval of the Vice President for Finance and Campus Operations before being accepted.

Gifts of real and personal property that qualify as a charitable deduction for a donor will be counted at full fair market value regardless of the value the donor may be able to take as a charitable deduction. In keeping with IRS requirements for gift substantiation, the donor has the responsibility for valuing property for tax deduction purposes.

Gifts with fair market values of more than $5,000 will be counted at the values placed on them by qualified independent appraisers, as required by the IRS for valuing non cash charitable contributions. Gifts of $5,000 and less will be reported at the value declared by the donor or determined by a qualified expert on the faculty or staff of the institution.

Gifts-in-kind are non-cash donations of materials or long-lived assets. Gifts of materials or long-lived assets that serve the purpose of the institution will be reported at the face (fair market) value. Gifts-in-kind might include such items as equipment, software, printed materials, food, or other items used for hosting dinners, etc. For items such as equipment and software, the educational discount value (the value the institution would have paid had it purchased the item outright from the vendor) will be reported.

Gifts of copyrights and ownership of gas or oil wells will be reported at the readily determined face (fair market) value. Alternatively, if the fair market value is not known and cannot be readily determined, the asset will be reported in the year the value becomes known. For gifts of royalties from gas and oil wells not owned by the institution, the amount received each year will be reported.
2.8.1.3.7.0.0  Event Sponsorship

Revision Date: 11/7/2008   Approval Date: 11/7/2008   Current Version

Event sponsorship must take the form of reimbursement for expenses related to a university-sanctioned event. In order to be counted as a charitable contribution, all bills for the event must be paid by the University.
2.8.1.3.8.0.0 Event Attendance

For quid pro quo contributions, the amount of the contribution that exceeds the value of benefits the donor receives from the institution in return for the gift will be counted as voluntary support. For such contributions, these standards follow the IRS tax rules regarding tax deductibility of quid pro quo contributions.

The value of the benefits will be based on the fair market value of the items, not the cost to the institution.
2.8.1.3.9.0.0 Bequests

Revision Date: 11/7/2008  Approval Date: 11/7/2008  Current Version

A bequest is a gift made under a will. It is counted when the estate is settled, and the assets received; the full value is counted as gift income.
Charitable Lead Trusts immediate gifts in trust that pay over a period of time. The Charitable Lead Trust can be a unitrust or an annuity trust. An outside agent holds an income-producing asset for a fixed term or for the life of the donor, during which time income is paid to the University. At the conclusion of the trust term, the asset is returned to a named beneficiary (which may be the University, the donor, or another party).

Example: A donor establishes a charitable lead trust with an institution by transferring $500,000 to the trust and stipulating that $25,000 will be given to the institution each year for ten years, after which the assets are to return to the donor. Only the $25,000 received by the institution each year should be entered in the institution’s gift totals for that year.
Gifts of life insurance policies can be considered a gift only if Gannon University has been named both owner and irrevocable beneficiary of the policy. In addition:

1. Paid-up life insurance policies will be reported as an outright gift at the cash surrender value upon date of the transfer of ownership and beneficiary to the University.

2. For gifts of existing policies that are not paid up, the gift amount will be the existing cash value of the policy on the date of the contribution. If the payment of additional premiums is pledged over a five-year pledge period, the incremental increase in the cash value will be counted as a campaign pledge.

3. Realized death benefits will be reported as gift income only if the University has never previously recorded the policy value or any donor-paid premiums as gift income and if the University has not been paying the premiums. If the values have already been reported, the difference between the previously reported values and the amount of the insurance company's settlement at the death of the donor will not be counted as a gift, because this is a gain on the disposition of the institution’s assets.

When Gannon receives the proceeds of an insurance policy in which it was named beneficiary, but not the owner the full amount of the insurance company's settlement at the death of the donor should be reported as a gift on the date Gannon receives the proceeds.
2.8.1.4.0.0.0 Deferred Gifts

Revision Date: 11/7/2008   Approval Date: 11/7/2008   Current Version

As previously stated, deferred gifts are counted by Advancement at full face value. This is the value that is reported to donors, as allowed by CASE guidelines. Both face value and net present value are reported to the University Trustees and to CASE, where applicable. There are several -types of deferred gifts.
Charitable Remainder Trusts are transfers of assets to the University or to an outside agent with income on principal returned to the donor, either over a specified period of time or throughout the donor's lifetime. These gifts may be in the form of a unitrust (paying income to the donor as a fixed percentage of the asset, revalued annually) or an annuity trust (paying income to the donor as a fixed payment amount based on the value of the gift when made). At the end of the term, or upon the donor's death as specified in the trust agreement, the remaining assets are released to, or transferred to, the University for use as designated by the donor in the trust agreement. The full amount of the trust is recorded as a gift when the instrument states that the University will irrevocably receive the asset. Both face value and discounted present value of the remainder interest allowable as a deduction by the IRS are reported to the University and to CASE. The premise underlying the discounting to present value of gifts of a future interest is that the present value of a future interest is less than the face (fair market) value of the assets at the time the gift commitment is made.

The charitable remainder beneficiary designation must be irrevocable, and verified as such, in order to be counted in fund-raising totals.
2.8.1.4.2.0.0 Charitable Gift Annuities

Revision Date: 11/7/2008  Approval Date: 11/7/2008  Current Version

Charitable Gift Annuities are similar to an annuity trust; this constitutes a transfer of assets to Gannon University. The University pays a fixed dollar amount to the donor over that donor’s lifetime in exchange for the transfer. The full amount of the charitable gift annuity is recorded as a gift. Upon the death of the donor, the University retains ownership of the full amount of the asset. Both face value and net present value are reported to the Trustees and to CASE.

The different between the Charitable Remainder Trust and the Charitable Gift Annuity lies in the ways the trusts are created and the funds invested. A donor would choose between the two options based on preferred rates of return and tax planning decisions.

In the charitable gift annuity transaction, a person irrevocably transfers to an institution some property, such as securities, and the institution agrees in a contract to pay the donor or other beneficiaries a guaranteed annuity for life. Because the transferred property has a value larger than the value of the annuity, the transaction is in part the purchase of an annuity from the institution and in part a gift to the institution.
Pooled Income Funds are co-mingled assets donated by participants in the fund and distributes to all beneficiaries a pro-rata share of earned income. The full donor contribution is recorded as a gift. Upon the death of a participant, the participant's portion of the fund (along with the growth attributed to the donor's ownership interest) is removed and released to the University to be used as specified in the original transfer agreement.
2.8.1.5.0.0.0 Non-Government Grants

Grants from corporations (public or private), private foundations, community foundations, and associations are counted as gifts. Contracts will not be counted as gifts. The difference between a contract and a grant is judged on the basis of the intention of the awarding agency and the legal obligation incurred by the University in accepting the award. In order to be considered a gift, a grant must be bestowed voluntarily and without expectation of tangible compensation (e.g., proprietary rights to research).
2.8.1.6.0.0 Testamentary Gifts

Testamentary pledge commitments in the campaign totals should satisfy the following three requirements:

1. The commitment must have a specified amount or percentage of the estate stated in the will based on a credible estimate of the future value of the estate at the time the commitment is made.

2. The University must have verification of the commitment in one of the following forms:
   a. A letter from the donor or the donor's attorney affirming the commitment and stating that the University will be informed of any changes in the will that might be made in the future.
   b. A legally binding document tested in the courts of several states that places an obligation on the estate of the issuer to transfer a certain amount to the University. Under such agreements, the executor of the donor's estate is held legally responsible for payment of the specified amount from the estate.
   c. A contract to make a will - a legally binding document, also tested in the courts of several states that place an obligation on the donor to make a will that transfers certain assets or a certain percentage of the donor's estate to the University. This instrument is used when the donor cannot (or does not wish to) specify the precise dollar amount the donor will contribute. Instead, the donor promises to execute a valid will wherein the donor designates a certain item of property or portion of the estate to the University. Often, the portion is stated as a percentage of the residue of the estate. After the contract is signed, no changes may be made in the donor's will that would decrease the University's originally specified share, except as agreed upon in advance by the donor and the University.

3. The amount specified or estimated will be reported at both the discounted present value and at face value in the "deferred gifts" (future commitments) portion of the campaign report. If any circumstances should make it unlikely that the amount pledged by bequest will actually be realized by the University, then the commitment may be further adjusted according to specific circumstances, or not reported at all.
2.8.1.7.0.0.0 Exclusions

Revision Date: 1/28/2010    Approval Date: 1/28/2010    Current Version

Campaign totals will exclude:

1. Gifts and pledges counted in a previous campaign, even if collected during the current campaign period.
2. Contributed services.
5. Surplus income from ticket-based operations, except where allowed by the Internal Revenue Service as a quid pro quo charitable contribution.
2.8.2.0.0.0 Use of Gannon University Name, Seal, and Logo

Revision Date: 2/19/2018    Approval Date: 2/19/2018    Current Version

Members of the campus community, either individually or collectively, shall not officially use the name, seal or logo of Gannon University in any activity outside of the regular work of the University. Violation of this rule is regarded as sufficient cause for dismissal or expulsion. Gannon University's name, seal, and logo are the exclusive property of the University and, consequently, may not be used in connection with goods or services offered by any outside organization without the prior permission of the Chief of Staff and Director of Marketing and Communications. Members of the campus community publish a considerable number of reports in the form of bulletins, circulars, scientific articles, monographs, and books, some of which are copyrighted and others of which are not. Material from such recognized publications is, of course, quotable, and proper recognition should be given to both the individual author and to Gannon University in connection with such quotations.

Official stationery may not be used in connection with "outside activities" except with respect to those academic and scholarly activities described above. No report or statement relating to outside activities may have the name of Gannon University attributed to it. The use of official Gannon University titles for personal gain or publicity is prohibited without the written approval of the Chief of Staff and Director of Marketing and Communications.

The Gannon University identity system is more than just our logo and institutional colors, it is a comprehensive structure for communicating Gannon's visual identity in a meaningful way. A well-defined identity system enables Gannon to present a consistent and professional visual message to its internal and external audiences. This consistency is key to reinforcing Gannon's identity and reputation, allowing us to attract, engage and retain support from its constituents.

Gannon recognizes the need for creative flexibility within faculties, departments and units on campus to meet specific stakeholders' needs. With that in mind, the Creative Toolkit, available on the Marketing Store outlines ways to incorporate the University's visual identity system into all forms of University communications, while still allowing for individual expression.

The toolkit also outlines procedural guidelines for the creation of documents and artwork that serve the Gannon brand.

2.9.6 Fiscal Year End Expenses Processing

2.9.6.1.0.0.0 Overview

Revision Date: 11/7/2008   Approval Date: 11/7/2008   Current Version

The policies related to the year-end processing of check requisitions and purchase orders are based on Generally Accepted Accounting Principles and guidance provided by the University's independent auditors.

The procedures for year-end processing of check requisitions and purchase orders have been developed jointly by the Controller's Office, the Budget Office, and the Purchasing Office.
Check Requisitions

Check Requisitions are used for the payment of goods and services for which a Purchase Order was not initiated. The cost of goods purchased will be charged to the Fiscal Year Budget based on the date the goods were received by the requestor, regardless of the date the requestor presents the check requisition to the Accounts Payable Office.

The cost of services purchased will be charged to the Fiscal Year Budget based on the date(s) the services are rendered, regardless of the invoice date or the date the requestor presents the check requisition to the Accounts Payable Office.

The University's annual audit usually begins in the middle of July. In order for the Finance staff to be adequately prepared for the annual audit, all check requisitions are to be presented to the Accounts Payable Office within the first full week of July. Check Requisitions presented after that week, will still be charged to the appropriate fiscal year. The delayed processing of check requisitions may result in annual audit concerns.
2.9.6.3.0.0.0 Purchase Orders

Revision Date: 7/31/2014   Approval Date: 7/31/2014   Current Version

When a Purchase Order is generated, the department's available budget dollars are reduced (encumbered), in anticipation of the cost of the goods or services ordered. When the invoice related to the Purchase order is actually paid, the encumbrance is removed, and an expense is charged to the department’s budget. The change in the available budget dollars should be minimal, assuming the Purchase Order was processed for an amount very close to the invoiced amount and that all transactions occur in the same Fiscal Year.

Each year, as the Fiscal Year end approaches, the Purchasing Department asks that all Purchase Orders are processed no later than June 15th. In order for the payment for goods or services encumbered by a Purchase Order to be charged to the current Fiscal Year budget, all of the following must occur on or before June 30th of any Fiscal Year:

1. The items must be received. (a few days of shipping and delivery time may be allowable)
2. The items must be invoiced, and the invoice must be dated no later than June 30th.
3. The requestor notifies the purchasing department, in writing, that the order has been delivered or the service has been completed.

If any of these three conditions are not met, the goods or services may not be paid with budget dollars in the requested Fiscal Year. The invoice payment will be charged to the next Fiscal Year budget.

Each year, during the first week of May, a message from the Controller’s Office will be posted on the portal to remind Colleagues of the Year End Processing Policies and Procedures, including the specific dates applicable.
The purchasing function is a joint effort between the requesting departments and the Purchasing Department to insure timely buying of quality products at the lowest possible cost. The Purchasing Department acts in support of the University's departments.

A purchase order is an official instrument which expresses the buyer's part of a contract of sale and is required for the procurement of most goods and services on behalf of the University. In cases where orders fall below the purchase order limit threshold of $1,000, a vendor will not accept a purchase order, an emergency order is required, or other special circumstances, an approved check requisition can be used for payment.

The Director of Purchasing or the Purchasing Agent are the designated individuals authorized to issue purchase orders and to commit University funds to secure supplies, equipment and services. No other individual has the authority to enter into purchase contracts, or in any way obligate Gannon University for purchases unless specifically authorized to do so, except in special circumstances, which will be reviewed on a case by case basis. Vendors ordinarily doing business with the University are aware of this policy and are advised that all purchases chargeable to Gannon University must be authorized by a Gannon University purchase order.

All purchase orders are reviewed and approved by the Director of Purchasing. Purchase orders exceeding $5000.00 are approved by the Vice President for Finance and Campus Operations or in the Vice President's absence the Controller. The purchase order has the legal force of a binding contract.
2.9.7.1.0.0.0 Purchase Order Procedures

Revision Date: 8/13/2013  Approval Date: 8/13/2013  Current Version

When to request a Purchase Order (PO)

A purchase order (PO) should be obtained for the purchase of a goods or services with a value in excess of $1,000. The requesting department is unauthorized to place any orders exceeding $1,000 until a purchase order has been issued. A purchase order must be obtained prior to the commitment of any Gannon University funds to a supplier.

How do I to request a Purchase Order (PO)?

A purchase order may be requested by completing a purchase requisition form or by submitting an electronic requisition (e-req). All elements of the requisition must be completed and approved by all necessary signers prior to the issuance of a purchase order. Only in emergency circumstances will PO numbers be given out prior to the completion of the purchase requisition or e-requisition. Circumstances will be reviewed on a case by case basis before a determination is made.

How long does it take to issue a Purchase Order (PO)?

The time it takes to issue a purchase order is dependent on numerous factors. If the accompanying requisition has all of the necessary information (see Requisition section), all of the approvals are completed, and the requisition is received by 3 pm, a PO will be issued and distributed to the supplier the same day it is received. If there is additional information or approvals needed, the PO will be issued as soon as the missing elements have been completed.

How do I make changes to an existing Purchase Order (PO)?

All changes to existing PO's must be submitted in writing. Examples of these requests may take the form of an email, memo, or a printed copy of the PO with the changes requested. At a minimum the request should include the PO number or vendor name, the item or line item number of the change requested for, if the supplier has or has not been notified, and a complete description of the requested change (i.e., quantity change, price change, account number change).

The person making the change order request should be the requestor or a person within the department with budget authority. If the change order request exceeds the budget authority of the requestor, additional approvals will be required by completing the Purchase Order Change Request Form. This form can be obtained by contacting a member of the Purchasing Department. If the request made is to reduce the amount of an existing PO, no additional approvals will be required because there will be no additional commitment of funds.

All requests to change a purchase order will be documented by Purchasing using the comment field in POEM. The documentation will include a description of the change, the person requesting the change, the person who approved the changed (assuming the requestor and approver are different individuals), the initials of the person making the change, and the date the change occurred.

How do I cancel/close a Purchase Order (PO)?

A PO may be closed by written notification to Purchasing. Examples of these requests may take the form of an email, memo, or a printed copy of the PO with "Closed" or "Cancelled" written on the body of the PO. At a minimum the request should include the PO number or vendor name, a reason why the PO is being closed, and if the vendor has already been notified.
When to use a BPO

BPO's should be issued for low dollar purchases. Examples include purchases of office supplies, car rentals, maintenance/service agreements, and lease payments. The purpose of BPO's is to reduce paper work by issuing one per year versus on an as-needed basis, set aside money in the budget for known or estimated purchases/payments, complete payments faster since no additional approvals are required, and find payment history in one place rather than searching through a complete vendor's history.

BPO Distribution:

Unless noted on the requisition, Purchasing will send a copy of the BPO to the vendor. If the initiator would prefer to not send a copy of the BPO to the vendor write "Do not mail" in the special instruction section of the purchase requisition form or type "Do not mail" in the printed comment section of the e-requisition.

BPO Changes:

BPO increases may be requested by a person who has budget authority for the increase. BPO decreases may be requested by anyone within the requesting department.

BPO changes may be requested by completing a Blanket Purchase Order Change Request form. This form can be obtained by contacting a member of Purchasing. This form should be completed and returned to Purchasing to be processed.

Approving Changes to a Blanket Purchase Order:

BPO increases exceeding the requestor's budget authority must also have the approval of his/her supervisor. The supervisor may approve the request by signing the Blanket Purchase Order Change Request form.

Department personnel may not circumvent their supervisor's approval by stacking smaller increases multiple times per week.

Signature Authority List

How do I request changes to the Signature Authority List?
A Signing Authority Change Request form must be completed to authorize any changes to the Signature Authority List. Once complete, the form should be sent to Purchasing for processing. Once the form has been reviewed by Purchasing for completeness and accuracy, the updated information will be added to the Signature Authority List.

Purchasing will also monitor the monthly Staff Transaction report distributed by the Human Resources Department for all new hires and separations and will make adjustments to the Signing Authority List accordingly.

Who is authorized to make changes to the Signature Authority List?
Changes to the Signing Authority List will require a minimum of two authorized signatures. The signers should be the Chair, Director or Person with Signing Authority and the Dean or Vice President that the Chair, Director, or Person with Signing Authority directly reports. The employee for which the request is being made can not be one of the authorized signers approving the requested change.

How much signing authority may be granted to an employee?
An employee may be granted no more signing authority than his/her direct supervisor. For example, if a director has a signing limit of $1,000, the director may only request that the employee have a limit less than $1,000.

What if an authorized signer is on vacation or will miss extended time from work? Who can sign in his/her absence?
If an authorized signer will be away from the office for more than three (3) consecutive workdays, he/she should submit a Signing Authority Change Request form. This form will indicate who the authorized signer desires to sign requisitions in his/her absence. In the event that a form was not submitted to Purchasing prior to the authorized signers leave, the next approver listed on the Authorized Signing Authority List will be designated as the signer until the normal signer returns. This person is normally the Dean or Vice President for the department.
2.9.7.4   Responsibilities

2.9.7.4.1.0.0 Directors/Chairs

Revision Date: 11/7/2008   Approval Date: 11/7/2008   Current Version

The Director/Chair is responsible for the budget of the Director/Chair's department. No purchase or payment action will be initiated unless authorized by the Director/Chair. The Director/Chair will assure that the appropriate budget category number is recorded on the requisition and that the appropriate funds are available prior to submitting the requisition to the Purchasing Department. For questions regarding a budget category number, or if a new budget category number is required, contact the Accounts Payable Department.
The Director of Purchasing or the Purchasing Agent will review and approve purchase requisitions. If the budget category number and/or proper authorization and approval are not recorded, the requisition will be sent back to the Director/Chair of the initiating department. The Purchasing Department is responsible to provide training to colleagues responsible for purchasing activities.
2.9.7.5.0.0.0 Requisition/Order Process

Revision Date: 8/20/2013  Approval Date: 8/20/2013  Current Version

A requisition must be completed by the requesting department before the issuance of all purchase orders and blanket purchase orders. The requesting department is required to complete all necessary information and obtain all of the necessary approvals prior to submitting the requisition to Purchasing. If information and approvals are missing from the requisition, the purchase order process will be halted until the information or approvals have been completed.

How do I submit a purchase requisition?

A purchase requisition may be submitted electronically(e-req) using the REQM command in Datatec. In special circumstances, the Purchasing Department will also accept hand-written requisitions using the Purchase Requisition form.

To utilize the e-req system a department must first complete the E-Req Departmental Set-up form. This form will identify who will be placing orders and who will be approving orders for the department. Once the form is completed, it should be submitted to Purchasing for processing. Purchasing will submit a Datatec ID Request Form to the ITS department to provide the departmental users the necessary security needed to access the e-requisitions screens. Once the end users have been given the necessary security classes, Purchasing will complete a departmental linking sheet and process the changes in Datatec using the XEREQ screen. This sheet will ensure that approvers will not receive security violations when reviewing and approving e-requisitions created by other colleagues within his/her department. This process normally takes between two and three weeks. Once this process is completed, a training session will be scheduled.

What information is required for a purchase requisition?

1. Vendor Information: Name, Contact/Attention to (if needed), address, and phone and fax
2. Requestor's Information: Name, Department, Phone number
3. Date Required; This is the date that the product or service is needed by, not the date the PO is needed by.
4. Item Description: Item number, description of the item, color, dimensions, weight. If this is a service like a hotel night, car rental or food service, include the guest/driver's name or name of the event (i.e., the Scholarship Ball or XYZ Meeting). Items should be listed separately rather than grouped together. If the listing is larger than ten items, the description, "per attached quote” and attached the quote to the Purchase Requisition Form. The Purchasing Department will enter the information when creating the PO.

5. Quantity: Should also be listed individually rather than being grouped together. For example, if using Metz for a club meeting, the quantity should reflect the cost per person rather than the cost lumped into a quantity of one.

6. Unit of Measure: i.e.: each, per person, per foot.

7. Unit Price: Cost per each unit

8. Completed Budget Number: for example: 10-1-6100-52700.

9. All necessary signatures (see Signature Approval Policy)

10. Special Instructions: This section should include distribution instruction (i.e., phone-in, email, fax, or requestor to call in). If the requestor would like to call in the order, please write the following” Confirming order - do not mail.” This will indicate to Purchasing to simply file the order and not contact the vendor. Please also include instructions to vendor. Examples include "Set-up at Yehl room for 5:30 dinner" or "Drop off vehicle in front of Old Main at 9:30 p.m."

11. Quotes: Submit a copy of all quotes or the winning quote and a summary page showing the breakdown of the other competing quotes. (Please see bid/quote requirements for additional details of when quotes are required.)

Each requisition must contain the following information:

1. Date Requested.

4. Department name (paper requisition process).
5. Requester's Extension Number (paper requisition process).
6. Description of item(s) or service in sufficient detail. Use manufacturer's catalog numbers and descriptions whenever possible.

14. Signature Approval - The Director/Chair, with budget control, must sign and date the paper requisition or in the case of electronic requisitions, approve the requisition online. Additional authorization for requisitions over $1,000 is required by the appropriate dean and/or divisional vice presidents.

Purchase requisitions are then forwarded to the Purchasing Department for budget approval and best possible pricing and availability. Verbal requests will not be accepted without pre-authorization from the Director of Purchasing. The purchase requisition will be processed, and a printed purchase order will be processed and forwarded to the vendor. Purchase orders require that all shipments of merchandise be delivered to Central Receiving unless instructed otherwise (with the exception of the bookstore’s resale items and library books) before delivery.
to the requisitioning department. Upon receipt of the merchandise, or service, the requisitioner must notify the purchasing department.

When requesting item(s)/service for your department the following points warrant special emphasis:

1. Plan your needs well in advance. Not every request should be considered an emergency.
2. Requisitions must be submitted on a per vendor basis. Multiple items, with various vendors, cannot be combined on (1) requisition.
3. All internal food service orders require a purchase requisition.
4. Submit all supporting documentation with paper requisitions or in the case of electronic requisitions, fax the information referencing the requisition number.
5. Verbal requests will not be accepted without pre-authorization from the Director of Purchasing or Purchasing Agent. A paper or electronic requisition form is required. Emergency orders will be handled on an individual basis.
2.9.7.7.0.0.0 Budget Approval

Revision Date: 7/31/2014   Approval Date: 7/31/2014   Current Version

The Purchasing Department reviews and approves all purchase requisitions. The Accounts Payable Department reviews and approves all check requisitions. Budget approval of check requisitions and purchase requisitions dealing with grants and contracts will be reviewed and approved by the Grants and Contracts Specialist. (NOTE: Authorization to purchase office furnishings and equipment from grant funding will not be given unless said purchases are specifically approved in the program budget.).
2.9.7.8.0.0.0 Vendor Additions

Revision Date: 8/13/2013   Approval Date: 8/13/2013   Current Version

The Purchasing Department has responsibility for maintaining an updated vendor list. No individual, other than the Director of Purchasing or the Purchasing Agent, has the authority to establish a new vendor.

The following information is required to add a new vendor into the Datatel system:

2. Business, Remittance, and Order Address (Street, City, State, and Zip Code)
3. Social Security Number (SSN) or Tax Identification Number (TIN)

If payments are less than $300:

The vendor will be added to the Datatel system and a W-9 form and TIN Request will be mailed with the check. If the vendor fails to submit a completed W-9 form within three weeks of payment, Purchasing will deactivate the vendor and place a stop payment hold on the vendor file. No additional payments will be issued to the vendor until a completed W-9 form has been submitted regardless of the payment amount.

If payments are greater than $300:

No checks will be issued until a W-9 form or all of the elements of a W-9 form have been provided to Purchasing.
Purchasing will first review all of the available documentation for the presence of required information. If the documentation isn't available, Purchasing will contact the person/department making the payment request. If the requesting department is unable to provide the necessary information Purchasing will contact the vendor.
The Purchasing Department has the responsibility to process credit applications. Credit applications require the signature of the controller.
Approval by Information Technology Services is required for purchases regarding computer hardware and software. Hardware includes PCs, printers, servers and any device that is to be connected to the Gannon network. Software includes any purchased program or application.

There are several reasons for this policy; most importantly that it will allow Information Technology Services to maintain an up-to-date inventory of all computer hardware and software on campus. In addition to keeping the inventory current, ITS will be able to assist departments to:

1. Assess the compatibility of proposed hardware or software with the current network, servers and applications.
2. Evaluate the quality and reliability of the equipment and vendors.
3. Ensure that there is agreement between the department and ITS on what support will be needed for initial set-up and on-going support.
4. Ensure firewall set-up and support for departmental servers if needed, and
5. Ensure the interaction of the proposed hardware or software with current technology does not impact existing warranties, licenses or contracts.

Please contact ITS staff member prior to submitting a purchase requisition. The ITS representative will initial the purchase requisition, indicating to Purchasing the review has taken place.
All University food service requests are contracted with the University's Food Service Provider. Purchase orders are required for all University food service requests.

All shipments sent out through Distribution Services must be accompanied by a shipping document. These forms may be obtained in Distribution Services. The proper budget category number and authorized signature must be recorded. (An "authorized signature", in this case, means the individual initiating the shipment.)
This policy is intended to be a guide in determining reasonable expenses for University business travel and other related expenses. Gannon University will reimburse its faculty, administrators, staff and students for expenses incurred for official University travel that is properly authorized, reasonable and appropriately documented. Due to budget constraints, some departments may place more restrictive limitations on the amounts spent by individuals in their specific departments. All employees must report travel expenses on the University's Travel Expense Report. Updated travel procedures and copies of the Travel Expense Report are available in the Finance and Campus Operations Office.
All travel must be authorized in advance by the traveler's supervisor. The faculty or staff supervisor is responsible for reviewing the Travel Expense Report for compliance with policy. The Finance and Campus Operations Office may provide additional oversight.
2.9.9.2.0.0.0 Reimbursement

Revision Date: 11/21/2008   Approval Date: 11/21/2008   Current Version

Upon completion of the travel, the employee must submit a Travel Expense Report and supporting documentation to obtain reimbursement.

The University will reimburse an individual an amount based on actual expenses incurred, unless more restrictive limitations have been placed on the amounts spent by a specific grant, contract or department.
2.9.3.0.0.0 Personal Travel

In circumstances where University related travel is combined with personal travel, it is the colleague's responsibility to obtain authorization from a supervisor prior to traveling.

The University will reimburse only those expenses directly incurred for the University related travel. All efforts should be made to obtain separate receipts for those reimbursable expenses.

Hotel expenses will be reimbursed at the single occupancy rate. If applicable, reimbursement will not exceed the conference hotel rate.

Documentation must be provided and approved prior to travel. This documentation must be included with the Travel Expense Report submitted to Accounts Payable.
Travel advances are funds given to a traveler, prior to a trip, for incidental expenses incurred on University travel.

These advances are the sole responsibility of the traveler.

These advances are considered/recorded as a loan to the employee until the employee settles the advance through submission of the Travel Expense Report.

Individuals receiving such advances are required to account for advances within thirty (30) days of the end of their trip and their return to the University by submitting the Travel Expense Report.

Delay in submission of report may result in deductions of the amount of the traveler's cash advance from the traveler's paycheck.
A demonstrable effort should be made to secure the least expensive tickets available. All individuals should plan and finalize travel arrangements as early as possible in order to take full advantage of carrier offered discounts.

Circumstances may arise where a colleague chooses to drive rather than fly to the destination. The University reimbursement will be limited to the lower of the documented advance airfare costs or gasoline expenses.
2.9.9.6.0.0.0 Mileage Reimbursement

Revision Date: 6/4/2018       Approval Date: 6/4/2018       Current Version

2.9.9.7.0.0 Car Rental

Revision Date: 11/21/2008   Approval Date: 11/21/2008   Current Version

The cost of a car rental is an allowable reimbursable expense provided the rental is essential to the business trip.

It is strongly recommended that all employees who rent vehicles for Gannon business purchase the Optional Collision Damage Waiver. The purchase of this waiver would cover those "gap" areas defined by our broker as well as provide first dollar coverage in case of an accident. It would also eliminate the $1,000 collision deductible charged to departments in the case of rental cars being involved in accidents, vandalism, etc.

Reimbursement will be made for gasoline purchased separately for a rental car.
2.9.9.8.0.0 Lodging

Revision Date: 11/21/2008  Approval Date: 11/21/2008  Current Version

The University will reimburse an individual for the cost of lodging based on an amount no greater than the single room rate.

Rates at convention hotels are acceptable.

The University allows for one additional night's accommodations, when required, in order to facilitate colleague travel. Exceptions to this must be approved and authorized by a supervisor prior to travel.
2.9.9.9.0.0 Meals

Revision Date: 11/21/2008  Approval Date: 11/21/2008  Current Version

Individuals will be reimbursed for actual expenditures for personal meals (breakfast, lunch and dinner) while traveling on University business. Maximum daily reimbursement for meals is $40, and per meal recommendations are as follows: breakfast ($10), lunch ($10) and dinner ($20).

Original receipts are always required as documentation for expenditures exceeding $5.00. Receipts must show actual items purchased, not just the transaction total.

Meal expenses will not be reimbursed when meals are included in the registration fees of seminars.

The cost of meals for one day business trips locally or away from home is generally not reimbursable.
Telephone call reimbursement is limited to brief calls to the office to conduct business if necessary and one brief personal telephone call for each night in travel status. Direct dial from hotels is generally prohibited. If a University cell phone is not available, use of a calling card is recommended.

Tips will be reimbursed without documentation of original receipts as long as the amount appears reasonable.

Taxi fares and shuttle fares will be reimbursed provided original receipts are provided as documentation.

Entertainment costs will only be reimbursed with approval of the appropriate Dean or Vice President. Documentation must include original receipts along with who was entertained and the purpose of the activity.

When situations and/or locations necessitate the need to exceed policy limitations, to the extent practical, the employee shall obtain approval from the supervisor prior to incurring the expense.

The sponsor of an event is classified under one of the three categories: internal, co-sponsored or external.
Internal events are official University activities. Internal users are required to have a representative from their department or organization in attendance throughout the event. For Gannon activities, faculty members, administrators and staff may reserve classrooms and other campus facilities at any time, subject to general availability. For a list of contact persons to call to schedule a facility, please see Appendix 2.10.2.1.

Internal departments and organizations are not permitted to use their University cost center to schedule facilities for events that are of a personal nature (i.e. wedding receptions, private parties and banquets). Using facilities for personal purposes or under the pretense that there is a substantive relationship between the University department/organization and the event is considered to be "fronting." Fronting is not permitted. For personal events, Gannon University faculty and staff members may request to reserve University space as an external requestor.

Student organizations requesting the use of any facility as an internal user must have authorization from the Office of Student Organizations and Leadership Development.

The Waldron Campus Center is reserved primarily for use by student organizations.
2.10.2.3.0.0.0  External

1. The event does not conflict with a campus activity;
2. The event is appropriate to the mission of Gannon University;
3. The event is appropriate to the facility requested.
Co-sponsored events are defined as University-related events between community organizations and representatives of Gannon University. Co-sponsored events promote academic or professional development of students, faculty, and staff to benefit the University and/or the community. It is the responsibility of the sponsoring University department/organization to:

1. Be directly involved in the coordination of the event from beginning to end and to accept all costs incurred, including the facility fee, housekeeping, security, traffic, table and chair rental, etc. These costs will be charged to the sponsoring University departments/budget, or the community organization.

2. Ensure that the community organization adheres to all University policies and guidelines. Special attention should be given to compliance with the University's policies regarding alcohol use, noise control, and the handling of cash.

3. Have a University representative in attendance, from the beginning of the event until the end.
1. General Conditions: University rules and regulations must be respected and followed by all users of facilities. These rules include but are not limited to the following:

   a. Users may not engage in activity that interferes with the University mission, programs and freedom of movement by the campus community.

   b. Alcoholic beverages may not be served or consumed in University facilities unless approved in advance.

   f. Smoking is prohibited in all campus facilities with the exception of designated smoking areas.

   g. With the exception of the Chapel, the use of candles is prohibited throughout the campus.

   i. When an event is open to the public, is outdoor, involves more than 150 people, or the nature of the activity so indicates the need, a police officer may be assigned to the event. The Office of Campus Police and Safety shall be responsible for determining the appropriate assignment of officers for all events. The sponsoring organization shall be responsible for all appropriate fees.

Interlibrary Loan

Revision Date: 11/24/2008  Approval Date: 11/24/2008  Current Version

Interlibrary Loan is a service provided to members of the Gannon Community only.
Only the Gannon community members have access to electronic databases and E-Z Borrow services. Vendor contracts do not permit extending access beyond the University students, faculty and staff.
By not disclosing personal information derived from Library transactions to anyone outside of the Library. This includes check-out records, library card registration information, questions asked of the librarians, and results of database or internet searches. Article III of the Librarian's Code of Ethics states:

"Librarians must protect each user's right to privacy with respect to information sought or received and materials consulted, borrowed, or acquired."

The US Patriot Act, however, overrides state law and it may force librarians to give out confidential information about an individual.

The passage of the USA Patriot Act in the wake of the September 11th attacks, gives law enforcement expanded powers to monitor and obtain paper and electronic transactions including those performed by patrons in libraries (such as visits to web sites). This means that upon being presented with a court order, the library staff may be required to turn over to law enforcement authorities the library's records, stored electronic data or library hardware. Also, library staff may be required to allow surveillance equipment to be installed on library computers and equipment. Further, library staff will not be permitted to tell anyone, including the person being monitored, that their personal information is being shared with authorities outside the Library.
The procedures that will be followed by all members of the library staff in the event confidential information is requested by any authority outside the library are as follows:

1. All requests for confidential information (circulation records or any information that identifies names of library patrons) will be referred to the Director of the Library immediately. If the Director is not available, requests shall be referred to the Director of Public Safety. The library staff member shall only give their own name.

2. If the requestor is from law enforcement, the Director of the Library will immediately contact the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs who will seek legal counsel.

3. If the request includes a court order, the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs will contact legal counsel who will examine it to make sure it is in proper form. However, if served with a search warrant, compliance must be immediate; in this case, the Director of the Library will attempt to get the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs and counsel involved but will comply with the order.

Evenings and weekends, library staff will contact the Director of the Library or the Director of the Department of Campus Police and Safety for the proper course of action, and if unable to contact either of these people, call security to contact the Provost and Vice President of Academic Affairs.

All machines will take currency and some selected machines have card readers that will take GU Gold. Vending machine refunds are coordinated through the Waldron Center reception desk.
Gannon University places the highest emphasis on protecting the safety of all persons who live, work and study on our campus. The Emergency Response Manual (ERM) outlines emergency procedures for managing major emergencies that may threaten the health and safety of the campus community.

The ERM's key goals are the preservation of life, the protection of property and the continuity of academic and business operations.

While the ERM does not cover every conceivable situation, it supplies basic guidelines necessary to cope with most campus emergencies.

The guidelines in this manual apply to all personnel, buildings, and grounds owned and operated by Gannon University. It is the responsibility of Deans, Directors and/or Department Heads to familiarize themselves with the contents of the ERM.

The ERM is set into operation whenever a crisis affecting the University may result in a significant disruption to educational programs or University services. An emergency may be sudden and unforeseen, or there may be varying periods of warning.

The basic emergency procedures outlined in the ERM are to enhance the protection of lives and property through effective use of University and campus community resources. The Emergency Response Manual is designed to direct responses to emergencies in a systematic manner to accomplish the following:

A. To protect human life and prevent injury

B. To communicate effectively to all appropriate audiences throughout the course of any emergency

C. To protect the environment
D. To mitigate the "spread" of the causal factor of the emergency
E. To prevent exposure to hazardous conditions
F. To mobilize all appropriate internal and external resources to minimize the effects of the emergency
G. To prevent/minimize damage to property and data
H. To address the physical and emotional state of people involved and/or affected by the emergency situation
I. To return the University to normal operating status

Whenever an emergency affecting the campus reaches proportions that cannot be handled by routine measures, the President or a designee may declare a state of emergency.

Since an emergency may be sudden and without warning, these procedures are designed to be flexible in order to accommodate contingencies of various types and magnitudes.

Some emergencies may not directly impact the University, but may occur adjacent to the campus or facilities and impact our students, faculty or staff. In those instances the University will coordinate our resources and response with City of Erie or Erie County emergency personnel.

2.11.2.2.0.0.0 Definition of an Emergency

Definition of an Emergency

1. Emergency: Any incident, potential or actual, which will not seriously affect the overall functional capacity of the University. Report the emergency immediately to the Campus Police and Safety Office by calling 911 from a campus telephone or (814) 871-7777 if calling from a cell telephone. The Campus Police and Safety Office shall notify the appropriate division/department of the emergency. Emergencies which do not involve physical or life safety threats can also occur. These emergencies could include such things as significant monetary, reputational, academic or international program crisis. In such instances, some portions of this plan may be activated and may include specific members of the emergency planning and response team as determined by the President.

2. Major Emergency: Any incident, potential or actual, which affects an entire building or buildings, or people, and which will disrupt the overall operations of the University. Outside emergency services will be mobilized as needed as well as major efforts from campus support services. Major policy considerations and decisions will usually be required from the University administration during times of crisis. Report the emergency immediately to the Campus Police and Safety Office by calling 911 from a campus telephone or (814) 871-7777 if calling from a cell telephone.

3. Disaster: Any event or occurrence which has taken place and has seriously impaired or halted the operations of the University. In some cases, personnel injuries and severe property damage may be sustained. A coordinated effort of all campus-wide resources is required to effectively control the situation. Outside emergency services will be essential. In all cases of disaster, an Emergency Operations Center (EOC) will be activated by Campus Police and Safety, and the appropriate support and operational plans will be executed.
2.11.2.3.0.0.0 Assumptions: Major Emergency or Disaster

Assumptions:

The Emergency Response Manual (ERM) is predicated on a realistic approach to problems likely to be encountered on a campus during a major emergency or disaster. Therefore, the following are general guidelines:

1. An emergency or a disaster may occur at any time of the day or night, weekend or holiday, with little or no warning.

2. The succession of events in an emergency is not predictable.

3. The ERM serves only as a guide and checklist, and may require field modification in order to meet the requirements of the emergency.

4. A disaster may affect other residents in the geographical area of the University. Therefore, city, county, and/or federal emergency services may not be readily available. In such cases, a delay in emergency assistance or service may be expected.

5. A Campus State of Emergency may be declared if information indicates that such a condition is developing or is probable.
D. Declaration of a Campus State of Emergency:

The authority to declare a campus state of emergency rests with the University President or a designee as follows:

1. During the period of any campus major emergency, the Campus Police and Safety Office, as required, shall place into immediate effect the appropriate procedures necessary in order to meet the emergency, safeguard persons and property, and maintain educational facilities. The Director of Campus Police and Safety shall immediately consult with the President regarding the emergency and the possible need for a declaration of a campus state of emergency.

2. Should this declaration be made, only registered students, faculty, staff and affiliates (i.e. contracted service employees) are authorized to be present on campus property. Those who cannot present proper identification (student ID, employee ID, or other ID) showing their legitimate business on campus may be asked to leave the campus. Unauthorized persons remaining on campus property may be subject to arrest in accordance with the Pennsylvania Crimes Code.

3. In addition, only those administrators, staff members and contractors who have been assigned emergency resource team duties or issued an emergency pass by Campus Police and Safety will be allowed to enter the immediate emergency area of the disaster site.

4. In the event of earthquakes, aftershocks, fires, storms or major disasters occurring on or near the campus, or which involve university property, Campus Police and Safety personnel and/or maintenance personnel will be dispatched to search for any undiscovered damage or potentially dangerous conditions.

B. In an emergency in which the Campus Police and Safety Office cannot be reached, dial 911. A 911 call from a non-campus or cell phone may be connected to the Erie County Emergency Dispatch Center. In such cases, the Gannon operator will remain on the line in a three-party conference call with the Dispatch Center.

When a major emergency occurs, or is imminent, it shall be the responsibility of the Campus Police and Safety Office to set up and staff an appropriate Field Emergency Command Post as directed near the site of the emergency.
Emergency Operations Center (EOC)

If the emergency involves a large part of the campus, an Emergency Operations Center will be established and staffed with representatives from departments across the University based on the specific emergency incident. The Emergency Operations Center serves as the headquarters of the Emergency Response Team during a crisis. Management of an actual physical emergency may also be centered in the Campus Police and Safety Office.

The location of the Emergency Operations Center will be determined by the nature of the emergency and the decision of the President and/or his designee. The location will be furnished with the necessary phone lines, computer ports, electrical outlets, etc. Possible locations for the Emergency Operations Center include the first floor of Old Main or the second floor of the Waldron Center. The President, President's Staff and the Emergency Response Team(s) support emergency operations from an emergency operations center.

Note: The primary decision maker(s) as to ancillary issues related to the emergency such as business continuity, public relations, etc., are the appropriate members of the President's Staff, the Emergency Response Team members or others as identified by the President or his/her designee.
Emergency Response Team

In addition to establishing an Emergency Operations Center as necessary, Campus Police and Safety shall immediately begin contacting all necessary members of the Emergency Response Team. The role of the Emergency Response Team is to support the emergency operations from the Emergency Operations Center. The Emergency Response Team will not respond to the scene nor will they manage the initial response to an incident. It is the responsibility of the Emergency Coordinator and the emergency responders at the scene to isolate contain and neutralize the incident.

Emergency Response Team members will coordinate as necessary with the Emergency Coordinator for implementation of their identified responsibilities and support as pertains to their area.

Communicating an Emergency

Gannon University has multiple ways of communicating an emergency to the Gannon community. The methods described below may be used independently or collectively depending on the nature of the emergency event. Marketing and Communications and/or Campus Police and Safety have responsibility for implementation of the emergency communications methods outlined below.

A. Gannon e-Alert

The Gannon e-Alert System is the primary means of emergency notification. This text messaging system is intended for the immediate transmission of specific information regarding an emergency to all affected areas of the campus in the event of a serious or life-threatening situation on campus. When activated, those who have voluntarily registered will receive text and/or voice messages to the cell and landline phone numbers that have been provided.

B. Emergency Messages:

In addition to Gannon's e-Alert System, Gannon has the ability to deliver emergency messages using one or more of the following messages using one or more of the following methods:

1. Mass e-mail, University website
2. Ability to send broadcast voicemail over Gannon landlines
3. Ability to issue emergency message on the University Emergency Announcement Service call-in telephone line 814.871.5555. Campus Police and Safety will maintain and update recorded emergency information and instructions for students, faculty and staff.
4. Local/regional media including WERG, the University's radio station
Emergency Instructions

When an emergency is declared by whatever method(s) chosen, the emergency message may contain one of the following specific instructions:

1. Evacuate
   a. Building Evacuation
      i. All building evacuations will occur when a building alarm (fire alarm) sounds and/or upon notification by Campus Police and Safety.
      ii. When the building evacuation alarm is activated during an emergency, leave by the nearest marked exit and alert others to do the same
      iii. Assist persons with disabilities in exiting the building. Do not use the elevators on cases of fire or earthquake. Persons in a wheelchair or with other disabilities that affect mobility should go to a designated rescue area such as a stair tower.
      iv. Once outside, proceed to a clear area that is at least 500 feet away from the affected building. Keep streets, fire lanes, hydrant areas and walkways clear for emergency vehicles and personnel. Know area assembly points.
      v. Do not return to an evacuated building unless told to do so by a University Official.

   b. Campus Evacuation

   i. Evacuation of all or part of the campus grounds will be announced by Campus Police and Safety as described.
   ii. All persons (students and staff) are to vacate immediately the area of campus in question and relocate to another part of the campus grounds as directed.

2. Seek Shelter: Evaluate your surroundings for the presence of danger and move to an area of safety (e.g. tornado).
3. Shelter in Place: Stay where you are and secure doors. Take other actions as instructed.

4. Card Access Only: Doors have been locked to exclude anyone without an authorized campus ID.

5. Building Closed/No Entry: Doors have been locked to exclude everyone including those with card access.

During an emergency, messages will be updated as the situation warrants and a final message will be sent to let the campus community know the emergency has been resolved and normal operations should resume.
Media Inquiries

1. The President, the Chief of Staff and Director of Marketing and Communications and other persons involved shall confer and decide on the appropriate responses to the media.

2. All calls from the media are referred directly to the Office of Marketing and Communications, 814-823-1886.

3. The Chief of Staff and Director of Marketing and Communications will designate a room on campus for press/media representatives, if necessary.
A chemical/hazardous materials incident may be a spill or release of chemicals, a suspicious odor, gas or chemical fumes, radioactive materials, or biological materials inside a building or to the environment. The user may manage simple spills. Major spills or emergencies require emergency assistance from 24-hour emergency agencies (i.e. Fire Department, HAZMAT). The University does not have a fire department or HAZMAT Team and relies on the City of Erie’s Public Safety Department for these services.

Material Safety Data Sheets (MSDS) are available in all departments where the material is located.

1. Simple Spill:
   - Does not spread rapidly
   - Does not endanger people
   - Does not endanger environment
   - Trained individual can clean up

   Immediate action: Simple spills should be cleaned up by the person causing the spill, as long as they are familiar with the specimen spilled and are trained regarding proper clean up.

2. Major Spill or Emergency
   - Spreads rapidly
   - Endangers people
   - Endangers environment

   Call 814.871.7777 (911 from a campus phone)

   Immediate action:
1) Call Campus Police and Safety; Call 814.871.7777 (911 from a campus phone). Provide locations and as much information as known about the material and quantity spilled. Report any injuries immediately.
2) If an individual has been contaminated, direct them to use eye wash or emergency shower for 15 minutes.
3) Evacuate, assemble at a safe distance and place.
4) Account for all individuals.
5) Wait for emergency responders so you can be examined for possible health issues and to provide information to responders.

If a suspected chemical exposure or any exposure that may be "contagious" in nature occurs:

1) Call 814.871.7777 (911 from a campus phone)
2) All individuals directly affected or within the "contact" area of those affected should not leave their area until directed to do so by Health Department or HAZMAT officials.
2.11.4.2.0.0.0 Bomb Threat/Suspicious Object

Revision Date: 8/20/2013 Approval Date: 8/20/2013 Current Version

A. Bomb Threat/Suspicious Object

1. Bomb Threat - A bomb threat may come to the attention of the receiver in various ways. It is important to compile as much information as possible. If you are the direct receiver of a bomb threat, DO NOT on your own attempt to notify or evacuate an entire building as this could consume valuable time that would be better used to gather important information. Keep in mind that the vast majority of bomb threats are false and are primarily intended to elicit a response from the building occupants. In the case of a written threat, it is vital that the document be handled by as few people as possible as this is evidence that should be turned over to Campus Police and Safety. If the threat should come via e-mail, make sure to save the information on your computer. Most bomb threats are transmitted over the telephone in which case the following guidelines should be followed:

Immediate Action:

1. Remain calm, do not get excited or excite others.

2. Pay attention to your telephone display and record if possible, the time the call was received and ended, and the exact words of the caller. Try to delay. Ask the caller to repeat:
   a. Time bomb is set to explode
   b. Where located, floor, area
   c. What kind of bomb
   d. Description of bomb
   e. Why
   f. What is your name? Are you an employee? Where are you calling from?

3. Record your observations of the caller’s voice: male or female caller? Calm or nervous? Young or old, middle aged? Refined or rough? Accent? Speech impediment? Unusual phrases? Did you recognize the voice? If so, who do you think it was?

4. The objective is to keep the caller on the line as long as possible to attempt to gather as much information as possible. Try not to anger the caller at any time.
5. While engaging the caller, pay attention to any background noise and distinctive sounds (machinery, traffic, other voices, music, television, etc.)

6. Immediately after the caller has ended the call, notify Campus Police and Safety at 814.871.7777, or from a campus phone call 911.

7. If the threat was left on your voice mail, do not erase. Contact Campus Police and Safety at 814.871.7777, or from a campus phone call 911.

8. Notify the immediate supervisor within your work area.

Officers and members of the Erie Police Department will conduct a detailed bomb search. University staff members are requested to make a cursory inspection of their area for suspicious objects and to report the location of any to Campus Police and Safety. Do not touch the object! Do not open drawers, cabinets, or turn lights on or off.

2. Suspicious Object

If a suspicious letter, package or object is received or observed that is unexpected or unknown notify Campus Police and Safety immediately. Always call from a safe location.

a. Move people away from the object.

b) Do not move or open the object.

c) Do not investigate too closely.

d) Do not cover, insulate or place the object into a cabinet or drawer.
2.11.4.3.0.0.0 Civil Disturbances or Demonstrations

Revision Date: 8/20/2013 Approval Date: 8/20/2013 Current Version

Civil Disturbances or Demonstrations

A civil protest will usually take the form of an organized public demonstration of disapproval or will display disagreement with an idea or course of action. It would be noted that in many cases, most campus protests such as marches, meetings, picketing, and rallies will be peaceful and non-obstructive. A protest should not be disrupted.

Dial (814) 871-7777 (911 from a campus telephone) to notify Campus Police and Safety. In the event of a protest or civil disobedience, Campus Police and Safety will be responsible for responding to the scene and notifying the President and appropriate Vice President.

Do not provoke or obstruct demonstrators. Follow all instructions that may be given by responding officers, Gannon e-Alert or other means.

Attempt, if possible, to identify a contact person/spokesperson for the group. This would expedite communications.
Earthquake

During an earthquake, remain calm and quickly follow the steps outlined below.

a) Drop - Drop to the floor. Avoid falling objects or toppling furniture.

b) Cover - Take cover under a sturdy desk, table or other furniture that is not likely to tip over. If that is not possible, seek cover against an interior wall and protect your head with your arms. Avoid dangerous spots near windows, hanging objects, mirrors, and tall furniture.

c) Hold on - If you can take cover under a sturdy piece of furniture, hold onto it and be prepared to move with it. Hold the position until the ground stops shaking and it is safe to move. Stay away from glass windows, shelves, and heavy equipment.

d) Do not run outside.

e) Do not run to a doorway. (Doorways are no safer than other areas).

f) In a hallway, drop near an interior wall away from windows and cover the back of your head/neck with your arms.

g) If driving, pull carefully to the side of the road and stop.

h) In an auditorium, drop between the seats and protect the back of your head/neck with your arms.

i) Outdoors, move away from buildings to an open area; avoid power lines.

When the shaking stops:

a. Check for injuries to people in area.

b. Call (814) 871-7777 (dial 911 on campus) for medical assistance and render first aid if required.

c. Check the area for hazards such as building damage, fires or gas leaks. If the building appears to be unsafe, leave the building and report any urgent problem to Campus Police and Safety by dialing (814) 871-7777 (dial 911 on campus).

d. Listen to a battery operated radio for updated emergency information.
1. After an Earthquake:

Be prepared for aftershocks. Wear sturdy shoes to avoid injury from broken glass. Do not use elevators. Assist others if necessary. Report injuries or dangerous conditions to the nearest emergency response team if on scene or to Campus Police and Safety.

Evacuate the building until it has been assessed for damage.

Before leaving the building, following the following evacuation procedures:

   a. Turn off all electrical equipment
   b. Bring emergency supplies, warm clothing and purses/wallets with you.
   c. Do not leave anyone behind. Assist those with disabilities.
   d. Close all doors behind you.
   e. Use the stairs not the elevators.
   f. Assemble in a safe outdoor location.

2. Do not re-enter the building until it has been assessed by inspectors.

3. Cooperate with emergency first responders.
2.11.4.5.0.0.0  Explosion or Threat of Explosion

Revision Date: 8/20/2013   Approval Date: 8/20/2013   Current Version

Explosion or Threat of Explosion

An explosion is caused by rapid expansion of gas from chemical reactions or incendiary devices. Signs of an explosion may be a very loud noise or series of noises and vibrations, fire, heat, smoke, falling glass or debris, or building damage which could result in injury. Explosions may also cause or be caused by fire, floods, or power outages.

1. If an explosion or the potential for an explosion occurs, pull the closest fire alarm pull station and exit the building as soon as possible if safe to do so. The fire alarm signal will be sent simultaneously to Campus Police and Safety. Call Campus Police and Safety at (814) 871-7777 (911 from a campus telephone) as an added precaution.

2. If items are falling off bookshelves or from the ceiling, take cover under a sturdy table or desk.

3. If possible stay away from windows, electrical equipment, overhead fixtures or equipment with high storage.

4. If there is a fire, stay low to the floor and exit the building as quickly as possible.

5. If you are trapped in debris, make as much noise as possible so that responders can hear where you are such as banging or tapping on a pipe or wall, or yelling for assistance.

6. Assist others in exiting building and assemble at a safe distance away from building.

7. Keep streets and walkways clear for emergency vehicles and responders.

8. Untrained persons should not attempt to rescue people who are inside a collapsed building. Wait for emergency personnel to arrive.

9. Follow evacuation and fire procedures outlined in other sections of this manual

10. Once outside building, DO NOT re-enter until told to do so by Campus Police and Safety
Fire

Take all fires very seriously. Always be aware of your surroundings. Identify the location of exit doors, stairways and fire alarms. Respond immediately to all fire alarms even if you know it is a drill.

Immediate Action:

1. For the person discovering the fire:
   a. Pull the nearest fire alarm, if there is one. The fire alarm will notify Campus Police and Safety and the City of Erie Dispatch simultaneously.
   b. Call Campus Police and Safety at (814) 871-7777 (dial 911 from a campus telephone) as an added precaution.
   c. Extinguish the fire only if you can do so safely and quickly.

2. If the fire cannot be extinguished
   a. Confine the fire by closing the doors. Do not lock.
   b. Alert others.
   c. Meet Campus Police and Safety/Fire Department when they arrive to give specifics on the fire's location.

3. For occupants of the building
   a. Close the doors to your immediate area (do not lock)
   b. EVACUATE the building via the nearest exit. Assist others to exit building.
   c. DO NOT use elevators.
   d. Avoid smoke filled areas.
   e. FOLLOW EMERGENCY EVACUATION GUIDELINES.

4. For people evacuating from the immediate fire area:
   a. Feel the door from top to bottom. If it is hot, DO NOT proceed. Go back.
b. If door is cool, crouch low and open door slowly. Close door quickly. If smoke is present do not inhale it.

c. If no smoke is present, exit the building via the nearest stairwell or exit.

d. If you encounter heavy smoke in a stairwell, go back and try another stairwell.

e. If you are trapped, keep the room door closed. Seal door cracks and ventilation grilles with cloth or wet towels if possible. Call 814.871.7777 (911 from a campus phone) to let responders know your location. If phones are not available, make as much noise as possible by yelling or banging or tapping on a wall or pipe to alert the fire department of your location. Stay close to the floor where it is easier to breathe.

f. Once out of the building, assemble at a safe distance away from building.

5. Never go back into a burning building.
Infrastructure Failure

It is understood that, from time to time, the campus may experience infrastructure problems that could render the work site unsafe or uninhabitable. Such problems may involve:

- Computer
- Electrical
- Heating or air conditioning
- Steam
- Telephone
- Water

All infrastructure failures should be reported to Campus Police and Safety by dialing (814) 871-7777 (911 from a campus telephone). Campus Services or the appropriate department will respond to the scene to assess the potential severity of the problem and probable duration. Should a campus emergency alert need to be issued, the responding department will contact Campus Police and Safety, who in turn will contact the President or designee to determine if the building should be closed.

If a power outage occurs, remain calm, call Campus Police and Safety by dialing (814) 871-7777 (911 from a campus telephone), and turn off all electrical equipment and light switches. Do not use candles, matches or lighters for light. If located or working in a laboratory area, secure all experiments and equipment and keep all freezers and refrigerators closed.
Psychological Crisis

A psychological crisis exists when an individual is threatening personal harm or harm to others, or is out of touch with reality due to severe drug reactions or psychological problems. Psychological problems may be manifested by hallucinations and/or uncontrollable behavior.

If a psychological crisis occurs:

1. Never try to handle on your own a situation you feel is dangerous.
2. Notify Campus Police and Safety of the situation by dialing 911 from a campus phone or 814.871-7777 from a cell phone.
3. Clearly state that you need immediate assistance, give your name, your location and the area of campus involved.
4. It is possible that a situation may develop in which a Gannon employee may have reason to believe that a person in their presence is unstable or that circumstances known to the employee make this presence threatening. If you are in this type of situation and do not want that person to know that you are notifying authorities, you should:
   a. Remain calm!
   b. Use any available campus telephone to notify Campus Police and Safety at extension 911 or (814) 871-7777 (from a cell phone)
   c. When the operator answers, incorporate the Code Words, "Doctor Green" into any sentence as if leaving a routine telephone message. (e.g., "Is Dr. Green in?", "Has Dr. Green returned?" or, "Please have Dr. Green return my call.")

Operators and Officers are informed and trained to treat the code words "Dr. Green" as an emergency call for help (Unknown Trouble) in these situations. Guards will be dispatched to the caller's location on an emergency, top priority basis. You do not need to give your location. It is automatically displayed for operators on the Emergency (911) phone system in the Campus Police and Safety Office.
2.11.4.9.0.0.0  Severe Weather /Tornado

Severe Weather /Tornado

Dangerous weather can include:

- Thunderstorms
- High Winds
- Lightning
- Tornadoes
- Winter Storms

1. Severe Weather Advisories:

- A watch means conditions are favorable for the development of severe weather. Monitor the situation closely if the weather deteriorates
- A warning means severe weather has actually been observed and is imminent.

In the event of severe weather conditions (existing or imminent) that may require early dismissal, delayed start or closing of University operations, the University will communicate through Gannon's e-Alert system, posting a message on www.gannon.edu (website) and recording a voicemail message on the University Emergency Announcement Service number, 814.871.5555.

2. Tornado

Definitions:

- Tornado Watch - Means that conditions exist for a tornado to develop.
- Tornado Warning - Means that a tornado has actually been sighted or indicated on radar.

NOTE: One clue that a tornado could develop is when a thunderstorm is accompanied by hail. The larger the hail stone, the more likely that a tornado will occur.

Procedure: When a tornado warning is announced:

A. Your best protection is an underground shelter (or basement) or a substantial steel-framed or reinforced concrete building.
B. If your residence hall or campus building has no basement, take cover under heavy furniture on the ground floor in the center of the building, or in a small room on the ground floor that is away from outside walls and windows.

C. Stay away from windows to avoid flying debris.

D. If you are outside and there is not enough time to get into a building, take cover and lie flat in the nearest depression, such as a ditch, culvert, excavation or ravine.

E. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums with large roofs.

F. Administrative or class room building - Go to an interior hallway on the lowest floor. Stay away from windows.

3. Postponement or Cancellation Decision:

The decision to postpone or cancel University classes, activities, and/or normal business operations rests with the University’s President or his/her designee. The University will never entirely close, since residential student services must be maintained.

   A. The Director of Campus Police and Safety will monitor weather reports and conditions as required, and report significant developments to the President, Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs, the Vice President for Student Development and Engagement and the Vice President for Finance and Campus Operations.

   B. The President or his/her designee, in consultation with the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs, the Vice President for Student Development and Engagement and the Vice President for Finance and Campus Operations, will determine the need for an early dismissal, delayed start or closing of the University.

   C. The President will alert the President’s Staff of the actions to be taken.

   D. Each Vice President will advise senior department heads of the actions to be taken.
E. The Director of Marketing and Communications or a designee will contact the local radio and television stations with status advisory. The University Marketing and Communications Department will be make changes to www.gannon.edu are necessary.

F. The Director of Campus Police and Safety will announce updated information via the University Emergency Announcement Service number, (814)871-5555. The announcement will include information and instructions for students, faculty, and staff employees to follow in regard to the weather emergency. This recorded announcement will be maintained and edited periodically as the emergency continues or subsides.

G. The Vice President for Student Development and Engagement, the Director of Residence Life and the Director of Campus Police and Safety will confer with the Associate Vice President of Campus Services and the Director of Food Service to determine essential personnel and plan of action required to maintain services to resident students and secure University facilities.
2.11.4.10.0.0.0 Violent or Criminal Behavior/Active Shooter

Revision Date: 8/21/2013 Approval Date: 8/21/2013 Current Version

Violent or Criminal Behavior/Active Shooter

Gannon University is considered a safe campus. However, it is an urban campus open to the public and threats can occur from within and outside the campus community. Faculty, staff, and students should be aware of their surroundings so they may identify any threats to their safety and the safety of others.

If you feel threatened or see suspicious activity, do not take any unnecessary risk and call Campus Police and Safety. Use any campus telephone and dial 911 or ext. 7777 or by any other telephones dial (814) 871-7777.

Provide the following information to the Gannon operator:

1. Nature of the incident.
2. Location of the incident.
3. Description of person(s) involved.
4. Description of property involved.

Types of Violence or Criminal Behavior

1. Physical assault and/or threat of violence
2. Stalking or continuous harassment that causes fear, worry, or intimidation
3. Actions whose intent is to disruptor sabotage operations
4. Indirect threats

If there is an active shooter in your vicinity:

In general, how you respond to an "active shooter incident" will be dictated by the specific circumstances surrounding the encounter and location of the incident. The following are guidelines that if studied ahead of time, can be used to develop strategy and to make a decision based on facts and lessons learned by studying other events and the training stemming from those events.

What to expect from police officers:

Understanding how law enforcement officers are trained to respond and act is a major factor in determining what actions you will take during an incident. Their primary purpose will be to proceed directly to the threat and stop the subject's actions. Their actions will be based on "active intelligence" which can be hearing shots, screams, people pointing to and/or running from an area, or anything that indicates the location of the shooter. Police may be from multiple agencies. They may be in uniform or plainclothes. They may be wearing vests and helmets and carrying rifles. They may be responding as a single officer or in teams of 2 to 5 or even more. They will go past injured people, classrooms and others as they will move to the location of the threat to stop future harm. Follow any instructions given, if you encounter the police, keep your hands visible at all times. Do not come out from a hiding spot or locked door unless you are sure it is a law enforcement officer ordering you to do so. When it appears the shooter's actions have been stopped, the police will first rescue injured victims and then start a slow, systematic clearing and evacuation of the building. Be patient, this will be tedious and time consuming, perhaps taking several hours.

Civilian Response:

Keep in mind there could be more than one shooter. Quiet does not mean the situation is over. As soon as possible after the call is received by Campus Police and Safety, an Emergency Text Alert will be sent out as to the location and quick instructions. Anyone not in the area should remain locked down in the building they are at until it is over. Anyone outside should proceed inside away from the location.

Based on "Active Intelligence" there are three possible responses to the threat.

1. Evacuate/Run Out
2. Lockdown/Hide Out
3. Take Out

1. Evacuate/Run Out

If you are near an exit or not able to lockdown/ hide and the shooter is not between you and your escape, then evacuate.

a) Move quickly and quietly by remaining calm.
b) Leave belongings behind.
c) Keep your hands free and visible for responding police.
d) Follow instructions of first responders that you encounter.

2. Lockdown/Hide Out

a) The best option is an area that is able to be locked and secured to prevent access.
b) Furniture may also be put in front of the door.

c) Try to stay out of view and away from the door.

d) Remain quiet, calm and try not to move.

e) Silence cell phones.

f) Do not open the door unless you are sure it is the police instructing you to do so.

g) Turn out lights, close blinds, etc.

Keep in mind there could be more than one shooter. Quiet does not mean the situation is over. As soon as possible after the call is received by Campus Police and Safety, an Emergency Text Alert will be sent out as to the location and quick instructions. Anyone not in the area should remain locked down in the building they are at until it is over. Anyone outside should proceed inside away from the location.

3. Take Out

Given that no policy can realistically predict every possible situation that faculty, staff or students might encounter, they are entrusted to use well-reasoned discretion in determining the appropriate action needed to quell a situation.

Gannon University does not compel or mandate that an employee or student intervene or use force in an active shooter situation. However, the University recognizes that exhaustive research indicates that most active shooter incidents only end after some type of intervention or when the suspect perceives that such intervention is imminent, whether it be a first responder or others taking action. Therefore, you are provided with this information so that if you make the decision to intervene in an active shooter situation it will aid you in preparation to do so.

If you are unable to evacuate or hide and are in close proximity to the shooter and/or confronted by the subject (you feel your life or another's is in imminent danger) and decide to take action, you should:

a) Assume their intentions are lethal.

b) Develop a survival mindset and commit to do whatever it takes.

c) If in a group, spread out and do not huddle together.

d) Throw things, use improvised weapons, physically intervene and do not stop, even if wounded.

e) Do the best that you can to survive, do not stop until the threat is controlled and remember there is power in numbers.
A. After each emergency as defined in this document, a review will be held by team members to review how the emergency was handled, what issues or plans need to be changed, and what causal effects need to be reviewed to prevent a future occurrence.

B. Annually, team members shall meet to review and revise the Emergency Response Manual as needed.

C. The Post Emergency Response Review will be provided to President's Staff within a reasonable time after the emergency.

2.12.0.0.0.0 Building Fire Prevention Policy

Revision Date: 7/23/2014      Approval Date: 7/23/2014      Current Version

Old Main, Gitnik Manse and Court House Commons are three, prestigious buildings, rich in architectural details and if lost in a fire, could not be easily replicated. This fire prevention program would consist of fire extinguisher training for employees, limited use of small electric appliances like coffee pots, toasters, space heaters, etc. and a "hot work" policy for maintenance repairs and contractors. In Old Main three kitchen areas are available for staff use for coffee pots, etc., in Gitnik, there is a first floor kitchen and in Court House Commons there is a small closet space used for coffee pots, etc. The Student Service Building and Chapel would also be included in this program as there are no fire suppression systems or wired smoke alarm system.

Office Fire Prevention:

Electrical appliances such as coffee makers, toasters, microwave ovens, etc., are often overlooked as a potential fire hazard. All electrical appliances can be fire hazards. In order to manage these hazards, coffee makers, toasters, microwaves and other small electrical appliances should only be used in kitchen areas already provided, or in Court House Commons, in defined shared space on each floor. The use of hot plates is not acceptable. No small electrical appliances should be used at individual work spaces. All appliances should be turned off or unplugged if possible, at the end of the day. All electrical appliances must be approved by a national testing laboratory such as UL.

Space heaters are not recommended for office use. However, if a space heater is needed, please contact the maintenance department to assess your office area to review the heating and cooling units and to make recommendations regarding a space heater. Space heaters should be used sparingly, have an automatic shut off if tipped over, not be located close to any flammable materials (curtains, paper, etc.) and be unplugged daily. Space heaters should be plugged directly into a grounded electrical outlet or a heavy duty extension cord (power strip with a three prong plug).

If any electrical equipment malfunctions or gives off a strange odor, disconnect it and call maintenance. Promptly disconnect and replace cracked, frayed or broken electrical cords.

Do not allow combustible material (boxes, paper, etc.) to build up in inappropriate storage locations (near sources of ignition).

No live Christmas trees are permitted. Fire resistive artificial trees are permitted.

Fire extinguisher training opportunities will be provided annually for all interested employees.

Maintenance will implement a "hot work" policy and closely monitor construction/repair activities that may involve no welding, grinding, soldering, etc., in these buildings.
The best time to think about fire safety is before a fire starts. We recommend that you learn the location of fire escape routes and how to activate the fire alarm. Fire drills should be practiced on a regular basis. Become familiar with stairway exits — elevators may not function during a fire, or may expose passengers to heat, gas and smoke.

Volume III  INSTITUTION-WIDE EMPLOYMENT POLICIES

3.0.0.0.0.0 Introduction

Revision Date: 1/26/2009   Approval Date: 1/26/2009   Current Version

Volume III of the Gannon University Policy Manual contains employment policies that pertain to all faculty, administrators, and staff of the University. Additional policies that pertain only to members of the faculty are provided in Volume IV, and policies that pertain only to staff are provided in Volume V. General policies that affect all members of the campus community (including students) are set forth in Volume II.
3.1 General Employment Policies

3.1.0.0.0.0 Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Policy

Revision Date: 11/15/2017  Approval Date: 11/15/2017  Current Version

It is the policy of Gannon University to affirmatively implement equal opportunity to all qualified applicants and existing employees. In administering its affairs, the University shall not discriminate against any person on any basis prohibited by law. All aspects of employment including recruitment, selection, hiring, training, transfer, promotion, termination, compensation, and benefits conform to this policy.

Processes have been developed and implemented to ensure that good faith efforts are made to provide equal employment opportunity to every employee and qualified potential employee, and to formalize and reaffirm Gannon’s commitment to equal opportunity employment.

Gannon’s objectives are to establish realistic goals and implement programs to actively recruit, promote, and provide career opportunities for qualified minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and Vietnam era veterans. Gannon has developed internal audit procedures to monitor the development, implementation, and progress of our objectives. Our overall goal is to recruit, hire, and maintain a culturally diverse workforce that can achieve its fullest potential.

The faculty and staff of Gannon University are expected to treat each other and students with the respect each person deserves and to avoid any conduct that could be construed as discriminatory.

Any faculty or staff member with questions or concerns about any type of discrimination in the workplace are encouraged to bring these issues to the attention of their dean, director, a harassment prevention officer, or the Human Resources Department.
3.1.2.0.0.0 Business and Travel Expense Guidelines

Revision Date: 10/25/2017   Approval Date: 10/25/2017   Current Version

To qualify for reimbursement business and travel expenses must be authorized in advance and supported by receipts. Authorization is secured from the individual given the authority by the University to approve such travel and may be the faculty or staff member's respective department chair, director, dean, or division vice president.

The Accounts Payable Department maintains the current Travel Expense Reimbursement Policy (see Volume II, Subsection 2.9.9 Travel Expenses Reimbursement Policy). Faculty and staff members are to familiarize themselves with the policy and its schedule of reimbursement rates to avoid any misunderstandings.
3.1.3.0.0.0 Confidentiality of Information

Revision Date: 9/18/2015  Approval Date: 9/18/2015  Current Version

The protection of confidential business information and trade secrets is vital to the interests and the success of the University. Such confidential information includes, but is not limited to, the following examples:

1. Student information;
2. Compensation data;
3. Protected health information;
4. Vendor lists;
5. Financial information; and

Faculty or staff members who improperly use or disclose trade secrets or confidential business information will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment, even if they do not actually benefit from the disclosed information.
Members of the University community are expected to exercise good judgment, honesty, and high ethical standards in all business transactions and have an obligation to conduct business within guidelines that prohibit actual or potential conflicts of interest. Faculty and staff members shall deal with suppliers, clients, students, contractors, government agencies, and all others having a relationship with the University on the sole basis of what is in the best interests of the University without consideration of personal gain.

An actual or potential conflict of interest occurs when a faculty or staff member is in a position to influence a decision that may result in a personal gain for that faculty or staff member or for a relative as a result of the University's business dealings. For the purposes of this policy, a relative is any person who is related by blood or marriage including spouse, child, step-child, parent, step-parent, parent-in-law, parent's sibling, sibling's child or step-child, niece, nephew, first cousin, and those whose relationship with the faculty or staff member is similar to that of persons who are related by blood or marriage.

No "presumption of guilt" is created by the mere existence of a relationship with outside firms. However, if faculty or staff members have any influence on transactions involving purchases, contracts, or leases, it is imperative that they disclose to the vice president of their division as soon as possible the existence of any actual or potential conflict of interest so that safeguards can be established to protect all parties.

Personal gain may result not only in cases where a faculty or staff member or relative has a significant ownership in a firm with which the University does business, but also when a faculty or staff member or a relative receives any cash, a gift (including tickets) of substantial value (defined as greater than or equal to $50), or special consideration as a result of any transaction or business dealings involving the University.

The vice presidents of the University have the ultimate authority and responsibility to determine the application of this policy and the implementation of steps to be taken to correct a situation deemed not in the best interests of the University including, if appropriate, disciplinary action or discharge.

Colleagues to whom this policy applies will be given a copy of the policy and will be required to sign a disclosure form at the time of hire. Certain key personnel will be required to sign a disclosure form on an annual basis.
Performance expectations and standards exist to assure that the University environment is professional and that expected outcomes are achieved. When necessary, faculty or staff members in leadership positions will take corrective action when the performance of a colleague under their direction impedes the accomplishment of University outcomes. Corrective Action does not pertain to introductory or temporary faculty or staff members.

Corrective Action includes coaching and counseling that will explain desired outcomes and the means by which the faculty or staff member may best achieve them. Initially it may take the form of an informal conversion. When informal conversations do not result in the desired outcome, more formal steps are required. Formal steps include a written warning, probation, suspension, and/or termination. The University may elect to initiate corrective action at any step, including termination. The decision will be guided by the following:

1. The seriousness of the matter as judged by the University;
2. Instances of repeated counseling for the same problem; and
3. Instances of repeated counseling for unrelated problems.

Step 1: Informal counseling is a coaching session during which a performance-related problem is explained to faculty or staff member. The faculty or staff member is asked to correct the current situation.

Step 2: If after an informal counseling the problem persists, a written warning may be issued. The written warning will identify the problem, stipulate corrective action required in order to resolve the matter.

Step 3: If after written warning the problem persists, the faculty or staff member will be placed on a performance-related probationary notice. The period of probation will be more than 29 days but less than 181 days. The faculty or staff member will be advised in writing of the reason(s) for the probation and what is expected in order for the probation to be satisfactorily completed.

When a probationary period is successfully completed, the faculty or staff member will be advised in writing.

A probationary period will not necessarily be repeated if there are subsequent performance problems.
Step 4: If after probation the problem persists, the faculty or staff member may be suspended for up to three days with or without pay. The faculty or staff member will be advised in writing of the reason(s) for the suspension and time frames within which the problem must be corrected.

In certain instances, suspension may be implemented to allow for further investigation of a serious incident. The suspension may be longer than three days. The employee will be advised in writing of the findings of the investigation.

A suspension will not be repeated if the faculty or staff member exhibits subsequent performance problems.

Step 5: If, in the University's opinion, a single incident or a series of incidents are so egregious that termination of employment is judged appropriate, the faculty or staff member will be advised in writing.
3.1.5.1.0.0.0 Authorization for Corrective Action

Revision Date: 1/26/2009      Approval Date: 1/26/2009      Current Version

Deans, department chairs and/or directors, or their designees, are responsible for coaching and counseling the faculty and staff members under their leadership. They are authorized to initiate informal and formal correction action. If, in their opinion, formal corrective action at Step 3 or above is appropriate, the action must be approved by their respective vice president. Any corrective action at/or beyond Step 3 must be reviewed with the director of human resources before it is administered.
3.1.5.2.0.0.0 Employee Assistance

Revision Date: 1/26/2009   Approval Date: 1/26/2009   Current Version

At any step of the corrective action process the faculty or staff member may volunteer to meet with the University's Employment Assistance Plan (EAP) counselor on a strictly confidential basis. If the faculty or staff member utilizes the EAP, the colleague must continue to correct the performance related deficiencies.

If the University believes that it is in the best interest of the faculty or staff member, the University will refer the employee to the EAP. When the University initiates the referral, the faculty or staff member may be required to sign a release in order to permit the EAP counselor to review the progress of the faculty or staff member with the University.
3.1.5.3.0.0.0 Faculty Policies and Procedures

Revision Date: 1/26/2009    Approval Date: 1/26/2009    Current Version

If anything, herein contradicts the policies set forth in Volume IV regarding a faculty member, the policies in Volume IV will supersede.
Gannon University provides for the holistic development of students in the Judeo-Christian tradition. The abuse or illegal use of drugs and the abuse or illegal use of alcohol conflict with the University's mission and the standards of the broader community. To provide an environment that supports the University's mission and is compliant with state and federal statues the University has established the following policy.
3.1.6.1.0.0.0 Alcohol

Revision Date: 7/31/2014   Approval Date: 7/31/2014   Current Version

Gannon University prohibits the unlawful and/or unauthorized manufacture, distribution, possession, or use of alcohol on University property or as part of any University activity. Faculty, staff of the University must also comply with the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania on the possession and consumption of alcohol.
3.1.6.2.0.0.0 Substance Abuse

Revision Date: 1/26/2009    Approval Date: 1/26/2009    Current Version

The University is committed to providing a drug-free, healthful, and safe workplace in accordance with the Drug-Free Workplace Act of 1988, 34 CFR Part 85. The unlawful manufacture, distribution, dispensation, possession or use by faculty or staff members, or student employees of a controlled substance on University-owned or controlled property or while on University business is prohibited.

The legal use of prescribed drugs at work is permitted only if it does not impair the faculty or staff members', or the student employees' ability to effectively perform the essential functions of their positions in a safe manner that does not endanger other individuals in the workplace.

As a condition of employment on a federal grant or contract, faculty or staff members and student employees must abide by the terms of the policy. Further, any faculty or staff member or student employee convicted of a criminal drug statute violation must provide their dean or director with written notification of such conviction, including any resultant conditions, within five days of the conviction. If the faculty, staff member, or student employee is employed on a federal grant, the University will notify the appropriate federal agency within 10 days after receiving notice of criminal drug statute conviction.
3.1.6.3.0.0.0 Discipline

Revision Date: 1/26/2009   Approval Date: 1/26/2009   Current Version

Violations of this policy may lead to disciplinary action, up to and including immediate termination of employment, and/or required participation in a substance abuse rehabilitation or treatment program. Such violations may also have legal consequences.

Any faculty or staff member convicted of a drug offense will be subject to disciplinary action (up to and including suspension without pay and/or termination) and may be required to satisfactorily participate in a drug abuse assistance or rehabilitation program as agreed upon between that person and their respective vice president with advice from the EAP provider.
3.1.6.4.0.0.0 Employee Assistance

Faculty or staff members with questions or concerns about substance dependency or abuse are encouraged to discuss these matters with the Employee Assistance Counselor (see EAP under benefits) to receive confidential referrals to appropriate resources in the community. Student employees with questions or concerns about substance dependency or abuse are encouraged to discuss these matters with Counseling Services.

Faculty or staff members with drug or alcohol-related problems that have not resulted in, and are not the immediate subject of, disciplinary action may request approval to take a Family and Medical Leave. This is provided that their licensed counselor or physician certifies the medical need for a leave to participate in a rehabilitation or treatment program.
3.1.6.5.0.0.0 Tobacco/Vaping

Revision Date: 10/20/2017   Approval Date: 10/20/2017   Current Version

Tobacco/Vaping - The use of any form of tobacco (including smokeless tobacco or blends) is prohibited in University vehicles and buildings including classrooms, auditoriums, conference rooms, dining halls, lobbies, hallways, restrooms, stairwells, entrance doors, residence hall rooms, apartments and offices. The use of any form of tobacco, including smokeless tobacco, E-Cigarettes, and vaping is restricted to open areas, well away from entrances to or around any University buildings (20-feet no-smoke zone). Any by-products of tobacco usage are to be properly discarded. All university owned housing units are smoke and tobacco free buildings. All smoking must be conducted a minimum of 20 feet from any University housing unit.
In the Christian tradition, the human person is created in the image and likeness of God, as stated in Genesis: "in the divine image; male and female God created them" (Genesis 1:27). Grounded in this tradition, Gannon affirms and seeks to promote the fundamental dignity and respect accorded to all people by virtue of their common humanity.

Harassment and unlawful discrimination violate the basic right of each individual to be treated as a person worthy of respect and undermines the University's mission. In administering its affairs, Gannon University will prohibit harassment and shall not discriminate against any person on any basis prohibited by law.

All aspects of recruitment and employment at Gannon University conform to this policy in order to further the principles of equal opportunity and the spirit of affirmative action.

All members of the Gannon community have a responsibility for maintaining an environment free from harassment and unlawful discrimination. Gannon faculty, staff, and students are expected to treat each other with respect and to avoid any conduct that could be construed as harassment or unlawful discrimination.

Questions or concerns on the part of employees about harassment (including sexual harassment) or unlawful discrimination are to be brought to the attention of a Harassment Prevention Officer or any member of the Human Resources Department (814-871-7145). No one raising a question or concern should fear reprisal. Anyone found to be engaging in any type of harassment or unlawful discrimination or retaliation will be subject to corrective action, up to and including termination of employment and/or expulsion from the University.

Questions or concerns on the part of students about harassment (including sexual harassment) or unlawful discrimination are to be reported to anyone listed on the Student Emergency web page at http://www.gannon.edu/Student-Emergency/. No one raising a question or concern should fear reprisal. Anyone found to be engaging in any type of harassment or unlawful discrimination or reprisal will be subject to corrective action, up to and including termination of employment and/or expulsion from the University.

HARASSMENT AND SEXUAL HARASSMENT

The following definitions of harassment are provided with reference to and are intended to be inclusive of the provisions of applicable federal, state, and local laws and regulations.

Harassment is verbal or physical conduct that denigrates or shows hostility or aversion to an individual because of that person's (or their relatives', friends' or associates') race, color, gender, age, marital status, religion, national origin, disability, Vietnam or disabled veteran status, or such other characteristic recognized by law as unacceptable and includes one or more of the following:

— Has the purpose or effect of creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive working or academic environment.

— Has the purpose or effect of unreasonable interfering with an individual's work or academic performance.

— Otherwise adversely affects an individual's employment or academic opportunities.

Sexual harassment is a form of harassment that includes behavior of a sexual nature that is, or may be perceived as being unwelcome or offensive. Often, sexual harassment involves relationships of unequal power and contains elements of coercion (i.e., when compliance with requests for sexual favors or sexual attention becomes a condition of employment, work, education, study, or benefits). Sexual harassment may also involve relationships among equals (i.e., when repeated sexual advances or demeaning verbal or physical behavior initiated by a peer has a detrimental effect on a person's ability work at the University).

Sexual harassment includes sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct, or communication of a sexual nature directed toward a member of the Gannon community or applicant, particularly when one or more of the following circumstances are present:

— Submission to or rejection of such conduct is an explicit or implicit term or condition of employment or admission.

— Submission to or rejection of such conduct is used as a basis for a personnel or academic decision.

— The conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual’s work or academic performance, or creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive working or academic environment.

Examples of sexual harassment include, but are not limited to, these actions:

— Direct or implied threats that submission to sexual advances will be a condition of employment, work status, promotion, academic evaluation, or letter of recommendation.

— Direct propositions of a sexual nature.

— A subtle pressure for sexual activity, or a pattern of conduct intended to disconcert, distress, or humiliate through sexual comments or sexually explicit statements, questions, jokes, anecdotes, or sexually explicit visual/auditory material.

— A pattern of conduct that would reasonable be expected to disconcert, distress, or humiliate the person to whom the conduct was directed. The pattern of conduct could include one or more of the following actions: unnecessary touching; unwanted staring; patting, hugging; or brushing against a person’s body; remarks of a sexual nature about a person’s clothing or body; remarks about sexual activity; or speculations about previous sexual experience.
Sexual harassment includes sexual violence, which is as any activity of a sexual nature that violates another individual's physical and/or emotional well-being or personal space. Sexual violence incorporates a range of behaviors including rape, sexual assault (which includes any kind of nonconsensual sexual contact or act), intimate partner violence, stalking, and any other conduct of a sexual nature that is nonconsensual, or has the purpose or effect of threatening, intimidating, or coercing a person(s).

DISCRIMINATION

Discrimination in employment and/or education involves a decision and/or act by someone who is authorized by the University to make decisions and/or take actions. In the case of discrimination, the decision and/or action is made on a basis declared unlawful by applicable federal, state, and local civil rights laws and it negatively impacts on an applicant's, employee's, or student's access to employment and/or to all aspects of student life and education.

Any member of the Gannon community who is found to have engaged in harassment (including sexual harassment) or unlawful discrimination involving a faculty member, staff member, student, or applicant will be subject to corrective action, up to and including dismissal.

REPORTING PROCEDURES for HARASSMENT AND DISCRIMINATION FOR STUDENTS

Any student who believes that he/she has been or is being subjected to harassment (including sexual harassment) or unlawful discrimination, or has observed harassment or unlawful discrimination should contact anyone listed on the Student Emergency web page to receive assistance and an explanation of his or her rights. Students may also call the Title IX Officer at 814-871-5615.

REPORTING PROCEDURES for HARASSMENT AND DISCRIMINATION FOR FACULTY AND STAFF

A faculty or staff member who believes that he/she has been or is being subjected to harassment (including sexual harassment) or unlawful discrimination, or has observed harassment or unlawful discrimination, should take the following steps:
— consider advising or otherwise informing the offending party that the behavior is unwelcome and must stop. If this is not practical or safe, or fails to achieve the desired outcome, a complaint should be registered as described below.

— Contact a Harassment Prevention Officer, or any member of the Human Resources Department (814-871-7145) to receive assistance and an explanation rights and to make a report.

When a faculty or staff member makes a report, the Harassment Prevention Officer (Officer) will administer the following steps to review and resolve the claim of harassment (including sexual harassment) and illegal discrimination.

— The Officer will meet with the reporting party, inform that person of his or her rights including the right to University and Community resources and the right to report instances of sexual violence to campus police and/or Erie Municipal police.

— The Officer will assess the report.

— The Officer will determine if the report merits an investigation. If it is determined that an investigation will not be conducted, the reporting party will be advised in writing.

— If there is to be an investigation, the Officer will meet with the party alleged to have committed harassment or unlawful discrimination, hereafter referred to as the responding party. The responding party will be notified of the complaint in writing.

— The responding party must reply in writing within 5 business days of having been advised in writing of the complaint unless an exception is made for good cause as determined by the Officer. Failure by the responding party to reply in writing in the time allowed will be treated as an admission of the allegations.

— The Officer will conduct fact-finding and interviews to determine the factual veracity of the complaint and produce a report stating the Officer's findings of fact.
— The Officer will provide the parties an opportunity to review the report and ask for their respective comments.

— The Officer will send a final written report stating the Officer’s findings to the Vice President of the responding party. Each party will be given an opportunity to review the final draft.

— The Vice President will determine what steps will be taken, including formal corrective action directed to the responding party, to resolve the allegations that were substantiated by the Officer’s report.

— Formal corrective action, if initiated, will be communicated in writing to both parties and the Officer.

— Should a Vice President be the responding party, the report from the Officer will be submitted to the President.

— Should the President be the responding party, the report from the Officer will be submitted to the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees.

Information will be released only on a need-to-know basis. Privacy will be respected consistent with the University's legal obligations.

The preceding steps are intended to:

— Bring an end to the discriminatory conduct.

— Take steps reasonably calculated to prevent the future reoccurrence of the discriminatory conduct.
— Restore the victims as best the University can to their pre-deprivation status.

Complaints by faculty or staff must be lodged within 180 days of the incident that gave rise to the allegation, unless an exception is made for good cause as determined by the Officer.

APPEALS

When the responding party is a faculty or staff member, the faculty or staff member may appeal the findings and the decision of the Vice President in writing to the University Review Council within five business days of written notification of the findings and decision of the Vice President. If the reporting party is a student, the student may appeal the findings and the decision of the Associate Vice President in writing to the Sexual Misconduct Committee within five business days of written notification of the findings and decision of the Associate Vice President.

ANTI-RETLAIATION STATEMENT

Retaliation of any kind against anyone filing a complaint of harassment (including sexual harassment) or unlawful discrimination or against anyone investigating a complaint or providing evidence as a witness is prohibited. Initiating a complaint of harassment or unlawful discrimination will not affect a reporting party's employment, compensation, or work assignments; or in the case of a student, his/her grades, class selection, or any other matter pertaining to the student's status.

Distinguishing between harassment and unlawful discrimination and behavior that is purely personal or social without a harassing or discriminatory impact on work and/or education requires a determination based on all of the facts pertaining to the situation. False accusations can seriously injure innocent people. Initiating a false harassment or unlawful discrimination complaint or initiating a harassment or unlawful discrimination complaint in bad faith may result in corrective action. A finding for the responding party does not constitute a finding that the complaint was in bad faith.
CONSENSUAL RELATIONS

As a Catholic university, Gannon encourages all members of the Gannon community to live in a manner consistent with the Christian tradition. While there are many implications to this comprehensive standard, this section addresses a particular legal and ethical concern. The prescriptions of this policy should be considered within the broader context of Christian teaching on marriage and human sexuality.

The Mission of Gannon University is promoted by mutual trust and respect. Actions by Gannon University faculty members, staff members, or students that manipulate this trust undermine and hinder fulfillment of Gannon University's Mission.

Given the fundamentally asymmetrical nature of a faculty or staff member's relationship with a student or a supervisor-subordinate relationship, voluntary consent by the student or subordinate in romantic and/or sexual relations is inherently suspect. In addition to the possible sexual exploitation of those directly involved, other faculty, staff, or students may be affected by such unprofessional behavior. Therefore, Gannon University shall view it as inappropriate and contrary to the Mission of the University if a faculty or staff member engages in romantic and/or sexual relations with any Gannon student or a supervisor engages in romantic and/or sexual relations with a subordinate.

The claim that romantic and/or sexual relations have been consensual may not preclude a charge of sexual harassment or constitute a sufficient defense against an allegation of sexual harassment.
Gannon University, at its discretion, may notify a faculty or staff member prior to any investigation of the individual. The faculty or staff member, if notified, shall be made aware of the reasons for the investigation, the types of information to be gathered, the procedures that will be used, and the sources from which the information will be sought.

Gannon University shall not engage an investigative agency unless the agency's practices reflect the philosophy and policies of Gannon University. Gannon University shall neither solicit nor retain information about a faculty or staff member unless it is directly related to an employment decision.
Keys or an access code/card, are the responsibility of faculty and staff members. Keys and access code/cards should not be duplicated without the approval of the department chair or supervisor. Loss of any key or access code/card should be reported to the department chair or supervisor immediately. All keys and access code/cards must be returned when a faculty or staff member leaves the University.
Faculty and staff members may not participate in employment decisions about relatives. Relatives of faculty or staff members may be hired only if they will not be working directly for or supervising the relative. Relatives cannot occupy a position in the same line of authority as another relative within the University.

Faculty and staff members cannot be transferred into the same line of authority as a relative. If the relative relationship is established after employment and the individuals are in the same line of authority, the individuals concerned will decide who will request to be transferred. If that decision is not made within 30 calendar days of the event that created the relationship, the University will decide.

For the purposes of this policy, a relative is a spouse, child, stepchild, parent or stepparent, parent or stepparent in-law, brother or sister, brother or sister-in-law, aunt, uncle, niece, nephew, grandchild, first cousin, or someone whose relationship with the faculty or staff member is similar to that of a relationship described herein.
Faculty considering outside employment are to follow the guidelines set forth in Volume IV, Subsection 4.12.1. Staff considering outside employment are to follow the guidelines set forth in Volume V. In all instances, care must be taken to assure that such activities are clearly separated from the individual's duties to the University and that the activities do not interfere with the individual's ability to meet the performance standards of that person's position with the University.

All faculty and staff members will be subject to the University's scheduling needs, regardless of any existing outside work requirements.

Outside employment that constitutes a conflict of interest is prohibited. Engaging in business or employment with an organization that is a supplier of goods or services to the University will be considered a conflict of interest.

Making use of a person's status with the University to further outside business interests, or associating the University with a product or service offered by an outside organization in which the employee has a business interest will not be approved.

The lease or purchase of University property must be approved in writing by the Vice President for Finance and Campus Operations.
Any faculty member invited to serve as a director or officer of an outside company, trade or professional association shall, prior to accepting any such offer, follow the guidelines set forth in Volume IV, Subsection 4.12.1 Outside Employment (Full-time Faculty). Any staff member invited to serve as a director or officer of an outside company, trade or professional association shall, prior to accepting any such offer, follow the guidelines set forth in Volume V.
3.1.13.0.0.0.0 Personal Business

Revision Date: 10/25/2017  Approval Date: 10/25/2017  Current Version

Personal business should not be conducted on University time or with University equipment and resources. Personal phone calls and email should be limited and brief and in no event interfere with the faculty or staff member's responsibilities. Faculty and staff members are expected to reimburse the University for any long distance calls of a personal nature. Payments are made at the Cashier's Office.

The use of University-paid postage for personal correspondence is not permitted.

For guidance on the use of computers, the internet, and email consult the Information Technology Code of Conduct found in Volume VII, Section 7.8 Pastoral Statement to Gannon Community.
3.1.14.0.0.0.0 Professional, Philanthropic, and Political Activities

Revision Date: 1/26/2009   Approval Date: 1/26/2009   Current Version

The University encourages members of its community to participate in such activities. However, the individual should exercise care that such participation is not detrimental to the stature and reputation of the University.
3.1.15.0.0.0.0  Solicitation

Revision Date: 1/26/2009  Approval Date: 1/26/2009  Current Version

Faculty or staff members may not engage in commercial promotion, sell tickets or merchandise, or solicit for any purpose in any area of the University during the time they or the person they are soliciting is reasonably expected by the University to be engaged in the duties which constitute the core of their relationship with the University.

No soliciting, canvassing, distribution of literature, or trespassing by non-employees is allowed in or on premises.
Faculty and staff members are responsible for items issued to them by the University or in their possession or control, such as the following:

1. Parking cards;
2. Library books;
3. Credit cards;
4. Equipment or software;
5. Identification cards;
6. Keys;
7. Manuals;
8. Pagers and cell phones;
9. Computers, palm pilots or other electronic equipment;
10. Protective equipment and uniforms.

All University property must be returned by faculty and staff members on or before their last day of work to their director, chair, or supervisor. The University may also take action deemed appropriate to recover or protect its property.
Visitors on Campus

The University is a diverse environment of classrooms, offices and laboratories where many different activities are performed. Authorized visitors are welcome. However, appropriate precautions and limitations on visitation are necessary to protect health and safety, and to maintain productivity and regulatory compliance.

Faculty or staff members are responsible for the conduct and safety of their visitors.

If an unauthorized individual is observed on University premises, faculty or staff members should immediately notify their supervisor or the Campus Police and Safety Office.

Any suspicious behavior should be reported immediately to the Campus Police and Safety Office at 871-7690.
There are many workplaces where hazardous materials or equipment are located or where hazardous operations are conducted. These include laboratories, shops, and many others.

It is therefore necessary to restrict access to these areas for visitors, especially children and minors. For the purpose of this policy, hazardous areas are defined as any University operation where any of the following are present: 1) chemicals or radioactive materials in use or storage, 2) biological or infectious hazards, 3) live animals, 4) construction or renovation activities, 5) utility equipment spaces, tunnels, rooftops, mechanical rooms, heavy machinery, cranes, high noise levels, electrical hazards, 6) or other areas deemed hazardous by the host department.

Visiting adults who are not students or employees (visiting scientists, etc.) who work for more than a week in laboratories or other hazardous areas must receive safety training equivalent to that required for employees in the same environment. The host department is responsible for providing all visitors with specific safety instructions for local conditions and procedures, and for providing all necessary personal protective equipment. All safety training must be properly documented and kept on file.

Short-term visitors (less than a week) to hazardous workplaces must at a minimum have local safety measures and emergency procedures explained to them, and must be provided with personal protective equipment appropriate to the environment being visited. Short-term visitors must be escorted and/or supervised by the host department at all times during their visit within the hazardous area.
Gannon values family life and has worked to develop employment policies and benefits that are supportive of families. While the University seeks to focus on providing an environment open to work and family issues, it also believes that the workplace should not be used in lieu of a childcare provider.

In general, the workplace is not an appropriate place for minor children on a frequent or continuing basis for the following reasons:

1. Children in the workplace create a potential liability for the department and the University.

2. There may be a risk of harm to the children.

3. Children in the workplace disrupt the workplace both for the employee with the child and for others in the work unit.

4. Children in the workplace create an atmosphere that may not be conducive to achievement of the unit's specific goals and objectives.

It is the policy of the University that minor children of employees not be present at an employee's workplace (e.g., office, classroom, shop area), in lieu of other childcare arrangements during the employee's working hours. This policy is not intended, however, to prohibit children from the campus when the purpose of their visit is to attend classes or to participate in activities specifically scheduled for their benefit (e.g. Bring Your Child to Work Day, summer sports or activity camps or other similar University-sponsored events).

Children may be brought to workplaces by parent employees for brief visits or other time when common sense would dictate that it is more efficient for the employee to bring the child into an office (following or before a medical appointment, for example). The parent employee must supervise the child(ren) on such visits. It is not appropriate for children of any age to be in the workplace on a regular basis, such as after school each school day or on regularly scheduled school holidays.

In the event of an emergency, and if there are no other alternatives, parent employees may have children present in the workplace for brief periods of time provided that the parent secures the immediate supervisor's prior approval. Such arrangements are only to be temporary in nature, and may be granted only in circumstances where safety issues (such as stairs and stairwells, automatically closing doors, open windows, office machines, etc.) have been satisfactorily addressed. Parent employees may not leave such child(ren) in the custody of another University employee or student, even for brief periods of time. Children are never to be present in hazardous areas.
Minor children are not permitted as regular visitors in any area as defined above. Short-term visits may be approved for guided tours or other reasons if appropriate precautionary measures are taken, and hazards have been fully controlled or removed during the visit. Direct adult supervision of children is required at all times in measures prior to such visits, and may wish to require written parental consent authorizing the site visit.

Gannon University is committed to preventing workplace violence and to maintaining a safe work environment. Given the increasing violence in society in general, Gannon University has adopted the following guidelines to deal with intimidation, harassment, or other threats of (or actual) violence that may occur during business hours or on its premises.

All faculty and staff, including temporary employees, shall be treated with courtesy and respect at all times. Faculty and staff are expected to refrain from fighting, "horseplay," or other conduct that may be dangerous to others. Conduct that threatens, intimidates, or coerces another faculty or staff member, a student, or a member of the public at any time, including off-duty periods, will not be tolerated.

Firearms, weapons, and other dangerous or hazardous devices or substances are prohibited from the premises of Gannon University without proper authorization.

All threats of (or actual) violence, both direct and indirect, must be reported as soon as possible to one's immediate supervisor, chair, director, dean or vice president. This includes threats by faculty, staff members, or students, as well as threats by customers, vendors, solicitors, or other members of the public. Reports of a threat of violence must be as specific and detailed as possible.

All suspicious individuals or activities must also be reported as soon as possible. Faculty and staff should not place themselves in peril nor intercede “report it.

Gannon University will promptly and thoroughly investigate all reports of threats of (or actual) violence and of suspicious individuals or activities. The identity of the individual making a report will be protected as much as is practical. In order to maintain workplace safety and the integrity of its investigation, Gannon University may suspend faculty or staff members, either with or without pay, pending investigation.
Anyone determined to be responsible for threats of (or actual) violence or other conduct that is in violation of these guidelines will be subject to prompt disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment.

Gannon University encourages faculty and staff members are to bring their disputes or differences with other faculty or staff members to the attention of their supervisor, chair, director, dean or vice president or the Office of Human Resources before the situation escalates into potential violence. Gannon University is eager to assist in the resolution of disputes, and will not discipline employees for raising such concerns.
The Employment Policy of the University is designed to:

1. Assist departments in obtaining the most qualified and suitable applicants for position vacancies.

2. Ensure compliance with legal mandates concerning employment.

3. Assist staff in the growth, development, and enhancement of their careers.

Where women or racial or cultural minorities are underrepresented in a respective Job Group, a plan of action to address possible underutilization will be developed by the search chair or the hiring manager with assistance from the Human Resources Department.
3.2.1.0.0.0 Approval to Recruit

Revision Date: 6/4/2018      Approval Date: 6/4/2018      Current Version

The following procedures must be completed before internal or external searches will be conducted and interviews scheduled.

1. The hiring manager completes a Human Resources Position Requisition Form, attaches a job description, and forwards the form to the respective dean or director for approval.

2. The respective dean or director reviews the Position Requisition and, if approved, routes the form to the Budget Office.

3. The Budget Office reviews the budgetary impact of the Position Requisition, summarizes the findings on the Position Requisition, and forwards it to the Vice President for Finance and Campus Operations for approval.

4. The respective President's Staff member approves the requisition.

5. The President approves the requisition.
3.2.2.0.0.0 Presidential Appointment

Revision Date: 1/26/2009    Approval Date: 1/26/2009    Current Version

The President reserves the right in situations deemed unique to make presidential appointments.
3.2.3.0.0.0.0 Employment of Clergy and Religious

Revision Date: 1/26/2009   Approval Date: 1/26/2009   Current Version

Since its founding, Gannon has employed priests and religious in a variety of positions; their contributions have been profound and immeasurable. For Gannon to continue to fulfill its Mission, it is important that clergy and religious be employed by the University.

In some instances it may be preferable, though not required, that the individual selected for employment in a particular function be a priest or religious. In a very few instances it may be necessary that the finalist be a priest or a religious.

In all other cases, when clergy and religious are interviewed for posted vacancies, their unique status will be positively considered in the employment process. Employment decisions regarding clergy and religious should always focus on hiring the most qualified professionals and staff for the University.

Further information regarding the employment of clergy and religious; their rights and responsibilities; and benefits unique to their status are addressed in separate policies.
In order to assure that Gannon employs the most qualified applicants, vacancies will be posted. Exceptions to this practice may occur if the respective vice president elects to fill the position with the internal assignment of an employee from within the department where the vacancy exists.

Campus Search: The search chair or hiring manager, in conjunction with his/her division vice president, may elect to announce a vacancy only to the Gannon community. In this instance, a campus search will be conducted before external advertising is placed and external applicants are considered. In the event that the campus search is not successful, the vacancy may then be announced to the general public.

Concurrent Searches: The search chair or hiring manager, in conjunction with the division vice president, may elect to announce a vacancy to the Gannon community and the general public at the same time.

Announcements for faculty and staff vacancies are posted on the Human Resources Department web site. In addition, all non-exempt staff vacancies are posted by printed notice on the Human Resources bulletin board.

All recruitment efforts will be coordinated by the search chair or hiring manager with assistance from the Human Resources Department.

Faculty and Administrative Vacancies: The search chair or hiring manager is responsible for determining all sources of recruitment for all faculty and administrative positions with assistance from the Human Resources Department.

Support Staff Vacancies: The Human Resources Department has responsibility for determining sources of recruitment of all support vacancies.
3.2.5.0.0.0 Applications

Applications are submitted online where they may be accessed and reviewed by the search committee or hiring manager. The online system generates two messages to the applicant: (1) an acknowledgement message appears on the screen immediately following successful submission of the application; and (2) an email is sent to the applicant confirming information about the application process and the University's crime statistics data.

The University relies upon the accuracy of information contained in the employment application, as well as the accuracy of other data presented throughout the hiring process and employment. Any misrepresentations, falsifications, or material omissions in any of this information or data may result in the exclusion of an individual from further consideration for employment or, if the person has been hired, termination of employment.
3.2.6.0.0.0 Internal Applicants

Revision Date: 1/26/2009       Approval Date: 1/26/2009       Current Version

In order to apply for a posted vacancy, internal candidates must:

1. Have been employed by Gannon in their current position for one year before making application for a posted position. The dean/director who is the supervisor of the colleague may waive the one-year service requirement. A part-time employee who is applying for a full-time position in the same job classification and department is not required to wait one year before applying.

2. Not be on a performance-related probation.

3. Notify their current supervisor of any interview in which they will be participating.

When internal candidates are offered a position, the timing of the transfer of the candidate from the current position to the new position will be coordinated through the Human Resources Department.

In matters involving faculty, should any policies regarding internal applicants and or internal assignments as described in Volume III conflict with the policies on faculty rank and tenure as set forth in Volume IV, the policies in Volume IV will supersede those described in Volume III.
3.2.7.0.0.0.0 Interviewing and Screening

Faculty and Administrative Vacancies: The search chair or hiring manager is to arrange and conduct all interviews. The search chair or hiring manager is to maintain a record of all interviews for the position including a record of all oral, written, or other communications with or about applicants. References on all finalists are to be checked and documented by the search chair or hiring manager. The Human Resources Department may act as a resource. Academic credentials will be certified and applicants for faculty positions will be asked to submit official transcripts.

Support Staff Vacancies: The hiring manager responsible is to arrange and conduct all interviews. The hiring manager is to maintain a record of all interviews for the position including a record of all oral, written, or other communications with or about applicants. References on all finalists are to be checked and documented by the hiring manager.

Based upon the position being offered by the University, finalists must satisfy certain background inquiries, procedures, and examinations including but not limited to: criminal background check for all employees; child registry clearance for all employees who will work with individuals under the age of 18 years. Recommendations to hire a finalist cannot proceed until all the above have been satisfactorily completed.
Pennsylvania's Child Protective Services Law (CPSL), as amended by Act 153 of 2014 and Act 15 of 2015, requires certain employees and volunteers who have contact with children to obtain required clearances and certifications every 60 months. This Policy provides guidelines that apply to University faculty, staff, students, and volunteers in University-sponsored or affiliated programs or activities. This Policy also establishes requirements for non-University organizations and entities that operate programs or activities involving minors on campus or at other University locations. University agreements with such organizations and entities shall reflect these requirements.

Definitions

Child / Minor - any individual under the age of 18.

Direct contact with children - the care, supervision, guidance or control of children, or routine interaction with children.

Direct volunteer contact with children - the care, supervision, guidance, or control of children, or routine interaction with children.

Person responsible for the welfare of a child - a person who provides permanent or temporary care, supervision, mental health diagnosis or treatment, training, or control of a child in lieu of parental care, supervision and control.

Program, activity or service - Any of the following in which children participate and which is sponsored by a school or a public or private organization:

- A youth camp or program.
- A recreational camp or program.
- A sports or athletic program.
- A community or social outreach program.
- An enrichment or educational program.
- A troop, club or similar organization.
Routine interaction - regular and repeated contact that is integral to a person's employment and/or volunteer responsibilities.

Volunteer - an individual eighteen (18) years of age or older in, or seeking to be placed in, an unpaid position with a program, activity, or service, who is responsible for the welfare of a child or children or who has direct volunteer contact with children.

Required Employee Clearances

Unless covered under the exemption described below, University employees who have direct contact with children, and all applicants to any of those positions, prior to the commencement of serving in that capacity, must submit the following:

1. Pennsylvania Criminal History Record Check - A report of criminal history record information from the Pennsylvania State Police.

2. Pennsylvania State Child Abuse Clearance - A certification from the Department as to whether the individual is named in the Statewide database as the alleged perpetrator in a pending child abuse investigation or as the perpetrator of a founded report or an indicated report of child abuse.

3. Federal Criminal History Record Check - A report of federal criminal history record information, obtained by submitting a full set of fingerprints to the Pennsylvania State Police, which fingerprints will then be submitted to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for the purpose of verifying the identity of the individual and obtaining a current record of any criminal arrests and convictions. 24 P.S. 1-111(b); 23 Pa. C.S.A. 6344(b).

Individuals who are required to obtain clearances must produce the original documents identified in paragraphs 1, 2 and 3 above to the University for inspection. The University shall maintain copies of the required certification information, and mark on the copy the date copied and the name of the University administrator and/or designee who viewed the original. 23 Pa. C.S.A. Â§6344(b.1).

It is anticipated that, in most cases, applicants will obtain the documents identified in paragraphs 1, 2, and 3 above in connection with their application for employment with the University. However, the University may accept clearances that were obtained for employment with a different employer so long as the clearances are dated no more than 60 months (5 years) prior to the application date and the applicant swears or affirms in writing that s/he is not disqualified from employment under the CPSL or has not been convicted of an offense similar in nature to those crimes listed in the CPSL in another jurisdiction. 23 Pa. C.S. Â§6344.3(f)(1)-(2).

The University may not accept certifications that were obtained for volunteering purposes when considering an individual for employment. 23 Pa. C.S. Â§6344(b.3).

Exemption from Clearance Requirements Applicable to Certain University Employees

Under the CPSL, most employees of institutions of higher education will be exempt from the CPSL certification and clearance requirements. In particular, University employees will not be subject to the clearance requirements set forth above so long as their direct contact with children, in the course of employment, is limited to either:

a. Prospective students visiting the University campus; or
b. Matriculated students who are enrolled with the University. A matriculated student is a student who is enrolled in an institution of higher education and pursuing a program of study that results in a postsecondary credential such as a certificate, diploma, or degree.

Notwithstanding the above, the University will continue to do criminal background checks on new hires, which will include, but may not be limited to, national and state criminal record checks and motor vehicle checks where driving is required as part of the job.

Grounds for Denying or Terminating Employment

An employee and/or applicant for employment in a position for which clearances are required is not eligible for employment if that individual:

1. Is named in the statewide database as the perpetrator of a founded report committed within the five year period immediately preceding verification. 23 Pa. C.S.A. Â§6344(c)(1).

2. Has been convicted of any of the following offenses under Title 18 or an equivalent crime under federal law or the law of another state:

   - Chapter 25 (relating to criminal homicide);
   - Section 2702 (relating to aggravated assault);
   - Section 2709.1 (relating to stalking);
   - Section 2901 (relating to kidnapping);
   - Section 2902 (relating to unlawful restraint);
   - Section 2910 (relating to luring a child into a motor vehicle or structure);
   - Section 3121 (relating to rape);
   - Section 3122.1 (relating to statutory sexual assault);
   - Section 3123 (relating to involuntary deviate sexual intercourse);
   - Section 3124.1 (relating to sexual assault);
   - Section 3124.2 (relating to institutional sexual assault);
   - Section 3125 (relating to aggravated indecent assault);
   - Section 3126 (relating to indecent assault);
   - Section 3127 (relating to indecent exposure);

• Section 6301(a)(1) (relating to corruption of minors);
• Section 6312 (relating to sexual abuse of children);
• Section 6318 (relating to unlawful contact with minor);
• Section 6319 (relating to solicitation of minor to traffic drugs);
• Section 6320 (relating to sexual exploitation of children);
• The attempt, solicitation, or conspiracy to commit any of the offenses set forth above

An offense designated as a felony under the act of April 14, 1972 (P.L. 233, No. 64) known as "The Controlled Substance, Drug, Device and Cosmetic Act." 24 P.S. Â§1-111(e); 23 Pa. C.S.A.6344(c) and Â§6344.2

If information obtained pursuant to the background certifications reveals that the individual is disqualified from employment or approval, the individual shall be immediately dismissed from employment or approval. 23 Pa. C.S.A. 6344(c.1).

Duty to Notify

If, after the date of the clearances, an employee/applicant is arrested for or convicted of a disqualifying offense under 23 Pa. C.S. Â§6344(c) or named as a perpetrator of a founded report of child abuse, the individual must provide written notice to the University within seventy-two hours of the arrest, conviction, or report.

Anyone failing to disclose information required under this policy commits a misdemeanor of the third degree and will be reported to law enforcement.

Clearance Renewal Requirements

For those positions which fall under the CPSL clearance requirements, new, updated clearances must be submitted to the University every 60 months in order to retain employment. Deadlines for renewed certifications are based upon the date of the individual's oldest clearance. Failure to submit updated clearances as required under the CPSL may mean that the University is statutorily prohibited from continuing an individual's employment and may result in discipline, up to and including termination. 23 Pa. C.S.A. Â§6344.4.

Transfer of Clearances

Any individual who applies for and/or begins employment involving direct contact with children with a new employer and whose certifications are still current may submit those certifications for purposes of obtaining employment with the new employer so long as, prior to the commencement of employment, the individual swears and affirms, in writing, that s/he has not been disqualified from employment under the CPSL or has not been convicted of an offense similar in nature to those crimes listed in the CPSL in another jurisdiction. 23 Pa. C.S. Â§6344.3(f)(2).
Required Volunteer Clearances

Except as otherwise specified below, all University volunteers and/or prospective volunteers who are responsible for the welfare of a child or whose position involves direct volunteer contact with children must, prior to the commencement of serving in that capacity, submit the following:

1. A report of criminal history record information from the Pennsylvania State Police.

2. A certification from the Department as to whether the individual is named in the Statewide database as the alleged perpetrator in a pending child abuse investigation or as the perpetrator of a founded report or an indicated report of child abuse.

3. A report of federal criminal history record information, obtained by submitting a full set of fingerprints to the Pennsylvania State Police, which fingerprints will then be submitted to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for the purpose of verifying the identity of the individual and obtaining a current record of any criminal arrests and convictions. 23 Pa. C.S.A. §6344(b).

Notwithstanding the above, a volunteer may not have to submit the federal criminal history report (FBI) if all of the following conditions are satisfied:

a. the volunteer position is completely unpaid;

b. the prospective volunteer has been a resident of Pennsylvania for the previous ten year period; and

c. the prospective volunteer swears and affirms in writing that s/he is not disqualified from service pursuant to CPSL Section 6344(c) or has not been convicted of a similar offense under federal law or law of another state or country. 23 Pa. C.S.A. §6344.2(b).

Individuals required to obtain clearances pursuant to this policy are required to produce the original documents identified in paragraphs 1, 2 and 3 above to the University for inspection. The University shall maintain copies of the required clearance information, and mark on the copy the date copied and the name of the administrator who viewed the original. 23 Pa. C.S.A. §6344(b.1).

It is anticipated that, in most cases, volunteers will obtain the documents identified in paragraphs 1, 2, and 3 above in connection with their volunteer service for the University. However, the University may accept clearances that were obtained in connection with other employment or volunteer service so long as the clearances are dated no more than 60 months (5 years) prior to the application date and the volunteer swears or affirms in writing that s/he is not disqualified from employment under the CPSL or has not been convicted of an offense similar in nature to those crimes listed in the CPSL in another jurisdiction. 23 Pa. C.S. §6344.3(f)(1)-(2).
Grounds for Denying Volunteer Status Under the CPSL

Volunteer service is a privilege, not a right. Even if a volunteer has obtained the required clearances, the University retains the right to exercise discretion in determining whether to permit an individual to serve as a volunteer. An individual may be denied and/or dismissed from volunteer service at any time at the discretion of the University.

Notwithstanding the above, the University may not select and/or approve an individual for a volunteer position which involves direct volunteer contact with children if that individual:

1. Is named in the statewide database as the perpetrator of a founded report of child abuse committed within the five-year period immediately preceding verification. 23 Pa. C.S.A. §6344(c)(1).

2. Has been convicted of any of the following offenses under Title 18 or an equivalent crime under federal law or the law of another state:

   • Chapter 25 (relating to criminal homicide);
   • Section 2702 (relating to aggravated assault);
   • Section 2709.1 (relating to stalking);
   • Section 2901 (relating to kidnapping);
   • Section 2902 (relating to unlawful restraint);
   • Section 2910 (relating to luring a child into a motor vehicle or structure);
   • Section 3121 (relating to rape);
   • Section 3122.1 (relating to statutory sexual assault);
   • Section 3123 (relating to involuntary deviate sexual intercourse);
   • Section 3124.1 (relating to sexual assault);
   • Section 3124.2 (relating to institutional sexual assault);
   • Section 3125 (relating to aggravated indecent assault);
   • Section 3126 (relating to indecent assault);
   • Section 3127 (relating to indecent exposure);
   • Section 3129 (relating to sexual intercourse with animal);
   • Section 4302 (relating to incest);
   • Section 4303 (relating to concealing death of child);
   • Section 4304 (relating to endangering welfare of children);
   • Section 4305 (relating to dealing in infant children);
   • A felony offense under Section 5902(b) (relating to prostitution and related offenses);
   • Section 5903(c) or (d) (relating to obscene and other sexual materials and performances);
   • Section 6301(a)(1) (relating to corruption of minors);
   • Section 6312 (relating to sexual abuse of children);
   • Section 6318 (relating to unlawful contact with minor);
   • Section 6319 (relating to solicitation of minor to traffic drugs);
   • Section 6320 (relating to sexual exploitation of children);
   • The attempt, solicitation, or conspiracy to commit any of the offenses set forth above;
• An offense designated as a felony under the act of April 14, 1972 (P.L. 233, No. 64) known as "The Controlled Substance, Drug, Device and Cosmetic Act." 24 P.S. Â§1-111(e) committed within the five-year period immediately preceding the certification. 23 Pa. C.S.A. Â§6344(c), Â§6344.2

If information obtained pursuant to the background clearances reveals that the individual is disqualified from volunteer service, the volunteer shall be immediately dismissed from volunteer service.

Duty to Notify

If, after the date of the clearances, the volunteer is arrested for or convicted of a disqualifying offense under 23 Pa. C.S. Â§6344(c) or named as a perpetrator of a founded report of child abuse, the volunteer must provide written notice to the University within seventy-two hours of the arrest, conviction, or report.

Anyone failing to disclose information required under this policy commits a misdemeanor of the third degree and will be reported to law enforcement.

Clearance Renewal Requirements

Individuals who have direct volunteer contact with children are not statutorily eligible to serve as a volunteer for the University if they do not have current required clearances on file with the University.

New, updated clearance certifications must be submitted to the University every 60 months in order to retain volunteer status. Deadlines for renewed clearances are based upon the date of the individual's oldest clearance.

If the University has a reasonable belief that a volunteer has been arrested or convicted of a disqualifying offense or was named a perpetrator in a founded report of child abuse or the volunteer has given notice of an arrest or conviction of a disqualifying offense, the University shall require the volunteer to submit updated clearances before any continued volunteer service.

Transfer of Clearances

Any volunteer who has obtained clearance information consistent with this policy may use those clearances for other volunteer opportunities during the length of time the person's clearances are current. However, volunteer clearances may not be accepted in the event of an application for employment. Any volunteer wishing to apply for employment with the University must obtain new clearances in compliance with the background clearance requirements for employees. 23 Pa. C.S. Â§6344.3(f).

3.2.8.2.0.0 Support Staff Appointments

Revision Date: 1/26/2009   Approval Date: 1/26/2009   Current Version

GANNON WILL NOT HONOR OFFERS OF EMPLOYMENT IT DEEMS UNAUTHORIZED, NOR MAY A NEW COLLEAGUE BE GIVEN A START DATE UNITL AFTER THE APPOINTMENT or CHANGE FORM IS APPROVED AT ALL LEVELS.
When a current colleague is assigned to fill an approved vacancy, the action results in one of the following:

1. Increase in Hours: If a position warrants an increase in hours, the faculty or staff member performing the job is normally retained in the position. If, however, several individuals are performing the same job in a department and only one position will have an increase in hours, the decision as to which individual should receive increased hours will be made taking into consideration prior work history at Gannon as well as the potential job contribution and seniority of all incumbents. The decision will not be based on seniority alone.

2. Reclassification: When the duties and responsibilities of a given position change substantially, the position is reclassified. If the incumbent possesses the qualifications required for the reclassified position, the incumbent will be retained. If the incumbent does not possess the qualifications, the position will be posted.

3. Transfer: A transfer occurs when a faculty or staff member is assigned to a position with a similar level of responsibility with no change in pay or to a position at a lesser level of responsibility normally accompanied by a reduction in salary.

4. Promotion: Gannon seeks to assist faculty and staff with opportunity for professional growth and development.
   a. Faculty promotions are subject to the rank and tenure procedures as set forth in Volume IV.
   b. Staff promotions are defined as a significant increase in duties and responsibilities resulting in a change of title and salary grade, and an increase in pay. The increase should be 5%, but in no event should the new salary be less than the minimum for the new salary grade.

Gannon will reimburse newly employed faculty and administrators for approved moving expenses up to a dollar amount that has been authorized by the respective vice president. Some reimbursements are taxable. Expenses must be substantiated by original receipts.
3.3.0.0.0.0 Personnel Records

Revision Date: 9/6/2017 Approval Date: 9/6/2017 Current Version

The Human Resources Department maintains individual personnel files for each faculty and staff member that contain the following types of information: employment application materials; payroll records; benefits enrollment forms; performance evaluations; letters of commendation; records of disciplinary actions; and related matters.

The official record for a faculty member is a compilation of three sets of documents.

1. Documents maintained by the Human Resources Department include employment application materials, payroll records, benefit enrollment forms, and correspondence between Human Resources and the respective faculty member.

2. Documents maintained by the respective dean's office include academic credentials and summative evaluations, documents relative to advancement in rank and/or tenure status, and correspondence between the dean’s office and the respective faculty member.

3. Documents maintained by the Vice President for Academic Affairs include copies of the original appointment offer, annual appointments, documents relative to the application for advancement in rank and/or tenure, and correspondence between that office and the respective faculty member.

Faculty and staff members may review their individual personnel records (except as noted below) by scheduling an appointment with the Human Resources Department, the dean's office, or the Vice President for Academic Affair's Office. In the event that there is a disagreement regarding the accuracy of original data in a file, the faculty and staff member is to identify the inaccuracy in writing stipulating whether a correction or removal of alleged inaccurate data is being sought.

Gannon will determine whether or not to correct or to remove the alleged inaccurate data from a file and subsequently inform the faculty or staff member of the determination in writing. If a request to correct or remove allegedly inaccurate data is accepted as submitted by a faculty or staff member, no record of the original data or the request for correction or removal will be maintained in the employee's file. However, a copy of a written denial to change or remove data will become part of the employee's file.
3.3.1.0.0.0 Notes and Copies of Records

Faculty or staff members (or designee) shall be permitted to make hand-written notes from their personnel file but shall not be permitted to remove their file or any documentation contained within the file. Requests made by faculty or staff members (or designees) for single copies of documentation maintained in a personnel file will be honored at no cost.
3.3.2.0.0.0.0 Records Not Available for Review

The following type of documents or copies shall not be accessible for review: reference letters or memoranda, including internal references and other information secured in conjunction with the policies on employment, promotion, advancement in rank, and tenure. This does not apply to recommendations prepared by administrators during promotion and tenure review.
Gannon University will not ask a faculty or staff member to sign any statement authorizing a person or institution to disclose information about the faculty or staff member unless the statement is:

1. Dated;
2. Specific as to the individuals or institutions who are authorized to disclose information and who are known at the time the authorization is signed;
3. Specific as to the nature of the information to be disclosed;
4. Specific as to the individuals or institutions to whom the individual is authorizing the information to be disclosed;
5. Specific as to the purpose for which the information may be used by any of the parties named at the time of the disclosure; and
6. Specific as to the expiration date of the disclosure agreement, which shall be for a reasonable period of time.
Gannon shall not disclose personally identifiable information about an individual from official records without explicit authorization of such individual except in the following circumstances:

1. In response to a request to provide or verify information designated by Gannon University as directory information, which should not include more than: the fact of past or present employment; dates of employment; title or position; other public information which is already published in University or community telephone directories or University Catalogs.

2. In response to a request by a properly identified law enforcement authority to provide an individual's dates of attendance at work and home address.

3. To protect the legal interests of Gannon University when this institution believes the actions of the individual violate the conditions of employment or otherwise threaten physical injury to the property of this institution or of others.

4. To a law enforcement authority when Gannon University reasonably believes that an applicant, employee, or former employee may have engaged in illegal activities.

5. Pursuant to a federal, state, or local government statute or regulation that specifically requires disclosure of certain information to certain parties.

6. To an agent or contractor of the institution, provided that only such information is disclosed as is necessary for such agent or contractor to perform its function for the institution, and that the agent or contractor is prohibited from releasing the information.

7. In response to a lawfully issued administrative summons or judicial order including a search warrant or subpoena.

8. In compelling circumstances affecting the immediate health or safety of the individual.

Gannon takes reasonable precautions to protect the confidentiality of employee records while providing information to creditors and banks only with explicit authorization from the respective faculty or staff member. The Human Resources Department will verify information that a faculty or staff member has supplied to a creditor only when the creditor produces a copy of the signed release.
3.3.4.1.0.0.0 Workers' Compensation

Workers' Compensation provides for partial replacement of income in cases of work-related injuries or illnesses and the payment of authorized medical expenses. All faculty and staff members employed by the University are covered.

If a faculty or staff member suffers a work-related injury, they should notify their department chair or immediate supervisor and seek medical treatment with one of the health care providers listed on the University's designated panel of physicians. The panel of physicians is available on the Human Resources web site. If faced with an extreme medical emergency, immediate treatment may be sought from a hospital, physician, or other health care provider of their choice. Subsequent treatment during the first 90 days from the date of this first visit, however, must be obtained from a physician or other health care provider listed on the University's Designated Panel of Physicians.

Gannon will pay the faculty or staff member for the balance of the workday on which a work-related injury is sustained if the employee is absent due to medical treatment sought for the injury.

The Workers' Compensation insurer will begin to replace lost wages after the eighth consecutive day of absence. If a faculty or staff member is off work for 14 consecutive calendar days, that person will receive retroactive payment for lost wages due to the first seven days missed.

Faculty and staff members should contact the Human Resources Department as soon as possible, whether in person or by phone, to report the injury and complete the appropriate paperwork.
Updating Records

Faculty and staff members are to notify the Human Resources Department of any changes in personal or professional status. This is particularly important in order to assure uninterrupted services under the benefit plans and provide proper acknowledgement of professional standing. Address and telephone changes should be known in case of illness or emergency. Changes in the following should be reported to the Human Resources Department:

1. Name;
2. Home address;
3. Home telephone number;
4. Designated emergency phone number;
5. Social security number correction;
6. Marital status;
7. Dependents;
8. When a dependent reaches age 19;
9. Beneficiary designations;
10. Military status;
11. Educational status; and
12. Additional training, courses, or experience.

Changes in marital or dependent status which affect health, dental, and life insurances must be made as soon as possible, but no later than 30 days from the date of the change. Failure to comply may affect insurance coverage.
3.4 Employee Grievance Policy

3.4.1.0.0.0.0 Definition of Grievance

Revision Date: 1/26/2009 Approval Date: 1/26/2009 Current Version

The University Review Council shall provide opportunities for any member of the Gannon University community to have actions affecting that person’s status at the University or that person's rights, as defined by that person's appointment notice and/or employment relationship, and/or the policies approved by the Board of Trustees as set forth in the Institutional Policy Manual, considered by an appropriate Review Committee.

Grievances of a like nature may be combined by the Executive Review Committee of the University Review Council.
The Chair of the University Review Committee will also serve as Ex-officio Chair of the Executive Committee.

Responsibilities of the Executive Committee of the University Review Council:

1. Consider all written grievances together with any supporting evidence and make a determination of the following:
   a. If a prima facia case exists;
   b. To ensure that appropriate procedures are followed.

2. If a prima facia case exists, inform the parties that the procedures set forth below will be followed.

3. Advise the President and Vice President for Academic Affairs in writing when, in the opinion of the Executive Committee, policies or procedures of the University should be reviewed for possible clarifications, revisions, alterations and or editing.

4. Manage the selection of the Chair of the University Review Council in late March of the third year of the current Chair's term.
3.4.3.0.0.0 Dispute Review Process

Revision Date: 1/26/2009    Approval Date: 1/26/2009    Current Version

Whenever a member of the University community requests a review of a complaint or dispute relating to the University, the following procedure shall take place:
3.4.3.1.0.0.0 Written and Time Requirements

A written statement of the grievance, as defined by Section 3.4.1 Definition of Grievance, is presented to the Chair of the University Review Council, which must contain a brief but specific description of the complaint and the remedy requested. Only matters contained in the written statement of grievance will be considered. The written statement must be presented to the Chair of the University Review Council within thirty calendar days of the action which gave rise to the grievance. A colleague may file a grievance later than thirty calendar days provided the grievant proves that the grievant had no notice, knowledge, or reason to believe that the action the individual is grieving occurred. The decision of the Executive Committee of the University Review Council regarding timeliness cannot be appealed.
3.4.3.2.0.0.0 Informal Resolution

Within fifteen calendar days after receiving the written statement of grievance, the Executive Committee of the University Review Council shall study the issue and ascertain whether the grievance issue is one that is appropriate for the University Review Council process.

The Executive Committee, when deemed suitable by the Executive Committee and agreeable by the parties to the grievance, will explore and foster attempts to settle the grievance by informal methods. In the course of doing this, the Executive Committee will collect pertinent documents and will conduct informal discussions among the concerned parties, at all times preserving the confidentiality of the proceedings.

If the Executive Committee believes that a procedural error or failure to give adequate consideration has given rise to the grievance, it may request reconsideration by the deciding person or persons, indicating the possible procedural error or possible failure to give adequate consideration that may have occurred.

Settlements between parties at this informal level shall not constitute precedent. Rather, they are only applicable to the current settlement between the parties.

The grievant shall inform the Executive Committee in writing, within fifteen calendar days from the date of the commencement of informal mediation, whether the grievance has been resolved, or that it should be reviewed by a Hearing Committee according to the University Dispute Resolution procedure.
3.4.3.0.0.0 Formal Resolution

Revision Date: 1/26/2009   Approval Date: 1/26/2009   Current Version

Within seven calendar days of the receipt of such a request for review, the University Review Council Chair shall send a copy of the grievant’s letter to the person named in the grievance and the respective vice president of that person's division.

The Executive Committee of the University Review Council shall appoint the Hearing Committee in accordance with the following guidelines.

Within fifteen calendar days after being notified that the grievance has not been settled, the Executive Committee of the University Review Council shall appoint three members of the University Review Council to serve on the Hearing Committee. In selecting members of a Hearing Committee, care shall be taken not to include persons directly involved in the matter under consideration.

All parties will be informed of the appointments. If a party has a serious reservation regarding any appointee by the Executive Committee, they may petition the Chair who will take this matter under advisement.

Within seven calendar days of being informed of the appointments, the grievant will select one individual to be added to the Hearing Committee. Concurrently, the respondent and the respondent’s respective vice president will select one individual to be added to the Hearing Committee. Any individual in the Gannon Community may be appointed to the Hearing Committee by the parties except members of the President's Council, the President's Staff, Provost Council and the Director of Human Resources.

If the grievance is from a faculty member regarding any of the seven matters listed below, the Executive Committee may only select tenured members of the University Review Council to serve on the Hearing Committee.

1. Academic Freedom;
2. Denial of Tenure;
3. Dismissal;
4. Non-reappointment;
5. Suspension or Reassignment;
6. Layoff; or

If the term of the Hearing Committee member on the University Review Council should expire before the review process is complete, that person shall remain on the Hearing Committee, but that person's seat on the Council shall be filled by election at the appropriate time.

Within fifteen calendar days after the Committee is constituted, the Chair of the University Review Council shall convene a meeting with the members of the Hearing Committee. At that meeting, the Chair of the University Review Council shall distribute copies of all pertinent material to the members, and the members shall elect one of the Hearing Committee members to act as Committee Chair for the duration of the review process.
3.4.3.4.0.0.0 Formal Hearing Procedures

Revision Date: 1/26/2009   Approval Date: 1/26/2009   Current Version

The formal hearing will be conducted in private and the parties will make no public statements about the case during the course of the hearing.

The Chair of the Hearing Committee will conduct all meetings and hearings deemed necessary by the Hearing Committee to resolve the grievance. The grievant may have an academic advisor present only to provide advice to the grievant. Such an advisor may not address the Hearing Committee without the permission of the Chair.

All parties to the grievance will have the right to obtain witnesses and present evidence.

All parties will cooperate with the Hearing Committee in securing witnesses and making available documentary and other evidence requested by the parties if deemed relevant, appropriate, and necessary by the Hearing Committee. Witnesses must appear in person or, if unavailable, by electronic means. All parties will have the right to cross-examine witnesses. The Hearing Committee will grant appropriate continuances to enable either party to investigate evidence or for any other appropriate reason.

The Hearing Committee will make a demonstrated effort to ensure fairness and balance in the presentation of evidence, allowing parties the opportunity to be heard.
3.4.3.5.0.0.0 Burden of Proof

Revision Date: 1/26/2009   Approval Date: 1/26/2009   Current Version

The burden of proof rests with the grievant. The grievant in order to prevail, must prove that it is more likely than not that the allegations stated in the grievance are supported by the evidence.
3.4.3.6.0.0.0 Record of Hearing

Revision Date: 1/26/2009    Approval Date: 1/26/2009    Current Version

The formal hearing shall be recorded and transcribed by a court reporter and made available to the Hearing Committee. The costs of this recording shall be borne by the University. Copies or transcripts of the record shall be provided at the expense of the party(ies) requesting it.
The recommendation of the Hearing Committee must be based on the testimony and evidence presented in the hearings and must state clearly whether the action or inaction of the University which gave rise to the dispute violated any specific policy of the University.

The Hearing Committee will present its recommendation, in writing, to all parties, the Chair of the University Review Council, the grievant's respective divisional vice president, and the President of the University within seven calendar days of the receipt of a transcript of the formal hearing. This concludes the work of the Hearing Committee.

The recommendations of the Hearing Committee, may either be accepted by both parties or rejected by either party. Rejection or acceptance by each party will be communicated in writing to the Hearing Committee Chair, with a copy to the President of the University, within seven calendar days of receipt of the recommendation of the Hearing Committee.
3.4.4.0.0.0 Appeals

Except when the President is a direct party to the grievance, the grievant(s) may, within ten calendar days of receipt of the recommendation of the Hearing Committee, or as otherwise provided in this Section 3.4, file a written appeal to the President of the University, who shall review the record and respond in writing to the parties within ten calendar days as to the final disposition of the grievance within the University. The decision of the President of the University is final, except as provided in paragraph 3.4.4.1 below.
If the President of the University is a direct party to the grievance, the grievant(s) may file an appeal, within ten calendar days of the receipt of the recommendation of the Hearing Committee. Such an appeal is filed with the Chair of the Board of Trustees. The Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees will then review the record of the case at its next meeting and will render a final written decision on the grievance within ten calendar days of that meeting to all parties. In case of any discussion over Presidential involvement, the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees shall be the sole judge of such involvement. The decision of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees is final.
3.4.5.0.0.0 General Provisions

Revision Date: 1/26/2009   Approval Date: 1/26/2009   Current Version

The filing or pending status of any grievance under the provisions of Subsection 3.4.3 shall not prevent the University from taking the action complained of, subject, however, to a final decision regarding the grievance.

Failure at any step of this procedure to communicate the decision regarding the grievance within the specified time limits or such additional period of time, as shall be mutually agreed upon in writing, shall permit the grievant to proceed to the next step.

3.6.3.7.1.0.0 Family and Medical Leave

Revision Date: 1/26/2009   Approval Date: 1/26/2009   Current Version

The Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) of 1993 guarantees eligible faculty and staff members the right to take job-protected, unpaid leave for up to 12 workweeks in any 12-month period of time.
The 12-month period for available leave will be calculated by measuring forward from the date leave begins. This is referred to as the "rolling" method of calculation.

Time off certified during the 12-month period immediately preceding the date of a new leave request will be subtracted from the eligible 12 workweeks in order to determine the balance of time available for the new leave. Colleagues will be advised when requesting leave of the amount of FMLA leave available.
3.6.3.7.1.2.0 Eligible Employees

Eligible employees include faculty and staff members with at least twelve months of service and who are credited with having worked at least 1250 hours during the preceding 12 consecutive months.

Faculty and staff members who are designated as eligible under the FMLA may be certified to take a personal medical leave or a family leave for the following reasons:

1. The birth of a son or daughter within the first year of the child's life;
2. The adoption or acceptance of a foster child if within 12 months of placement;
3. To care for a spouse, a son or daughter under 18 years (or older if disabled), or a parent of the employee who has a serious health condition;
4. A serious health condition that makes the employee unable to perform the functions of the employee's position.

When both spouses are employed by the University, the following applies:

1. For the birth, adoption, or placement of a foster child, the aggregate number of workweeks of leave to which the couple is entitled is one 12 week limit.
2. For the care of a spouse, child, or parent with a serious health condition, each employed spouse is entitled to a separate 12 week limit.

The FMLA defines a son or daughter as follows: biological, adopted or foster child, stepchild, legal ward, child of person standing in loco parentis, under the age of 18. Coverage applies to a son or daughter over the age of 18 if the child is incapable of self-care because of mental or physical disability.
Family leave may be taken intermittently or on a reduced leave schedule when certified as medically necessary. Certification is required to substantiate medical necessity and that the leave must be taken in this manner.

Time off for the father following the birth of a child cannot be taken intermittently. Time off following the adoption of a child cannot be taken intermittently.

In a case where both spouses are employed by the University, the aggregate number of workweeks of leave to which the couple is entitled will be limited to 12 workweeks if the leave is due to the birth or adoption/foster care placement of a child. For the care of a spouse, child or parent with a serious health condition, each employed spouse is entitled to a separate 12 week limit.

Based on planned medical treatment where a reduced work schedule or intermittent leave is foreseeable, the University reserves the right to temporarily transfer the faculty or staff member to a comparable position that better accommodates the recurring period of leave. This decision will be made by the faculty or staff member's respective vice president in conjunction with the appropriate dean or director, and subsequently communicated to the faculty or staff member in writing.

Time off based on a reduced work schedule or intermittent leave will be treated in the same manner as absences under the FMLA. Such absences will be applied against the maximum leave permitted under the FMLA policy.
3.6.3.7.1.4.0 Requesting a Family and Medical Leave

Revision Date: 1/26/2009   Approval Date: 1/26/2009   Current Version

A faculty or staff member is required to have the attending physician complete a Certification of Health Care Provider form in order to qualify as eligible for Medical Leave or Family Leave under the FMLA.

Forms are available in the Human Resources Department and must be returned to Human Resources within 15 days of the date of receipt of the said forms. Deans, directors, and supervisors will be advised by Human Resources of the receipt of the medical information and the expected duration of the leave. Personal health information received by the Human Resources Department will not be shared by the Human Resources Department with deans, directors, or supervisors.

Failure to provide notification and appropriate medical certification on a timely basis may result in delayed approval or denial of the request. In all cases of a serious health condition, the University reserves the right, at its own expense, to request a second medical opinion.

In the event that leave is foreseeable, the faculty or staff member is responsible for notifying a dean, director, or supervisor and the Human Resources Department at least 30 days in advance of when the leave is scheduled to be taken. The faculty or staff member is also expected to make a reasonable effort to schedule the treatment so as not to unduly disrupt University operations.

In the event that leave is not foreseeable, the faculty or staff member is responsible for notifying a dean, director, or supervisor and the Human Resources Department as soon as possible and practicable.

Faculty or staff members on leave are required to maintain contact with the Human Resources Department on a weekly basis regarding progress of recovery and intent to return, unless otherwise arranged.
Benefits in effect at the onset of an approved Family and Medical Leave will continue provided that the faculty or staff member maintains status within a covered classification and makes any required contributions.

If the leave is a paid leave, appropriate insurance deductions and/or retirement contributions will continue to be made from the faculty or staff member's pay.

If the leave is unpaid or becomes unpaid, prior arrangements for payment of deductions must be made through the Human Resources Department. Contributions to the retirement plan cease once the leave becomes unpaid.

Holiday pay that occurs during a certified leave will be granted whether the leave is paid or unpaid.

Other benefits normally provided to a faculty or staff member, including tuition remission and parking, remain in effect subject to the provisions of the applicable plan.

Faculty and staff members will continue to accrue vacation and/or paid sick leave while on a certified leave.

In the event that a faculty or staff member fails to return from a certified leave, the faculty or staff member will be liable for the premiums paid by the University in order to maintain insurance coverage unless:

1. The failure to return to work stems from the continuation, recurrence, or onset of a serious health condition of the faculty or staff member or a family member; or

2. The failure to return stems from the circumstances beyond the control of the faculty or staff member.
3.6.3.7.1.6.0 Returning from Family and Medical Leave

Revision Date: 1/26/2009  Approval Date: 1/26/2009  Current Version

The FMLA provides certain guarantees to faculty and staff members who are covered by the act. These guarantees include the right to return from a Family Leave or a Medical Leave to the same position.

Faculty or staff members on leave are required to contact the Human Resources Department five business days prior to returning to work. In the event that leave was due to personal illness, faculty and staff members are also required to provide a medical release statement from the attending physician certifying full release or outlining any applicable restrictions with regard to the returning to work. The medical release should be forwarded to the Human Resources Department.

Failure to return to work on the day after the expiration of leave may be considered a voluntary resignation. However, nothing stated in Volume III regarding the FMLA will reduce the benefits or privileges as described in Volume IV for faculty and Volume V for staff.
3.6.3.7.2.0.0 Paid Sick Time

Revision Date: 10/25/2017  Approval Date: 10/25/2017  Current Version

Paid sick time provides income to faculty and staff members who are members of a covered classification. Faculty and staff members who have completed their 90-day introductory periods are eligible to make use of paid sick time as indicated below. The amount of paid sick time that is accrued is determined by the colleague's classification as exempt or non-exempt as well as length of service.

1. Exempt: All full-time faculty members on tenure track, tenured, or notice appointments, and administrative staff.

2. Non-Exempt: All other employees are classified as non-exempt. Covered classifications include the following positions: tenured, tenure-track, notice faculty positions, part-time faculty; regular staff positions budgeted for 20 or more hours a week for either ten or more months. Positions classified as full-time temporary are not covered classifications regardless of the length of the temporary assignment. Paid sick leave is prorated for part-time faculty and staff. Staff should refer to Volume V, paragraph 5.5.4.3 Utilization and Reporting of Sick Time regarding utilization and reporting of sick time.
3.6.3.7.2.1.0 Schedule of Paid Sick Time

Faculty, administrative staff, and professional technicians do not accrue a specific number of sick days per year. Rather, it is the policy of the University to pay these employees for occasional days missed due to illness. Furthermore, they are eligible for full salary continuation during a medical leave due to a personal serious health condition when certified by the attending physician in accordance with the following schedule:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Length of Service</th>
<th>Maximum Salary Continuation</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>3 months but less than 1 year</td>
<td>1 month</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1 year but less than 2 years</td>
<td>2 months</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2 years but less than 3 years</td>
<td>3 months</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3 years but less than 4 years</td>
<td>4 months</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4 years but less than 5 years</td>
<td>5 months</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5 or more years</td>
<td>6 months</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

All non-exempt staff members (other than professional technicians) accrue sick time in units of whole days. Sick time provides pay for occasional days missed due to illness. In the event of a medical leave due to a serious personal health condition as certified by the attending physician, non-exempt staff members are paid from their accrued sick days. Sick days accrue according to the chart below:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Years of Service</th>
<th>Monthly Sick Day Accrual</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>0 to less than 5 years</td>
<td>1.0 day</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5 to less than 10 years</td>
<td>1.5 days</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Over 10 years</td>
<td>2.0 days</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Non-exempt staff members may accumulate up to 120 days of sick time. One day of sick time is equal to the staff member's average scheduled workday.

120 days of sick time = Up to 900 hours when scheduled on a 37.5-hour workweek
120 days of sick time = Up to 960 hours when scheduled on a 40-hour workweek

Faculty and staff members must use accrued salary continuation or sick time at the beginning of a personal medical leave covered under the FMLA. If salary continuation or sick time becomes exhausted before the end of a medical leave covered under the FMLA, unused floating holidays and unused accrued vacation will be applied.
Faculty and staff members must use salary continuation or accrued sick leave at the beginning of a family leave covered under the FMLA in accordance with the schedule below when the reason for leave is due to the serious health condition of the family member:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Completed Years of Service</th>
<th>Amount of Accrued Paid Sick Time per 12-Month &quot;Rolling&quot; Period</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1 to 5 years</td>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>11 to 15 years</td>
<td>15 days</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>16 years and over</td>
<td>20 days</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The period of paid leave will run concurrently with the period of unpaid leave time available under this policy.
3.6.3.7.3.0.0 Extended Medical Leave

Revision Date: 1/26/2009   Approval Date: 1/26/2009   Current Version

If a faculty or staff member who is a member of a covered classification exhausts the leave provisions under the FMLA that person may apply for an Extended Medical Leave. The standard leave request form must be completed and a statement from the attending physician must certify that the faculty or staff member has a serious health condition. The length of this leave will be no longer than 180 consecutive calendar days from the date of the onset of the illness.
3.6.3.7.3.1.0 Covered Classifications

Revision Date: 1/26/2009   Approval Date: 1/26/2009   Current Version

All full-time tenured, tenure-track, or notice faculty positions with one year of service since the most recent date of hire; regular staff positions budgeted for 37.5 or more hours a week for either ten or twelve months with one year of service since the most recent date of hire. Positions classified as full-time or part-time temporary status are not covered classifications regardless of the length of the temporary assignment.
An extended medical leave is either paid or unpaid as described below:

1. Paid Extended Medical Leave: When a faculty or staff member has salary continuation, accrued sick time, unused floating holidays, or unused accrued vacation that may be applied to the leave, the leave is paid by charging that person's time off benefits in the order described herein.

2. Unpaid Extended Medical Leave: When a faculty or staff member has exhausted all salary continuation, accrued sick time, unused floating holidays, or unused accrued vacation prior to completion of the medical leave, that portion of the leave is considered unpaid.

Benefits in effect at the onset of an approved paid medical leave remain in effect provided that required contributions continue to be deducted from each pay. Holiday pay is granted for holidays falling within a paid extended medical leave but is not granted for holidays falling within an unpaid extended medical leave.

If the leave is unpaid, prior arrangements for benefit contributions, excluding the retirement plan, must be made through the Human Resources Department. Contributions to the retirement plan cease once the leave becomes unpaid.

Other Benefits: Other benefits normally provided to a faculty or staff member, including tuition remission and parking, remain in effect only if permitted by the applicable plan benefits and provided that the staff member makes any normally required benefit contribution.

Accrual Rates for Benefits: Faculty and staff members continue to accrue salary continuation, sick leave, and vacation respectively while on an approved medical leave.
3.6.3.7.3.0 Requesting an Extended Medical Leave

Revision Date: 1/27/2009    Approval Date: 1/27/2009    Current Version

Faculty or staff members are required to have the attending physician complete a Certification of Health Care Provider form to substantiate the serious health condition outlining the extent to which the faculty or staff member is unable to perform normal employee functions. Personal health information received by the Human Resources Department will be held strictly confidential and will not be shared by the Human Resources Department with deans, directors, or supervisors.

Forms are available in the Human Resources Department and must be returned to Human Resources within 15 days of the date of receipt of the said forms. Deans, directors, and supervisors will be advised by Human Resources of the receipt of the medical information and the expected duration of the leave.

Failure to provide notification and appropriate medical certification on a timely basis may result in delayed approval or denial of the request. In all cases of a serious health condition, the University reserves the right, at its own expense, to request a second medical opinion.

Faculty or staff members on leave are required to maintain contact with the Human Resources Department on a weekly basis regarding progress of recovery and intent to return, unless otherwise arranged.
3.6.3.7.3.4.0 Return from Extended Medical Leave faculty or staff members on an approved medical leave are required to contact the Human Resources Department five business days before the date of returning to work. A medical release from the attending physician must be submitted to the Human Resources Department, outlining full release or any work restrictions that might apply. If work restrictions apply, a second medical release is required when release to normal duty is unrestricted.

In the event that a faculty or staff member fails to return from an extended medical leave, the faculty or staff member will be liable for any premiums paid by the University in order to maintain insurance coverage unless:

1. The failure to return to work stems from the continuation, recurrence, or onset of a serious health condition of the faculty or staff member or a family member; or

2. The failure to return stems from the circumstances beyond the control of faculty or the staff member.

Failure to return to work on the day after the expiration of leave may be considered a voluntary resignation. However, nothing stated in Volume III regarding Extended Medical Leave will reduce the benefits or privileges as described in Volume IV for faculty and Volume V for staff.
Subject to the plan provisions, Gannon provides Long Term Disability Insurance (LTD) to all faculty and staff members of a covered classification and have completed 90 days of continuous active employment.

Covered classifications include the following positions: full-time tenured, tenure-track, or notice faculty positions; full-time regular staff positions budgeted for 37.5 or more hours a week for either ten or more months. All other positions classified as full-time temporary are not covered classifications.

A faculty or staff member unable to return to work at the end of an Extended Medical Leave shall apply for LTD benefits subject to the provisions set forth in the LTD insurance plan. A physician's statement certifying the disability and completion of the insurance company's application are required. The insurance plan pays 60% of a faculty or staff member's base salary (subject to certain offsets). The Human Resources Department will provide assistance with the application process.
3.6.3.8.1.0.0 Benefits

Revision Date: 1/26/2009    Approval Date: 1/26/2009    Current Version

If the faculty or staff member is a participant in the University's retirement plan, the LTD plan will make a contribution into their retirement account equal to the sum of University's and participant's contributions subject to the LTD plan provisions.

Tuition remission continues for eligible spouses and dependents of disabled faculty and staff members in accordance with provisions of the Tuition Remission Policy.

Faculty and staff members may continue to enjoy the following: discounts at the bookstore and the University's dining facilities; Schuster Gallery Shows and Schuster Theatre Events; use of Nash Library; and use of the Carneval Athletic Pavilion.

Gannon University reserves the right to amend or terminate any of its policies described herein.
3.6.3.8.2.0.0 Return from Long Term Disability Leave

Faculty or staff members on LTD leave are required to contact the Human Resources Department in the event their personal health condition improves to the point that it is possible to consider returning to work. They would be required to provide the Human Resources Department with a medical release from their physician certifying that they are able assume the full duties of their position or outlining any restrictions that apply with regard to returning to work.

Failure to return to work on the day after the expiration of leave may be considered a voluntary resignation. However, nothing stated in Volume III regarding LTD leave will reduce the benefits or privileges described in Volume IV for faculty and Volume V for staff.

4.0 General Statement

Volume IV of this Policy Manual contains the approved policies and procedures of the University concerning the terms and conditions of faculty employment at the University. Volume IV is incorporated by reference into the individual Faculty Appointment Notices of each faculty member. Where the terms and provisions of an individual appointment notice of a faculty member are inconsistent with the general policies contained herein, the provisions of the individual appointment notice shall control. Otherwise, the provisions of this Volume will remain in effect until changed by the procedures contained in this Volume. Should there be any misapplication, misinterpretation, or violation of specific provisions in this Volume, the faculty member involved should report the circumstance to the Dean of the appropriate college.

The administrative or assigned staff responsibilities of faculty members are specified in the individual appointment notices of such faculty members.

While authority to change policy ultimately resides with the Board of Trustees, recommendations for change are invited from all persons involved. Persons seeking to amend a portion of this Volume IV should work through the appropriate committee or administrator.

With the exception of personnel policies and employment benefits, other institutional policy changes can be written to become effective immediately following approval by the President and/or Board of Trustees as required by the Board Bylaws, and then published. See Section 4.16 Revision of this Volume IV for other revision policies and procedures.
4.1 Definition of Faculty, Faculty Rank, and Faculty Titles
4.1.1 Definition of Faculty

The faculty comprises all the persons having appointment for the instruction of students, as well as those persons who are appointed to the University with faculty status in order to reflect potential or actual instructional capacity (i.e., librarians, learning resources faculty, and professional staff). The faculty of the University shall consist of four distinct groups:

1. Ranked full-time faculty;
2. Pro-rata faculty;
3. Adjunct or per-unit faculty; and
4. Special appointment faculty.
4.1.2 Ranked Faculty

The titles Professor/Teaching Professor, Associate Professor/Associate Teaching Professor, Assistant Professor/Assistant Teaching Professor, or Instructor indicate full-time or pro-rata appointments to the instructional faculty. In accordance with the University's standards, the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience and the President award initial ranking at the time of employment. Rank from other accredited institutions of higher education will be considered by the University when offering a letter of appointment. Should an individual not have held rank previously, an initial appointment at the rank of Associate or Full Professor will be made only after consultation with the University Rank, Tenure and Academic Freedom Committee and after evidence has been given that the new faculty member would meet the standards required by the Committee for promotion of incumbent faculty members.

Thereafter, faculty may apply for promotion in rank through formal application process set forth in Section 4.6.
4.1.2.1.0.0.0 Full-Time Faculty Members

A full-time faculty member is an employee of the University pursuant to a Term, Notice, or Continuous Appointment (see Section 4.2 Policies Pertaining to Faculty Appointments), who is qualified for appointment to one of the academic ranks listed above, and ordinarily has full-time teaching duties or has teaching and other duties (e.g., research, academic administration, counseling, library duties) under the authority of the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience, equivalent to a full-time teaching load and fulfills the duties and responsibilities of a faculty member.
A pro-rata faculty member is an employee of the University with a position of half-time or more, but not full time, pursuant to a term appointment (see Section 4.2 Policies Pertaining to Faculty Appointments), who is qualified for appointment to one of the academic ranks listed above, and teaches at least half-time or more but not full-time on a year-to-year basis. They have, on a pro-rata basis, responsibilities for advising, serving on committees and all other responsibilities of full-time faculty members. Full-time faculty members may request pro-rata status from the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience who may approve such status.
Adjunct Faculty Members (Per-Unit Faculty)

Adjunct Faculty Members are employed pursuant to term appointments (see Subsection 4.2.2 Term Appointments) and carry the rank of lecturer. Such faculty usually have no other faculty duties or responsibilities (i.e., committee obligations, advisement), except for those specified by their department or school. They do not accrue time towards sabbatical. Adjunct ranking for per-unit faculty will not determine rank should a full-time or pro rata employment appointment be offered.
Clinical Educators

Clinical educators include persons who are associated with the University, receive no compensation or employee benefits directly from the University, and assist in the instructional program of the College on a part-time basis on or off campus.
4.1.3 Criteria for Faculty Rank

4.1.3.1.0.0.0 Instructor

An Instructor is a faculty member who, at the time of that instructor’s appointment, does not meet the requirements for higher rank or who is hired on a tenure track or teaching track status to teach a full-time course load. Length of appointment is one year with potential for renewal.
An Assistant Professor is a faculty member who holds the recognized terminal degree appropriate to that person's discipline and position of appointment or provides evidence of having nearly completed the terminal degree.
4.1.3.3.0.0.0  Assistant Teaching Professor

An Assistant Teaching Professor is a faculty member who holds the recognized degree appropriate to that person's discipline and position of appointment. An Assistant Teaching Professor must have a minimum of three years of satisfactory service as an Instructor at Gannon University or at another college or university.
4.1.3.4.0.0.0  Associate Professor

An Associate Professor is a faculty member who holds the recognized terminal degree appropriate to that person's discipline and position of appointment and has a minimum of four years of satisfactory service as a full-time faculty member at the rank of Assistant Professor at Gannon University or at another college or university.
4.1.3.5.0.0.0  Associate Teaching Professor

An Associate Teaching Professor is a faculty member who holds the recognized degree appropriate to that person's discipline and position of appointment and has a minimum of five years of satisfactory service as a full-time member at the rank of Assistant Teaching Professor or Assistant Professor at Gannon University or at another college or university.
4.1.3.6.0.0.0  Professor

A Professor is a faculty member who holds the recognized terminal degree appropriate to that person's discipline and position of appointment and has a minimum of four years of satisfactory service as a faculty member at the rank of Associate Professor at Gannon University or at another college or university.
4.1.3.7.0.0.0  Teaching Professor

A Teaching Professor is a faculty member who holds the recognized terminal degree appropriate to that person's discipline and position of appointment and has a minimum of five years of satisfactory service as a faculty member at the rank of Associate Teaching Professor or Associate Professor at Gannon University or at another college or university.
4.1.3.8.0.0.0  Appropriate Terminal Degree

The appropriate terminal degree shall be an earned doctoral degree or terminal degree as defined by the accrediting body of the faculty member's program or discipline or, if none, by the appropriate professional association for the faculty member's discipline on the date the faculty member's terminal degree status is relevant, e.g., date of hire, time of application to promotion in rank, and/or time of application for tenure. See Section 4.17.1 Appendix: Acceptable Terminal Degrees for Disciplines for a listing of terminal degrees normally accepted by the different disciplines for promotion in rank and tenure applications.
4.1.4 Special Appointment Faculty

4.1.4.1.0.0.0 Artist/Writer/Scholar-in-Residence

The university may appoint artists, writers, scholars, and other distinguished individuals to the special faculty status of artist/writer/scholar-in-residence. Such appointments are awarded for a specific period of time and may be full-time, pro-rata or per unit depending upon the needs of the university. They are appointed by the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience after consultation with the respective dean of the applicable college.
4.1.4.2.0.0.0 Replacement Faculty

The university may appoint a replacement faculty member to full-time, pro-rata or per unit status for a specific period of time. Time served under full-time or pro-rata replacement term appointment does not count towards promotion or sabbatical leave unless so indicated by the dean of the appropriate program or college and the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience at the time of hire or at the time of conversion to a regular appointment.
4.1.4.3.0.0.0 Emeritus Faculty

The title of professor/teaching professor emeritus, associate professor/associate teaching professor emeritus, or librarian emeritus is an honor based on the career contributions of the candidate throughout their tenure at Gannon University. This includes a combination of excellence in teaching, advising, scholarship, collegiality, and service to the university, their profession, and community. The appointment of the title “Emeritus” is limited to those who have held a minimum of 15 years of continuous employment. The awarding of emeritus status is a recognition— and is not a promotion nor salaried appointment. Emeritus is an honorary title for Professors/Teaching Professor, Associate Professors/Associate Teaching Professors, and Librarians who have demonstrated an exemplar record throughout their employment.

Eligibility

To be eligible for Emeritus status, individuals must meet the following eligibility criteria:

- Hold a full-time academic appointment as a Teaching Professor/Associate Teaching Professor, Librarian, or tenured Professor/Associate Professor prior to their retirement.
- Must have a minimum of 15 years of continual exemplary employment within the university.

Applications for emeritus status must be completed within two years following retirement from full-time employment for consideration. Service as part-time faculty post-retirement does not extend the clock.

Process

The application for Emeritus status is completed anytime following their formal announcement of retirement or up to 2 years from their date of retirement. The application must be submitted by 11:59pm on May 31 in the year of consideration. Submission details are provided on the Faculty Senate website. The Faculty Emeritus Review Committee will meet and review all applications for completeness and thoroughness. Recommendations for all applicants will be sent to the university Provost by October 31st. The Provost will review all applications and recommendations and report their decision for the title of Emeritus to the university President. Upon approval of both the Provost and President, applicants will be notified of the decision by March 30th by the President’s Office.

Faculty Emeritus Review Committee

The Faculty Emeritus Review Committee will have one representative from each college that is appointed by Faculty Senate to serve a consecutive 3-year term. The Faculty Emeritus Review Committee will operate under the jurisdiction of the Faculty Senate who will appoint one senate representative from its membership to chair the committee. The sole function of this committee is to provide recommendations to the Provost for the attainment of Emeritus status.

Emeritus Recognition

Notification and Presentation of Emeritus Status

A letter of achievement of the title Emeritus will be sent by the President to each individual awarded Emeritus Status. Each awardee will be honored and presented a certificate at the annual Faculty Awards Ceremony.

Applicants who are not considered for the Emeritus title will be personally notified by the Provost (refer to reconsideration).

The titles, upon award of emeritus status, will be based on the rank achieved at the time of retirement:

- Emeritus Professor
- Emeritus Associate Professor
- Emeritus Librarian
- Emeritus Teaching Professor
- Emeritus Associate Teaching Professor

Reconsideration

Candidates whose application for Emeritus status is declined may request reconsideration in the following year from their initial application. Reapplication will be necessary following the procedures described above. A candidate can only request reconsideration once. If declined, the Provost will notify the candidate regarding the reason(s) for declining the application.

Revocation of Emeritus Status

At the discretion of the University, Emeritus Status may be revoked at any time. Without limiting such discretion, revocation may occur when it is determined that the individual’s conduct, before or after receiving the Emeritus designation, conflicts with the intent and spirit of the designation and/or causes harm to the University’s reputation/mission.

Concerns will be brought forth to the Senate Emeritus Review Committee for investigation and review. Information and concerns will be brought forth to the President of Gannon University for action.

The President of Gannon University is authorized, upon Board of Trustees’ approval, to revoke an individual’s Emeritus Status. The President shall inform the retiree of the decision. The retiree will no longer utilize the emeritus title and all rights and privileges associated with this designation will be null and void.
4.1.4.4.0.0.0  Visiting Appointments

Visiting appointments are reserved for faculty members of other institutions, professor's emeriti, and persons distinguished in their fields. A visiting faculty is appointed for a designated period of time and is projected to teach, lecture, or perform research. They are appointed by the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience after consultation with the respective dean of the applicable college.
4.1.4.5.0.0.0  Faculty Status for Professional Staff

Professional staff with faculty status are those full- or pro-rata personnel who function in an instructional capacity outside the classroom (e.g., some librarians and learning resources faculty), or those who perform a combination of faculty, staff, and professional duties as approved by the appropriate dean and the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience. They are subject to all responsibilities and standards of teaching performance that apply to other full-time or pro-rata faculty and receive the same academic freedom in teaching and learning situations as other faculty members. With regard to the non-academic aspects of their duties they are governed by the provisions of volume V (Personnel Policies for Administrators and Staff) of the policy manual.
4.2 Policies Pertaining to Faculty Appointments
4.2.1 Faculty Appointment Notices (Full Time)

The faculty appointment notice is the official appointment document of the university. It specifies school association, rank, remuneration, and other terms of employment effective during the appointment period.

Faculty appointment notices are approved annually by the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience of the university and are distributed to the full-time faculty in the spring prior to the relevant academic year. One copy of the appointment notice, signed by the faculty member, is to be returned to Human Resources on or before May 15.

Faculty members will be given, at the time of their initial employment and annually thereafter, an appointment notice if appropriate by the provisions of Volume IV stating in writing the following terms and conditions of their appointment to the faculty:

1. Period of appointment;
2. Academic rank;
3. Tenure status (tenured, tenure track, teaching or teaching track);
4. Salary and period of time to which the salary applies;
5. Specific responsibilities of faculty;
6. Relevant stipends or release time.

Any extensions or modifications of an appointment, any special understandings, or any notices incumbent upon either party to provide, will be stated in the appointment notice.

The appointment notice outlining these terms will normally be presented to the faculty member in writing and/or electronically on or before March 15 preceding the year to which the notice will apply.

Following such discussions between the faculty member and the University as may be necessary, the faculty member, the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience, and the Associate Vice President for Finance will sign the appointment notice and a copy of the executed notice will be given to the faculty member.

If a faculty member has not signed the appointment notice on or before May 15 the University will conclude that the faculty member does not intend to renew or continue that faculty member's appointment to university faculty.

With the exception of special appointments clearly limited to a brief association with the institution, and reappointment of retired faculty members on special conditions, full-time appointments to the rank of instructor or higher are of five kinds: (1) tenured, (2) tenure-track, (3) teaching, (4) teaching track or (5) non-tenure track/non-teaching track. Faculty members in tenure-track and teaching-track positions will be informed in writing by the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience of all matters relative to their eligibility for the application for tenure.
Tenure-track appointments may be for one year, or for other stated periods, subject to renewal. The total period of full-time service prior to the application for tenure will not exceed six years. Up to two years of service credit for a full-time appointment from another accredited institution may be requested by an applicant at the time of application for tenure. Such requests must be approved by the appropriate dean and the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience. Scholarly leave of absence for one year or less will count as part of the tenure-track period, unless the individual and the University agree in writing to an exception to this provision at the time the leave is granted.

The faculty member will be advised, at the time of initial appointment, of the substantive standards and procedures generally employed in decisions affecting renewal and tenure by the appropriate Dean. The faculty member will be advised of the time when a decision affecting renewal or tenure is to be made and will be given the opportunity to submit material believed to be helpful to an adequate consideration of the circumstances.

When a decision not to renew a faculty appointment has been reached, the faculty member will be informed of that decision in writing. The faculty member may request the reasons that contributed to that decision and may appeal this decision.
4.2.2 Term Appointments

Term appointments at the university are given to adjunct and special appointment faculty members and are limited to the term of employment outlined in the letter of appointment. Term appointments do not assure continued employment after the term specified in the notice expires.

Term appointments may also be offered to full-time and adjunct faculty in special circumstances, such as summer session appointments, one-semester replacements for faculty on leave, or short-term academic needs.
4.2.3 Appointment Notice: Non-Tenure/Teaching Track (NTT)
A non-tenure/teaching track (NTT) faculty member is a full time employee of the University. Teaching Track faculty are required to engage in teaching and advising or librarianship, professional development, and service to the department, college, university, profession and community. Teaching track faculty may be considered for rank within the teaching track structure and completion of a rank package inclusive of Instructional Activities, Professional Development, and Service.

Scholarship is not a requirement of this faculty. The reasons for inclusion of faculty in this category include, but are not limited to, one or more of the following:

A. The recognized terminal degree in the faculty member's discipline (as recognized in Section 4.17.1 of the IPM) does not include preparation for scholarship;

B. The faculty member does not have the recognized terminal degree in his or her discipline but is otherwise professionally qualified as determined by the University;

C. The faculty member has other duties, as designated by the Department Chair, College Dean, Provost and Vice President for Student Experience, and/or Accrediting Body for the faculty member's discipline, that occupy the majority of the faculty member's time;

D. The faculty member is a librarian whose duties include 40 hours per week of librarianship.
4.2.3.1.0.0.0 Annual Notice Appointments, Tenure Track

A full-time faculty member with a notice appointment may expect the appointment to be renewed unless otherwise notified pursuant to the terms of the applicable notice. A notice appointment is for a period of one academic year. Faculty appointed on a tenure track are subject to the provisions of Section 4.7 Definition of Tenure of this Volume IV of the Policy Manual. All notice appointments are subject to the Policy and Procedures found in Section 4.8, Separation, of this Policy Manual.
4.2.3.2.0.0.0  Appointment Notice, Teaching Track

An Appointment Notice is for a period of one academic year. Teaching track faculty members continuing beyond the first two years of service at Gannon (or as otherwise set forth in the Faculty Appointment Notice) may be eligible to receive a three-year teaching track notice appointment. Faculty members continuing beyond the first three-year notice will be eligible for a five-year renewable teaching notice appointment. Appointment Notices are subject to the Policy and Procedures found in Section 4.8, Separation, of this Policy Manual.

Single-Year Notice Appointments
Single-year appointments are issued by the University to teaching-track faculty at the rank of teaching instructor, assistant teaching professor, associate teaching professor, or teaching professor.

Individuals are eligible to receive a maximum of three consecutive single-year appointments. All renewals of single-year notice appointments are at the discretion of the University, based upon assessment of the faculty member’s performance, ongoing personnel needs, and the availability of funds. Single-year appointments are subject to the approval of the Provost and are issued on official appointment notice.

Three-Year Teaching Appointment
Teaching-track faculty members may obtain three-year teaching-track appointments through a successful Performance Review and recommendation of the Department Chair and Dean. Faculty may seek a three-year appointment following the successful completion of two one-year notice appointments. If denied, a faculty member may seek a third year. A three-year appointment gives the faculty member the right to the appointment for its duration unless the individual resigns, retires, or becomes permanently disabled; or is terminated for cause, medical reasons, the availability of resources, or the formal discontinuance or reduction of a degree or program area before the appointment reaches its stated expiration date.

Three-year appointments are subject to the approval of the Provost. They are contingent upon the availability of funds and needs of the academic department.

Five-Year Teaching Appointment
Recommendations for 5 year appointment contracts will be completed during the fifth year of a teaching-track faculty member’s continuous employment on single-year and three-year appointments. Individuals successfully completing the review will be awarded a five-year teaching faculty appointment while those receiving negative reviews will not be granted another appointment. In cases where teaching-track faculty has been granted years of credit for prior service, such faculty will be eligible to apply for a five-year contract no sooner than their third year and must apply no later than their sixth year of employment. Teaching faculty members serving the University on five-year appointments may seek renewal of those appointments through participation in their Performance Review process to be initiated during the fourth year of the appointment period. Faculty earning positive Performance Reviews will be granted a second five-year appointment and will be eligible to seek additional five-year appointments.

A five-year teaching-track appointment gives the faculty member the right to the appointment for its duration unless the individual resigns, retires, or becomes permanently disabled; or is terminated for cause, medical reasons, the availability of resources, or the formal discontinuance or reduction of a degree or program area before the appointment reaches its stated expiration date.

Five-year appointments are subject to the approval of the Provost.
4.2.4 Continuous Appointment/Tenured Faculty

Tenured faculty members are entitled to annual renewal of their appointments and shall be subject to the terms and conditions of employment that exist at the time of each annual renewal and are further subject to Separation Policies in Section 4.8.
4.2.5 Locus of Appointments

All faculty appointments have as the locus of their appointment the applicable school, program or department and disciplines stated in their initial or annual renewal. Dual appointments to different academic units may be granted to a faculty member. In such a case, the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience, in consultation with the faculty member and the Dean will select one academic unit as the faculty member’s primary academic unit for the purpose of this Volume IV (e.g., locus, evaluation, promotion, separation).
4.3 Guidelines for Search, Appointment, and Orientation of Faculty

Guidelines for recruiting and selecting faculty are available to the chair and the members of a search committee from the Director of Human Resources or the Human Resources web site. See also Volume III, Section 3.2 Employment Policy.
4.4 Faculty Personnel Records

Guidelines regarding personnel records may be found in Volume III, Section 3.3 Personnel Records.
4.5 Evaluation of Faculty
4.5.1 General Information Regarding Evaluation

Because faculty excellence is essential to the mission of the university, faculty performance is evaluated annually for notice renewal by the applicable college dean, school director, program director/chair or coordinator, and the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience. Faculty performance is also evaluated by the College Rank and Tenure Committee and the University Rank, Tenure, and Academic Freedom Committee in order to recommend faculty members for promotion in rank and granting of tenure. Tenure and promotion are two separate designations (See Section 4.6, Promotion Policies and Procedures, and Section 4.7, Tenure). The process of evaluation, however, is the same for each of these designations and is set forth in Section 4.5.
4.5.2 Purpose of Faculty Evaluations

Faculty evaluation assists faculty members in their performance and in the process of achieving retention, promotion and tenure. Properly conducted, faculty evaluation will enhance all academic programs because it encourages faculty members to work toward:

1. Improving the instructional program in their areas of expertise, especially through effective teaching and student advisement;
2. Assuming responsibilities within their academic unit and discipline and in the university;
3. Serving, when possible, on college and university-wide committees which aim at improving the instructional affairs of the university;
4. Performing service to the community-at-large;
5. Engaging in scholarship (tenure and tenure track).
4.5.3 Principles of Faculty Evaluations

The university's mission helps define the faculty members' roles. The university's mission in turn is defined by the faculty members' work as teachers and scholars, as colleagues, as mentors to the students, and as servants to the community. These varying roles have helped to form the several principles underlying faculty evaluation.

1. Excellent teaching and advising are required of all faculty members because the university's primary responsibility is to its students and to their academic advancement and growth.

2. Direct involvement in campus activities is required of all full-time faculty members because the collaborative nature of our educational efforts demands time spent with one another and with our students.

3. Tenure and tenure track faculty members have a professional obligation to contribute to the dissemination of knowledge beyond the classroom and to remain current in their fields by engaging in scholarship, research, and writing.

4. The service requirement recognizes two important facets of a faculty member's status:
   a. That universities function most effectively when faculty members participate in university governance and administration; and
   b. That society rightfully expects persons affiliated with higher education to play a significant role in public life.

5. Those applying for promotion and tenure at the institution must be measured against the standards as they are specified at the time of application, rather than at the time of hire. These important decisions must be made in light of the highest standards and not the lowest.

6. To achieve the goals set forth in this section, support of the faculty via faculty development must be considered an important institutional priority.
4.5.4 Procedures for Faculty Evaluation

1. The faculty member will submit annually a completed Self-Evaluation Profile and professional development plan in a timely manner to the appropriate Department Chair/Program Director.

2. The Department Chair/Program Director or School Director will follow the same annual review process under the direction of the Dean or designate from that college.

3. During January, the faculty member compiles and reviews the data in the completed evaluation instruments and prepares a self-evaluation of the faculty member’s teaching as reflected in the data derived from course evaluations and peer observations.

4. The Department Chair/Program Director or School Director will discuss the assessment reports with the faculty member. External evaluation of the faculty member's self-evaluation and development plan may be obtained for any annual review, if requested, by the faculty member or the Department Chair/Program Director or School Director. The faculty member and the Department Chair/Program Director or School Director shall mutually agree upon the external reviewer.

5. At the conclusion of the review, the Department Chair/Program Director or School Director will provide the faculty member and the Dean of the college with a written assessment of the faculty member’s performance.

6. The College Dean, if necessary, will discuss the assessment report with the faculty member and the Department Chair/Program Director or School Director. The College Dean will provide a written recommendation to the Department Chair/Program Director or School Director and the faculty member. This recommendation will include a specific identification/list of the required performance improvements and/or appropriate reward, at the appropriate rank of the faculty member, in relation to teaching, scholarship and professional development, and service.

7. The most recent development plan will become an attachment to next year's self-evaluation.
4.5.5 Instruments of Faculty Evaluation

The faculty evaluation instruments should be designed to improve faculty performance, and academic units must include among their evaluation tools the following: a Self-Evaluation portfolio and development plan, written by the faculty member to be evaluated; peer evaluations and peer observation reports; course evaluations; and any relevant comments on contributions of a faculty member in areas other than instruction. The purpose of the evaluation of a faculty member conducted by the appropriate academic unit or the library is not merely to improve faculty performance. The results of these evaluations are also used to support decisions concerning the retention, promotion, termination, and tenure of individual faculty members since the improvement of faculty performance must be recognized and, where appropriate, rewarded by both the faculty and the administration.
4.5.5.1.0.0.0  Self-Evaluation

A Self-Evaluation Portfolio, to be completed by the faculty member, shall include:

Self-Evaluation: The evaluation of teaching performance prepared as a result of these procedures is incorporated into a Self-Evaluation portfolio developed by each faculty member which also includes evaluations of the faculty member's performance in areas such as the following: student advisement, course and curriculum development, program and department administration, institutional governance, research, consulting, publications, and community service. During the first week in February, each Department Chair/Program Director or School Director will discuss the Self-Evaluation form with each faculty member individually. During this discussion, both parties may note strengths and weaknesses in teaching effectiveness and in the performance of other responsibilities and agree upon specific areas in which the faculty member would attempt to strengthen performance. When the results of this initial meeting so indicate, additional meetings between a faculty member and the College Dean will be held.

The evaluation process concludes with the preparation of a written Self-Evaluation portfolio that is prepared jointly by the faculty member and Department Chair/Program Director or School Director for submission to the Academic Deans and the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience on or before February 15. This portfolio will indicate whether deficiencies in teaching effectiveness or the performance of other faculty responsibilities identified in earlier evaluations persist and whether recommendations for improving the performance of the faculty member have been implemented and have proved successful.
The Faculty Development Plan shall indicate the mix of scholarly (tenure and tenure track), professional, civic, creative, and other activities that the faculty member will use to maintain and increase that faculty member's skills and professional competencies and indicate the support (if any) required from the university or other sources that would be needed to implement the plan. The Dean and Department Chair/Program Director will assist the faculty member in this process and help ensure that the planned activities are consistent with the faculty member's other university commitments. The plan will be subject to periodic review and discussion between the faculty member, the faculty member's Department Chair/Program Director or School Director and College Dean. Faculty members will be asked to comment on their achievement of planned objectives as part of the university's performance evaluation procedure.

1. Short and long-range goals shall be defined. A statement shall be made on the kind of assistance the faculty member expects from the University.

2. A statement shall be made of the faculty member's perception of the University's expectations with respect to duties and responsibilities in terms of the academic unit's planning objectives and goals including constructive evaluation of those goals and objectives, and of the faculty member's expectations of the University with respect to all aspects of the appointment: e.g., working conditions.

3. An assessment shall be made of how well the faculty member confirms that the individual goals set the previous year have been met, if applicable.
4.5.5.3.0.0.0  Student Course Evaluation

At the end of each term, Gannon University will distribute a course evaluation survey to students for each class in which they are enrolled. Faculty are not to be present in the classroom if students are given time to complete the course evaluation survey during class. Course evaluation surveys will be administered as follows.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Length</th>
<th>Administration Time</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>&lt;3 weeks</td>
<td>within last 3 days of class</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3–7 weeks</td>
<td>within last week of class, excluding finals</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>&gt;7 weeks</td>
<td>within last two weeks of class, excluding finals</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

The use of an official course evaluation survey does not preclude faculty from distributing an additional survey instrument of their choosing, to be administered and collected separately from the official course evaluation survey.

The Provost and Vice President for Student Experience’s designee will deploy the course evaluation surveys and manage access to results. Course evaluation survey results will be released 10 calendar days after the official course end date. The results will be made available to the faculty member, the appropriate chair or program director, and the appropriate Dean’s Office. The Deans may grant exceptions to the requirement to administer a course evaluation survey for certain courses.
4.5.5.4.0.0.0  Peer Classroom Observation

This report shall include reports by other faculty members with similar academic backgrounds in the same or closely related academic area of the faculty member being evaluated. At least one of the peer observers is to be chosen by the faculty member in consultation with the Chair/Program Director or School Director from a list of colleagues submitted by the faculty member to be observed.

In the case of librarians, an application for promotion or tenure must first be presented to a Peer Review Committee, consisting of the Library Director and the other librarians, who will make a recommendation to the Rank, Tenure, and Academic Freedom Committee.
4.5.5.0.0.0  Additional Evaluation Tools

Evaluation tools in addition to the above may be used but must be identified in the academic unit's description of its evaluation procedure.
4.5.5.6.0.0.0  Pre-Tenure Review

Purpose

Teaching and tenure-track faculty at Gannon University participate in a formal Early Career Review (ECR) after completing their third full-time year, inclusive of any years of service brought from other institutions (as described in IPM 4.7.3.0.0.0.0). The ECR provides a formal mechanism for candidates to obtain comprehensive feedback from faculty outside of their professional disciplines and established evaluative process. Candidates submit their Early Career Review Application to the Early Career Review Committee (ECRC), their Chair /Program Director, and the Dean of their college. At an annual Early Career Review Workshop, feedback is provided to each candidate by the ECRC on their progress toward achieving tenure and/or promotion. Recommendations for further improvement are made and candidates may ask individual questions about the tenure process and/or promotion and requirements. The purpose of this review is to provide comprehensive formative feedback for faculty at an impactful time in the career advancement process. It is not meant to be evaluative, and the feedback received does not need to be included in tenure or promotion portfolios.

Early Career Review Committee (ECRC)
The ECRC is a standing committee of the Faculty Senate. It is comprised of current and past members of the Gannon University College and University Rank and Tenure Committees and is designed to help candidates interface with experienced faculty. The exact number of committee members will change each year, depending on the number of ECR applicants. To provide comprehensive feedback and multiple perspectives, each faculty applicant is assigned one reviewer from MCHPS, CEB and CHESS. Librarians may also provide guidance or serve as reviewers. Reviewer assignments shall be made and agreed upon by the members of the ECRC. The Faculty Senate President will call the first meeting in the fall semester, give the committee its charge, and confirm the number of reviewers that will be needed that year. The chair of the ECRC will be elected at the first meeting of the committee in the fall semester.

Committee Membership

a) Five tenured faculty members with the rank of Associate Professor or higher from each of the academic colleges. One teaching/teaching track faculty member with the rank of Associate Teaching Professor or higher from each of the academic colleges. Prior service experience on the college or university rank and tenure committee is preferred, but not required.
b) One tenured librarian. A tenured librarian will only be required to participate when the applicant pool includes a professional librarian.
c) Appointment: Members will be appointed by the Faculty Senate.
d) Term of Service: Members of the committee shall be appointed for a period of three years.
Timeline

September: The Office of the Provost is notified by the College Deans of the faculty who are completing their third academic year at the University.

October or November: Applicants attend a workshop on the ECR process.

February or March: Applicants attend a workshop on the ECR process.

May 15: Applicants submit ECR application materials; ECRC members, Chairs/Program Directors, and Deans begin review of applications.

June (1st Wed.): Applicants and ECRC members attend Annual ECR Workshop. Written feedback in the form of a one-page summary of the applicant's progress toward tenure and/or promotion is provided to Faculty, Chairs/Program Directors and Deans by Reviewers.

June: Written feedback is also provided by Chairs/Program Directors to the applicant, which will be added to the feedback page provided by the ECRC.

July: Written feedback is also provided by Deans to the applicant, which will be added to the feedback page provided by the ECRC and the Chairs/Program Directors/Directors.

Early Career Review Application
The following documents comprise the Early Career Review Application.

1. Curriculum Vitae
2. Student Evaluations of Teaching Performance
3. Annual Self Evaluations Including Peer Observation Reports
4. Performance Appraisal Forms from Department Chair and Dean
5. Sample Narrative. The sample narrative is a brief document that provides an opportunity for the applicants to demonstrate their writing styles, considering that faculty from other disciplines will be reviewing their applications. Applicants are not to submit rank or tenure narratives or applications for review. To guide the writing process, applicants should reference section Vol. IV Section 4.5.7 of the Gannon University Institutional Policy Manual (IPM). This resource is available on the webpage of the Provost (https://my.gannon.edu), and on Faculty Mentoring webpages. Candidates are encouraged to submit supporting documents for these sections, just as they would for the full tenure/promotion application.

The following sections comprise the sample narrative.

A. Teaching and Advising

Applicants select one of the topics described in IPM Section 4.5.7.1.0.0.0 and describe how their performance demonstrates excellence in teaching as it pertains to the chosen category. Applicants must include one graph or table derived from course evaluation data in the narrative.

Applicants select one of the topics described in IPM Section 4.5.7.2.1.0.0 and describe how the performance demonstrates excellence in advising as it pertains to the chosen category.
B. Scholarship and Professional Development

Tenure-track applicants select one example of their scholarly work (e.g., a publication or presentation) and describe how the selected work demonstrates excellence in scholarship as it pertains to the faculty member’s discipline. Applicants should provide the reference to the scholarly work; indicate whether it is peer-reviewed, communicated and/or professional; and identify the relevant scholarship area(s) it fits into in the Boyer model. The accepted definitions of scholarship areas and of the terms peer-reviewed, communicated and professional are presented in Vol. IV Section 4.5.7.0.0.0.0.0 of the IPM.

All applicants select one example of professional development as described in IPM Section 4.5.7.3.4.0.0 and discuss how the activity contributed to their professional development.

C. Service

Applicants select one example of their service in each of the following categories (e.g., service on a committee, leadership in a professional society, participation in a community outreach program) and discuss how the selected activity demonstrates excellence in service.

- Service to the University
- Service to the Profession; and
- Service to the Community.

Expected Outcomes

1. Applicants gain familiarity with the process of application for tenure and/or promotion.
2. Applicants identify areas in which they have been most successful.
3. Applicants identify areas that potentially require improvement.
4. Applicants make meaningful revisions to their sample application based on feedback provided at the workshop, thereby improving the overall clarity of their writing and documentation.
5. Teaching- and tenure-track faculty interface with tenured faculty who have served on Rank and Tenure Committees, thereby increasing transparency for the tenure and/or promotion process and improving clarity of expectations.
6. Members of the College and University Rank and Tenure Committees will increase communication, thereby providing improved alignment and clarity of expectations among all Gannon University Rank and Tenure Committees.
7. The applicant’s Chair/Program Director and College Dean will obtain a one-page summary of the applicant’s progress toward tenure and/or promotion, thereby providing improved alignment and clarity of expectations among the individuals who evaluate tenure-track faculty annually.

Disclaimer: The feedback received by the applicant from the ECRC is not a guarantee that tenure and/or advancement in rank will or will not be granted to the applicant.
4.5.6 Confidentiality

Confidentiality of oral, written and electronic communications promotes candor and honesty among faculty and administrators involved with the review of candidates for reappointment, promotion, and tenure. Therefore, all oral, written and electronic statements made by members of review committees and by administrators during formal deliberations about reappointment, promotion, and tenure, whether at program, department, school, or college levels are and shall remain confidential.

4.5.7.2.0.0.0   Advising Students

The Gannon University Academic Advisement System is designed to establish and maintain a relationship between each Gannon student and a full-time member of the faculty of the University to facilitate the achievement of the personal, academic, career and professional goals of the student within the framework of the educational programs and services provided by the University. The central element in advising excellence is genuine and sustained concern for students as persons and belief in their capacity for self-directed growth. Academic advisement is a responsibility of all full-time members of the faculty. Faculty are expected to be available to assist students enrolled in their courses as well as advising assigned students in their program(s).
Responsibilities of the faculty advisors include:

1. Developing and maintaining knowledge of university policies and curriculum requirements;
2. Maintaining files to document academic progress for students who are assigned as advisees;
3. Communicating to advisees the times and places where the faculty advisors will be available to meet with the student;
4. Reviewing grade reports of that person's advisees and advising them of their significance;
5. Assisting students in pre-registration, advising them regarding curriculum and graduation requirements;
6. Advising students regarding academic progress and career and professional objectives. Special attention shall be given to freshmen and others beginning their studies at Gannon to assist them in achieving appropriate outcomes;
7. Exercising prudence in advising students regarding purely personal matters: to the extent as appropriate, they shall direct students to other sources of professional academic and personal advisement and assistance such as the Counseling Center, Career Exploration and Development, Student Success Center or Financial Aid Office.
8. Assisting students in applying for admission to graduate or professional schools, in preparation for certifying examinations, licensure or certification, in making application for employment, and, when appropriate, writing letters of reference; and
9. Availability/accessibility to students. A campus presence beyond the minimum of regular office hours is expected.
Tenure and Tenure Track faculty are expected to engage in scholarly pursuits pertinent to their academic discipline. The terms scholarship and research have often been used interchangeably. Boyer acknowledged research as a process that is usually "viewed as the first and most essential form of scholarly activity" (Boyer, 1990, p 15). (Initially, however, he states that scholarship "referred to a variety of creative work carried out in a variety of places, and its integrity was measured by the ability to think, communicate, and learn" (Boyer, 1990, p15). Boyer (1990, 1996) defines five forms of scholarship:

1. The Scholarship of Discovery;
2. The Scholarship of Integration;
3. The Scholarship of Application;
4. The Scholarship of Teaching;
5. The Scholarship of Engagement.
It is possible to identify at least five basic types of scholarship, which, as defined at the University, reflect, but do not embrace all details of the categories proposed by Ernest L. Boyer in Scholarship Reconsidered (1990) and The Scholarship of Engagement (1996).
4.5.7.3.1.1.0 Scholarship of Discovery

The Scholarship of Discovery encompasses those scholarly activities which extend the stock of human knowledge through the discovery or collection of new information. Such scholarship seeks to confront the unknown and typically exhibits a dedication to free inquiry, disciplined investigation, and the pursuit of knowledge for its own sake. The Scholarship of Discovery includes, but is not limited to, what is sometimes referred to as basic or original research.

Examples of the scholarship of discovery can include, but are not limited to:

1. Peer-reviewed publications of research, theory, or philosophical essays;
2. Grant awards in support of research or scholarship;
3. Collaboration with junior colleagues in research;
4. Presentations of research, theory, or philosophical essays;
5. State, regional, national, or international recognition as a scholar in an identified area;
6. Positive peer evaluations of the body of a scholarly work;
7. Abstracts of current literature for peer reviewed professional journals;
8. Book reviews for national, professional journals;

4.5.7.3.1.2.0  Scholarship of Integration

The Scholarship of Integration encompasses scholarly activities that are primarily interdisciplinary or interpretive in nature. Such scholarship seeks to better understand existing knowledge by making connections across disciplines, illuminating data in a revealing manner, drawing together isolated factors, or placing known information into broader contexts. 4.5.7.3.1.3.0 Scholarship of Application

The Scholarship of Application encompasses scholarly activities that seek to apply the knowledge in one's field to solve real problems in industry, the professions, government, and the community. Such scholarship moves from theory to practice, and from practice back to theory, with each one renewing the other. This type of scholarship contributes to enhancing communities and lives through improvements in sciences, technology, industry, education, and artistic experiences.

Examples of the scholarship application can include, but are not limited to:

1. Peer-reviewed publications of applied research, case studies, technical applications, or other practical issues;
2. Reports compiling and analyzing patient or health service outcomes;
3. Products, patents, license copyrights;

22. Publication of substantial critical annotated bibliographies;
23. Editing, compiling, or indexing any substantial published work;
24. Report of analysis or evaluation of peer institution services and procedures;
25. Scholarly web-based publication and design and/or software; and
26. Service-learning activities that meet scholarship criteria.
4.5.7.3.1.4.0 Scholarship of Teaching

The Scholarship of Teaching encompasses scholarly activities that are directly related to pedagogical practices. Such scholarship seeks to improve the teaching and advising of students through discovery, evaluation, and transmission of information about the learning process.

Examples of the scholarship of teaching can include, but are not limited to:

1. Peer-reviewed publications of research related to teaching methodology or learning outcomes, case studies related to teaching-learning, learning theory development, and development or testing of educational models or theories;

12. Contribution of test questions and/or reviewer for national certification/licensure exams.
The Scholarship of Engagement incorporates the Scholarship of Discovery, Integration, Application and Teaching to understand and solve pressing social, civic, and ethical problems. The key feature is that the university and faculty engage with a community organization or public entity in a mutually beneficial partnership that evidences a collaborative and reciprocal relationship. Products from scholarship of engagement have a social action component. The outcome and or knowledge gained through the inquiry process enhance the well-being of a community and its constituents and demonstrate social responsibility.

Examples of the Scholarship of Engagement can include, but are not limited to:

1. Peer-reviewed/invited publications or professional presentations related to the development of community-based interventions, or curriculum development;
2. Policy papers, presentations, or reports compiling and analyzing community program outcomes that include analysis and interpretation of data collected and leads to an outcome or action plan;
3. Consultation reports;
4. Peer-review of public and community policy papers, technical reports, and presentation developed through a systematic inquiry process;
5. Invited presentations to a community organization, governmental body or policy maker or other public entity, related to one's area(s) of expertise;

11. Peer reviewed/invited publications and professional presentations related to service-learning.
New knowledge and/or a product, which is the result of a systematic objective inquiry process that is observable, measurable, documented, and reproducible, are recognized as scholarship through assessment by peer(s) or external reviewers. Scholarship in any of the dimensions defined in the previous subparagraphs is broadly recognized by the following attributes. Each of these attributes may be found at different levels, such as University, regional, national, or international (recognition, review, publication, etc.). Scholarship activity may be stronger in one of the following areas. The body of a colleague's scholarship should demonstrate all three to some degree.

1. Professional demonstrably pertinent to the discipline(s) of the individual faculty member.

2. Communicated evidence that the work has been made known to a wider, appropriate body.

3. Peer-reviewed evidence of invitation, review, acceptance, or acknowledgement of one's work by recognized peers in the appropriate area.
4.5.7.3.0.0 Excellence in Scholarship

Excellence in scholarship may be assessed by evidence generated by the following types of procedures and activities, as reported in the Faculty Self-Evaluation Portfolio:

1. Documented self-report of activities;
2. Evaluation or statements by professional peers;
3. Juried publications;
4. Citation of research in other works;
5. Awards or grants, prizes, or commendations; and
6. Demonstrated artistic or technical skill, scholarship and teaching techniques associated with one's discipline.

The University may periodically revise the scope of acceptable forms of the scholarship requirement, taking the following into account:

1. The mission of the academic unit;
2. The various constituencies served;
3. The types and qualities of scholarship (identified in subparagraphs 4.5.7.3 Scholarship and Professional Development);
4. The time and resources available to the faculty members for scholarly activities, both of which vary throughout the University; and
5. Fulfillment of the Faculty Development Plan.

In addition, the acceptable forms of scholarship should recognize that the focus of individual research and the direction of one's scholarly activities are subject to change throughout the faculty member's career. The scope of scholarly activities should not so narrowly define acceptable forms of scholarship as to inhibit the pursuit of new forms of scholarship within the University.
4.5.7.3.4.0.0    Professional Development

Professional development refers to continuous education and training relevant to the profession. This development is made possible by a variety of activities including, though not limited to, the following:

1. Attendance at professional meetings;
2. Continuing education;
3. Participation in professional workshops;
4. Coursework;
5. Post-doctoral study;
6. Relevant professional certification; and
7. Development of ancillary competencies/expertise via extensive independent study.
4.5.7.4.0.0.0    Service

Service includes service to the University and to the Community or one’s Profession. The University recognizes that educators are not only professionals in a given field who function within the University, but also citizens of a larger community.

As members of the Gannon community, all full-time faculty members are expected to participate in university committees and activities. Committees include University and ad hoc committees at the departmental/program, college, or University levels. Activities include enhancement of academic programs, student recruitment and retention, alumni relations and career placement and development. Faculty are expected to attend open house programs, convocations, and commencement exercises.

The librarian’s academic preparation for an appointment to the Library Faculty is established on the basis of the terminal professional degree, and service in the support of a learning environment. The basic quality which must be evident for promotion in academic rank is the ability to perform at a high professional level in areas which contribute to the educational and research mission of the institution.

Some functions of librarians differ from those of other faculty; therefore, librarians must be subject to standards governing promotion and tenure that reflect their identity.

This document is intended for the information of the Faculty of the University Library and all higher faculty review bodies. The following three criteria have been established to assess the performance of library faculty and this document is arranged as follows:

- Section One: Librarianship
- Section Two: Scholarship and Professional Development
- Section Three: Service

While steady progress in all three criteria is expected as a librarian's career develops, when a candidate is being considered for promotion, a candidate’s achievement in the criteria described in Section One will receive the most scrutiny and be given greater weight.
4.5.8.1.0.0.0  Librarianship

Because of the nature of librarianship, librarians with faculty status substitute "effective librarianship" for the criterion of "teaching" required for merit, promotion in rank, and tenure.

Contributions to the improvement of the library and its services are subject to rigorous critical analysis by Library colleagues, faculty, and students. The most visible examples of contributions to the library are developing and building library collections that are relevant to academic programs and providing effective instruction, reference, supervision or management, and information delivery services. The quality of bibliographic control over the collections, and the creative imagination and skill with which complex problems are solved or approaches utilized, are less publicly visible, and must be judged principally by library colleagues. When a librarian's work generates library guides, Web pages and electronic databases, multi-media, exhibits, or other practice-related matter, such materials are evaluated by colleagues and, whenever possible, by appropriate evaluators from within the University. Concrete and specific evidence in support of excellence in a librarian's contributions to the library and its services must appear in the candidate's application.

In summary, effective librarianship includes, but is not limited to, the following:

1. Effective application in the librarian's area of specialty;
2. Effective application of general and accepted principles of librarianship;
3. Effective supervision of subordinate personnel and management of assets, where applicable;
4. Ability to communicate information needed by primary library users in an effective and professional manner, through individual interaction, through group instructional sessions, and through other appropriate means; and
5. Contribution to the improvement of library operations and services through creative, innovative librarianship.
Practicing librarians can and do make significant scholarly contributions to scholarship. These contributions include, but are not limited to, those found in the Boyer Model.

Scholarship of Discovery for Librarians includes, but is not limited to:

1. Peer-reviewed publications of research, theory, or philosophical essays;
2. Grant awards in support of research or scholarship;
3. Presentations at conferences of research, theory or philosophical essays;
4. State, regional, national, or international recognition as a Librarian in an identified scholarly area;
5. Positive peer evaluations on a body of scholarly work;
6. Abstracts of current literature for peer reviewed professional journal;
7. Book reviews for national and professional journals;
8. Peer reviewed or published research/scholarly collaboration with graduate or undergraduate students; and
9. Editing of monographs, professional newsletters or journals, books or book chapters.
4.5.8.1.2.0.0 Scholarship of Integration

Scholarship of Integration includes, but is not limited to:

1. Interdisciplinary grant awards;

2. Development of collaborative programs with faculty to promote information literacy;

3. Reports of Library and faculty interdisciplinary programs or service projects;

4. Presentation of interdisciplinary papers or research at professional conferences; and

5. Peer-reviewed publication of interdisciplinary papers or research.

Scholarship of Application includes, but is not limited to:

1. Peer-reviewed publications on applied Library practices or technology;

Gannon University seeks to sustain and improve its academic stature. Maintaining and improving the quality of the faculty is a primary means of achieving these ends. Promotion in academic rank is a means by which Gannon University encourages, recognizes, and rewards faculty members for excellence in the performance of their duties.

The initial responsibility of applying for promotion in rank and the burden of proof for the promotion rests with the individual faculty member. Faculty members who wish to apply for promotion in rank shall inform the Department Chair/Program Director or School Director, and College Dean of their intentions at the beginning of the academic year in which they wish to be reviewed. The College Deans shall notify all candidates who are scheduled for promotion of their responsibility for compiling a review portfolio and of the appropriate deadline.

Since promotion represents advancement in recognition of achievement, careful consideration of a candidate's growth and achievement since the last promotion or appointment to the faculty must be made. Although primary consideration will be given to the usual requirements for promotion, the criteria to be considered are so varied that no exact weight can be given to any particular criterion. Varying weights and factors must be balanced against one another and be measured by an integrated record of performance as applicable.

Notice of eligibility for promotion is indicated on the faculty member's appointment notice.

This portfolio is to be prepared by the faculty member and shall contain a current curriculum vita, evidence of teaching excellence, letters of recommendation, and other evidence that the candidate has met the various criteria necessary for the promotion being requested.

It is the responsibility of the faculty member to make sure that the review portfolio is complete for this formal evaluation. No material shall be placed in the portfolio without the faculty member's knowledge. During the process of review, the material in the portfolio shall be kept in confidence, and access shall be limited to the appropriate Department Chair/Program Director or School Director, College Dean, the College Rank and Tenure Committee, the University Rank, Tenure and Academic Freedom Committee, and the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience and the President.
Applications for promotion in rank shall be accompanied by an evaluation on the merits of the application from the appropriate Department Chair/Program Director or School Director and College Dean. These evaluations shall specifically address the degree to which the candidate meets or fails to meet the appropriate criteria (see Subsections 4.5.7 Criteria for Evaluation of Faculty Performance or 4.5.8 Librarian Evaluation). The evaluation shall include a specific recommendation to grant or withhold promotion.
4.6.4.3.0.0.0 Action on Promotion

A decision with regard to promotion is based on a judgment by the Department Chair/Program Director or School Director, College Rank and Tenure Committee, College Dean, University Rank, Tenure, and Academic Freedom Committee and by the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience on whether the individual meets the criteria established in Subsections 4.5.7 Criteria for Evaluation of Faculty Performance or 4.5.8 Librarian Evaluation. Faculty receiving promotion will receive reviewer recommendations to guide future progress toward future applications for advancement.

When the application is denied, the candidate will receive reviewer recommendations and guidance from the Dean to prepare for future promotion applications.
4.7 Tenure Policy
4.7.1. Definition of Tenure

Tenure at Gannon University is the assurance of continuous employment for the faculty member, after a specified period of time in service, which may be terminated by the University only in accordance with specified University policies and procedures. Tenure is a means of securing academic freedom. It also provides sufficient security to make the academic profession attractive to individuals of ability and dedication. Tenure does not follow automatically from length of service but depends on a rigorous assessment of the quality of teaching, commitment to academic advising, the quality of scholarship and professional development, collegiality, quality of service to the community or to the profession, as well as demonstrated commitment to the University’s mission, goals, and objectives, and the relationship of the individual’s strengths to the University’s needs.
4.7.3 Tenure Eligibility and Procedures
The documentation required for the awarding of tenure may include materials from any point in the candidate's career.

Tenure shall be awarded only to those who have acquired at least the rank of Assistant Professor. The Candidate for tenure shall hold an appropriate degree from an accredited university (see paragraph
4.1.3.5 Appropriate Terminal Degree)

Tenure Clock

Prior to application, the candidate shall have completed five years of satisfactory service as a full-time faculty member with at least three consecutive years at Gannon University immediately preceding the application. Further, application shall be made no later than the sixth year as a full-time tenure track faculty member at Gannon University.

Tenure Track to Teaching Track

Tenure track faculty may request to move to a teaching track line. This may occur one time only with permission of the Department Chair, Dean and Provost and Vice President for Student Experience. The request must occur no later than one year prior to the year of tenure application. If denied the teaching track line request, the faculty member must move forward with the tenure application process. If denied tenure, the faculty member will not be allowed to move to a teaching track line at the University.

Tenure Clock Stoppage

This policy has two means of application: (1) Automatic tenure clock stoppage, which may be formally deprecated; (2) Voluntary tenure clock stoppage, which must be requested and approved.

Automatic Tenure Clock Stoppage

Each time a child is born and/or adopted to a tenure-track faculty member, the date for the application for tenure will be postponed by one full year. Each time a tenure-track faculty member adopts a child, application for tenure will be postponed. Notice will be provided to the faculty member by the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience within thirty days of the date that the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience becomes aware of the birth or adoption. Faculty members who wish to deprecated or opt out of this tenure clock stoppage must notify the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience in writing within thirty days of having received the notice of the tenure clock stoppage (opt out provision).

Voluntary Tenure Clock Stoppage

Additionally, a tenure-track faculty member who encounters a significant life issue (for example, a significant medical issue, personal issue, family issue, or active military service) may request a one-year stoppage of the tenure clock. The faculty member must apply to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience for the one-year tenure clock stoppage in writing within thirty days of when the event or situation giving rise to the need is known to the faculty member. Within thirty days of the receipt of the request, the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience will inform the faculty member in writing of whether the request has been approved (opt in provision).

Faculty members granted tenure clock stoppage will continue with their teaching and advising responsibilities. However, the faculty member must step down from all committees for the time of the stoppage and will be able to return to committee service upon reactivation of the tenure clock. Any existing internal faculty development or faculty research funds are suspended for the period of the stoppage and will resume in full upon reactivation of the tenure clock.

Tenure-track faculty members serving as chairs, program directors, or in other part-time administrative positions who are given a stoppage of the tenure clock (via either the automatic/opt out or the voluntary/opt in provision) will work with their dean and the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience on the fulfillment of their administrative duties during the tenure clock stoppage.

The fact that a tenure-track faculty member was granted tenure clock stoppage is not a matter for deliberation when that faculty member's application for tenure is being considered and voted on, other than to document the stoppage and account for the time added to the faculty member's tenure clock.

Tenure Guidelines

The candidate for tenure must be able to fulfill the following guidelines:

1. Candidates for Tenure must hold a recognized terminal degree appropriate to that person's discipline and position of appointment.

2. Candidates for Tenure must demonstrate Excellence in Teaching as well as a commitment to Academic Advising.

3. Candidates for Tenure must demonstrate a Consistently High Standard in Scholarship that is strong in the Professional and Communicated components but demonstrates the Peer Reviewed component as well.

4. Candidates for Tenure must demonstrate a Consistently High Standard of Professional Development

5. Candidates for Tenure must demonstrate Excellence in Service to the University and either to the Community or to the Profession.

The University will process applications for eligible faculty members in the following manner:
1. The Provost and Vice President for Student Experience must inform all tenure track faculty of the process, criteria, and due dates for tenure applications on or before the end of the spring semester. The complete applications shall be due no later than the first Tuesday in October. It is the responsibility of the Program Director/Chair or School Director and Dean to advise the applicant on the completeness of their application and the supporting documents.

2. The eligible faculty member submits the application for tenure to that faculty member's Department Chair/Program Director or School Director via blackboard. Once the final date for submission of applications has passed; no further materials may be added to the application.

3. The Department Chair/Program Director or School Director submits a recommendation to accompany the application portfolio. The Dean makes sure the application is complete and notifies the faculty member’s College Rank and Tenure Committee.

4. The College Rank and Tenure Committee submits its recommendation.

5. The Dean's recommendation, the application portfolio, the recommendations of the Department Chair/Program Director and College Rank and Tenure Committee are made available to the University Rank, Tenure and Academic Freedom Committee.

6. The University Rank, Tenure and Academic Freedom Committee submits a recommendation to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience.

7. The Provost and Vice President for Student Experience submits a recommendation to the President.

8. The President, in consultation with the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience, renders a decision on applications for tenure. The President submits a recommendation to the Board of Trustees, through the Student Experience Committee of the Board, on applications for tenure.

9. The Board of Trustees renders the final decision on tenure.

10. All recommendations at each level up to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience level must be carried forward in writing to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience.

4.7.5 Date of Tenure

Tenure becomes effective on the first day of the notice for the next academic year.

The right of tenure terminates automatically upon the voluntary or involuntary termination of the tenured faculty member's employment with the University.
4.7.6 Denial of Tenure

Faculty members denied tenure will receive a one-year terminal appointment. By mutual agreement, the faculty member and the University may reach an agreement on earlier separation.
4.8 Separation
4.8.1 Separation

At times the University or individual faculty members may find it necessary to sever their appointment. To protect the interests of both parties, categories of separation are here defined, and the policies and procedures related to each are set forth.

Corrective action or disciplinary procedures which may not result in immediate separation are addressed in Volume III, Subsection 3.1.5 Corrective Action.
4.8.2 Resignation

Resignation releases a faculty member from an appointment and from tenure, when tenure applies. Resignation is voluntarily initiated by the faculty member in writing presented to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience.
Voluntary non-renewal of an appointment applies to a faculty member who has received an offer of appointment and has not signed the appointment notice by the date required. Voluntary non-renewal releases a faculty member from further employment with the University, as well as rights to tenure.
A faculty member may retire at any time consistent with the provisions of paragraph 4.8.2.1 Voluntary Non-Renewal of Appointment.

Any ranked faculty member at the University who retires is deemed to have been separated from service to the University in good standing.
The decision not to reappoint a non-tenured faculty member is made at the discretion of the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience. The Provost and Vice President for Student Experience shall act after receiving the written recommendation of the faculty member's Dean or the Director of the Library. The decision will be communicated in writing. The faculty member may request a statement of the reasons for non-reappointment. Faculty members who receive a notice of non-reappointment may communicate an appeal in accordance with procedures established in the grievance policy in Volume III of the policy manual, subject to the University Review Council's purview to hear faculty member's claim(s).

In order to facilitate relocation, the University will give non-tenured faculty members advance notice of the University's intent not to reappoint them for a subsequent academic term in accordance with the notice provisions below. (See paragraph 4.8.3.1 Notice of Non-Reappointment)
Notice of non-reappointment is extended in writing to full-time faculty. This notice shall be given:

1. On or before March 1 or;
2. Within 15 days after the date on which an application for tenure has been denied.

A notice of non-reappointment is not a dismissal for cause. The faculty member, however, is entitled to know the reasons for non-reappointment and, upon written request, to have the reasons given in writing. If the faculty member wishes to know the reasons for non-reappointment, the written request should be made to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience within thirty days (30) days of the notice.
4.8.4 Prolonged Illness

4.8.4.1.0.0.0 Tenured Faculty

During the first six months of continuous illness a tenured faculty member will be covered by the University's medical leave benefits and sick pay benefits as described in subparagraphs 3.6.3.7.1 Family and Medical Leave and 3.6.3.7.2 Paid Sick Time of Volume III.

If a tenured faculty member is unable to perform all or a substantial part of the faculty member's duties for a period of more than six (6) months because of ill health or similar causes, the faculty member does not lose tenure, but may request leave of absence without pay, following the regular procedures in Volume III until such time as the faculty member shall be able to resume teaching duties.

In order to obtain leave, the faculty member shall complete the appropriate medical leave forms and record them with the Director of Human Resources.

Any further actions will be reached only after there has been appropriate consultation and the faculty member and/or the faculty member's representative present their position to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience who makes a final determination.
4.8.4.2.0.0.0 Non-Tenured Faculty

During the first six months of continuous illness a non-tenured faculty member will be covered by the University's medical leave benefits and sick pay benefits as described subparagraphs 3.6.3.7.1 Family and Medical Leave and 3.6.3.7.2 Paid Sick Time of Volume III.

If a non-tenured faculty member is unable to perform all or a substantial part of the faculty member's duties for a period of more than six (6) months because of ill health or similar causes, that faculty member may apply for a long-term disability leave of absence, following the regular procedures in Volume III, paragraph 3.6.3.8 Long Term Disability.

In order to obtain leave, the faculty member shall complete the appropriate medical leave forms and submit them to the Director of Human Resources.

In the event that a non-tenured faculty member is unable to perform all or a substantial part of the faculty member's duties for a period in excess of six (6) months because of ill health, despite reasonable accommodation, the University may terminate the appointment at the end of the academic year which the faculty member became ill.

Any further actions will be reached only after there has been appropriate consultation and the faculty member and/or the faculty member's representative present their position to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience who makes a final determination.

The University will, in each case (tenured or non-tenured), work within the disability program to ease the burden of any such action as far as is possible (see Volume III).
A full-time faculty member charged with, or convicted of, a misdemeanor or felony may be terminated. See Volume III for policies regarding employees charged with or convicted of a misdemeanor or felony.

The following factors will be considered in deciding the University's response to charges or conviction of misdemeanors or felonies:

1. Impact of the charge on the Gannon community.
2. The impact of the charge on the individual's ability to perform their duties.
3. The availability of alternative duties for the individual.
4.8.6 Layoff of Faculty

4.8.6.1.0.0.0 Major Changes

Major Changes in Curricular Requirements, Academic Programs, or Departments

Layoff of a faculty member may occur as a result of a major change, including discontinuation of a curricular requirement, an academic program, or a department in whole or in part.

Decisions about such major changes are made by the President after receiving recommendations from the appropriate Departmental Chair, the appropriate Curriculum Committee, the appropriate Dean, and the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience.

Individual layoff decisions resulting from curricular changes will follow the general procedures and order of layoff described in paragraph 4.8.7.1 Order of Layoff within a Department or Program.

Faculty laid off under a curricular change shall receive notice according to the schedule in paragraph 4.8.3.1 Notice of Non-Reappointment. The University shall normally end such programs and the faculty member’s relationship with The University at the end of an academic term.

Faculty laid off pursuant to this paragraph have the same rights as those affected by an enrollment shortfall or by financial exigency, as delineated in paragraphs 4.8.6.2 Enrollment Shortfall and 4.8.6.3 Financial Exigency.
4.8.6.2.0.0.0  Enrollment Shortfall

Enrollment emergency shall be defined as either a sudden or an unplanned progressive decline in student enrollment, the detrimental financial effects of which are too great or too rapid to be offset by normal procedures.

The number of FTE students is calculated by the Registrar’s Office and is used in determining an enrollment shortfall.

The President, after consultation with the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience, shall determine when an enrollment shortfall exists.
Financial exigency is a rare and serious institutional crisis which is defined as the critical, urgent need of the University to reorder its current fund monetary expenditures in such a way as to remedy and relieve its inability to meet projected annual monetary expenditures with sufficient revenue.

The Board of Trustees, upon recommendation of the President, who shall have consulted with the Executive Committee of the Faculty Senate, decides:

1. If a financial crisis meets the criteria, and
2. Whether a financial exigency should be declared.

The Faculty Senate participates in the decision that financial exigency exists through its representatives on the following committees:

1. Planning and Budget;
2. Student Experience; and
3. The President's Council.

These committees advise the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience and the President on any subsequent layoffs. Subsequently, the faculty shall be represented in administrative processes relating to program reorganization, or the curtailment or termination of instructional programs because of financial exigency, through the following committees:

1. Planning and Budget;
2. Student Experience;
3. President's Council; and
4. Provost and Vice President for Student Experience' Council.

Faculty shall not, however, necessarily be represented in individual layoffs or personnel decisions; the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience, the President, and the Board of Trustees shall have final authority in all matters related to financial exigency.
1. Once a major change as described in paragraph 4.8.6.1 Major Changes in Curricular Requirements, Academic Programs, or Departments, or a state of enrollment shortfall, or financial exigency has been declared, the appropriate Departmental Chair or Program Director, in consultation with the affected Department faculty, shall recommend action to the appropriate Dean, and to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience. The Provost and Vice President for Student Experience shall, via and with input from the President, then recommend action to the Board of Trustees for their approval. Such action may be to eliminate some departments or programs in whole or in part, or to distribute layoffs throughout the faculty so as to prevent the elimination of any program or department.

2. If a full-time faculty member is to be laid off for reasons described in paragraphs 4.8.6.1 Major Changes in Curricular Requirements, Academic Programs, or Departments, 4.8.6.2 Enrollment Shortfall, and 4.8.6.3 Financial Exigency, no replacement for that faculty member's full-time position or its equivalent using adjunct or part-time faculty or courses taught through alternative electronic or similar means of delivery through the University shall be allowed within a period of three (3) years unless the terminated faculty member has been offered reappointment under conditions comparable to those held at the time of layoff, and has been given ninety (90) days after written notice of the offer of reappointment within which to accept, in writing, the reappointment.

3. Notice sent by the University to the address it has on record for the laid off faculty member is presumed received if sent by first-class mail, postage pre-paid, and such mail is not returned.
4.8.7.1.0.0.0  Order of Layoff within a Department or Program

The decision on the layoff of a faculty member in a particular department or program shall proceed according to the procedures outlined below:

1. Prior to involuntary dismissals, the following voluntary measure(s) shall be considered:
   a. If a department must operate with fewer personnel, it shall consider retaining as many faculty as possible. Such retention may require reduced salary and workload. Such a program shall not be implemented without the consent of the affected department members; and
   b. The possibility of voluntary early or phased retirements should be investigated.

2. Involuntary Layoff:
   a. First, adjunct faculty shall be terminated within the program or department involved.
   b. Next, in making a recommendation about the termination of the appointment of a non-tenured/teaching-track notice appointment faculty member, rank and years at rank shall be followed, unless there is a severe and adverse effect upon program viability (such as loss of accreditation of program or closure of department or program).
   c. Next, in making a recommendation about the termination of the appointment of a teaching-track faculty member, rank and years at rank shall be followed, unless there is a severe and adverse effect upon program viability (such as loss of accreditation of program or closure of department or program).
   d. Finally, in making a recommendation about the termination of the appointment of a tenured faculty member, rank and years at rank shall be followed, unless there is a severe and adverse effect upon program viability (such as loss of accreditation of program or closure of department or program).
   e. The appointment of a faculty member with tenure shall not be terminated in favor of retaining a faculty member without tenure.
   f. Tenured faculty who have been laid off shall be offered teaching positions in other programs, if there are openings for which they are qualified, or, if none, non-teaching positions at the University if there are openings for which they are qualified. In either instance, the salary offered to the faculty member for any position would be at the salary budgeted for the open position.
   g. The University shall attempt to assist displaced tenured faculty to find employment in industry, government, or in other educational institutions.
   h. The appropriate Departmental Chair or College Dean shall provide the appropriate committees and interested parties with documentation concerning program viability, as well as rank, and seniority.
4.8.7.2.0.0.0  Appeals on Layoff

If the University issues notice to a particular faculty member of an intention to layoff the faculty member because of reasons discussed in paragraphs 4.8.6.1 Major Changes in Curricular Requirements, Academic Programs, or Departments, 4.8.6.2 Enrollment Emergency, and 4.8.6.3 Financial Exigency the faculty member shall have the right to a full hearing before the University Review Council. The issue of the appeal shall be confined to procedures, including adequacy of sources of data. The layoff shall not be delayed in the case that the appeal is not settled by the effective date; nor shall the appeal procedure be interrupted or denied because of the layoff.
4.8.8 Dismissal for Cause

Dismissal for cause is a severance action by which the University terminates its appointment with the faculty member for cause. Any faculty appointment is subject to action under this section.

Dismissal shall not be used to restrain a faculty member's academic freedom.
4.8.8.1.0.0.0    Grounds for Dismissal Proceedings

Dismissal for cause proceedings may be instituted on, but are not limited to, the following grounds:

1. Professional incompetence;
2. Continued neglect of academic duties in spite of oral and written warnings;
3. Personal misconduct; including harassment;
4. Violation of the rights and freedom of fellow faculty members, administrators, or students;
5. Failure to follow the professional ethics of the academic discipline;
6. Falsification of credentials and experience; and/or
7. Failure, after oral and written warnings, to follow standards of the University as designated in this Volume IV of the Policy Manual.
4.8.8.2.0.0.0    Procedures for Dismissal for Cause

The Provost and Vice President for Student Experience makes the decision on dismissal for cause. Except in an emergency, dismissal procedures shall include the following steps:

1. Written notice to the faculty member from the appropriate College Dean that a recommendation for dismissal for cause shall be made to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience and the President. This notice shall contain a written statement of the grounds upon which the recommendation is to be made, and a brief summary of information supporting such grounds.

2. A demonstrable opportunity for the faculty member to meet with the appropriate College Dean to present the faculty member's defense concerning the dismissal recommendation, before the final recommendation is made.

3. A reasonable opportunity for the faculty member to meet with the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience to present the faculty member's defense concerning the dismissal recommendation.
4.8.8.3.0.0.0  Burden of Proof

Notwithstanding guidelines established within the University Review Council policy, in any case involving dismissal for cause, the burden of proof shall be on the University, which burden shall be by a preponderance of the evidence.
4.8.8.4.0.0.0  Appeal of Dismissal for Cause

The decision of the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience may be the basis of an appeal before the University Review Council, which shall review the case and make a recommendation to the President in accordance with procedures established in Volume III of the Policy Manual.
4.8.8.5.0.0.0  Action Short of Dismissal

1. Depending on the circumstances, the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience may elect to impose a disciplinary action short of dismissal for causes listed in paragraph 4.8.8.1 Grounds for Dismissal Proceedings, such as suspension for a period of time with or without pay and/or withdrawal of faculty privilege. In unusual circumstances, such as when a faculty member is an apparent danger to self or others, the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience may take disciplinary action without previous citation or warning.

2. Suspension may also be the temporary separation of a faculty member from the University when it is determined by the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience that there is a strong likelihood that the faculty member's continued presence at the University poses an immediate threat of harm to the University, or to individual members of the University community. Such suspension shall be with pay and shall last only so long as the threat of harm continues, or other action is taken by the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience.

3. In view of the past merits of the faculty member, final action by the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience may take a milder form of temporary suspension rather than outright dismissal. Such suspension shall not last beyond one (1) full year but may entail the total or partial discontinuance of all salaries and benefits, the suspension of all promotion and salary increments, and the temporary suspension or withdrawal of all faculty privileges.
4.8.8.6.0.0.0 Progressive Discipline of Faculty Members

Dismissal for cause should, in normal circumstances, be preceded by a written admonition by the appropriate administrative officer describing the alleged problem and warning that the faculty member's appointment status is in jeopardy. The warning shall also stipulate a period of time within which correction of the alleged problem is expected. The faculty member may contest the allegation; if the faculty member does not contest the allegation and proceeds to fulfill the faculty member's duties, the matter is settled. If the faculty member fails to correct the negligence, dismissal procedures or a lesser sanction may be applied (see paragraph 4.8.8.5 Action Short of Dismissal).
The principal functions of a member of the Gannon University faculty are teaching, scholarship, and service. In order to carry out these functions successfully, special protections or rights are acknowledged to be essential. These rights are known collectively as academic freedom, and in special form, as academic tenure.

Since these rights are accorded faculty to foster and protect the academic function, they carry with them responsibilities of the individual to perform the protected functions. A body of such rights, and the associated responsibilities taken together, constitute a statement of professional conduct. A faculty member should promote by precept and example a general atmosphere within the University of respect for knowledge, thought, and inquiry.

The following statement of faculty duties, rights, and responsibilities is intended to communicate to faculty the expectations of Gannon University and the contribution faculty can make to the community. It shall be understood that such duties and responsibilities are obligations for which individuals are to be held accountable and according to which their performance will be judged. It is the obligation of academic administrators in collaboration with chairs, program directors, and other academic leaders to assess as objectively as possible the performance of faculty. It is therefore in the interest of all members of the University community that faculty duties, responsibilities, and rights be articulated in clear and specific fashion. Furthermore, it is evident that no generic statement can adequately define how these general principles are to be applied in individual cases. Therefore, specific goals, priorities and expectations will be defined for individual faculty through a faculty performance plan developed by faculty in consultation with their chair, program director, and dean.
4.9.1 General Responsibilities of All Faculty Members

The three categories of faculty duties include teaching, scholarship, and service.
The standard teaching obligation of the tenured and tenure track faculty is 24 credit hours in the academic year. The standard teaching obligation of the teaching track faculty is 27 credit hours in the academic year or as otherwise specified by the faculty member's appointment notice.

Consistent with professional background and competence, fulltime tenured, tenure track, and teaching track may be assigned to teach undergraduate or graduate courses offered on- and off-campus in the day, evening or weekend sessions. Faculty are not obligated to teach more than 15 credit hours per semester.

The teaching obligation of an adjunct faculty member is as specified in the adjunct faculty member's appointment letter.

It is the responsibility of all faculty members to maintain intellectual integrity, to strive for academic excellence, and achieve student learning outcomes in all courses taught. The pursuit of academic excellence includes both a commitment to the development of knowledge, intellectual capacities and skills directly associated with a particular subject or discipline. It also includes a commitment to the mission, goals and objectives of Gannon University as a Catholic institution and to the general goals of a liberal education.

All faculty members are obligated to respect each student as an individual, who possesses human and civil rights. Fairness and objectivity in dealing with each student is expected, avoiding reservations or favor because of personal characteristics such as race, national origin, gender, religion, or political beliefs. Faculty are expected to make every reasonable effort to foster honest academic conduct and to assure that the evaluation of students reflects the student's academic achievement.

All faculty members must observe the following guidelines for conducting classes:

1. It is the responsibility of the faculty member to maintain intellectual integrity and to strive for academic excellence in the courses the faculty member teaches.

2. It is the faculty member's responsibility to promote adequate standards of linguistic expression in writing and in speech, including classroom participation.

3. At the beginning of each semester the faculty member will provide students in each class with a course syllabus, indicating material to be covered, related assignments, methods of evaluation, attendance policy, learning outcomes, faculty contact information, and office hours.

4. At the beginning of each semester the faculty member will explain the grading system to be used and will apply it fairly and consistently throughout the course.

5. Textbooks that students are required to purchase will be utilized as an integral part of the course; otherwise, they will not be required.
6. The faculty member must make clear to all students what material will be covered on each test and, when appropriate, what emphasis is to be placed on facts and what upon integration, analysis, and evaluation. This will be done at least one week prior to the test.

7. The faculty member will encourage student completion of a faculty course evaluation at the end of the semester for each class taught.
4.9.1.2.0.0.0 Scholarship

Faculty are expected to engage in scholarly pursuits pertinent to their academic discipline. Scholarship, as defined by the Boyer model, includes:

1. The Scholarship of Discovery;
2. The Scholarship of Integration;
3. The Scholarship of Application;
4. The Scholarship of Teaching; and
5. The Scholarship of Engagement.

Refer to subparagraph 4.5.7.3.1 for detailed descriptions.
Service includes service to the University and to the community and/or one's profession. The University recognizes that educators are not only professionals in a given field who function within the University but also citizens of a larger community. Expected community service by Gannon faculty models the commitment the University seeks to instill in its students and adds to the prestige of the University. All full-time faculty members are expected to participate in those activities in which they represent Gannon in the community either because they were appointed by the University to do so, or were chosen by the community group because of their affiliation with Gannon. They may also participate in community activities, including service learning, because of their professional field or because they are educators.

As members of the Gannon community, all full-time faculty members are expected to participate in university committees and activities. Committees include University and ad hoc committees at the departmental/program, college, or University levels. Activities include enhancement of academic programs, student recruitment and retention, alumni relations and career placement and development. Faculty are expected to attend Open House programs, Convocations, and Commencement Exercises.

Faculty members are expected to be readily accessible to students for consultation. Full-time faculty members must keep posted on their office doors a current schedule indicating class meeting times as well as times when they have regular office hours or additional hours when student appointments can be made. In cases of difficulty or hardship, special provision should be given to arranging appointments outside the normal hours of accessibility. Adjunct faculty members are not required to maintain office hours but should provide reasonable time to students for consultation on the courses taught by the adjunct faculty member.
Faculty members are expected to remain highly competent in their own academic field and in appropriate approaches and methods of teaching and learning. Faculty are expected, when appropriate to their appointment, to:

1. Develop and maintain an understanding of related disciplines and be active and skilled in the synthesis, integration, interpretation and communication of knowledge;

2. Keep abreast of developments in their field and to ensure that their courses, syllabi, instructional materials and techniques and teaching methods are current and appropriate;

3. Participate in appropriate departmental, college or university sponsored curriculum development programs and projects;

4. Engage in innovative course and programmatic development efforts;

5. Participate in appropriate professional seminars, workshops and colloquia and to share their ideas and the results of their scholarly and professional activities with others within the university community;

6. Engage in scholarship;

7. Participate in student advising (see paragraph 4.5.7.2 Advising Students); and

8. Participate in governance activities throughout the University (see Subsection 4.9.3 University Governance).
4.9.2.1.0.0.0 Advising

Current Version

The Gannon University Academic Advisement System is designed to establish and maintain a relationship between each Gannon student and a full-time member of the faculty of the University to facilitate the achievement of the personal, academic, career and professional goals of the student within the framework of the educational programs and services provided by the University. The central element in advising excellence is genuine and sustained concern for students as persons and belief in their capacity for self-directed growth. Academic advisement is the responsibility of all full-time members of the faculty where applicable. Faculty are expected to be available to assist students enrolled in their courses and advise assigned students in their program(s), if applicable. Responsibilities of the faculty advisors include:

1. Developing and maintaining knowledge of University policies and curriculum requirements.
2. Maintaining files to document academic progress for students who are assigned as advisees.
3. Communicating to advisees the times and places where the faculty advisors will be available to meet with the student.
4. Reviewing grade reports of that person’s advisees and advising them of their significance.
5. Assisting students in pre-registration, advising them regarding curriculum and graduation requirements.
6. Advising students regarding academic progress, career and professional objectives. Special attention should be given to freshmen and others beginning their studies at Gannon to assist them in achieving appropriate outcomes.
7. Exercising prudence in advising students regarding purely personal matters: as appropriate; they should direct students to other sources of professional academic and personal advisement and assistance such as the Counseling Center, Career Exploration and Development, Student Success Center, or Financial Aid Offices.
8. Assisting students in applying for admission to graduate or professional schools, in preparation for certifying examinations, licensure or certification, in making application for employment, and when appropriate, writing letters of reference.
9. Availability/accessibility to students. A campus presence beyond the minimum of regular office hours is expected.
Faculty members are expected to be readily accessible to students for consultation. Full-time faculty members must keep posted on their office doors a current schedule indicating class meeting times as well as times when they have regular office hours and inform the appropriate Dean. In cases of difficulty or hardship, special provision should be given to arranging appointments outside the normal hours of accessibility. Adjunct faculty members are not required to maintain office hours but should provide reasonable time to students for consultation on the course(s) taught by the adjunct faculty member before or after class.
A faculty member has the right to participate in University governance activities. These rights include:

1. Participation in scheduled meetings of the general faculty and of the department and program faculty committees of which they are members;

2. Contribution to the continuance and improvement of educational quality within the University;

3. Participation in the selection of new faculty;

4. Participation in decisions related to promotion, tenure and other recognition of merit, in accordance with the faculty member’s position in an academic department, program, and college or as a member of relevant committees of the University;

5. Contribution to the planning, development, and evaluation of courses and academic programs within the University in accordance with that person’s position in an academic department, program, and College or as a member of relevant committees of the University;

6. Participation in the development of University policies relating to faculty salaries, benefits, and other conditions of faculty appointment;

7. Participation in student advising as appropriate and assigned (see paragraph 4.5.7.2 Advising Students herein);

8. The right to enter into an appointment notice with the University outlining the salary, benefits, and conditions of that person’s appointment and for which a written copy of this appointment notice will be given annually; and

9. Participation in University governance via service on University Committees, Task Forces and Ad-hoc Committees, the Faculty Senate, and Faculty Senate Subcommittees.
This statement of the policy of Gannon University with respect to Academic Freedom is to serve as a guide for the teaching faculty, the governing board, and the students of the University in the interpretation and execution of their respective rights and duties. The University is deeply committed to the principles of academic freedom which the University has embodied in its mission and objectives, and which is essential to its well-being as an institution of higher learning.

Academic freedom is freedom of members of an academic community to engage in their teaching, research, service, publication, academic governance, student advisement, and corollary activities without restriction, penalty, or threat of penalty. It derives from the educational rights traditionally accorded to faculty and students to facilitate learning. Its operation depends on the mutual acknowledgment of, and respect for, the dignity and rights of all members of the academic community.

The University is committed to ensuring that all professors are accorded "a lawful freedom of inquiry and of thought and of freedom to express their minds humbly and courageously about the matters in which they enjoy competence." The University takes seriously its duty to recognize and promote the rightful academic freedom of professors in their search for truth. This faculty right to freedom in the classroom pertains to discussions within their subject, academic expertise, and competence but not to the introduction into their teaching of controversial matter which has no relation to their subject.

The principle of academic freedom also assures faculty members the right to engage off campus in political activities, and the right of free expression on all issues so long as they are not using their titles and academic position at the University in their expressions.

With regard to their activities outside the classroom, faculty members should remember that the public might judge their profession and their institution by their utterances. In the exercise of these rights, the faculty member is expected to respect the rights of the University in promoting the attainment of the mission and objectives that constitute the reason for its existence. Hence, faculty members should at all times be accurate, should exercise appropriate restraint, should show respect for the opinions of others, and clearly indicate that they are not an institutional spokesperson.

Faculty members, moreover, are expected to strive for intellectual integrity in the conduct of their classes to ensure the integrity of the academic programs of the University.
Tenured, tenure track and teaching track faculty members are expected to remain highly competent in their own academic field and in appropriate approaches and methods of teaching and learning. They should develop and maintain an understanding of related disciplines and be active and skilled in the synthesis, integration, interpretation and communication of knowledge. They are expected to keep abreast of developments in their field and to ensure that their courses, syllabi, instructional materials and techniques and teaching methods are current and appropriate. They are responsible for participating in appropriate School, Division, Program or Department, as well as College or University sponsored curriculum development programs and projects. They are encouraged to engage in innovative course and programmatic development efforts, to participate in appropriate professional seminars, workshops and colloquia and to share their ideas and the results of their scholarly and professional activities with others within the University community (see Sections 4.10 and 4.12 for University's related responsibilities).

Although Gannon University is not primarily a research institution, tenured and tenure track faculty members are expected to engage in scholarly activities (see Section 4.5). Of special value are those projects which make a direct contribution to teaching and learning at Gannon by way of relevancy to the curriculum or through projects which faculty members can directly involve their students.

Tenured and tenure track faculty members are expected to engage in scholarship appropriate to their disciplines (see Boyer model in Section 4.5 supra).
4.9.6 Community Service

The University recognizes that educators are not only professionals in a given field who function within the University but are also citizens of a larger community. Faculty members are expected to participate in those activities in which they represent Gannon in the community either because they were appointed by the University to do so or were chosen by the community group because of their affiliation with Gannon. They may also participate in community activities because of their professional field or because they are educators and citizens.
4.10 Faculty Development
University Support for Scholarly Activity, Professional Development and Professional Travel

Within the context of its obligations to students, its fiscal resources, and its facilities, the University will provide reasonable support to full-time faculty who engage in scholarly and professional activity. Full-time faculty members may apply for research and/or development funds through the Faculty Research or Faculty Development Committees. They may also apply, with the approval of their applicable Chair or Director, to their College Dean for support to participate in professional conferences and other activities. They may also apply for a reduction in instructional load and for sabbatical leave. The University strongly encourages its full-time faculty to seek financial support for instructional scholarly and professional development projects from outside sources, both governmental and independent. Recipients of reduced teaching loads and financial support for scholarly and professional activity are required to submit in a timely fashion a report on such activity to the applicable Chair or Director and the appropriate College Dean. The College Dean may also invite the faculty member to present the results of the scholarly and professional activity to an interested group of faculty members and students. If funds were received through the Faculty Research or Faculty Development Committees, a report should be submitted to the committee chair prior to the next funding cycle in order to be eligible for future funding opportunities.

Faculty are encouraged to attend meetings of professional and learned societies as a means of enhancing their scholarly/professional development. Within the limitations of its budget the University will provide financial support for such activities. University funds to support professional travel expenses are made available according to the policies set by the University or by the individual Colleges or School, Division, Program or Department as appropriate.
The Barker Institute Global Engagement Grant was established by private entrepreneurs to support faculty engagement and/or partnerships which have an international component. These funds will be used to help support global engagement activities which will contribute to the professional development of full-time faculty and professional library staff and thereby contribute to the quality of the University and its programs.

This Committee is a subcommittee of the Faculty Senate and is responsible for reviewing faculty applications submitted for the Barker Institute Global Engagement Grant and for recommending applicants for funding to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience. This Committee consists of the Chair from both the Faculty Development and Faculty Senate Committees as well as one member from both said committees. Online applications and instructions as well as eligibility criteria for this grant can be found on the Faculty Senate webpage.

The Barker Institute Global Engagement Grant Committee is composed of members from the Faculty Research and Faculty Development Committees, which have representatives from the library and from each of the colleges. The committee is responsible for evaluating all grant applications received and then forwarding all recommendations to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience, who makes the final decisions regarding fund. Funding cycles occur twice during the academic year. All full-time faculty members and professional library staff are eligible to apply for a Barker Institute Global Engagement Grant. Members of the Barker Institute Global Engagement Grant Committee are not eligible to apply for these grants while serving on the committee.
4.10.2 Educational/Professional Development Leave Policy

The University will consider requests of faculty for leaves of absence which would enhance their professional development. Leaves are granted on the assumption that the faculty member will return to regular employment at the end of the leave period. Educational/Professional Development Leave is considered a privilege and in no instance is it granted automatically. An Educational/Professional Leave is defined as leave for (1) full-time study for an advanced degree; or (2) work in the field of education or research such as a Fulbright, foundation grant or government project.

1. Eligibility: All regular full-time faculty are eligible for Educational/Professional Development Leave.

2. Duration of Educational/Professional Development Leave: Educational/Professional Development Leave is granted for a specific period of time and may be granted up to a maximum period of one year.

3. Pay during Educational/Professional Development Leave: Educational/Professional Development Leave is granted without pay.

4. Benefits during Educational/Professional Development Leave: For leaves of thirty (30) days or less all benefits will remain in effect as if the faculty member were in active service provided the faculty member continues to make any required contributions. For leaves of more than 30 days duration the following provisions apply:
   a. Medical Insurance: Benefits may be maintained provided the faculty member arranges for advance payment of any required contributions.
   b. Life Insurance: Life insurance benefits shall continue during an Educational/Professional Leave.
   c. Disability Insurance: Disability insurance benefits shall continue during an Educational/Professional Leave.

5. Retirement: No University contributions are made to retirement plans during unpaid leave. Tuition Remission: Continuation of status in effect prior to the leave of absence.

6. Seniority during Leave: Seniority will not be interrupted during any approved leave.

7. Requesting a Leave: Faculty members seeking to obtain an educational leave of absence shall submit a written request to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience through their appropriate Dean. The Provost and Vice President for Student Experience notifies the Human Resources Office of leave requests. (Leave Request Forms are available from the Human Resources Office).

8. Granting Educational Leave: Educational Professional Development Leave requires approval of the President.

9. Return from Leave: A faculty member who fails to return to work upon a mutually agreed-upon date shall be considered to have resigned that person's employment with the University.
4.10.3 Academic Contracts and Grants

All academic contracts to which the University is a party, academic grants accepted by the University, and all applications for such contracts and grants must be approved by the President on behalf of the University. If required, the approval of the Board of Trustees may vote on the grant or contract.

All contracts and grants to which the University is a party should be submitted to the Office of the President no later than one week prior to the date when the approval of the University is required. Approval may not be granted in instances in which less time is available for review.

Since the College Deans have a major responsibility for setting the direction of the research activity in their College, individual faculty planning to seek outside support for research activity must consult their College Dean on the nature of and direction of the intended research at the beginning of the research activity and well before seeking outside funding.
The Faculty Development Committee is a subcommittee of the Faculty Senate and is responsible for the allocation of the annual Faculty Development budget. These funds will be used to support activities which will contribute to the professional development of full-time faculty and professional library staff and thereby contribute to the quality of the University and its programs.

The Faculty Development Committee, appointed by the Faculty Senate, is composed of representatives from the library and each of the colleges. The committee is responsible for evaluating all grant applications received. The Committee’s recommendations are then forwarded to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience who makes final decisions regarding funding. Funding cycles occur twice during the academic year. Members of the Faculty Development Committee are eligible to apply for Faculty Development Grants while serving on the Committee as long as they recuse themselves from the funding allocation process for their application for that cycle.
4.10.4.1.0.0.0    Loss of Eligibility

Any of the following may be grounds for termination of a funded project:

1. Termination of University service;
2. Intentional misrepresentations in the grant application;
3. Failure to properly document expenditures; and
4. Failure to report progress at the end of your funding cycle.
4.10.5 Sabbatical Leave for Full-Time Faculty

After seven years of full-time service at Gannon University, a faculty member may apply for a sabbatical leave. If granted a sabbatical, the faculty member must wait seven more years before reapplying for a sabbatical. Sabbatical leaves may be awarded to the full-time, tenured faculty members of the University to provide opportunities for advanced study or research that would increase the competence of the faculty member in the interest of the University. However, advanced study or research in pursuit of a graduate degree does not, in itself, constitute the basis for award of sabbatical leave. The Provost and Vice President for Student Experience awards sabbatical leaves, following consultation with the appropriate Chair or Director and the applicable College Dean. Application forms for sabbatical leave are available in the offices of the College Deans. Completed applications are due on or before November 1.
Sabbatical leaves may be taken for a full academic year, with compensation in the amount of one-half of the salary specified in the appointment notice for that year, or for a fall or spring semester with compensation in the full amount of the salary specified in the appointment notice for that part of the year.

A faculty member on sabbatical leave shall receive a salary increment in accordance with the salary increment policy applicable to the academic year following the period of sabbatical leave. All corollary benefits remain intact during the period of sabbatical leave, subject to proportionate reduction of the benefits that are related to salary if the leave is for a full academic year.

A faculty member who is awarded a sabbatical leave will submit periodic progress reports to the College Dean and a final report to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience outlining the accomplishments as a result of the leave in terms of the purpose and objectives for which it has been awarded.

The Provost and Vice President for Student Experience will make an annual report of requests for the awards of sabbatical leave.
The implementation of this policy will be contingent upon the availability in the regular University budget of any required funds, and the feasibility of meeting, through alternate arrangement, the responsibilities of any faculty member granted sabbatical leave.

The recipient of a sabbatical leave shall be so informed prior to release of the registration schedule for the next consecutive fall semester.
The Faculty Research Committee is a subcommittee of the Faculty Senate and has the major responsibility to review applications for Faculty Research Grants submitted by faculty members and recommend projects for funding to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience. This Committee consists of faculty members from each College. (See Volume I, paragraph 1.7.6.1). Applications for Faculty Research Grants are located on the faculty senate webpage: https://my.gannon.edu/facultyandstaffresources/facultysenate/frgs/Pages/default.aspx
All full-time tenured and tenure track faculty including tenure track professional librarians are eligible to apply for Faculty Research Grant. Eligibility and deadlines can be found on the Faculty Research website at: https://my.gannon.edu/facultyandstaffresources/facultysenate/frgs/Pages/default.aspx
4.10.6.1.1.0.0 Loss of Eligibility

Any of the following may be grounds for termination of a funded project:

1. Termination of University service;

2. Intentional misrepresentations in the grant application;

3. Failure to properly document expenditures;

4. Grant recipients must submit a report on their faculty research project to be eligible for future funding opportunities. This report must be submitted by the end of your funding cycle. The submission report can be found on the faculty research website.

5. Failure to obtain written permission from the Faculty Research Committee to extend a project's completion date beyond one year following the awarding of the grant.
4.10.6.2.0.0.0 Expenses

The following are examples of expenses that may be funded by a research grant:

1. Equipment, materials and supplies including computer hardware and software.

2. Costs associated with data collection and processing including travel, computer programming services and facilities, student wages, user fees, interlibrary loans, experiments and simulations.

3. Salaries for research assistants. The actual level of salary will be determined by the Faculty Research Committee on a case-by-case basis according to the requirements of the work as presented by the applicant.

4.12 Institutional Policies Pertaining to Faculty Working Conditions
4.12.1 Outside Employment (Full-time Faculty)

It is the professional responsibility of all full-time faculty to give primacy to their teaching, advising, scholarly and service responsibilities at Gannon University. Additionally, it is recognized that outside professional activities may be beneficial to the faculty member and are encouraged by the University. During the appointment period outside employment is permitted when the following conditions are met:

1. It contributes to the professional development of the faculty member, to the recognition of the faculty member's field, to the positive reputation of the University, or to the benefit of the University's students.
2. The faculty member continues to perform the faculty member's teaching, advisory, scholarly and service responsibilities at Gannon University in a satisfactory matter.
3. It is expected that such outside employment will not encompass more than the equivalent of one day per week.

It is the responsibility of each faculty member to get permission from that faculty member's Departmental Chair or Program Director and College Dean regarding that faculty member's outside employment. The permission for outside employment may be rescinded by the college dean if, in the opinion of the dean, the faculty member is not performing the faculty member's duties in a satisfactory matter. Continuing outside employment shall be reviewed at least annually, normally before the start of classes in the fall. For purposes of this section "outside employment" are those compensated activities, which are related to the faculty member's academic specialty, but which involve persons, entities or governmental agencies other than Gannon University or programs administered through or sponsored by an outside entity. Examples of "outside employment" include:

a. Practicing a profession on a part-time basis;

b. Providing professional, managerial, or technical consulting services to an outside entity;

c. Compensated service on a committee, panel, or commission established by an outside entity;

d. Participating in or accepting a compensated commission for a musical, dramatic, dance, or other artistic performance or event sponsored by an outside entity;

e. Teaching at an institution other than Gannon University;

Appeal: If permission for outside employment is denied or rescinded by the College Dean, the faculty member may appeal the decision to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience whose decision is final.
The right to select one's methods and topics of research requires full consideration of ethical principles. Whenever research might involve significant risk of adverse ethical, physical, or psychological consequences, it must be conducted in accord with appropriate accepted professional standards and in consultation with colleagues, including Departmental Chairs and other academic officers as needed. Research involving human subjects must be approved by Gannon University's Institutional Review Board.

The right to assign tasks to students that may contribute to their own, or to general knowledge, is accompanied by the obligation not to exploit them, or to infringe their academic freedom, and to give full credit for work done by them.

A faculty member has the right to make public research findings and other products of scholarship and the right to protection against retaliation because of displeasure with that person's conclusions by others within the academic community or society at large. That faculty member has the concomitant responsibility to strive for scholarly objectivity and truth, and to distinguish purely speculative inferences and personal convictions from conclusions founded on substantial evidence.
4.12.3 Use of University Facilities and Services

University facilities may be used by faculty members in connection with academic or scholarly activities described in Section 4.9 without being subject to the requirements of prior approval or reimbursement. While faculty members may utilize the services of the secretarial staff of their respective academic unit to assist in the preparation of professional articles, papers, reviews, etc., such clerical assistance will not interfere with pre-assigned work and shall be accommodated as time permits.

Except for the use of office space assigned to a faculty member and available library services, faculty members may have access to University facilities for events in accordance with the policy on Campus Facilities Usage (Volume II, Subsection 2.10.2 Access to Facilities, General Institutional Policies). Access to University facilities is classified under one of three categories: internal, cosponsored, or external events. Internal events are official University activities. Co-sponsored events are defined as University-related events between community organizations and representatives of Gannon University. Co-sponsored events promote academic or professional development of students, faculty, and staff to benefit the University and and/or the community. External events are not University activities and require that reservation requests must be submitted to the Office of the Conferencing Manager. The use of Gannon University facilities by non-University related groups is subject to a fee.
Faculty members must be aware that the University assumes no responsibility for the competence or performance of "outside activities" engaged in by a faculty member, nor may any responsibility be implied in any advertising with respect to such activities. Faculty members may not represent themselves as acting on behalf of the University unless there is a formal contract establishing a formal relationship.
Faculty members, as citizens, are free to engage in political activities. Any member of the faculty who wishes to engage in direct political activity which will involve a substantial amount of time away from the performance of University responsibilities (e.g., holding or running for political office, managing a campaign, directing group action on behalf of a political candidate or issue) is expected to work out a mutual agreement for leave of absence with the approval of the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience as set forth in Subsection 4.10.2 Educational/Professional Development Leave Policy of this Volume IV before undertaking such activity. The terms of such leave of absence will be set forth in writing.
4.12.6 Compliance and Enforcement

The University expects faculty members to seek advice from the applicable Department Chair and College Dean who shall be available for advance consultation with respect to potential conflicts between a faculty member's primary responsibility and outside activities.

If the applicable College Dean is concerned about whether a faculty member is meeting the standards of this policy, the College Dean will discuss this with the faculty member. If a satisfactory resolution cannot be reached, the College Dean will meet with the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience and the faculty member to resolve the issue. The decision rests with the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience.
4.12.7 Intellectual Property Policy

See Volume II, Subsection 2.7.2.
The initial salary for faculty members at the University is determined based upon a salary range established for full-time faculty members by rank, discipline, and market factors. Thereafter, adjustments may be made based upon merit and promotion. Additional benchmark adjustments based on merit are made from time to time based on the recommendations of the University Compensation Committee.
4.14 Faculty Grievance Policy

See Volume III, Subsection 3.4 for general policies and Volume IV, Subsection 4.8.7 General Procedures Regarding Layoff for grievance processes and procedures to be followed by faculty members.
4.15 Policy of Professional Integrity

All members of the University community must maintain ethical behavior in relationship to their profession. Those behaviors reflect the status, character, and standards of the given profession and are in accordance with the accepted principles of right and wrong that govern the conduct of a profession.

Any member of the University community who engages in unprofessional or unethical conduct is subject to disciplinary action.
While the adoption of policy and its changes is ultimately the prerogative of the Board of Trustees, members from all segments of the University community enjoy the privilege and responsibility of contributing to the formulation and alteration of the University's policy statements. Since the faculty is the group most affected by the policies of Volume IV, the faculty should be actively involved in keeping it up to date.
Proposed revisions, additions or deletions to; Volume IV, Volume I Subsection 1.6.2 The Faculty of Gannon University, or Volume I Section 1.7 The General Policy, may be brought forth by any individual or committee to which Faculty Senate makes appointments. However, the proposed change(s) must be approved by a vote of the full-time faculty as defined by Faculty Senate in Volume I, subsection 1.6.2.2.1.e.
Manner of Submission

The proposal shall be presented to the President of the Faculty Senate in the following manner:

1. Any copy of the proposed change worded as the submitter wishes it to appear in the manual;

2. A brief explanation of the reason(s) for the change shall accompany the proposal;

3. Notification of the proposed revision shall be made at least one (1) week before the next Faculty Senate meeting so time may be allotted for consideration of the proposal at the next Faculty Senate meeting; and

4. The submitter shall then bring the proposal before the Faculty Senate for approval.
The Faculty Senate may then choose one of the following courses of action:

1. Approve the proposal without change or comment and take the proposal to the full faculty for a vote;

2. With the consent of the submitter, alter the wording of the proposal before the Faculty Senate and approve the proposal as amended and take the proposal to the full faculty for a vote; or

3. Recommend substantive changes and send the proposal back to its submitter for revision.
4.16.1.3.0.0.0  Action by the General Faculty

Should the proposal be endorsed or altered under paragraphs 4.16.1.2(1) or (2) above, the President of the Faculty Senate shall schedule a general meeting of all full-time faculty as defined in Subsection 4.16.1 above.

1. The faculty shall be presented, in writing, with the proposal and its rationale at the general faculty meeting for discussion.

2. The faculty shall have a minimum of two (2) weeks before a second general faculty meeting may be called to vote on the matter.

3. If more than half of the full-time faculty submit ballots and if a majority of the submitted ballots are in favor of the proposal, this shall constitute approval to be forwarded to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience for Administrative Approval.
4.16.2 Administrative Approval

After the Faculty Senate has endorsed and the faculty have approved a change in this Volume IV of the Policy Manual, or Volume I, Subsection 1.6.2 The Faculty of Gannon University, it shall submit the recommended change to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience and the President of the University.

If the proposed change(s) are approved by the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience and the President of the University, the President shall present the proposed change(s) to the Board of Trustees for consideration, as appropriate.

If the President or the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience disagree with the proposed change(s), the President and the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience, citing reasons for the disagreements, shall meet with the Executive Committee of the Faculty Senate to discuss the next steps. These steps may include further study, modification, or resubmission of the proposal.
Any change to this Volume IV proposed by the University administration shall be submitted to the Faculty Senate for review and comment prior to any such change being implemented. The proposal shall include a copy of the proposed change as it is intended to appear in the manual and a brief explanation of the reason(s) for the change.

The Faculty Senate will, following whatever procedure it deems appropriate, review the proposed change and provide comments on it to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience or the Vice President for Planning and Finance, depending upon the administrative division proposing the change. The Faculty Senate's comments may, but need not, take the form of a recommendation: (i) to adopt the proposed change, (ii) to amend or modify the proposed change and adopt it such amended or modified form, or (iii) that the proposed change is not adopted.

After receiving the Faculty Senate's comments on the proposed change, the President and the appropriate Vice President may: (i) accept or reject the comments and any recommendation(s) contained therein and present the proposed change in its original form or as amended or modified to the Board of Trustees for its approval, (ii) elect not to present the proposed change to the Board of Trustees, or (iii) further discuss the proposed change with the Faculty Senate.
4.16.4  Board of Trustees Approval

1. Before definitive action on Policy Manual revision proposals, the Board of Trustees may commission a subcommittee of its members to meet with the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience and the President of the University, and the Executive Committee of the Faculty Senate to discuss final adjustments in the revised texts;

2. The Board of Trustees shall either approve or reject the proposed revision; and

3. The Board of Trustees shall retain the right, in the best interest of the University and in its fiduciary capacity, to alter the provisions of this Volume IV of the Policy Manual after following the procedures in this Section 4.16 Revision of this Volume IV.
4.16.5   Emergency Procedure

If any provision of Volume IV of the Policy Manual is in conflict with federal, state, or local law or ordinance or is otherwise illegal, invalid or unenforceable to any extent, the remainder of Volume IV of the Policy Manual and the application of the provision in question to persons or circumstances other than those to which the provision is improper, shall not be affected. In addition, the Board of Trustees shall act to bring the University into compliance with such law, ordinance, or invalidity, and the Policy Manual will be amended as soon as possible, providing none of these laws are in conflict with the Mission of the University.

5.0.0.0.0.0 Introduction

Revision Date: 1/27/2009      Approval Date: 1/27/2009      Current Version

Volume V of the Gannon University Policy Manual contains employment policies that pertain to administrators and staff of the University (hereafter referred to jointly as staff). Additional policies that pertain only to members of the faculty are provided in Volume IV, and policies that pertain to faculty and staff are provided in Volume III. General policies that affect all members of the campus community (including students) are set forth in Volume II. Policies on governance and administration are found in Volume I.

Nothing contained in Volume V of the Institutional Policy Manual, any other manual, policy, work-rule, or oral or written statement of Gannon University is to be viewed as a contract or as creating any promises or any contractual right of any kind to employment or benefits of employment.
5.1 General Staff Personnel Policies

5.1.1.0.0.0 Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Policy

Revision Date: 10/25/2017    Approval Date: 10/25/2017    Current Version

See Volume III, Subsection 3.1.1 Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Policy.
5.1.2.0.0.0.0  Dress Policy

Revision Date: 1/27/2009   Approval Date: 1/27/2009   Current Version

Gannon encourages staff to always present a professional appearance and image. Common sense, good taste, good judgment and professionalism should be reflected in the personal appearance of all employees. It is understood that one standard cannot be applied to each work environment. Some positions involve functions that are best performed in standard business attire while others are best performed in attire better suited to physical activity. In certain areas, management may determine that the nature of the work requires wearing jeans or other work clothes. Department directors should be able to answer questions that may arise.
5.1.2.1.0.0.0 Guidelines

Business Casual attire is a slightly more relaxed standard than traditional business attire. Business Casual attire is acceptable to wear on Fridays or the last scheduled workday of any workweek throughout the year and every day during the summer months (dates will be designated annually). Employees should take their day's schedule into consideration when determining if traditional business attire or business casual would be more appropriate.

Gannon Casual attire is intended to promote the identity and spirit of Gannon University on Fridays during the summer and is a slightly more relaxed standard than Business Casual. Gannon Casual expands on Business Casual and includes wearing jeans and sneakers when worn with Gannon logo apparel or with Gannon's colors.

For more information about Dress Policy, visit: http://www.gannon.edu/depts/hr/Policy/
5.1.2.2.0.0.0 Uniforms

Staff of the Physical Plant and Campus Police and Safety departments wear uniforms. Gannon provides these uniforms, and it is the employee's responsibility to maintain them, care for them, and wear them in a professional manner. Uniformed staff for the Campus Police and Safety Office are required to always wear their uniforms while on the job.
5.1.3.0.0.0.0 Harassment Policy

Revision Date: 10/25/2017  Approval Date: 10/25/2017  Current Version

See Volume VII, Section 7.6 Code of Academic Integrity
5.1.4.0.0.0.0  Intellectual Property

Revision Date: 7/22/2009  Approval Date: 7/22/2009  Current Version

See Volume II, Subsection 2.7
5.1.5.0.0.0.0  Outside Employment

Staff members may, with permission of their Vice President, engage in outside employment. Care must be taken to assure that such activities are clearly separated from the individual's duties to the University and that the activities do not interfere with the individual's ability to support Gannon's mission and to meet the performance standards of their position with the University.

All staff members will be judged by the same performance standards and will be subject to the University's scheduling needs, regardless of any existing outside work requirements.

If the University determines that an individual's outside work interferes with performance or the ability to meet the requirements of the University as they are modified from time to time, that person may be asked to curtail or terminate the outside employment if that person wishes to remain with the University.

Outside employment that constitutes a conflict of interest is prohibited. Staff members may not receive any income or material gain from individuals outside the University for materials produced or services rendered while performing their University jobs.

Engaging in business or employment with an organization that is a supplier of goods or services to the University requires that the staff person sign the conflict-of-interest statement annually.

Engaging in business or employment with another organization that is competitive with the services offered by the University will not be approved.

Making use of a person's status with the University to further outside business interests or associating the University with a product or service offered by an outside organization in which the employee has a business interest will not be approved.

The lease or purchase of University property must be approved in writing by the Vice President for Finance and Campus Operations.
Rights and Responsibilities

Gannon staff have the right to a respectful work environment that recognizes their dignity. They have the right to work in an environment free from harassment or unlawful discrimination.

They have the right to express themselves and bring their experience to bear on the work at hand. They have the right to clearly stated job expectations.

Individuals who become Gannon staff accept the responsibility to perform the functions of their jobs effectively and in a manner that supports and contributes to Gannon's Mission and its Catholic identity.
Each year Gannon recognizes staff who have reached five-year service milestones. Service dates are based on the date of hire or rehire date and exclude any student employment. Eligibility for recognition is determined as of December 31 of each year.
5.2.1.0.0.0.0 Orientation

The Human Resources Department offers a brief orientation session to all newly hired staff. Appointments are scheduled by the Human Resources Department at the time of hire and are confirmed through department supervisors. Topics covered include but are not limited to:

1. University's mission statement;
2. Benefits;
3. Standard workweek and paid time off;
4. Pay schedule;
5. Harassment and unlawful discrimination policy;
6. Workers' compensation

The immediate supervisor arranges for the employee's training to the position, including duties and responsibilities, hours of department's operation, safety, and geography of the campus.
5.3 Employment Status

5.3.1.0.0.0 Full-time or Part-time

Revision Date: 1/27/2009    Approval Date: 1/27/2009    Current Version

Full-time staff are regularly scheduled to work a standard 37.5 or 40-hour workweek for at least ten months of the fiscal year. They are eligible for the University's benefit package, subject to the terms, conditions, and limitations of each benefit program.

Part-time staff are scheduled to work less than a standard 37.5-hour workweek. They receive all legally mandated benefits (i.e., Social Security and workers' compensation insurance). Based on their work schedule, they may qualify for vacation pay, sick pay, and participation in the retirement plan.
5.3.2.0.0.0 Temporary, Introductory, and Regular Temporary staff are hired for one year or less whether in a full-time or part-time capacity. A temporary employee hired into a full-time position for a one-year period of time is eligible for health care benefits. In all other cases, temporary staff are not eligible for benefits, nor may they use the grievance procedures.

5.3.2.2.0.0.0 Introductory Staff

Introductory staff are those whose performance is being evaluated to determine whether further employment with the University is appropriate. Staff who satisfactorily complete the 90-calendar day introductory period will become regular staff. The following practices apply during an introductory period:

1. The introductory period may be extended under special circumstances as determined by the supervisor.
2. During this period Gannon may terminate employment for any reason without notice.
3. During this period the employee is not eligible to use the University Review Council.
4. During this period the employee is not eligible for paid time off with the exception of University holidays.
5. At the conclusion of the introductory period the employee will receive a performance evaluation.
5.3.2.3.0.0.0  Regular Staff

Regular staff are those whose work performance has proven satisfactory upon completion of the introductory period. They may be exempt or non-exempt, administrators or staff, full-time or part-time.
An employee's exempt or non-exempt classification is determined based on guidelines published by the United States Department of Labor and administered by the University's Human Resources Department.

In general, exempt staff hold executive, managerial, or professional positions. Exempt staff are excluded from specific provisions of federal and state wage and hour laws and are, therefore, not entitled to overtime pay.

All other staff are deemed to be non-exempt and are entitled to overtime pay under the specific provisions of federal and state laws.
5.4.0.0.0.0 Employment Classifications

It is the intent of the University to clarify and define employment classifications so that staff understand their employment status and benefit eligibility. Gannon staff are at times referred to as exempt or non-exempt when describing certain legal rights. When grouped by general duties, staff may be referred to as executive, managerial, professional, clerical, etc. Different employee categories are listed below.
5.4.1.0.0.0 Executive Administrators

Revision Date: 1/27/2009    Approval Date: 1/27/2009    Current Version

Executive Administrators are defined as "exempt" under the Fair Labor Standards Act and include those staff whose primary duty is the management of a major division, have the authority to hire or fire, and direct two or more full-time staff (i.e., president, vice presidents, deans, or equivalent).
Managerial Administrators are defined as "exempt" under the Fair Labor Standards Act and include those staff whose primary duty is the management of a department or subdivision, have input into hiring and firing decisions, and direct two or more full-time staff (i.e., directors, associate directors, assistant directors, supervisors, or equivalent).
5.4.3.0.0.0 Professional Administrators

Professional Administrators are defined as "exempt" under the Fair Labor Standards Act and include those staff whose primary duty is the performance of office or non-manual work directly related to the management or general business operation of the University (i.e., accountants, systems analysts, computer programmers, student personnel professionals, counselors, directors, associate directors, assistant directors in support activities, or equivalent).
Office Support Staff are defined as "non-exempt" under the Fair Labor Standards Act and include those staff whose assignments typically are associated with clerical activities or are specifically of a secretarial nature (secretaries, clerks, receptionists, stacks attendants, telephone coordinator, or equivalent).
5.4.6.0.0.0 Skilled Crafts Persons and Maintenance Staff

Skilled Crafts Persons and Maintenance Staff are defined as "non-exempt" under the Fair Labor Standards Act and include those staff whose assignments typically require a range of special manual skills, as well as a thorough and comprehensive knowledge of the processes involved in the work, some of which may have been acquired through on-the-job training, experience through apprenticeship, or other formal training programs (i.e. plumbers, carpenters, preventative maintenance technicians, electricians, HVAC technicians, maintenance workers, press operators, or equivalent).

5.5 Paid Time Off for Staff

5.5.1.0.0.0 Holidays

Revision Date: 10/25/2017 Approval Date: 10/25/2017 Current Version

Official University Holidays are set forth in Volume III, paragraph 3.6.3.2 Holidays.
Due to the necessity of maintaining a seven-day, 24-hour operation, non-exempt security staff may be granted "buy-back holidays" rather than "designated paid holidays." Buy-back holidays are requested in the same manner as vacation. It is the supervisor's responsibility to indicate whether a holiday is termed as a "designated paid holiday" or a buy-back holiday."
5.5.3.0.0.0  Vacation Benefits

Vacation benefits are offered to allow staff to enjoy paid time off for personal and recreational activities. Staff scheduled for at least a 20-hour workweek for 12 months are entitled to vacation. Vacation is accrued on a monthly basis at one-twelfth of an employee's annual vacation benefit. Temporary staff are not entitled to paid vacation.

Staff are required to submit written requests for vacation and must obtain approval from their supervisors as far in advance as possible. All vacation requests are given full consideration; however, a request may be denied if the time off adversely affects the functions of the department. Competitive requests for the same time off are decided in favor of the staff member with greater departmental seniority.

Vacation must be taken in the fiscal/calendar year during which it is accrued and may not be carried forward to the next year with the exception of the following circumstance. If an employee is asked to forgo the use of vacation time because of work requirements, the accrued vacation time may be carried over into the next fiscal/calendar year. Accrued vacation days rolled over into a new fiscal/calendar year must be used within the first three months of the New Year; otherwise, they will be forfeited. Supervisors must submit written requests for such extensions to their respective vice presidents and provide a copy to the Human Resources Department.

Vacation time shall be taken as half or whole days, unless otherwise approved in advance by the supervisor.

If an employee becomes ill during a vacation period, the employee may change the absence to sick leave if supported by medical certification.

Vacation days continue to accrue during an approved Family and Medical Leave (FML) and any subsequent paid medical leave. Staff on long term disability leave do not accrue vacation benefits. An employee cannot use these accrued vacation days until after the employee has returned to work.

Vacation pay is granted only when time off is actually taken. All accrued, unused vacation time computed at the employee's hourly or daily rate of compensation shall be paid to the employee in the event of termination, retirement, or death (paid to the beneficiary), provided the employee has completed three or more months of continuous service. However, if an employee leaves Gannon and has taken vacation days prior to accrual, the time off will be deducted from the employee's last paycheck.

During the first year of service vacation shall be prorated based on the schedules below.

5.5.4.0.0.0 Paid Sick Time

Revision Date: 10/25/2017  Approval Date: 10/25/2017  Current Version

Gannon provides staff who have completed their 90-day introductory periods with paid sick time as indicated in the charts below. The amount of paid time off an employee qualifies for is determined by the employee's exempt or non-exempt classification and length of service. Exempt staff accrue "salary continuation" based on their years of service. Non-exempt staff accrue "sick days" based on their length of service. Paid sick time is prorated for regular part-time staff. Accumulated sick time is salary protection that may be used to provide income during an extended absence due to illness, injury, or hospitalization. (See the Family and Medical Leave and Extended Medical Leave policies in Volume III, paragraph 3.6.3.7 Medical Leaves) Please note that if an extended illness lasts longer than the number of sick days accrued, time off becomes unpaid.

Temporary staff are not entitled to paid sick leave.
Non-Exempt Staff

Non-exempt staff accrue sick time according to the chart below:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Years of Service</th>
<th>Sick Days Per Month</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>0 to &lt; 5 years</td>
<td>1.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5 to &lt; 10 years</td>
<td>1.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Over 10 years</td>
<td>2.0</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Non-exempt staff may accumulate up to 120 days of sick time.

1. 120 days of sick time = 900 hours based on 37.5-hour workweek.
2. 120 days of sick time = 960 hours based on a 40-hour workweek.
5.5.4.3.0.0.0  Utilization and Reporting of Sick Time

Revision Date: 10/25/2017   Approval Date: 10/25/2017   Current Version

Staff may use sick time with supervisory approval for the following reasons:

1. The employee's own illness or injury.
2. Dental or medical appointments that cannot be scheduled outside the standard workday.
3. Illness or injury of a spouse, child, or parent, if the employee's attendance is required. Occasional absences in these instances should be approved in advance by the immediate supervisor and/or department head and should not exceed three days per year.
4. Staff are to apply for a Family Medical Leave for absences that exceed three consecutive workdays. (See the Family and Medical Leave and Extended Medical Leave policies in Volume III, paragraph 3.6.3.7 Medical Leaves)

Staff must report their absences according to the following procedures:

1. Employees must notify their supervisor of any absence and the expected duration of the absence as soon as possible but no later than one hour after the scheduled start of the workday.
2. Gannon realizes that there may be times when lateness is unavoidable or that employees may not be able to notify their supervisor in advance regarding absences. In either of these instances’ employees shall report to their supervisor the circumstances within one hour of their normal starting time, or as soon as possible.
3. Failure to notify a supervisor within the required time frame will result in an unexcused absence. If a supervisor does not hear from the employee for three consecutive workdays, the assumption will be made that the individual has resigned the position.
4. If an illness or absence exceeds three consecutive workdays and appropriate forms have been completed and submitted, including the attending physician's statement, the employee will be considered to be on Family and Medical Leave.
5. Employees on FML shall continue to maintain regular contact with Human Resources until they are able to return to work.
5.5.4.4.0.0 Personal Leave: Non-Exempt Staff

The University realizes that certain emergencies or business matters will occasionally arise necessitating an employee’s absence from work. For this reason, the University permits non-exempt staff to use three days a year of accumulated sick leave as personal days for such purposes.

1. Personal Days are intended to cover occasional one-day absences for emergencies or business matters which cannot be handled after normal working hours.
2. Personal Days, except for emergencies, should be requested and approved in advance by the supervisor.
3. Personal Days should be recorded on an Absentee Report and accompany the timecard.

1. Personal Days are charged against accumulated sick leave.
2. Professional Technicians observe exempt time off benefits which do not provide for the use of sick time in the event of an emergency or business time. However, with prior approval of a supervisor, a Professional Technician can flex the weekly work schedule to make up for hours lost due to an emergency or business time off.
5.5.4.5.0.0.0  Physician's Certification

Revision Date: 11/10/2016  Approval Date: 11/10/2016  Current Version

In the event that an absence of three days or more or any hospitalization (including inpatient and outpatient procedures), extends beyond three days or inpatient hospitalization occurs, the University requires a physician's statement(s) to indicate the reason for the employee's absence and to release of the employee back to work.

In the event that the absence is due to sickness and falls either the day before or the day after a paid holiday, a physician's statement may be requested.

In the event that an employee becomes ill during a vacation period, the employee may change the absence to sick leave if supported by medical certification.

In the event that an employee has been counseled regarding attendance, a physician's statement may be requested even if the absence is only for one day.
5.5.4.6.0.0.0  Sick Pay at Termination

Revision Date: 1/27/2009   Approval Date: 1/27/2009   Current Version

Staff are not paid for accumulated sick leave at the time employment is terminated with the University.
5.6.0.0.0.0  Salary Administration Policies

Revision Date: 1/27/2009   Approval Date: 1/27/2009   Current Version

Gannon seeks to assure that staff receive a competitive compensation. To that end each position is assigned a salary grade. A salary grade has a minimum value, a midpoint value, and a maximum value. Salary survey data for similar positions reported in national, regional, and local markets guide the assignment of salary grades to positions. When evaluating survey data, consideration is given to skill requirements, effort, responsibility, and working conditions within the classification of each position.

Dividing an employee's annual salary or hourly rate by the midpoint of that person's respective salary grade produces a quotient that is referred to as a compensation ratio. This ratio indicates how an employee's annual salary or hourly rate compares to the midpoint of that employee's salary grade.
5.6.1.0.0.0.0  Merit Increases

Merit increases are based on performance and upon the guidelines established in Gannon's annual budget. Staff will receive notice of any increase on or before July 1.
The performance appraisal is intended to be a continual process during the year but is formally documented once a year. Employees will receive a copy of their written evaluations each year and be given the opportunity to review and discuss it with their supervisor. The foundation of performance evaluations shall be standards or goals established in the last review and/or during the introductory period. The original copy of an employees' evaluation is placed in their personnel file maintained in the Human Resources Department. Evaluations are considered when making recommendations for merit increases, promotions, and other personnel actions. Employees who believe their evaluation does not accurately portray their performance may schedule a meeting to discuss it with the Director of Human Resources or with a senior administrator from their division. Subsequent to such a meeting, employees may also submit a written statement to be attached to their review and placed in their personnel file.
5.6.3.0.0.0 Seniority Status

Revision Date: 1/27/2009  Approval Date: 1/27/2009  Current Version

Seniority is defined as the length of continuous employment (excluding student employment) since the most recent date of hire, and excludes temporary, adjunct, clinical, and visiting professor appointments. Seniority stops accruing at any break in service as a result of resignation, discharge, lay-off, or over-extending a leave of absence.
5.6.4.0.0.0  Reclassifications and Transfers

Revision Date: 1/27/2009   Approval Date: 1/27/2009   Current Version

Gannon's needs change from time-to-time. In order to meet these needs, Gannon may choose to do one of the following:

1. Reclassification: A reclassification takes place when the duties and responsibilities for a given position substantially change. The incumbent may be retained provided the incumbent possesses the qualifications required for the reclassified position. If the incumbent is not qualified, the position will be posted.

2. Transfer: A transfer may be lateral or downward: lateral movement is a transfer to a position at a similar level of responsibility with no change in pay; downward movement is a transfer to a position at a lesser level of responsibility normally accompanied by a reduction in salary. A transfer does not affect seniority within the University; however, it will affect seniority within a departmental seniority.
5.7.1.0.0.0.0  Pay Period

Revision Date: 1/27/2009  Approval Date: 1/27/2009  Current Version

One pay period consists of two consecutive weeks, Sunday through Saturday.
5.7.2.0.0.0  Workweek Defined

1. Administrators: A normal workweek for executives, managers, and professional administrators is 37.5 hours, notwithstanding expectations incumbent upon them due to the demands of their respective duties and responsibilities.

2. Professional Technicians: A normal workweek is 37.5 hours, Monday through Friday. The standard workday is 7.5 hours per day. Supervisors will inform staff of their respective work schedules.

3. Office Support Staff: A normal workweek is 37.5 hours, Monday through Friday. The standard workday is 7.5 hours per day. Supervisors will inform staff of their respective work schedules.

4. Skilled Crafts Persons and Maintenance Staff: A normal workweek is 37.5 hours, Monday through Friday. The standard workday is 7.5 hours per day. Supervisors will inform staff of their respective work schedules.

5. Distribution, Custodial, and Grounds Workers: A normal workweek is 40 hours, Monday through Friday. The standard workday is 8 hours per day. Supervisors will inform staff of their respective work schedules.

6. Police Officers and Security Staff: A normal workweek is 40 hours with a varied work schedule. The standard workday is 8 hours per day. Supervisors will inform staff of their respective work schedules.

Gannon reserves the right to adjust work schedules within a workweek or a pay period.
5.7.3.0.0.0 Overtime

Occasionally, there may be circumstances that require non-exempt staff to work extended hours. In these instances, the employee may be paid overtime or given time off during the same biweekly pay period. Advance notice will be given in all but the most unusual circumstances (i.e. inclement weather).

Only in the most infrequent and unusual circumstances should overtime be worked without prior approval. Otherwise, overtime must be approved in advance.

When calculating overtime hours, hours worked include hours actually worked, holiday pay, vacation pay, jury pay, and bereavement pay.

Overtime is paid as follows:

1. Professional Technicians: At straight time for all hours worked between 37.5 hours and 40 hours in a workweek. At the rate of one-and-a-half times the basic straight time hourly wage for all hours worked in excess of 40 hours in the normal workweek.

2. Office Support Staff: At the rate of one-and-a-half times the basic straight time hourly wage for hours worked in excess of 37.5 hours in the normal workweek.

3. Skilled Crafts Persons and Maintenance Staff: At straight time for all hours worked between 37.5 hours and 40 hours in a workweek. At the rate of one-and-a-half times the basic straight time hourly wage for all hours worked in excess of 40 hours in the normal workweek.

4. Distribution Staff, Custodial Staff, and Grounds Staff: At the rate of one-and-a-half times the basic straight time hourly wage for all hours worked in excess of 40 hours in the normal workweek.

5. Police Officers and Security Staff: At the rate of one-and-a-half times the basic straight time hourly wage for all hours worked in excess of 40 hours in the normal workweek.

6. Any non-exempt employee having left work without the expectation of returning before the employee's next scheduled shift and who is subsequently called back to work because of an emergency, will be paid one-and-a-half times the base hourly wage for all hours recorded as worked due to the emergency call-in (minimum of two hours).

7. Any non-exempt employee called into work or whose shift is extended to assist with snow removal will be paid at the rate of one-and-a-half times the basic straight time hourly wage for all hours recorded.

Time off in the same pay period:
1. Gannon reserves the right to adjust work schedules within a workweek or a pay period.

2. Gannon University may give an employee one-and-a-half hours unpaid time off for every hour of overtime worked, as long as the time off is given within the same biweekly pay period that the overtime is worked (not in the same workweek) and provided the overtime premium is paid for the actual overtime hours worked.
5.7.4.0.0.0 Time Entry

Revision Date: 1/27/2009   Approval Date: 1/27/2009   Current Version

Non-exempt staff are required to record their hours worked and time off on a daily basis according to the Fair Labor Standards Act. Time may be entered on-line or by timecard, depending upon departmental practices. Supervisors must approve all hours worked and time off on a weekly basis.
5.7.5.0.0.0.0  Pay Day

Revision Date: 10/25/2017  Approval Date: 10/25/2017  Current Version

The Friday immediately following the second Saturday of the pay period is payday. Direct deposits will be available to staff's accounts on payday by the opening of business at the employee's financial institution. Paychecks or pay advice will be delivered to each employee's workstation or mailbox. If payday falls on a holiday, pay is issued the preceding business day. Refer to the Human Resources web site for the annual pay schedule: http://www.gannon.edu/depts/hr/Payroll
5.8.0.0.0.0 Employment Termination

Termination of employment may be initiated by an employee or by the University for a variety of reasons. In addition, both the employee and the University have the right to terminate employment at will, with or without cause, at any time. Gannon University expects that staff will give at least two weeks' notice in the event they intend to leave the University's employ.

If the University initiates termination of employment, a minimum of two weeks' notice will be given except in instances where the termination is a result of a sudden emergency or a discharge for cause.

All unused accrued vacation time and floating holidays are payable at termination provided the employee has completed three months of continuous employment. Some benefits may be continued at the employee's expense if the employee so chooses. The employee will be notified in writing of the benefits that may be continued and of the terms, conditions, and limitations of such continuance. If an employee resigns with less than six months' seniority, no payment will be made for any unused accrued vacation.
When conditions arise necessitating a reduction in work force or the dismissal of an employee for reasons other than cause, the University believes that some payment should be made to the employee that will assist the individual in making an adjustment until other employment is found. Should a layoff become necessary, Gannon's decision on staffing will be based upon skills and abilities required to effectively meet the needs of the University. Every effort will be made to give regular staff two weeks' notice of any impending layoff. Two weeks' pay may be given in lieu of notice except in cases where layoffs are caused by emergencies or an Act of God.
5.8.1.1.0.0.0  Benefits during Temporary Layoffs

Revision Date: 1/27/2009   Approval Date: 1/27/2009   Current Version

A temporary layoff is any period of 30 days or less. Benefits will be retained for persons in temporary layoff status.
5.8.1.2.0.0.0  Benefits during Permanent Layoff

Revision Date: 1/27/2009    Approval Date: 1/27/2009    Current Version

A layoff because of elimination of a position is considered to be permanent and benefits will terminate according to the respective policies, insurance, and retirement plan provisions.
Recall of staff temporarily laid off will be on the basis of ability to perform the work, past performance, and length of service. Staff permanently laid off are encouraged to apply for rehire.
5.8.2.0.0.0  Termination Pay

Termination pay is granted when an employee is permanently separated from the University because that person's services are no longer required due to lack of work, organizational restructuring, or an inability to satisfactorily perform the duties of the position. The amount of termination pay received is based upon years of service.

<table>

If an employee is terminated because of poor attendance and/or misconduct, termination pay is not given. Introductory or temporary staff are not entitled to termination pay. Termination pays for those eligible shall be paid at the regular time each check is due until the entire severance pay allowance is paid out.
5.8.3.0.0.0.0  Retirement

Staff may retire at any age. However, for the purpose of retirement benefits, Gannon has established 55 as the early retirement age.
5.8.4.0.0.0 Exit Interview

Revision Date: 1/27/2009    Approval Date: 1/27/2009    Current Version

Upon leaving Gannon for any reason, staff are invited to meet with the Human Resources Department for an exit interview. The purpose of this meeting is to document the reason for leaving, review final pay, review benefits, make arrangements for the settlement of all accounts with the University, and to return all University property (keys, library books, etc.).
Performance expectations and standards exist to assure that the University environment is professional and that expected outcomes are achieved. When necessary, faculty or staff members in leadership positions will take corrective action when the performance of a colleague under their direction impedes the accomplishment of University outcomes. Corrective Action does not pertain to introductory or temporary faculty or staff members.

See Subsection 3.1.5 Corrective Action of Volume III for a description of the steps in corrective action.

1. Insubordination;
2. Inefficiency, incompetence, or inability in the performance of duties;
3. Refusal to obey directions or accept assignments; refusal to work required overtime;
4. Sleeping during work hours;
5. Conducting personal business on the job;

9. Dishonesty, including falsifying employment application, or records of hours worked, or expense vouchers;
10. Conviction of a criminal act or illegal activity reasonably related to conduct relevant to the workplace;
11. Violating the University’s harassment and unlawful discrimination policy;
12. Unlawful manufacture, distribution, dispensing, possession or use of controlled substances;
13. Unauthorized possession, use, or distribution of alcohol on University property; possession, use, or distribution of alcohol in conjunction with University activities not on University property shall be in compliance with applicable federal laws, state laws, and local ordinance;

14. Reporting to work under the influence of illegal/illicit drugs or alcohol;

6.1.2 Academic Forgiveness Policy

6.1.2.1 Undergraduate Academic Forgiveness Policy

Undergraduate

Gannon University's undergraduate academic forgiveness policy applies to former Gannon students whose prior academic performance was unsatisfactory. To qualify, a former student:

1. Must not have been enrolled in any credit course at Gannon in the prior five years.
2. Must submit an application for readmission along with an essay requesting academic forgiveness. The essay should explain how the student has overcome the prior barriers to academic success, why the student believes they are ready to resume their studies at this time, and what steps the student has taken to ensure future academic success; and
3. Must not have been previously granted Academic Forgiveness.

Upon readmission and successful completion of 24 credit hours of coursework with a minimum grade of C in all courses, the student's transcript will be adjusted to reflect academic forgiveness. The Registrar will continue to maintain a record that reflects prior coursework and indicate on the current transcript (or at an appropriate location on the continuous transcript) that "This student was granted academic forgiveness this date; the GPA reflects only grades recorded from this date forward." The cumulative hours completed will include prior coursework with grades of C or better.

The student is responsible to contact the appropriate Dean's Office at the time of successful completion of the 24 credit hours of coursework to initiate the process of transcript adjustment. The Dean's Office (or designate) will verify successful course completion and notify the Registrar to apply academic forgiveness adjustment to the transcript. Additional information is provided in Appendix 6.6.3.

Notes: The application will be reviewed by the Director of Admissions, the Dean of the college to which the student is applying, and the Director of Counseling Services (or their respective representatives) who must concur in the decision to grant academic forgiveness.

The Academic Forgiveness policy does not change any of the requirements for obtaining a bachelor's degree.

Students granted Academic Forgiveness will be eligible to receive academic honors at graduation consistent with the policy applying to transfer students.
Purpose and Scope

The Academic Forgiveness Policy is intended to assist former Gannon University graduate students whose cumulative Gannon University Graduate GPA is below 3.00 to enroll in a graduate program without having to overcome the burden of prior unsatisfactory academic performance. Any former student who has not been enrolled in graduate course work for at least 24 consecutive months is eligible to apply for academic forgiveness. Academic forgiveness sets aside all former grades earned as a Gannon graduate student so that previous grades will not be calculated into the student’s cumulative graduate GPA.
Credits for courses with grades of B or better earned in a prior graduate program may transfer into the new graduate program and count towards total credits needed for degree completion in the new program. The courses themselves will need to be evaluated by the new Program Director to ascertain whether they match an equivalent course in the new program; otherwise, they will be electives. Please note, there is no guarantee that prior credits will transfer into the new program. Transferability of credits is dependent on program curriculum and program discretion. Grades for courses with a B or better (and all other grades earned in a prior graduate program) do not carry into the new graduate program under the academic forgiveness policy.

Graduate students who were dismissed from a Gannon University graduate degree program due to academic action (i.e., cumulative GPA was less than the required for the degree program enrolled), are not automatically readmitted. Students dismissed for unsatisfactory academic performance must apply for readmission through the Office of Graduate Admissions. Applications for readmission must be submitted in advance of the term in which the graduate student intends to enroll.

Eligibility

To be eligible for academic forgiveness, the student must:

a. Be accepted through the readmission process with the Office of Graduate Admissions to a graduate degree program other than that for which they were previously enrolled.

b. Submit an Academic Forgiveness Request Form (sample located in 6.6.4) to the Program Director of the program they wish to be admitted to; this request must be approved by the Program Director and Dean of the College before the student can register for any graduate credits in the program.

c. Earn a minimum grade point average of at least 3.0 in the first nine (9) graduate credit hours completed since returning.

d. Academic forgiveness will not apply to doctoral or clinical doctorate programs.

Effects of Approved Academic Forgiveness

Assuming the above eligibility requirements are met, the following will happen: a. All graduate-level grades earned at Gannon University prior to reentry are excluded from the calculation of the overall graduate GPA.
b. Each grade that is subject to this policy will remain on the student's official graduate transcript, but academic forgiveness sets aside all former grades earned as a Gannon University graduate student such that previous grades will not be calculated into the student’s cumulative graduate GPA.

c. All former grades earned at Gannon University in a graduate program of below a “B” are excluded from counting towards any degree requirements in other Gannon University graduate programs or certificates. Prior coursework where grades of “B” or better were earned would be subject to the review of the (new) Program Director/Coordinator and the transfer credit policy in assessing the transferability of prior coursework towards new program coursework.

d. Note: There is no guarantee an application for academic forgiveness will be approved. In some cases, accreditation standards or other oversight bodies for a particular degree or certificate program may prohibit the utilization of academic forgiveness. In these cases, their standards will supersede the Gannon University policy.

Conditions

a. Any former student not enrolled in graduate course work for at least 24 consecutive months is eligible to apply for academic forgiveness.

b. Any prior semesters’ academic dishonesty violations, probations, suspensions, or dismissals noted in the student's academic records will remain.

c. Academic forgiveness cannot apply once a student earns a graduate degree or certificate.

d. Academic forgiveness can only be applied to a student's academic record one time, regardless of the number of times a student applies to or takes courses in a Gannon University graduate degree or certificate program.

e. Each appeal for academic forgiveness will be considered on a case-by-case basis. If granted, the Registrar’s Office will recalculate the GU graduate cumulative GPA accordingly. The courses and grades will remain a part of the student’s academic record. A notation will appear on the transcript indicating the student was approved for academic forgiveness.
6.1.3 Academic Grievance Policy

Current Version

Scope and Purpose:

1. This policy addresses academic grievances only. An academic grievance is defined as a complaint brought by a student regarding the University’s provision of education and academic (only) services affecting their role as a student. Complaints or grievances connected to assigned grades represent a special case to the grievance process. Grading reflects careful and deliberate assessment of a student’s performance by a faculty member. As such, the substance of grading decisions may not be delegated to the grievance process. Nevertheless, the University recognizes that in rare cases the process of grading may be subject to error or injustice. Therefore, a student who alleges an error or injustice in the grading process would follow this policy toward resolution.

2. This policy does not apply to student complaints regarding employment or alleged violations of other policies in the student handbook.

3. It is the intent that this policy to provide an efficient process, allowing for both informal and formal resolution of grievances related to academic concerns, complaints or allegations.

4. A student must initiate a grievance as close as possible to the date of the occurrence of the incident and no later than 45 days after the end of the semester in which the alleged grievance occurred. The three summer sessions are considered as one semester.

General Guidelines

Academic grievance procedures should be kept as informal as possible based on principles of mediation and conciliation. Every reasonable effort should be made to resolve any academic grievance at the lowest organizational level possible. In the event that it cannot be resolved informally, the student may seek resolution at the next higher level according to the Formal Resolution procedure.

In the event that the faculty member is no longer employed by the University or is not available within the timelines specified in these general guidelines, the student is to initiate the complaint with the faculty member’s immediate supervisor.

The student filing a grievance may have a third-party advisor, such as the University Ombudsperson; attend any meeting at which the student appears. The faculty member involved in the grievance may also have a third-party advisor approved by the University attend any meeting at which the faculty member appears. Legal counsel shall not be used by either party in this grievance process.
Informal Resolution Phase

All academic grievances begin with the informal resolution phase. This first step toward resolution of an academic grievance should begin at the lowest organizational level. The student and the faculty member or University colleague involved should meet to discuss and work toward resolution of the concern. The student should address the grievance to the faculty member or University colleague involved as soon as possible. The student should follow the established protocol regarding the levels of appeal. Formal resolution shall not occur without occurrence of the informal resolution phase.

The student may contact the University Ombudsperson for assistance in initiating the academic grievance process or at any time during the process.

Formal Resolution Phase

The formal resolution phase is used by the student when a satisfactory informal resolution has not occurred.

1. The first step in the formal resolution of an academic grievance is to submit a formal written account of the grievance to the appropriate immediate supervisor. Students may consult the Human Resources office to determine the appropriate supervisor.
   a. The written account must be submitted to the immediate supervisor within two weeks after the last meeting of the informal resolution phase.
   b. The written account should include: identification of the grievant, the respondent, the incident – date, time, place, names of witnesses, the existing rule/policy/established practice claimed to be violated and a brief statement of the desired outcome.
   c. Within three weeks of receipt of all written materials, the appropriate immediate supervisor will fact-find from involved parties and render a decision in writing via registered mail to the parties involved.

2. The second step, if needed, in the formal resolution phase occurs when and if the faculty or student is not satisfied with the immediate supervisor’s resolution of the grievance. The student or the faculty member or University colleague involved may then appeal to the next level of the organizational chart by providing a written account of the grievance process and decision.
   a. A written account must be submitted to the next level of the organizational chart within two weeks of receipt of the decision rendered by the immediate supervisor (Step 1).
   b. The written account should include: identification of the grievant, the respondent, the incident – date, time, place, names of witnesses, the existing rule/policy/established practice claimed to be violated, a copy of the decision of the immediate supervisor and a brief statement of the desired outcome.
   c. Within three weeks of receipt of all written materials, the next level of the organizational chart will fact-find from involved parties and render a resolution in writing to the parties involved.

3. The third step, if needed, in the formal resolution process is to appeal to the appropriate College Dean.
   a. The College Dean shall be given a written account of the grievance process to date. This must be submitted within two weeks of receipt of the resolution decision rendered by the next person on the organizational chart (Step 2).

b. The College Dean shall render a decision in writing to the parties involved within three weeks.

c. In the event the Dean’s resolution of the alleged academic grievance is not satisfactory to either party, the appeal shall be directed to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience.

4. The fourth step, if needed, in the formal resolution process is to appeal to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience. This step must be initiated within two weeks of receipt of the College Dean’s decision.

a. The Provost and Vice President for Student Experience shall review the written appeal and response(s) to make a determination whether or not there are sufficient grounds to hold an appeal hearing.

b. If there are insufficient grounds to hold an appeal hearing, the decision of the College Dean will be upheld.

c. If there are sufficient grounds to hold an appeal hearing, the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience shall establish an ad hoc grievance appeal panel.

i. A grievance appeal hearing panel would be established on an ad hoc basis and consist of five members for each case. The grievance appeal hearing panel shall be convened by the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience. The panel shall be composed of the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience, or her/his designee (serves as Chair), two faculty representatives chosen from the Faculty Senate, and two student representatives chosen from the Student Government Association. The Provost and Vice President for Student Experience, or her/his designee shall have a vote only in event of a tie.

1. The panel members shall conduct the business of the appeal in strict confidence, and in private. The meetings and deliberations of the panel shall be closed.

2. The panel members shall have access to the written appeals and each person involved in the grievance.

3. The panel decision shall be communicated in writing to the student, faculty member, College Dean and program director.

4. The decision of the grievance appeal panel must be submitted in writing by registered mail to both parties. This communication should include an opportunity for a member of the panel or the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience to debrief or otherwise provide further assistance to either party.

5. The decision of the grievance appeal panel is final.
6.1.4 Academic Integrity Policy
Gannon University considers the maintenance of academic integrity of utmost importance and stresses that students are responsible for thoroughly understanding this code.

Absolute integrity is expected of every Gannon student in all academic undertakings; the student must in no way misrepresent his/her work, fraudulently or unfairly advance his/her academic status, or be a party to another student’s failure to maintain integrity.

The maintenance of an atmosphere of academic honor and the fulfillment of the provisions of this code are the responsibilities of the students and faculty of Gannon University. Therefore, all students and faculty members shall adhere to the basic principles of this Code. Each student will receive the Code of Academic Integrity publication of Gannon University during Freshman Orientation or entrance into the University. Upon review of the publication, the students will be invited to sign a pledge to uphold the Academic Integrity of their work and the work of their peers.

I. Forms of Academic Dishonesty

A. Plagiarism

Plagiarism is the inclusion of someone else’s words, ideas or data as one’s own work. When a student submits work for credit that includes the words, ideas or data of others, the source of that information must be acknowledged through complete and accurate documentation, and specific footnote references, and, if verbatim statements are included, through quotation marks as well. By placing his/her name on work submitted for credit, the student certifies the originality of all work not otherwise identified by appropriate acknowledgments.

A student will avoid being charged with plagiarism if there is an acknowledgment of indebtedness.

EXAMPLES (Including but not limited to)

1. Whenever one quotes another person’s actual words.
2. Whenever one paraphrases another person’s idea, opinion or theory; and
3. Whenever one borrows facts, statistics, or other illustrative materials, unless the information is common knowledge.
4. Downloading or purchasing material from Internet without identifying appropriate acknowledgement.

B. Fabrication

Fabrication is the use of invented information or the falsification of research or other findings with the intent to deceive.

1. Copying from another student’s test paper and/or other assignments.
2. Actively facilitating another student’s copying from one’s own test paper/other assignments.

7. Hiding and/or mutilating library/classroom books and/or equipment.

8. Taking an online exam or quiz early to share question content with other students.

9. Sharing Blackboard or Gannon user ID login information with another person or external entity to submit or share class work.

II. Procedure

Formal Procedure

1. If an instructor suspects that a student has violated Gannon University’s Code of Academic Integrity, he/she will promptly notify the student involved as well as the department chair responsible for the course in question. At no time during the investigation or appeal process are students permitted to withdraw from the course. Within 10 calendar days of the discovery of the alleged violation the instructor will notify the student of the allegation and invite the student to meet to review the matter and to explain the alleged violation. If the student chooses to meet with the instructor to contest the allegation, this meeting shall be scheduled within 7 calendar days of the notification.

2. If the student is cleared of the allegation, the matter will be dropped. If not, then the instructor will inform the Dean’s Office of the violation. (The Dean’s Office to be notified is the one responsible for the course.) This Office shall then inform the instructor of the student’s number of previous violations of the academic integrity policy, if any. In consultation with the department chair the instructor will then impose a sanction upon the student. A letter detailing the sanction will be sent to the student from the instructor and copied to the three College Deans. The letter shall be sent within 10 calendar days from the date the Dean was notified. The student should be aware that admission of guilt does not eliminate or lessen the sanction imposed by the instructor.

3. The student may appeal the instructor’s decision to the Dean of the College in which the course resides. Appeals must be made within 7 calendar days of the date of the instructor’s decision. Students are expected to continue to attend class during the appeal process.

4. A hearing will be scheduled within 10 calendar days of the Dean receiving the student’s appeal. The hearing will include the Dean, the instructor, and the student. The instructor will present pertinent evidence and the student will be given the opportunity to challenge the evidence and present a defense. The student may have one guest present during the hearing, but the guest is not allowed to speak during the hearing unless permitted by the Dean.
The Dean will issue a finding based upon the evidence presented. If the Dean determines that insufficient evidence has been presented, the matter will be dropped. If the Dean finds the student in violation of the Code of Academic Integrity, he/she may support the academic sanction originally imposed by the instructor. The Dean also has the power to issue administrative sanctions (i.e., separation from the University). In considering the penalty to be imposed, the Dean shall take into account the evidence of the appeal proceeding as well as any documented previous infraction(s). A letter detailing the sanction will be sent to the student from the Dean and copied to the other two College Deans.

5. Following the Dean’s decision, the student has 7 calendar days to make a final appeal to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience with respect to the fairness of the proceedings and/or the appropriateness of the sanction. The Provost and Vice President for Student Experience will issue a decision within 7 calendar days of the appeal. Students are expected to continue attending class during the appeal process. A final letter will be sent to the student from the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience and copied to the three College Deans.

(Note: At the Dean’s or Provost’s discretion, exceptions to the calendar day requirements can be made for unusual circumstances such as Christmas or summer breaks).

6. Once all appeals are exhausted and a final decision has been made the Dean’s office responsible for the course will report the finding of academic dishonesty to each of the other Academic Deans.

Academic Dishonesty Sanctions

Any student found guilty of academic dishonesty will be subject to penalties, which, depending on the gravity of the offense, may include the following:

1. A grade of “zero” for the assignment involved (as imposed by the instructor in consultation with the department chair). This penalty will generally be applied in the case of a student’s first offense. However, the instructor has the right to impose a more severe penalty based on the circumstances of the offense.

2. Failure of the course (as imposed by the instructor in consultation with the department chair). This penalty will generally be applied in the case of a student’s second documented offense. However, the instructor has the right to impose a lesser penalty based on the circumstances of the offense.

3. Subject to review and approval of the Dean responsible for the course, separation from the University. This penalty will generally be applied in the case of a student’s third documented offense. However, the Dean has the latitude to apply a lesser penalty depending on the circumstances of the offense.

Review and Expunging of Records

1. Records of completed disciplinary proceedings are destroyed if the student is acquitted.

2. Records of the completed disciplinary proceedings are maintained by the Dean’s Office if the student is found guilty. The records are maintained for a period of three years after the student leaves or graduates from the University.

III. Policy of Professional Integrity

All students have an obligation to maintain ethical behavior in relationship to their profession.

Professional Behavior

Those behaviors reflecting status, character, and standards of the given profession.

Ethical Behavior

Those behaviors in accordance with the accepted principles of right and wrong that govern the conduct of a profession.

Any student of Gannon University who engages in unprofessional or unethical conduct is subject to disciplinary action which could include reprimand, probation, separation and expulsion from the University.

6.1.5 Academic Probation and Separation Policy

6.1.5.1 Undergraduate

Academic Probation is a serious warning that the student has failed to meet the University’s minimum academic standards. Students are expected to work well above the minimum, both for their individual benefit and for the good of the entire academic community. In fact, students are expected to achieve the highest quality of academic work of which they are capable.

Probationary status is a conditional permission for a student to continue studying at the University until he or she regains good academic standing or is separated from the University for having failed to regain good standing. The Academic Probation and Separation Policy is as follows:

Undergraduates:

1. All full-time students who fail to achieve a minimum 1.00 semester grade point average will be separated.

2. Full-time freshmen (fewer than 24 credits attempted) who have failed to achieve a semester grade point average of 1.80 (but greater than a 1.0) will be placed on academic probation for the subsequent semester and assigned to a mandatory academic advisement program. If the student achieves a semester GPA of a 2.0 but less than a 1.8 cumulative GPA in the subsequent semester they will be placed on continued academic probation and continue on a mandatory academic advisement program.

3. Full-time freshmen (fewer than 24 credits attempted) who have greater than a 1.80 semester GPA but less than a 2.0 semester GPA will be issued a cautionary letter and be assigned to a mandatory academic advisement program.

4. Students who have earned 24 or more credits, after matriculation to the university, must have a semester GPA of 2.0 and an overall cumulative GPA of greater than 2.0. Students with less than a 2.0 cumulative GPA will be placed on probation and must participate in a mandatory academic advisement program. Students will be granted no more than two consecutive semesters of probation at end of which they must have a both a semester and a cumulative GPA of 2.0.

5. Students who have earned 24 or more credits, after matriculation to the university, must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.0. Students with less than a 2.0 cumulative GPA will be placed on probation and must participate in a mandatory academic advisement program. Students will be granted no more than two consecutive semesters of probation. If the student achieves a cumulative GPA of a 1.8 but less than a 2.0 in the subsequent semester they will be placed on continued academic probation and continue on a mandatory academic advisement program. If the following semester the cumulative GPA is less than a 2.0, the student will be separated.

6. Part-time students will be evaluated after attempting their first six credits. Students with greater than 6 credits that achieve a cumulative grade point average of 1.8 but less than a 2.0
will receive a cautionary letter and will be assigned to a mandatory academic advisement program. Part-time students with less than a 1.0 grade point average after attempting 6 credits will be separated.

7. Part-time students who have attempted their first 12 credits will be reviewed following the same policies as full-time students. Subsequent reviews and academic action will be taken upon completion of each additional 12 credits.

The Admissions Committee may require specific course(s) and/or an earned grade point average as a condition of admission/readmission in addition to the minimum requirements of the University. Special terms of admission/readmission will be outlined in the acceptance letter. Students who do not fulfill the special admissions conditions will be subject to separation from the University.

For the implementation of this policy, a full-time student is defined as any student who is taking 12 credits or more at the conclusion of the first two weeks of classes. Classes dropped before this are not reflected on the student’s transcript. Dropping a course(s) after the second week of classes does not exempt a student from being evaluated under the Academic Probation and Separation policy.

Appropriate College Deans will notify students who have been placed on academic probation. With follow-up from the student’s academic advisor and the Student Success Center, these students will be expected to engage in the mandatory academic advisement program and concentrate their energies on their studies so that they can bring their work up to the required standard.

Except with the written permission of both the Vice-President for Student Experience and the Dean of Student Development and Engagement, students on probation may not hold office in any University organization, participate in any intercollegiate events or programs, or otherwise represent the University lest they further jeopardize their academic standing.

With the permission of the appropriate College Dean, students may use the summer session at Gannon to restore their good academic standing provided that they complete the equivalent of a full semester’s work, e.g. 6 credits in a five-week term.

Students who are separated from the University may not enroll in any University credit course for one full year. Applications for readmission will not be reconsidered until the expiration of one year. Readmission is not a right. The Admissions Committee will take favorable action only when it is satisfied that the factors which led to the failure have been rectified. It is the student’s responsibility to demonstrate to the committee that he or she has a reasonable prospect for academic success at Gannon. Any student readmitted will be on probation and assigned to a mandatory special advisement program for the first semester following his or her return. If the student is separated a second time, he or she will not be readmitted.

Students who are separated may appeal that separation to their College Dean. Such an appeal would need to cite extraordinary circumstances that adversely affected academic performance. The College Dean will review all such appeals.
6.1.5.2 Graduate Studies

Graduate Studies:

Graduate Student Academic Action for a cumulative grade point average below 3.0 will be based upon the following guidelines:

1. Graduate students who have attempted fewer than 9 credits at Gannon University will receive a letter of warning.
2. Graduate students who receive a provisional academic admission and have attempted 9 credits or more at Gannon University will be dismissed.
3. Graduate students who received a regular admission and attempted 9 credits or more but fewer than 24 credits at Gannon University will be placed on academic probation. Graduate students who fail to raise their cumulative grade point average to a 3.0 or above after attempting 9 additional credits will be dismissed.
4. Notwithstanding the prior guidelines, graduate students who have attempted 9 credits or more at Gannon University whose cumulative grade point average is less than 2.3 will be dismissed.
5. Graduate students who have attempted 24 credits or more at Gannon University will be subject to dismissal.

None of these guidelines will supersede individual program requirements that create a higher expectation.

Appropriate College Deans will notify students who have been placed on academic probation. These students will be expected to engage in academic advisement program and concentrate their energies on their studies so that they can bring their work up to the required standard.

Except with the written permission of both the Vice-President for Student Experience and the Dean of Student Development and Engagement, students on probation may not hold office in any University organization, participate in any intercollegiate events or programs, or otherwise represent the University lest they further jeopardize their academic standing.

Students who are separated from the University may not enroll in any University credit course for one full year. Applications for readmission will not be reconsidered until the expiration of one year. Readmission is not a right. The Admissions Committee will take favorable action only when it is satisfied that the factors which led to the failure have been rectified. It is the student’s responsibility to demonstrate that he or she has a reasonable prospect for academic success at Gannon. Any student readmitted will be on probation and assigned to special advisement program for the first semester following his or her return. If the student is separated a second time, he or she will not be readmitted.

Students who are separated may appeal that separation to their College Dean. Such an appeal would need to cite extraordinary circumstances that adversely affected academic performance. The College Dean will review all such appeals.
6.1.6  Academic Year

Gannon University operates on semester academic calendar. This plan divides the academic year into two four-month semesters. Typically, the fall semester begins late in August and ends before Christmas, and the spring semester begins in early January and ends with Commencement in early May.

Day Sessions

Classes in the Day Sessions are held five days a week, beginning with the 8 a.m. period. Three credit classes meeting on a Monday, Wednesday and Friday (MWF) sequence meet for 55 minutes each day. Those courses meeting on a Tuesday and Thursday (TTh) sequence meet for 80 minutes each day. There is a ten minute break between each class period.

A one credit course meets 55 minutes once a week. A four credit course meets on the MWF or TTh sequence as mentioned above and also meets 55 minutes on an extra class day. A six credit course meets five days a week on MWF for 55 minutes and TTh for 80 minutes.

Laboratories in the day sessions are held five days a week, beginning with the 8 a.m. period. One credit laboratories meet once a week; two credit laboratories meet twice a week. One laboratory credit normally requires not less than three hours of student work. Instructors will determine the best use of laboratory time.

Evening Sessions

Classes in the Evening Sessions are held Monday through Thursday with additional classes on Saturday. These classes meet in sequences of one or two evenings per week. Classes held on Saturday usually meet from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon. Those classes meeting Monday through Thursday begin at 4:30 p.m., 6:00 p.m., and 7:30 p.m.

Laboratories in the evening sessions are held Monday through Thursday, beginning with the 4:30 p.m. period.

Summer Sessions

Gannon offers undergraduate summer courses beginning in May. Students may thus enroll in more than one course, and spread out or overlap their courses during the summer months, depending upon the courses they select from the summer session schedule.

Day classes meet five days per week for ninety-five minutes each meeting when offered over five weeks. Evening classes offered for five weeks meet three days per week from 6:00 p.m. to 8:50 p.m.

Courses offered during the summer session cover the same content as those offered during the fall and spring semesters. However, the summer schedule is limited in the variety of courses offered, and students should check self-service for the exact courses being taught each summer. Although concentrated into two, five, or ten weeks, the courses meet for the same amount of time and have the same credit value as semester courses.
6.1.7 Auditing Policy

Undergraduate

Interested persons may audit most lecture courses offered at Gannon University if there is space available in the course on the first day of class and until the end of the second week of class. Audit forms may be obtained in the Registrar’s office after the first day of class and only with the written permission of the instructor. Laboratory courses may not be taken as an audit. Students who enroll in a course for credit may only change to an audit grade during the first two weeks of a semester. Courses that are taken for audit may be changed to credit only during the first two weeks of the semester. After these two weeks no changes are allowed (see note below). Audit applications and registration forms may be obtained in the Office of the Registrar.

Refer to the Financial Facts section for the cost.

Records of the course will be noted on a student transcript with a grade of AU which carries neither credits nor grade points.

NOTE: A student who enrolls in a course for credit may withdraw from that course and after withdrawal may continue to attend classes. The grade for such students will be an ‘X’ and in no case will be assigned an ‘AU’ grade.

Graduate

With permission of the faculty member and program director, persons holding bachelor’s degrees may audit select course offerings. No graduate credit is awarded to audit students. The conditions of the audit with regard to assignments and examinations will be determined by the faculty member after discussing each situation with the audit student. Auditors must have written approval of the course instructor and are advised that they cannot retroactively upgrade to credit-seeking status after the first two weeks of the regular semester. Additionally, after the first two weeks of the semester, a credit student cannot switch to audit status. Once written instructor permission is obtained, students should contact the Registrar’s Office. Records of the course will be noted on a student transcript with a grade of “AU” which carries neither credits nor grade points.
The Behavior Intervention Team (BIT) is a multidisciplinary team of university staff who meet regularly to review referrals submitted about students of concern. Anyone can refer a student to BIT via the online reporting system available on the university website. Concerns warranting a BIT referral are typically behavioral or psychological in nature and may involve risk to the student’s safety and well-being and/or to the safety and wellbeing of other members of the campus community. The team reviews and assesses each referral and then formulates and implements support plans for the referred students. Support plans are developed to mitigate risk and to promote student well-being and success by connecting referred students to appropriate campus and community support resources. Gannon’s BIT is committed to supporting the well-being of all students and is not a part of the university conduct/accountability system.
Upon request of the student and with consent of the Dean, a student may take a Challenge Examination to assess the outcomes for a particular course. Successful performance on the Challenge Examination will entitle a student to credit for the course upon payment recording fee as charged for CLEP Examinations. (See the Challenge Exam Form in Appendix 6.6.1)
6.1.10 Class Attendance
Attendance at all classes and laboratory sessions is expected of all students and all courses are conducted with this understanding. A student’s grades are based upon the general quality of work performed in each course and by such factors as prompt completion of all assignments, papers, and readings, by presence for all examinations, and by participation in class discussion. Ultimately, it is the responsibility of each faculty member to set reasonable attendance policies appropriate to individual courses and to publish those policies on course syllabi. When so indicated on the course syllabus, class attendance may directly influence final grades in a course for upper-class students as well as freshmen. The following policy statements are to assist in a uniform class attendance expectation.

Certain University events, such as athletics or particular extracurricular activities, in which the students represent the University in an official capacity, necessitate excused absences from classes. In such cases, it is inappropriate to penalize a student as a result of their absences resulting from their function as University representative. Faculty then have a responsibility to provide the opportunity to complete any tests, assignments, or other work.

Students should be aware that in the Junior and Senior years of study of some majors such as health science and education majors, it may be extremely difficult for extensive athletic or other types of extra-curricular participation. Students should discuss this with appropriate University officials before selecting a major.

The primary function of Gannon University is the education of its students. Consequently, it is judged to be inappropriate for any arm of the University to request that students excessively absent themselves from regularly scheduled classes in order to function as representatives of the University. Except in emergency situations (e.g., illness or accident), the student is expected to notify the faculty of scheduled course absences one (1) week in advance. Faculty may require verification from appropriate University staff.

Freshmen who absent themselves, whether it be excused or unexcused, from a particular course in excess of twice the number of credit hours assigned to that course may be withdrawn from the course, upon recommendation by the faculty member to the Dean of the student’s college. This request would typically result from unexcused absences, but a student with excused absences should also try to adhere to this limit. Although the student may not be penalized for excused absences as defined earlier, a combination of excused and unexcused may result in the same requested withdrawal. The faculty member would need to show the Dean that the student, because of the combination of absences, has not been able to show competency in the course and has no chance of doing so. Students who are active in athletics or co-curricular activities must be responsible for their learning and minimize unexcused absence in times such as sickness or emergencies. Missing an 80-minute class period is counted as one and one-half absences. In addition, the Student Success Center is interested in knowing which freshmen accumulated the maximum number of absences allowable. The office is prepared to undertake an inquiry aimed at helping the student. Reports on freshmen attendance must be initiated by faculty members, by means of direct contact with the Student Success Center.

Online Class Attendance
When taking an online course, the instructor may not have a fixed weekly meeting time, but consistent attendance is still expected. The following actions demonstrate attendance:

1. Logging into the course and participating in the first introductory activity.
2. Frequently and regularly accessing course instructional materials each week over the entire term.
3. Timely submission of assignments.
4. Participating in scheduled weekly course activities.
6.1.11 College Level Examination Program

Students are advised to discuss the choice of CLEP exams with their program director or advisor prior to CLEP registration to ensure that the exams selected are appropriate for their curriculum. Copies of Score Reports are available in the Registrar's Office. For more information on CLEP Examinations acceptable at Gannon University, please visit Gannon.edu or contact the Registrar’s office.
The Early Alert Referral System (E.A.R.S.) is a referral program designed to help identify students early in the semester who are experiencing problems that may hinder their academic performance. Faculty or staff should complete the brief on-line form which is forwarded to the Student Success Center (SSC). The form is located on the Gannon Portal under self-service/Faculty Information, Blackboard or Health and Well-Being links. Faculty/staff members are encouraged to discuss the referral with the student prior to forwarding the form. The student will receive an email from the staff of the SSC asking them to schedule a meeting to determine the appropriate referral to resolve the student’s issues. The SSC staff member will advise the referring faculty member and the student’s advisor of any actions taken on the student’s behalf. Examples of reasons for referral would include academic performance (received a D or F grade on test/assignment or is not turning in assignments), attendance (missed 2 or more classes), career satisfaction, or financial issues.
6.1.13 Leave Policy/Interruption of Study (Undergraduate, Masters, Doctoral, International)

Undergraduate

Gannon University recognizes that a student may need to temporarily interrupt their education and has a procedure to facilitate this situation. The following are examples of categories that might qualify a student for temporary leave:

- co-op/internship
- military(involuntary)
- medical/psychological
- family/personal

The above categories are not meant to be an inclusive list nor do they guarantee that a student will be granted a temporary leave. The student who feels that they have a legitimate reason to request a leave should request a form from the Student Success Center-Academic Advising Department. The request will be reviewed by appropriate officials of the University.

Temporary leave may be granted for a period of one or two semesters following the student's current enrollment. If a student applies for leave in the first two weeks of the semester then the current semester is counted as one of the two eligible semesters of leave.

When the student is ready to return to the University they should follow these steps:

- If there were any restrictions/holds placed on their return those should be dealt with first e.g. in the case of medical/psychological leaves students are required to provide a release from their physician to the Health/Counseling Center. The Student Success Center, Academic Advising Center will notify the Registrar Office staff to release the hold.
- Contact your faculty advisor to discuss your schedule and they will okay you for registration in Student Planning
- Contact the Registrar for a registration time.

For Masters students

It is expected that degree-seeking students will make steady and continued progress towards completion of the program. However, students occasionally must interrupt their studies to take a semester (or more) off due to personal or professional needs. Each program handles this situation differently, and the student should contact the program director as needed. Forms for documenting the leave of absence or withdrawal from the University are available in the Office of the respective Academic Dean. However, if a student has been off for two years or longer, that student must re-apply for admission to the Office of Graduate Admissions.

For Doctoral Students
Doctoral students who need to interrupt their program of study for personal or professional reasons must complete a leave of absence form and have it signed by their program director or department chair. Unless excused by an official leave of absence (which in no case may exceed one year throughout the student’s degree program), all doctoral students are required to be continuously enrolled and must pay tuition and fees in order to remain in the program. Criteria for what constitutes continuous enrollment varies by program, as specified in the program listings in this catalog. If a student fails to obtain a Leave of Absence or maintain continuous enrollment in their program of study, he or she is required to apply for readmission and must be in good financial standing with the University before readmission is granted. Under no circumstances may a student utilize a leave of absence to pursue courses in another graduate program at Gannon University.

For International Students

In order to fulfill academic attendance requirements imposed by the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), international students, in F-1 or J-1 nonimmigrant status, are required to complete an academic year (two consecutive semesters) before taking a break in coursework. If so desired, F-1 or J-1 international students may enroll continuously without taking advantage of the break period earned after two consecutive semesters of attendance. Those students seeking a break should always consult with the Office of Global Support and Student Engagement (OGSSE) so that the authorized break is approved and properly reported to DHS. If an international student interrupts study during the required two consecutive semesters, without proper authorization from the OGSSE, they will risk a serious immigration violation, requiring either an application to DHS for reinstatement to student status or departure and re-entry to the United States. Depending on the timing of a departure from the United States, re-entry into the United States to resume studies may require an application for readmission submitted to the Office of Global Admissions and Outreach.
6.1.14 New Program Approval

6.1.14.1 State Approval

All new programs at the Associate or Master’s degree level must be submitted to the state for approval. Any new baccalaureate degree, such as B.S.N., B.S.M.E., requires state approval.

The University is free to introduce new B.A. or B.S. degree programs without state approval. In these cases, however, the state must be notified of the new program offerings.
6.1.14.2  Board Approval

Approval by the Board of Trustees is required when:

1. The new program includes budgetary considerations; and/or
2. When new program also requires state approval.

All other new programs will be submitted to the Board of Trustees as information items.
6.1.14.3 President's Council Approval

All new programs, majors, minors, and concentrations must be submitted to the President's Council for approval.

New programs requiring Board and/or State approval will be forwarded by the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience through the Academic Policy Committee of the Board of Trustees.

New programs approved by the Presidents Council but not requiring additional approvals will be passed on to the respective offices for promotion, scheduling, etc. The Provost and Vice President for Student Experience will notify the University Community of these program approvals.
6.1.14.4 Graduate Council

All new graduate programs, majors, concentrations, or certificates must be approved by the Graduate Council.

Approved programs are forwarded to the Presidents Council by the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience.
6.1.14.5  School or College Academic Affairs Committee

NOTE: All proposals for new programs must include sign-off by: respective department chair in academic areas or the department head in non-academic areas; the respective Academic Dean; the Vice President for Enrollment Services; and the Vice President for Finance. Changes made at any point in the procedures necessitate that all must review the new proposal and sign off again.
6.1.15 Online and Hybrid Instruction

6.1.15.1 Online and Hybrid Course Design Standards

All online, hybrid, or distance education courses offered by the University are designed and reviewed using approved University course design processes and standards coordinated by the Distance Education Department and the Center for Excellence in Teaching and Learning (CETL). These courses are reviewed in conjunction with directors and department chairs every three to five years to ensure they meet the approved course design standards.

This policy is designed to assist Gannon University in the fulfillment of its educational mission and role in accordance with all applicable laws, rules and regulations promulgated by the US Department of Education, Pennsylvania Department of Education, Middle States Commission on Higher Education, and discipline-specific accrediting bodies.

Online/distance education is defined as courses in which 30% or more of the instruction is offered when students are separated by the instructor through space and/or time. This definition of online/distance education may be overridden by discipline-specific accrediting bodies.

6.1.15.2 Online Student Services
Online courses at Gannon are designed using the Quality Matters rubric and are typically asynchronous allowing students to work through course content and activities as their schedule allows each week. Gannon’s online course format follows weekly course modules aligned to specific weekly learning objectives. While course delivery is asynchronous, there are weekly schedules in each module with deadlines for student discussion activities, assignments and assessments. Some courses may include some synchronous activities like student presentations and group work which utilize Adobe Connect. All online courses are facilitated using Gannon’s learning management system which is Blackboard Learn (https://gannon.blackboard.com)

Course design philosophies at Gannon are focused on engaging, student-centered instruction that promotes significant and meaningful interactive learning to meet weekly learning objectives and course outcomes. Gannon’s online courses utilize an “Ask the Instructor” discussion board that instructors check on a daily basis for student questions. Additionally, Gannon courses utilize active discussion-based activities to promote learning communities with the close participation of Gannon’s faculty.

Finally, each online course includes a course design student survey to inform future iterations of the course making the online instruction stronger as the course matures. These courses are indicated as being offered online in the course description.
6.1.16 Transcript Policy

The student’s authorization and written signature are needed to release a transcript. The student can request the transcript in person in the Registrar’s office, can write a letter addressed to the Registrar’s office, online or can FAX the request.

To order transcripts online

Gannon has authorized the National Student Clearinghouse to provide transcript ordering via the Web. You can order transcripts using any major credit card. Your card will only be charged after your order has been completed.

• To order an official transcript(s), login to the Clearinghouse secure site (www.studentclearinghouse.org). Click on orange tab on the right side and select ‘Order or track a transcript.’

• The site will walk you through placing your order, including delivery options and fees. You can order as many transcripts as you like in a single session. A processing fee will be charged per recipient.
• Order updates will be emailed to you. You can also track your order online.

Official transcripts must be mailed directly from the Registrar’s office to the party requested. All transcripts given directly to the student will be stamped ‘Issued directly to the student’.

Students who need transcripts to submit unopened with applications should request that the transcript be issued to them in a sealed envelope. The transcript is stamped “Issued directly to the student,” has the Registrar’s signature and the school seal. The envelope is sealed and has the Registrar’s signature. The student must submit the transcript in the unopened envelope with the application. If the envelope is opened it is no longer valid as an official transcript.

Transcripts are not released for students with financial holds.

Partial transcripts are not issued. Each transcript includes the complete academic record at Gannon University and work accepted from other colleges.

Official transcripts of credit earned at other institutions which have been presented for admission or evaluation of credit and have become a part of the student’s permanent record in this office are not reissued or copies duplicated for distribution. Transcripts from other institutions must be official and received by Gannon University directly from the original institution(s). Copies issued to the students with the college seal will not be accepted. This also applies to high school transcripts.
Transferred credit is not added to the Gannon University transcript unless it is applicable toward a degree at Gannon University. Transfer grades are not put on the Gannon transcript.

ACCESS TO STUDENT RECORDS

In accordance with the 1975 Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, the University has established a policy concerning access to student records. The full policy is available upon request from the Registrar’s Office. The following items are included here because of their general interest:

1. Grade reports, probation and suspension letters, and other correspondence are sent directly to all students at their home address.
2. Access to student records is permitted only upon receipt of a written release by the student.
3. Students may have access to parental financial records submitted in support of financial aid applications.
4. With certain exceptions, each student has access to his or her personal and academic records.
5. Students may request that directory information not be released to anyone.
6.1.17 Transfer of Credits

Undergraduate

This policy applies to courses taken at another college prior to admission to Gannon. Courses offered in transfer at the time of admission to Gannon University may be evaluated by the Registrar’s Office and the Office of Undergraduate Admissions. Academic Program Chairs may also be consulted. A detailed list of courses accepted will then be provided to the student and the Academic Advisor. In addition, approved equivalencies between transfer courses and courses required at Gannon will be provided. Students will also receive a list of courses to be completed in order to qualify for graduation. Elective courses shall be left to the option of the student.

Courses may be taken at other institutions by Gannon students for transfer to Gannon with the prior written approval of the Academic Dean and Department Chair with the following exceptions:

The final 30 credits applied toward graduation requirements must be completed in residence at Gannon.

The Foundational Core courses of the Liberal Studies Program must be taken at Gannon unless also approved by the appropriate Department Chair and Director of Liberal Studies. Courses transferred from other institutions for required courses at Gannon must be equivalent to courses offered at Gannon.

Graduate Studies

Transfer credits from other institutions are accepted at the discretion of program directors. Generally, a maximum of six credits from an accredited university may be accepted in transfer for courses in which a student received at least a grade of “B” (3.0).
The STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics) Center provides free one on one and group tutoring opportunities for courses within the Morosky College of Health Professions and Sciences and the College of Engineering and Business, and also supports related coursework from the College of Humanities, Education, and Social Sciences. (Specific areas include mathematics, statistics, physics, chemistry, biology, health professions, engineering, and business.) The STEM Center also provides more intensive support for traditionally difficult courses through the STEM-PASS (Peer Assisted Study Scheme) initiative which includes tutor attendance and participation in the target classes and facilitation of several extra help sessions each week. Additionally, the STEM Center seeks input and involvement from faculty and other campus stakeholders in order to evolve and create services that assist students in their efforts to meet course and program learning outcomes. The STEM Center is staffed by a director and trained peer consultants.
The Writing and Research Center (WRC) is staffed by professional and trained peer consultants who reflect our respect for the individual writer. The Writing and Research Center team has a strong commitment to service and regards language as fundamental to the holistic development of the student. We offer one-on-one conferencing, both in-house and online, for students of all abilities, including speakers of other languages. Undergraduate and Graduate students should visit the Writing and Research Center at any stage of the writing process, from any discipline. In addition, the WRC provides tutoring for all CHESS courses, as well as support for the college of Communication and the Arts. The WRC also houses the CHESSMate Program, which aims to foster academic engagement and reinforce learning outcomes in CHESS courses through embedded peer mentorship and supplemental sessions.

To schedule an online or in-person appointment at the STEM Center or Writing and Research Center, students can visit http://gannon.mywconline.com.
6.1.19 Withdrawal from the University

6.1.19.1 Undergraduate

Students who find it necessary to withdraw from the University must fill out a withdrawal form available in the Student Success Center. Students can complete a temporary withdrawal (2 semesters or less) or a complete withdrawal. Students who withdraw for medical or mental health reasons must present appropriate documentation at the time of the withdrawal. These documents will be reviewed by the director of Gannon’s Health Center or Counseling Services and could impact any refund as well as conditions for readmission to the University.

The withdrawal process includes an exit interview with Academic Advising staff from the Student Success Center, student’s academic advisor, Cashier’s office, Financial Aid office, the Registrar’s office, and, when applicable, the Office of Residence Life, International office, Health and Counseling Center. Students must complete the withdrawal process within two working days from the date they start the process in the Student Success Center. Forms that do not reach the Registrar’s office with all of the required signatures will be considered incomplete and the student will not be withdrawn from the University.

Failure to comply with this regulation may result in the assignment of a grade of ‘F’ for all courses in which the student is currently enrolled and possible separation from the University. The student may also forfeit any rights of readmission to the University. When students withdraw they should refer to the Academic Calendar for the last day to withdraw from a course in order to receive withdrawal (X) grades. Withdrawal after this date will result in ‘F’ grades unless permission is granted by the student’s Academic Dean.

Every student receiving a federal grant and/or loan who completely withdraws officially or unofficially within the first 60% of the semester will be subject to a Title IV Return of Federal Funds review. This review will determine the portion of federal funds the student earned and the portion of federal funds the school must return to the Department of Education. Please refer to the Refund Policy in the University catalog for complete details.

Students that receive all F’s for a semester, who did not formally withdraw, will be reviewed by the Financial Aid Administrator to establish the students’ last date of attendance. If a student ceased attendance for all classes before 60% of the semester was over, that last date of attendance will be used. If a last date of attendance cannot be determined, the Financial Aid Administrator is required to process an “unofficial” withdrawal date using the mid-point of the semester to calculate unearned federal funds that must be returned to the appropriate federal aid program.

Students need to understand that, although they can withdraw from a semester with X grades, the Financial Aid Administrator must review and adjust federal aid disbursements made to any student receiving federal grants and/or loans based on their last date of attendance or unofficial withdrawal date. The student is responsible for any returned federal funds that results in a balance due on their student account. If payment is not made, the student will be liable for all reasonable collection costs, including attorney fees and other charges necessary for the collection of any amount not paid.

6.1.19.2 Graduate

The decision to withdraw or take a temporary withdrawal from classes is an important one that may have future academic and financial implications. You must seriously evaluate the short and long-term benefits and consequences of this decision. Choosing to withdraw from the university may also influence your permanent student record, so it is important that the formal withdrawal process is completed.

We understand that this is a difficult time, and we will assist you through the process.

Be sure to discuss your options with a faculty member +/or the program director/chair so that all available options have been explored, including reducing full-time credit load, reducing credit load to part-time, or changing your major. All students encounter varying levels of stress and some routinely face hardships.

All options should be discussed before a decision is made.

Options and Procedures:
1. Medical Withdrawal for Mental Health Reason:

   Academic stress, financial difficulties, problems in life, learning disabilities, and some chronic mental health problems can be managed with ongoing treatment and alone are not considered sufficient justification for a medical withdrawal.

   Requests for medical withdrawal for mental health reasons must have supporting documentation from a licensed mental health professional (psychiatrist or psychologist).

   - The student must complete the Medical Withdrawal form. This is available from the student’s advisor or in the Student Success Center.
   - Written documentation on the mental health’s professional letterhead must include diagnosis, date of onset, treatment history, current status, recommendations for treatment, and recommendations for leave of absence from university coursework.
   - The student must submit this documentation to the Student Success Center, who will then send it to the Counseling Services office. This documentation will be maintained confidentially in this office.
   - Release of Information Authorization Form must also be completed.

   Refunds of tuition, fees, room, and board are handled on a case-by-case basis. It is important that the student fully understands the impact of this decision on current and future financial aid, loans, debt, or scholarships. It is the student’s responsibility to discuss financial matters with the Cashier’s and Financial Aid offices.

   A medical withdrawal for a mental health reason is granted with the expectation that the student will seek immediate treatment for the diagnosis that led to the withdrawal.

   When a student is granted a medical withdrawal, and upon approval of the Dean of the College, the academic transcript will be marked with “X’s” (withdrawal from course grade) for each course attempted.

   Re-admission to the program/university is only considered when documentation from a mental health professional supports this action AND includes administrative and academic department review. Additional expectations (interview, behavioral action plan, academic performance, treatment follow-up) may be outlined and re-admission is not guaranteed.

2. Medical Withdrawal for Physical Health Reason:

   Requests for medical withdrawal for physical health reasons must have supporting documentation from a licensed physician.

   - The student must complete the Medical Withdrawal form. This is available from the advisor or in the Student Success Center.
   - Written documentation on the medical health’s professional letterhead must include diagnosis, date of onset, treatment history, current status, recommendations for treatment, and recommendations for leave of absence from university coursework.
   - The student must submit this documentation to the Student Success Center. This documentation will be maintained securely in this office.
   - Refunds of tuition, fees, room, and board are handled on a case-by-case basis. It is important that the student fully understands the impact of this decision on current and future financial aid, loans, debt, or scholarships. It is the student’s responsibility to discuss financial matters with the Cashier’s and Financial Aid offices.
A medical withdrawal for a physical health reason is granted with the expectation that the student will seek immediate treatment for the diagnosis that led to the withdrawal.

When a student is granted a medical withdrawal, and upon approval of the Dean of the College, the academic transcript will be marked with “X’s” (withdrawal from course grade) for each course attempted.

Re-admission to the program/university is only considered when documentation from a medical health professional supports this action AND includes administrative and academic department review. Additional expectations (interview, physical restrictions, academic performance, treatment follow-up) may be outlined and re-admission is not guaranteed.

1. Temporary Withdrawal
   (up to two semesters, based on program):

   Requests for withdrawal for up to two full time semesters of coursework must follow university and program policy and procedures.

   - The student must complete the withdrawal form following discussion with advisor/program director/chair. The form is available from your advisor or in the Student Success Center.
   - The student must submit the form to the program director/ chair for signature.
   - Exit interviews and signatures are required with Cashier’s office, Financial Aid office and Registrar’s office.
   - When applicable, interviews and signatures may be required with Residence Life and Global Support offices.

The university refund policy for tuition, fees, room and board is followed for ALL withdrawals. When students withdraw, they should refer to the Academic Calendar for the last day to withdraw from a course in order to receive withdrawal (X) grades. Withdrawal after this date will result in ‘F’ grades unless permission is granted by the student’s College Dean. Refer to graduate catalog or schedule for refund percentages.

Readmission will be up to the student’s specific department/ program and will be subject to scheduling and course availability.

3. Complete Withdrawal from University:

   Requests for complete withdrawal from the university must follow university and program policy and procedures.

   - The student must complete the withdrawal form following discussion with advisor/program director/chair. The form is available from your advisor or in the Student Success Center.

- The student must submit the form to the program director/chair for signature.
- Exit interviews and signatures are required with Cashier’s office, Financial Aid office and Registrar’s office.
- When applicable, interviews and signatures may be required with Residence Life and Global Support offices.

The university refund policy for tuition, fees, room and board is followed for ALL withdrawals. When students withdraw, they should refer to the Academic Calendar for the last day to withdraw from a course in order to receive withdrawal (X) grades. Withdrawal after this date will result in ‘F’ grades unless permission is granted by the student’s College Dean. Refer to graduate catalog or schedule for refund percentages.

Readmission to the University and/or specific majors/programs will be subject to admission guidelines and dates for readmission. Consideration will be up to the major/program as well as course availability. Readmission to the University or program is not guaranteed.

International students:

International students transferring, withdrawing, or taking a temporary withdrawal from the university must contact the Office of Global Support and Student Engagement to discuss immigration status and document the process in SEVIS.
Graduate students who are enrolled in one program may seek to switch into another graduate program at Gannon. The decision to accept such transfers is at the discretion of the new program director and, for students whose cumulative grade point average is below 3.0, the respective Academic Dean.

Students who change programs are required to meet with the new program director and have a new program plan developed. While all courses taken will remain on a single graduate transcript, it will be the prerogative of the new director to select courses from those previously completed to become part of the new program requirements.

For purposes of the Academic Program GPA computation, the new program director will compute a grade point average on the basis of the courses which are required for that particular program. At the time that the new program director interviews a student, a letter identifying the courses factored into the GPA is to be shared with the student and placed in the student’s graduate file.
6.1.20.2 Graduate Degrees-Concurrent

If accepted into two graduate programs of study at the same time, students may work towards graduate degrees concurrently. To be eligible for simultaneous enrollment in more than one graduate program, students must complete a minimum of 9 credit hours in the first degree program and be in good academic standing (3.0 or greater cumulative GPA). To add a second program of study, students must complete and obtain all required signatures on the “Add a Second Degree” form and the “Second Degree Program Plan”, which will determine eligibility for entrance into an additional program and the course of study required to earn each graduate degree. A maximum of twelve credits within the second degree can be part of the first degree. Students who have not been accepted into an additional graduate degree program by the deadline for application for graduation from the first degree program are not considered concurrent, and should refer to the section regarding Second Master’s Degree to consider seeking out additional graduate level degrees at Gannon. Since program entry requirements into a second graduate degree program may limit the number of credits that can be utilized to satisfy degree requirement taken prior to entrance into the program, students are encouraged to apply early into additional graduate programs that are desired to be completed concurrently with another degree. In CEB, graduate credits can be double counted once.

6.1.20.3 Second Master’s Degree
An increasing number of students are expressing interest in earning a second Gannon master’s degree. In cases where (1) the first master’s degree has been earned recently, (2) select course work from the first degree would normally be part of the second degree, and (3) the graduate program director judges the application of these credits to be appropriate, up to twelve credits of upper (600 or 700) level course work within the second master’s degree level course work may be accepted in transfer from the first degree.

Course applicability would require that the earlier course work, rather than the degree itself, be recent (no more than seven years old) and judged by the particular graduate program director to be an appropriate substitution for course work within the second master’s degree.

6.1.20.4 Comprehensive Examination (Graduate Studies)

Many graduate programs require that a student achieve a satisfactory rating in a comprehensive examination. The comprehensive examination is ordinarily written but, at the option of departmental faculty, an oral examination may be required in addition to or in lieu of the written exam. The comprehensive exam is an evaluation of the student’s ability to integrate the content of the program’s courses and research. Comprehensive examinations are administered on a date that shall be arranged by the individual program director. A student who fails the comprehensive may petition for permission to retake the examination during the next scheduled period. Graduate students are eligible to take the comprehensive examination two times only. A student who fails the comprehensive examination a second time is subject to dismissal.

6.1.20.5 Dismissal Graduate Studies

Dismissal

Students may be dismissed from Graduate Studies for academic and/or professional reasons.

Academic: All students whose GPA falls below 3.0 are subject to review each semester by their program director and their Academic Dean. Separation from the University is the responsibility of the appropriate Academic Dean in consultation with the program director.
Professional: All students whose professional behavior in the classroom or in clinical situations falls below professional standards will be subject to dismissal from the program.

Appeal of dismissal action may be made to the Academic Dean. Reinstatement to graduate studies at Gannon is possible only with written permission of the Academic Dean.
6.1.20.6 Statute of Limitations (Graduate Studies)

University policy requires that students must complete a Master’s degree program within six years of matriculating into the program of study. Individual programs may establish a shorter statute of limitations. Consult the program director for exceptions.

University policy requires that students must complete a doctoral degree program within seven years of matriculating into the program of study. Individual programs may establish a shorter statute of limitations. Consult the program director for exceptions.

Exceptions can be granted only by the program director and the Academic Dean. The statutes of limitations are not extended due to interruption of study or medical leave.
6.2 Registrar Policies
6.2.1 Course Policies

6.2.1.1 Course Numbering

Each course number consists of seven to ten characters. The first letters refer to the Department. The first three numbers refer to the catalog number and course level. The last number or letters refer to the section.

6.2.1.2 Course Selection and Registration

The Academic Advisor will maintain progress records on each advisee. For each curriculum, the advisor will retain a copy of the prescribed course sequences and will advise course selection in strict adherence with curriculum requirements. The operative list of curricular requirements for a particular academic major shall be the version published in the University catalog current at the time when the student selects a particular major option. Special note will be given to prerequisites. Substitutions in course requirements may be made only in consultation with the Academic Dean and Department Chair. It is important to strictly adhere to Liberal Studies requirements. Where the likelihood of closed classes exists, the student and advisor should select an alternate course schedule.
6.2.1.3 Level 500 Courses

The general rule is that a 500-level course may be taken by undergraduates only in their senior year, either for undergraduate credit (cross-listed as a 400-level course) or for graduate credit with permission of the program director. However, because of the nature of particular integrated programs, 500-level courses may be taken in the junior year; such programmatic exceptions must be approved by the Academic Affairs Committee of the college based upon a recommendation from the Graduate Council.

6.2.1.4 Course Substitutions
In the event of unforeseen and unavoidable scheduling conflicts or other weighty circumstances, a student may petition an assigned advisor to substitute a suitable course for a course required for a particular curriculum. Such substitutions must be approved and kept on file by the Academic Dean in consultation with the Department Chairman or Program Director.
6.2.1.5 Non-Scheduled Courses

Only courses listed in the Gannon University Catalog or approved by the academic governance process for inclusion in the next issue of the Catalog may be taken as non-scheduled courses.

The student will be assessed a fee of $100.00 per credit. The University will compensate the participating faculty member at a rate of $75.00 per credit. These fees are to be evaluated at least every two years, and appropriately adjusted.

The student must complete a form to request enrollment in a non-scheduled course. The form will require the sequential signatures of the student, instructor, department chair or program director, and associate dean. Refusal of any signature will result in the denial of the non-scheduled course.

6.2.1.6 Change of Schedule (Course Add/Drop)
A student can use Self-Service, Student Planning to change their schedule if they have advisor approval to register on Self Service, Student Planning. Changes can be made until the first day of each semester. After that, all changes must be made in the Registrar's Office.

To change a student's registration in the Registrar's Office, a change of schedule form must be completed and signed by the student's academic advisor.

Changes will be accepted through the first week of the semester. Classes added during the second week of the semester require the written permission of the instructor (exact dates are published in the Academic Calendar). Courses dropped during the first two weeks of the semester will not appear on the student's transcript. All withdrawals from the beginning of the third week until the final cut-off date published in the Academic Calendar result in a withdrawal grade (X) on the student's transcript.

When a student stop attending a class and does not properly withdraw from the course by filling out a change of schedule form in the Registrar's Office, the student will be subject to receiving a grade of "F" for the course. The student will receive an "F" for the final grade if non-attendance continues.

6.2.1.7 Independent Study

Only courses listed in the Gannon Catalog or approved by the academic governance for inclusion in the next issue of the Catalog may be taken as nonscheduled courses (Independent Study). Supplemental fees may be charged for such courses by way of tutorial compensation for the instructor. Such per credit fees are normally equivalent to the per credit tuition rate. A form must be completed by the student's Advisor, signed by the Department Chair or Program Director and approved by the Dean.
6.2.1.8 Pass/Fail Option

Current Version

Students have the option of taking one free elective course per semester on a pass-fail basis. The option excludes required courses in the major or minor field of study, cognate courses and Liberal Studies Core courses. The student is limited to twelve credits of pass-fail courses that count toward the student’s degree. If a student elects to take a course on the pass-fail basis, the student must so state to the student’s advisor and dean by the date designated in the Academic Calendar. If the dates of the course are different from the regular semester dates, the student must submit the pass-fail form before 60% of the course is complete. Forms are available in their dean’s office. The student shall have the option of converting to a letter grade until the date designated in the academic calendar. In any event, the instructor submits a letter grade. The grade is stored in the Registrar’s files for future referral. In ascertaining eligibility for inclusion on the Dean’s List, a student must present a minimum of 12 credit hours of letter grade courses. A “P” (passing) grade will not be reflected in the grade point average; an “F” (failing) grade, however, will be reflected. Any exception to the rule of one course per semester can be allowed only with the approval of the student’s dean.

Courses taken beyond those needed for degree requirements may be taken pass-fail in addition to the twelve credits allowed.
6.2.1.9 Repeat Courses (Undergraduate/Graduate)

Undergraduate

A student may repeat a course. The student is required to take the course at Gannon and submit written notice of a repeated course to the Registrar’s Office if he or she wishes to have the repeat noted on the transcript. Forms are available in the Registrar’s Office. When a student elects to repeat a course, the letter “R” will be placed in front of the original grade and the original grade will not be calculated in the grade point average (GPA). This policy is limited to 15 credits of course work. Each repeat registration is counted as a course. This policy does not cover the situation when the “repeat” (or subsequent) course was completed prior to fall 1972 semester unless the student is readmitted. Courses repeated beyond 15 credits will have both grades calculated in the GPA. Repeated courses can only be included once in all degree requirements for graduation.

A student may be granted permission to repeat a failed Gannon course at another institution. However, since credits transfer but not grades, the original course cannot be coded as a repeat.

Refer to Bachelor Degree Requirements under the Degree Requirements section of the undergraduate catalog for additional regulations about failed courses. Some Academic Programs have a more restrictive repeat policy. Contact the Program Director for more information. A course failed in the field of concentration may be repeated once. If not successfully passed, the student is not permitted to continue in that field of concentration.

Graduate Studies

A student may repeat a course. The student is required to take the course at Gannon and submit written notice of a repeated course to the Registrar’s Office if he or she wishes to have the repeat noted on the transcript. Forms are available in the Registrar’s Office. When a student elects to repeat a course, the letter “R” will be placed in front of the original grade and the original grade will not be calculated in the grade point average (GPA). Graduate students may repeat only 6 credit hours of coursework under this policy unless otherwise indicated in their program. A non-scheduled course cannot be used to repeat a failed course.

6.2.1.10 Withdrawal from a Course

A student who decides to withdraw from a course must complete a drop/add form, have it signed by the student’s advisor, and bring the form to the Registrar’s office for processing.

During the first two weeks of the fall and spring semesters, the course will be deleted from the transcript.
From the third week of the fall and spring until the deadline date printed in the academic calendar, a withdrawal (x) grade will be given. After the deadline date, a Fail (F) grade will be given.

Students who stop attending class without following the withdrawal procedures will receive a Fail (F) grade.

After the withdrawal from a course, students cannot continue to attend the class.
6.2.2 Units of Study Policies (Major, Minor, Program)

6.2.2.1 Definitions

Major
A primary and focused area of study within an academic discipline or interdisciplinary subject area leading to a baccalaureate degree. The major is listed on the student transcript but does not appear on the diploma.

At Gannon University, a major is comprised of the liberal core, courses required in the major field of concentration, courses recommended for the major field of concentration, and cognate and elective courses.

Individual programs, schools and colleges establish the specific courses required for a particular meeting.

Concentration
A structured program of study within a degree program consisting of concentration-specific requirements (i.e., courses specifically and by title related to the topic of the concentration) and sufficiently structured and formalized to merit placement on a student’s transcript. A concentration is defined as a minimum of 18 credit hours at the undergraduate level. The concentration does not appear on the diploma.

Gannon University undergraduate students may earn up to two concentrations. A minimum of 15 credit hours in the individual student’s transcript must be unique to each concentration.

Track
An information program of study used to denote a pathway that a student may pursue in those programs for which coursework is offered to satisfy requirements for licensure or admission to graduate and professional programs. A track is not posted on the academic transcript and is not identified on the diploma. A track may be identified in the catalog and in advising materials.
Minor

A secondary focus area of study not necessarily related to the major and may be completed in another school or college. Minors require a minimum of 15 credit hours of study and range from 15 to 24 required credit hours.

At Gannon University, a minimum of nine (9) credit hours in the individual student’s transcript must be unique to the minor and may not count toward the fulfillment of requirements in a major, concentration or additional minors. The minor appears only on the transcript after graduation.
6.2.2.2 Major Declaration/Change/Double

Students wishing to declare or change their major field begin the process with their advisor or the Student Success Center. After consultation about a major change, the student obtains the signature of their advisor on the Change/Declaration of Major form. Alternatively, the Chair/ Director or Dean of the student’s present major can sign the form in place of the advisor.

The student takes the form to the Chair/Director of the requested major for approval. The form is then sent to the appropriate Dean’s office for final approval. A completed and approved form will be sent to the Registrar’s Office for changing official records.

If necessary, the student can be referred to the Student Success Center at any step in the process.

Requirements for Double Majors

1. Students may declare a second major.
2. A minimum of 21 credit hours in the individual student’s transcript must be unique to each major.
3. Individual student exceptions may be made in appropriate cases by department chairs and program directors with approval from the Dean of the College in which the majors are housed.

6.2.2.3 Minor Declaration Policy
Curriculum for available minors are listed in the undergraduate catalog after the curriculum for each major except for the Minor in Innovation and Creativity which can be found in its own section.

In order to declare a minor, a student must fill out a “Declaration of a Minor” form in their Dean’s office.

A minor will not be printed on the transcript until the student is certified for graduation by their Dean. The student must be pursuing a baccalaureate degree.

Requirements to declare a Minor:

1. Students may declare one or more minors to complement their major(s).
2. Minors must be in a discipline that is not the same as the student’s major(s) or concentration(s).
3. A minimum of nine (9) credit hours in the individual student’s transcript must be unique to a minor and distinct from the requirements within their major(s), concentration(s), or another declared minor.
4. Individual student exceptions may be made in appropriate cases by department chairs and program directors with approval from the Dean of the College in which the minor is housed.

6.2.2.4 Concentration Declaration Policy

1. Students may declare up to two concentrations.
2. A minimum of 15 credit hours in the individual student’s transcript must be unique to each concentration.
3. Individual student exceptions may be made in appropriate cases by department chairs and program directors with approval from the Dean of the College in which the concentration areas of study are housed.
6.2.2.5  International Baccalaureate Program

Gannon University awards credit for courses completed in the International Baccalaureate Program under the following conditions:

1. Three credits will be awarded for each Higher Level course successfully completed.
2. Successful completion is defined as receipt of a grade of “four” or above.

Undergraduate

A grade point average (GPA) is calculated by dividing the algebraic sum of the grade points earned by the sum of the credits to calculate.

I  Incomplete. This grade indicates failure on the part of the student to measure up to minimum requirements on account of absence for sickness or for some other weighty reason.

Undergraduates who fails to remove the grade of ‘incomplete’ within 30 days after the grades are due will automatically receive a failure for the course.

Graduate Students have one semester to remove the deficiency, or they will automatically receive a failure for the course.

P  Pass. This grade is not calculated in the GPA.

X  This grade indicates withdrawal from a course prior to the cut-off date listed in the academic calendar.

AU  Audit. This grade indicates that the course was not taken for credit.

6.2.3.1.2  Graduate

A program may require students receiving a grade below B- in a specific course to repeat that course. A program may limit a student to two grades below B-. No student may graduate with a GPA below 3.0. There is no pass/fail election.
6.2.3.2 Four-Week Grades

Four Week Grades are required for all undergraduate students and course sections. The grade report is sent to the student's advisor, not to the student's home address, with a copy for the student. On a specified day shortly after Four Week Grades have been published (at the advisor's discretion), the student meets with their advisor to receive the grade report and to discuss the student's progress and any problems or deficiencies. The Advisor may recommend tutoring or other support services available at Gannon. The Early Alert Referral System (EARS) is designed to make it easy for instructors and advisors to refer students needing support services. Applicable areas on the form are checked off and the form is returned to the Dean's Office. It is then forwarded to the appropriate support service.
A copy of the grade report is sent to the student's advisor. A conference with the student is scheduled if considered advisable. Students can use Self-Service, Student Planning to see their grades.
6.2.3.4 Incomplete grades

Undergraduate

Incomplete (I) is to be given only to those students who have been prevented from the completion of the required course work by a serious reason. Simply failing to complete assignments on time is not sufficient reason for an Incomplete. Instructors giving an Incomplete shall provide their Deans with a written explanation of their reason for giving the Incomplete. Students have one month from the date that final grades have been mailed to complete the required course work. Failure to do so in the allotted time converts the Incomplete to a failing grade automatically.

Graduate

Incomplete grades may be assigned at the discretion of the faculty member in cases of serious need. Students may request “I” grades, but the decision to grant this concession will be made by the faculty member.

Students who receive an “I” grade have until the conclusion of the next regular (not summer) academic semester to complete their work, submit it, and have the “I” grade changed to a regular letter grade. Incomplete grades which are not finished within this time period will be changed to the grade of “F”, unless an extension is petitioned and granted by the appropriate faculty member. Exceptions on extensions may be made in cases of the thesis or research project. International students, in proper F-1 or J-1 status, are advised that receipt of an “I” grade may impact their student visa status. The implications of an “I” grade should be discussed with the Office of Global Support and Student Engagement before an international student requests an “I” grade from his instructor. The Office of Global Support and Student Engagement should be contacted for this support and guidance.
6.2.3.5 Change of Grades

Change of grades initiated by faculty members are to be made through the office of the Dean appropriate to the Course. A form for request for change of grade is available from this office and is to be used for requesting changes. Grade changes are made only where adequate justification exists.

6.2.4 Degree Requirements
6.2.4.1 Bachelor’s degree

The following list indicates minimum University requirements for the baccalaureate degree. Please note that some programs specify additional requirements beyond these minimums. See descriptions of individual programs for any additional requirements.

1. At least 120 hours of academic work must be completed by the student, with an overall quality point average of not less than 2.0. Courses numbered below 100 are not used to meet the requirement.

2. The specific course requirements must be fulfilled as stipulated in each academic program. A cumulative grade point average of 2.0 in the field of concentration is required. A cumulative grade point average of 2.0 is also required for a successful completion of the minor.

3. At least two thirds of the upper level courses in the field of concentration, including required seminars, and the final thirty credit hours of degree requirements, must be taken at Gannon University. Exceptions to these specific requirements have been granted to students who are enrolled in approved accelerated programs. Other students with special circumstances may request a waiver of these degree requirements, with the approval of the Academic Dean and Provost of Gannon University.

4. All courses specified for the fulfillment of requirements for the field of concentration and cognate fields must be completed within a time span not to exceed ten years.

5. A course failed in the field of concentration may be repeated once. If not successfully passed, the student is not permitted to continue in that field of concentration.

6. A student is not permitted to continue in a field of concentration in which ten or more semester hours have been failed, or in which more than six semester hours have been failed in one semester.
6.2.4.2 Master’s degree

The minimum required number of credits for a master's degree is 30 and 12 for a certificate. Most degree and certificate programs, however, have requirements that are in excess of this minimum. Transfer credits from other institutions are accepted at the discretion of program directors. Generally, a maximum of six credits may be accepted in transfer.

A student must complete a master’s degree within six years of taking the first course. Exceptions may be granted only by the Program Director and Academic Dean. Additionally, students who have not enrolled for two years must contact their program director for approval of registration and review of remaining requirements.

An overall grade point average of not less than 3.0 is required. A graduate student is eligible to participate in the December Commencement ceremony only after all requirements are completed.

Graduate Students who have applied for May or August graduation and who have had their application approved by their program director may participate in the May commencement ceremony and have their names listed in the program. Graduate students with more than six credit hours remaining to be completed in the summer may not be approved for August graduation nor participation in the May ceremony. Graduate students enrolled in current and future programs that have structured curriculum that requires more than 6 hours in the summer as the final semester, such as the Physician Assistant Program, may participate in the May ceremony.

Concurrent Graduate Degrees

If accepted into two graduate programs of study at the same time, students may work towards graduate degrees concurrently. To be eligible for simultaneous enrollment in more than one graduate program, students must complete a minimum of 9 credit hours in the first degree program and be in good academic standing. To add a second program of study, students must complete and obtain all required signatures on the "Add a Second Degree" form and the "Second Degree Program Plan", which will determine eligibility for entrance into an additional program and the course of study required to earn each graduate degree. Students who have not been accepted into an additional graduate degree program by the deadline for application for graduation from the first degree program are not considered concurrent, and should refer to the section regarding Second Master's Degree to consider seeking out additional graduate level degrees at Gannon. Since program entry requirements into a second graduate degree program may limit the number of credits that can be utilized to satisfy degree requirement taken prior to entrance into the program, students are encouraged to apply early into additional graduate programs that are desired to be completed concurrently with another degree.

Second Master's Degree

An increasing number of students are expressing interest in earning a second Gannon master's degree. In cases where (1) the first master’s degree has been earned recently, (2) select course work from the first degree would normally be part of the second degree, and (3) the graduate program director judges the application of these credits to be appropriate, up to twelve credits of upper (600 or 700) level course work within the second master's degree level course work may be accepted in transfer from the first degree. Course applicability would require that their earlier course work, rather than the degree itself, be recent (no more than seven years old) and judged by the particular graduate program director to be an appropriate substitution for course work within the second master's degree.

6.2.5 Graduation
Degrees are conferred three times per year, in December, May, and August. Attendance at Commencement ceremonies, which are held in December and in May, is highly recommended, since graduation is such an important and joyous occasion in the life of academic institutions. An undergraduate student is eligible to participate in the May ceremony if all requirements are expected to be completed in May or August of the same year. An undergraduate student is eligible to participate in the December ceremony if all requirements are expected to be completed in December of that year.

Prospective graduates must complete an application for graduation by November 15 for May or August graduation and by May 31 for December graduation. The application, which is available in the offices of the Dean, Registrar, Center for Adult Learning and on self-service, must be submitted to the Registrar’s Office. Prior to the deadlines, the Dean will audit the student’s record to determine eligibility for graduation on the date indicated, and will supply a copy of the audit to the student. No application will be accepted without the Dean’s verification of eligibility. If the application is completed by the appropriate deadline, the graduation fee will appear on the fall bill for December graduates and on the spring bill for May and August graduates.

Failure to apply for graduation by the appropriate deadline may result in the loss of such privileges as participation in the ceremony, senior awards, and name listed in the commencement program. Payment of the graduation fee must accompany late applications.

It is the student’s responsibility to apply for graduation at the appropriate time and to meet all requirements for graduation.
6.2.5.2 Participation in Commencement

Students graduating are eligible to participate in the May Commencement Ceremony provided that the following criteria have been met:

The student:
1. Applied for May or August Graduation.
2. Had their applications approved by their Program Directors.
3. Is anticipating completing their degree requirements in the spring or summer semesters.
6.2.6 Academic Awards
To honor excellence in academic performance, Gannon University names to the Dean’s List students who have completed 12 credits or more with a letter grade for each and a grade point average of 3.50 or higher for the semester. A student who makes a failing grade is disqualified in that semester for the Dean’s List. Dean’s list is not awarded to a student with an incomplete grade.
6.2.6.2 Academic Honors

Students who have consistently achieved academic distinction receive the following graduation honors:

Cum Laude — a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.50. Magna cum Laude — a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.70.

Summa cum Laude — a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.90.

With Academic Honors — Associate Degree students with a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.50.

No student with a failing grade in his/her field of concentration will receive honors at the time of graduation.

Transfer students to be eligible for honors at graduation must have completed 64 semester hours (32 semester hours for Associate degree majors) at Gannon University. Their average will be computed on the basis of their four or two year program. No higher honors will be given than are earned by the semester hours completed at Gannon University.
6.2.6.3 Senior Awards

Notable accomplishment of all-inclusive nature or in a specific field is recognized by the following awards:

The Gannon University Medal of Honor

Presented to the graduating Senior who in the opinion of the faculty and the student’s own classmates has done the most to further the interests of the University, to foster loyal college spirit, and to carry out the ideals of the Christian life.

6.3 Admissions Policies

Gannon University subscribes to the National Association for College Admission Counseling Statement of Principles of Good Practice.

The Admission policy has been established to protect all students’ rights, privileges, and privacy, while providing well qualified students with an opportunity to enroll at the University. Gannon University reserves the right to deny admission to applicants who have a criminal record or other indications that they could harm or impact the wellness of the Gannon Community.
6.3.1 Evaluation of Candidate Credentials

Admission decisions are based on a variety of factors. High school record, as demonstrated through course selection, grades, and class rank, is of primary importance. Extra-curricular activities, recommendations, and personal statements also enter into the Admission decision.

A completed application for admission includes:

1. Completed application for admission- (online, Common App or paper application).

2. Official high school transcripts or G.E.D. score.
6.3.2 Admission Requirements Undergraduate and Graduate

Undergraduate Admissions

Candidates for admission must be graduates of approved secondary schools or present a General Equivalency Diploma. Specific admission requirements are determined by each of the colleges or schools of the University.

Minimum high school curriculum requirements include: 16 Carnegie Units distributed as four units of English; six units of academic mathematics and science combined; and six units in any combination of social studies, foreign language and academic electives. Students planning to enter the programs offered in the Morosky College of Health Professions and Sciences or the College of Engineering and Business must have a minimum of seven units in mathematics and science.

Graduate Admissions

Minimum Credit Requirements

The minimum required number of credits is 30 for a Master’s degree and 12 for a certificate. Most degree and certificate programs, however, have requirements which are in excess of this minimum.

While requirements for admission to various programs differ, the general requirements and procedures are listed below. Please refer to the individual program description for specific details.

General Requirements

Applicants for graduate study must hold a bachelor's degree from an appropriately accredited college or university and demonstrate the motivation, ability and preparation needed to pursue graduate study successfully. A determination of this capacity will be made by the graduate program director and/or the respective Academic Dean based upon records of undergraduate achievement, prior graduate work (if any), scores on required standardized tests (GRE, GMAT, etc.) letters of recommendation and other information. Official transcripts and test scores must be sent directly from the appropriate institution to the Office of Graduate Admissions of Gannon University.

Process

Prospective applicants must submit a completed application for graduate study. Applicants should direct all application materials and questions regarding the process of admission to the:

Office of Graduate Admissions
109 University Square
Erie, PA 16541-0001
An admissions representative will be happy to assist you with any questions regarding program admission requirements or the decision process.

Standardized Admission Tests

Each of the master's degree programs has its own requirements with regard to standardized admission tests. Please refer to the individual program descriptions for the appropriate tests or contact a graduate admissions representative. An applicant who already holds a graduate degree is not required to take an exam when applying to a Gannon master's degree program. The results of standardized tests should be sent directly to the above office from the test administrator.

Each graduate student's admission status will be determined based upon the specifics of the application decision and the student's individual circumstance.

Degree Status

Students who submit a complete application portfolio and meet the program admission requirements qualify for degree status.

A. Provisional Status for Degree Seeking Students

There are two general circumstances which lead to this designation:

1. Provisional/Academic

   If a student does not meet an admission criterion (i.e., GPA, test scores, etc.) but shows potential in other areas, the student may be admitted with provisional/academic status. Continued enrollment is contingent upon demonstration of sufficient ability to do graduate work. Generally, to receive degree status, students must achieve a minimum cumulative average of 3.00 in 9-12 credits of graduate work. This is determined by the Program Director.

2. Provisional/Administrative

   This status applies to an applicant showing great promise but who has a missing component of information, such as a letter of recommendation or test score. This status allows students an initial semester to complete the admissions portfolio. In general, provisional students may not register for more than one semester, however, specific programs may have different limits. In either case, the responsibility is on the student to petition the Program Director by letter for a change to degree status as soon as the deficit has been alleviated. Generally, credits earned as a provisional student are fully applicable to graduate degrees and certificates.

B. Non-Degree Status
This designation is reserved for students who are not pursuing a degree at Gannon. There are a variety of common reasons for this status, including students who are pursuing a course or two for professional development, certificate students, students from other graduate schools who are planning to transfer course work back to their own institutions, or students who are attending workshops and institutes which offer graduate credit. In some cases, with the permission of a graduate program director, credits earned as a non-degree student may be applied toward a degree or certificate program at Gannon. With the exception of students in graduate certificate programs, the non-degree student is limited to nine credits of graduate course work under this status. Only with special permission of the program director and respective Academic Dean may a non-degree student enroll for more than nine credits.
6.3.3 Freshman Application Procedure/Processing

Completion of the application sequence includes the following:

1. Submission of a completed Application Form (on-line or Common Application). All applications are free of charge.

2. Submission of an official secondary school transcript including senior class schedule, and counselor recommendation. All transcripts become the property of Gannon University and cannot be returned, copied, or forwarded to a third party. Gannon can receive transcripts via email from a counselor at admissions@gannon.edu or electronically through Common Application or Parchment.

3. Submission of standardized test scores, either SAT or ACT for scholarship purposes – not admissions related. (It is recommended that you have test scores sent directly from the testing agency).

4. Submission of additional letters of recommendation, personal statement, and a listing of extracurricular activities and accomplishments. Students applying for a health professions program are required to submit one letter of recommendation from a high school science teacher.

If there is a need for further information, the Office of Admissions will contact you. The Admissions Committee may require a personal interview.

While there is no deadline for filing the application*, it is recommended that students who plan to live on-campus, complete the application no later than August 1 following their senior year if they plan to start in the fall term. Students planning to start in the spring term (January) should apply no later than December 1 preceding that term. Applications are processed as they are received and offers of admission are extended on a space available basis. In other words, some programs have maximum enrollment quotas that will be filled prior to the beginning of the academic year.

Notification of admission decisions occurs on a rolling basis. Students will be notified within 2-4 weeks once all necessary items to complete an application have been received.

All students who plan to enroll must submit a final, official secondary school transcript verifying graduation.

*In processing applications for the Fall semesters, the Physician Assistant Program has an application deadline of November 15.
6.3.4 Full-Time Status

To be considered a full-time student, a person is required to be enrolled for 12 credit hours in the current fall or spring semester. These credit hours may be undergraduate or for seniors in their final semester the 12 credits may be a combination of undergraduate and graduate courses. This policy accords with current practice of admitting graduating seniors to certain graduate courses during the final semester of undergraduate study.

Students are half-time if they are enrolled for 6-11 credits, they are less than half-time if they are enrolled for 1-5 credits.
6.3.5 Part-Time Enrollment

Those individuals who desire to attend Gannon as part-time students will apply for admission through the Office of Undergraduate Admissions. This office is fully equipped to assist students who plan to enroll part-time as a freshman, transfer, summer transient (guest) or returning student.

Part-time study for undergraduate students is considered less than 12 credits per semester (generally taking fewer than four courses per semester).

Admission as a part-time adult student requires verification of high-school graduation or successful completion of the GED. An entrance exam is required of all students unless they have taken the SAT or ACT. Part-time transfer students should review the catalog section regarding policies on academic standing, probation and dismissal to determine eligibility to apply for admission to Gannon University. Admission applications can be completed and in many cases processed in one visit to the Office of Undergraduate Admissions.

A copy of transcripts is sufficient for evaluation. However, before a student is accepted, the University must receive an official transcript, mailed directly from the institution of record to the Office of Undergraduate Admissions. High school records, GED scores, and/or college transcripts (if applicable) must be sent in this manner. A form to facilitate the process is available in the Office of Undergraduate Admissions.

Contact the Office of Undergraduate Admissions for more information.
6.3.6 Full-Time Enrollment for Adult Students

Students 21 years of age or older who have not previously attended a college and are interested in attending Gannon on a full-time basis should apply through the Office of Undergraduate Admissions.

Admission as a full-time student requires verification of high school graduation or successful completion of the GED. An entrance exam may be required of all students unless they have taken the SAT or ACT.

A copy of transcripts is sufficient for evaluation. However, before a student is accepted, the University must receive an official transcript, mailed directly from the high school. GED students must submit an official transcript showing all years of high school completed as well as a copy of the GED scores.

Several full-time programs have application deadlines and specific entrance requirements. Contact the Office of Undergraduate Admissions for more information.
6.3.7 Global/International Students Admission Requirements

Office of Global Support and Student Engagement

The Office of Global Support and Student Engagement (OGSSE) strives to provide an environment, services and programs to ensure that our global/international students will thrive and succeed at Gannon. The OGSSE works closely with departments across campus and with the broader local community to design opportunities for global/international students to establish friendships and meaningful connections with their classmates, professors, and other members of their new community in the U.S. Examples of such programs and resources include:

• Pre-arrival correspondence and registration information on and Global Student Orientation
• Social Media and the OGSSE Website
• Cultural Programming
• Workshops on global/international student topics
• Advocacy, Referral, and Global/International Student and Family Resources
• Student Organization Support and Advising

The Office of Global Support and Student Engagement is responsible for student and University compliance with U.S. immigration regulations, as well as reporting required data to the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) through the Student and Exchange Visitor Information System (SEVIS). To understand and maintain federal regulations governing their immigration status and attendance in school, all new students coming to Gannon University on F-1 and J-1 visas are required to attend Global Student Orientation.

Enrollment Requirements: Global/International students are required to enroll each semester in a full course of study. For graduate students, 9 credits per semester is considered full time. In the event a student needs to drop below a full course load, s/he must contact the Office of Global Support and Student Engagement for assistance in following SEVIS processes to maintain status.
Employment Benefits: F-1 and J-1 students are eligible to work on-campus up to 20 hours per week while school is in session, and full time (40 hours / week) during break periods, including summer. In general, F-1 students are not eligible for off-campus work authorization except in extreme circumstances.

CPT or Curricular Practical Training is the work authorization available to F-1 students to work off-campus in paid or unpaid positions that are an integral part of students’ academic program (such as internships and co-ops). Proper paperwork must be filed with the OGSSE to authorize CPT as it must be documented on a student’s I-20. Current students in active status are eligible for CPT after one academic year (two semesters) of full-time study, not including summer sessions.

OPT or Optional Practical Training is off-campus work authorization provided to F-1 students following graduation as an opportunity for employment directly related to students’ field of study for up to 12 months (36 months if in a STEM-eligible program). The OGSSE assists students in applying to the United States Customs and Immigration Service (USCIS) for OPT authorization to work in the US.

NOTE: Spouses and dependents of F-1 students (F-2 visa holders) are not legally allowed to work in the U.S.

Health Insurance: Gannon University has a policy that mandates that all enrolled global/international students must have health insurance coverage. Students who do not show proof of health insurance that is operational in the United States will be subscribed to Gannon’s contracted health insurance provider and charged accordingly. Students who do not want to be charged for health insurance must demonstrate coverage through proper documentation before the deadline set by the OGSSE.

Office of English Language and Global Training

The Office of English Language and Global Training offers English as a Second Language (ESL), short-term programs, and workshops on language and culture. The staff guides global/international students in their cultural adjustment to the United States by creating and supporting a professional and respectful learning environment, where simultaneously develop and strengthen their language ability, academic skills, and intercultural competence.

English as a Second Language Program

The Office of English Language and Global Training prepares non-native speakers to achieve language competency necessary to succeed in English language curricula at the post-secondary level. Through its academic programming, as well as the specialized services it provides to English language learners, this office echoes the University’s mission by its commitment to excellence in teaching, scholarship and service, and by preparing its students to become global citizens.
The English as a Second Language Program is designed to meet the needs of students who are accepted to Gannon University and have yet to reach the required English language proficiency. Students who do not meet the required minimum benchmark must enroll in the ESL Program. Students will take a placement exam that will determine their language level. Students may place in one of the six levels: Beginning 1, Beginning 2, Intermediate 1, Intermediate 2, Advanced 1, and Advanced 2.

Each level can be completed in one nine-week session. At each level students take four core courses: reading, writing, grammar, and listening and speaking, as well as special courses tailored to support the needs of the students at a particular level.

6.3.8 English Language Requirements/Foreign Students

Students whose native language is not English must demonstrate the requisite proficiency in English for academic purposes before taking academic classes on a full-time basis. Students who cannot demonstrate the requisite proficiency through one of the approved national and international assessments and minimum scores must sit for English-language placement tests and be placed, if necessary, into basic, intermediate, or advanced English-language training in Gannon’s English Language and Global Training Department.
Credit will be given to those students who complete the formal College Board Advanced Placement Courses, with a grade of 3 or higher on the exam. Grades 1 and 2 will be given neither credit nor placement.

Please visit the following website to view a complete and current list of Advanced Placement courses: https://www.gannon.edu/uploadedFiles/Content/Admissions/Undergraduate_Admissions/apply/APExams.pdf
6.3.10 Major Course of Study

Freshmen students may enter Gannon University in a particular academic department or program in any of the undergraduate colleges or schools of the University or they may enter as an exploratory major or as an exploratory major in one of the colleges or schools such as exploratory science, exploratory Humanities, exploratory Business, etc.

Students who have not selected a major field of study by the end of the sophomore year are advised to do so as soon as possible. Each major field of study consists of these major components:

1. Liberal Studies Course;
2. Courses required for the major field;
3. Courses recommended for the major field; and
4. Cognates and electives.

As a major in a particular department or program, each student has an academic advisor who guides the student through the curriculum and advises the student on requirements, recommends cognates and electives.
6.3.11 Deposits

An enrollment deposit is requested when a candidate has been accepted. The deposit amount is $100. The Physician Assistant; LECOM Dental, Medical, and Pharmacy programs require a $300 deposit.

Most programs for the entering class are filled as the deposits are received. Room assignments are also made according to the date deposits are received in conjunction with completion of appropriate paperwork.

The deposit is refundable until May 1 should a student choose not to enroll. We will delay admission for most programs for a semester or year upon receiving written request for delayed admission. In these cases, the deposit is rolled over to the new admission date.
Students in good standing (generally defined as a 2.0 average or better on a 4.0 scale) at regionally accredited institutions may qualify for admission, depending upon various aspects of the entire academic record. Several programs require a grade point average above a 2.0.

Of primary interest to the Admissions Committee is the college performance, although the high school record may carry weight in some instances. Additionally, transfer students will be asked to submit a college clearance form (Transfer Applicant Evaluation Form) from the Dean of Students at the current or last college attended. Receipt of this form is required in order for students to complete final registration.

Official updated transcripts from each college/university/institution attended are required before a final admission decision is made. Transfer students with fewer than 30 credits must also provide an official copy of their high school transcript. All students must show proof of high school graduation.

Students on notice of academic or non-academic dismissal are not eligible to apply for admission to Gannon University until after the lapse of one academic year following the dismissal. Upon the completion of said academic year, the Admissions Committee will determine whether or not the student may be admitted. Students must be eligible to return to their most recent institution in order to be considered for admission to Gannon. Applicants on academic probation or whose records show less than an overall 2.0 GPA at their current or most recent institution are advised that they will not, except in extraordinary circumstances, qualify for admission to Gannon University.

Students with any pending criminal charges may be denied admission to the University. Gannon University reserves the right to deny admission to applicants who have a criminal record or other indications that they could harm or impact the wellness of the Gannon Community.

A grade of “incomplete” is not acceptable on a transcript from a previous college. All “incompletes” must be resolved prior to being reviewed for admission.

Courses taken previously at regionally accredited institutions which have relevance to the program to be followed at Gannon University, and in which grades of “C” (2.0) or better have been earned, are eligible for transfer. (Several Programs require grades of “B” or better to be considered for transfer.)
6.3.13 Upper Division Transfer Programs (for Assoc. Deg. Grads.)

6.3.13.1 Next-Step Program

Transfer students may be eligible to use the Next-Step program in order to expedite the completion of a bachelor’s degree from Gannon. Students holding the Associate of Arts or the Associate of Science Degree from another regionally accredited institution may qualify for Gannon’s Next-Step program. The program enables students to make an easy transition from a two or four year college to Gannon. The program guarantees acceptance of up to 64 credits and allows students to potentially enter Gannon with junior level status. Only courses in which grades of “C” (2.0) or better have been earned are eligible for transfer. At least two years of upper-division full-time study are required to obtain the baccalaureate degree from Gannon.

Students wishing to apply for academic forgiveness should complete the Re-Admission Application and follow the appropriate directions. For more information about Academic Forgiveness, see that section of the IPM or undergraduate catalog.

6.4 Financial Aid and Tuition Policies
6.4.1 Tuition

UNDERGRADUATE TUITION

A flat rate for 12 to 18 credits is charged. Students wishing to enroll in more than 18 credits must have written approval from their Academic Dean and are charged a per credit rate for each additional credit.

6.4.1.1 Course and Program Fees

Refer to www.gannon.edu/fees for a complete listing of all course and program fees.
6.4.1.2 Indebtedness Policy

A student who is in debt to the University may not register, receive an official transcript, or receive their diploma from the Registrar until the indebtedness has been discharged.
6.4.1.3  Past Due Accounts

Past due accounts without satisfactory arrangements with Gannon’s Cashier Office will be turned over to a collection agency. All reasonable collection costs, including attorney fees and other charges necessary for collection, will be the student’s responsibility.
6.4.1.4 Late Fee

A Late Payment fee is charged on all payments received on or after the due date on the tuition statement. If confirmation of enrollment is not sent to the Cashier's Office, all courses are dropped from the student's schedule.
6.4.2 Financial Aid Policy

In order to bring a Gannon education within the reach of qualified students who could not otherwise afford it through either their own or their families’ reasonable efforts, Gannon offers an integrated financial aid program of scholarships, loans, and employment.

The Gannon Net Price Calculator (NPC) is available for applicants to submit data and receive an early estimate of aid. The NPC is an interactive program that will process the data entered by the user and provide an immediate estimate of aid.

Gannon’s Financial Aid program is open to all students attending classes during the nine-month period from September through May. Financial aid is not available for summer term courses, although the Financial Aid Office can help students secure outside loans to help with expenses during this period.
Applications for financial aid can be filed concurrently with the application for admission if it is thought that aid may be required at any time during the four years at Gannon. If emergencies or substantial changes in the family circumstances make it difficult for a student to continue, applications for aid may be made in subsequent years. The filing of such application has no influence on the decisions of the Committee on Admission.

To secure merit and need based scholarships, grants and educational loans all students should complete and submit the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) each year. The FAFSA is available for completion annually on October 1. So as not to miss any deadlines, students should submit the FAFSA no later than March 15th.

Need based financial aid is awarded on the basis of established financial need. Need is defined as the difference between the family’s relative financial strength and the cost to attend Gannon. All students must file the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) available online at https://studentaid.ed.gov/sa/fafsa. The Expected Family Contribution (EFC) is determined by an analysis of the data submitted. The EFC measures a family’s financial strength and determines eligibility for federal student aid. Upon determination of the EFC, a student’s need is derived and an aid package is put together.
6.4.2.2 Type of Assistance

Financial Aid is generally awarded in the form of a package including grant, scholarship, employment, and loan funds. The amount of each type of aid varies according to the University’s funds and the student’s need.

Loans

Long-term loans are an important financial aid resource available to students who need help and who are willing to pay for part of their current education with their future earnings.

1. Federal Student Loans: All students are eligible to apply for a Federal Direct Student Loan. Under this program a student may borrow a maximum amount from $5,500 to $7,500 per year subject to a total undergraduate borrowing limit of $31,000. The interest rate is fixed, and the principal may be deferred while a student is enrolled at least half-time. Repayment may be made over a ten year period which begins six months after less than half-time enrollment. Interest may accrue immediately.

2. Private/Alternative Loans: Private/Alternative loans are loans that can be obtained to help pay for the cost of education. These loans are in the student’s name and in most cases require a creditworthy co-signer. This type of loan can also be deferred until after graduation, but interest accrues upon disbursement.

3. Nursing Student Loan Program: The Nursing Student Loan Program is a low interest loan available only to those who have been accepted in the nursing program. The program is intended to assist full-time students to achieve careers in nursing by providing long-term, low-interest loans to help meet the costs of education.

4. Parent Loans: Federal Parent PLUS (Parent Loan for Undergraduate Students) loans can be used to cover college expenses, including tuition, room, board, and fees, minus any other financial aid received. The PLUS loan is not need-based and has a fixed rate.

Student Employment

1. The Federal Work-Study Program: The majority of the employment opportunities on campus are reserved for students eligible to participate in the Federal Work-Study Program. This federal program provides students with many interesting opportunities to work with faculty, staff and administrators. Students work limited hours a week and are able to set up their work schedule around the times they attend classes.

Scholarships and Grants
1. General Scholarships: Gannon awards scholarships to freshmen and transfer students who meet eligibility standards. The University offers a variety of scholarships, grants and awards in recognition of students’ academic and athletic accomplishments, demonstrated need and outstanding talents. In addition, need based aid is considered for students who demonstrate financial need by filing the required applications and adhering to deadlines. Award packages are renewed each year to students who remain in academically good standing and continue to meet the required eligibility standards for both academic and need based aid. Students need not apply for specific scholarships since they will automatically receive consideration for all funds for which they may be eligible when they submit the FAFSA.
Outside Scholarships

Candidates for Gannon scholarships are urged also to apply for national, state, and local scholarships for which they may be eligible and which may be used at the institution of their choice. These include National Merit Scholarships and scholarships offered by local foundations, clubs or business organizations. The high school guidance office should be consulted about these awards. All outside scholarships received and applicable at Gannon should be reported to the Financial Aid Office, even if they are received after the FAFSA is submitted or after a Gannon award is made. Federal regulations mandate all resources, including outside scholarships, must be considered in determining need.

Gannon University reserves the right to adjust all University grants, scholarships, or funds if the student recipient receives additional grants, scholarships, or tuition assistance from any other internal or external source that exceeds regular billable charges and books.

The brochure “Important Information Regarding Financial Aid,” outlines all financial aid policies in detail, accompanies all final award notifications and is available online. This information should be reviewed regularly.

Federal Grants

1. Federal Pell Grant: The FAFSA must be filed in order to determine if a student would be eligible for a Federal Pell Grant. Eligibility varies and is based on parent and student income and asset information.

2. The Teacher Education Assistance for College and Higher Education (TEACH Grant): Current conditions and eligibility requirements are listed at the Dept. of Education web site at: https://studentaid.gov/understand-aid/types/grants/teach

3. Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (FSEOG): The FSEOG program was established by Congress to help universities enroll qualified students with exceptional financial need. Gannon has a limited amount of funding to award to undergraduate students who fall into certain need categories.
6.4.2.3 Army ROTC Scholarships

Army ROTC Scholarships

The Army ROTC program awards two and three year campus based scholarships to qualified applicants. These scholarships pay full tuition, a book stipend, plus a monthly stipend for 10 months per school year.

GU/ROTC Room and Board — Gannon University offers Room and Board scholarships to all cadets receiving FULL ROTC Scholarship funding.

6.4.2.4 Post Baccalaureate Scholarships

Scholarships are available to part-time students enrolled in undergraduate courses only, who already hold a baccalaureate degree from any university and received no other financial assistance and including employer reimbursement.

A student with an undergraduate degree from Gannon University or Villa Maria College can receive a Post Baccalaureate Scholarship for full time undergraduate attendance. The Post Baccalaureate Scholarships are applied to main campus rates only.
Students may qualify for a Graduate Student Incentive Award. The awards range from $100 – $525 per semester and are available to graduate students who are receiving no other form of assistance such as scholarship, grant, tuition discount, or company reimbursement (excluding educational loans). To be considered for this award, you must be a US citizen or eligible non-citizen and complete either the FAFSA or a Graduate Student Incentive Award application. Online programs and certain majors are excluded from this scholarship program. Refer to the Office of Graduate Admissions brochure “Financial Facts and Policies for Graduate Students” for additional information or contact the Financial Aid Office. Graduate Student Incentive Award applications are available in the Offices of Graduate Admissions and Financial Aid.
6.4.2.6  Gannon University Grant for Diocesan Employees

Full-time employees of the Catholic Diocese of Erie or an approved affiliate institution are eligible for the Gannon University Grant for Diocesan Employees. This grant from Gannon University is designed to assist Diocesan employees who are continuing their education at Gannon University on a part-time (fewer than 9 credits per semester) basis. Students are not eligible if they are enrolled in Health Science or a Doctoral programs. For additional information refer to the Office of Graduate Admissions brochure “Financial Facts and Policies for Graduate Students” or contact the Education Office of the Diocese of Erie. Students cannot be receiving any other type of assistance.

6.4.2.7  Veterans Assistance
In an effort to provide veterans with personal support and multiple services, Gannon University maintains an Office of Veterans Affairs. The Veterans Affairs representative offers the veteran current information on the assistance available primarily in the areas of higher education, vocational and technical training. Assistance is also available to explain the wide range of VA benefits accruing to veterans and their dependents as well as guidance in filing the appropriate VA forms.

Veteran Affairs Education Benefits

GI Bill is a registered trademark of the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA). More information about education benefits offered by VA is available at the official U.S. government website at https://benefits.va.gov/gibill/.

Benefits currently available to the veteran under the GI Bill can range from $200 a month to tuition and fees. Many opportunities such as tutoring, counseling, and remedial programs can be explained to the veteran by contacting the Gannon Veterans Affairs Office.

Pennsylvania Veterans’ are offered maximum state grant awards. Federal grants and loans are additional sources of financial aid to the veteran.

The Veterans Affairs Office additionally provides a referral service to veterans for federal, state, and county services which are not a part of any veteran’s program but are available to the veteran.

Gannon University will take veteran status into consideration in making decisions regarding admission. Up to 6 credits of Military Science can be awarded to the student for military training. Additionally, many schools attended and training given while in the service allow for the granting of credit for corresponding university courses.

Policy on VA Tuition and Fees Payment

In accordance with Title 38 US Code 3679 subsection (e), this school adopts the following additional provisions for any students using U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) Post 9/11 G.I. Bill (Ch. 33) or Vocational Rehabilitation and Employment (Ch. 31) benefits, while payment to the institution is pending from the VA. This school will not:

- Prevent the student’s enrollment;
- Assess a late penalty fee to the student;
- Require the student to secure alternative or additional funding;
- Deny the student access to any resources (access to classes, libraries, or other institutional facilities) available to other students who have satisfied their tuition and fee bills to the institution.

However, to qualify for this provision, such students may be required to:

- Produce the VA Certificate of Eligibility (COE) by the first day of class;
- Provide a written request to be certified;
• Provide additional information needed to properly certify the enrollment as described in other institutional policies.

6.4.2.8 Student Employment Program

All students who wish to apply for campus employment are required to complete a need analysis document (FAFSA).

While the majority of students will demonstrate need and be eligible for need based funds, there will be those who will not show need and therefore not be eligible for need based funds. Students who fall into this category, if employed, would be compensated with university funds (college budget).

Students seeking employment will need to complete an application for employment. This form will be available online at https://gannon.peopleadmin.com.

More information on eligibility and the application process can be found at https://www.gannon.edu/Financial-Aid/Types-of-Financial-Aid/Work-Study
6.4.2.8.1 Application, Hiring and Placement

Students seeking employment will need to complete an application for employment. This form will be available online at https://gannon.peopleadmin.com.

Once the student finds a position they qualify for, they can submit an application through people admin. The hiring manager will then review the applications and notify the qualifying student to begin the interview process. If selected the hiring manager will complete hiring paperwork in people admin. Students and supervisors will be notified by email once the hiring form is approved.

Students cannot begin to work until the hiring process is complete and they receive an email from human resources with their official approval and start date.

Student worker positions are for the academic year unless noted in the position descriptions. Students do not need to reapply each semester for an academic year position. If students want to work in the summer, they will need to apply for a summer position that is available.

First time student employees need to complete I-9 and W-4 forms in the Human Resources Department.
6.4.2.8.2  On Campus Student Worker Budget

An on-campus budget for student employment will be established annually by the Finance Office. The Finance Office sends notification to each Dean and Department Administrator to inform them of the moneys available. Faculty and Administrators shall be informed by their Deans of any changes in student employment allotment.

Each department's budget is broken down into summer and academic year expenditures. The budget initially will reflect total money allocated for a particular department, total number of students assigned to a department and the average cost to employ a student on a full-time basis. [Each month, the Department Chair will be sent a report of the expenditures and remaining moneys to be spent.]
6.4.2.9 Financial Aid Refund Policy

Tuition and Fees:

For 14 week semesters, a percentage of tuition charged will be refunded as follows: 100% during the first week; 80% the second week; 60% the third week; 40% the fourth week; and no tuition refund thereafter. For fees, 100% refund will be given during the first week; and no fee refund thereafter.

There is no financial adjustment for credits dropped between the flat rate (12-18 credits). After the first week of the semester, there is no financial adjustment when a student drops from full-time to part-time.

NOTE: Global and international students who are required to pay a non-refundable deposit to receive or keep valid their Form I-20 are eligible to request a refund in excess of the required deposit and in accordance with the refund schedule as posted. The non-refundable deposit is exempt from the refund policy.

Housing:

A 100% refund will be given during the first week of the semester; and no refund thereafter.

Meal Plan:

A meal plan dropped during the first week of the semester will be refunded the full cost of the plan less the equivalent cost of meals consumed prior to dropping the plan. After the first week, a percentage of the meal plan cost, less the GU Gold amount, will be refunded as follows: 80% the second week; 60% the third week; 40% the fourth week; and no refund thereafter.

Federal:

The Financial Aid Office is required by federal statute to determine how much financial aid was earned by students who withdraw, drop out, are dismissed, or take a leave of absence prior to completing 60% of a payment period or term.

For a student who withdraws after the 60% point-in-time, there are no unearned funds. However, a school must still complete a Return calculation in order to determine whether the student is eligible for a post-withdrawal disbursement.
The calculation is based on the percentage of earned aid using the following Federal Return of Title IV funds formula:

Percentage of payment period or term completed is the number of days completed up to the withdrawal date divided by the total days in the payment period or term. (Any break of five days or more is not counted as part of the days in the term.) This percentage is also the percentage of earned aid.

Funds are returned to the appropriate federal program based on the percentage of unearned aid using the following formula:

Aid to be returned is \((100\% \text{ of the aid that could be disbursed minus the percentage of earned aid})\) multiplied by the total amount of aid that could have been disbursed during the payment period or term.

If a student earned less aid than was disbursed, the institution would be required to return a portion of the funds and the student would be required to return a portion of the funds. Keep in mind that when Title IV funds are returned, the student borrower may owe a debit balance to the institution.

If a student earned more aid than was disbursed to him/her, the institution would owe the student a post-withdrawal disbursement which must be paid within 120 days of the student’s withdrawal.

The institution must return the amount of Title IV funds for which it is responsible no later than 45 days after the date of the determination of the date of the student’s withdrawal.

Refunds are allocated in the following order:

- Unsubsidized Federal Stafford Loans
- Subsidized Federal Stafford Loans
- Unsubsidized Direct Stafford Loans (other than PLUS loans)
- Subsidized Direct Stafford Loans
- Federal Parent (PLUS) Loans
- Direct PLUS Loans
- Federal Pell Grants for which a Return of funds is required
- Federal Supplemental Opportunity Grants for which a Return of funds is required
- Other assistance under this Title for which a Return of funds is required (e.g., LEAP)
6.4.2.10 Policy Statement on Satisfactory Academic Progress

Credit Requirement

Academic advancement is defined for full-time enrollment as successfully completing a minimum of 24 credits within 2 consecutive semesters. This progress will be checked each semester you are in attendance. If you have not progressed a minimum of 12 credits in the first semester you will be sent a warning letter. Your aid will be continued for the next semester but you will be required to make up any deficiency prior to the next awarding of funds.

Failure to comply with academic advancement will result in the loss of aid for any subsequent term. Students are reminded that progressing at the rate of only 24 credits per year, while meeting the minimum progress requirement, may utilize all of their eligibility for financial aid before completing their program of study.

Part-time students are also required to academically advance in the same manner as mentioned above, except at a reduced rate of 6 credits per semester (12 credits per year) at half-time and 9 credits per semester (18 credits per year) at three-quarter time.

GPA Requirement

Students enrolled in an educational program of more than two academic years must have a 2.00 Cumulative Grade Point Average prior to the receipt of a 3rd year of financial aid. Students have the right to appeal academic advancement and GPA policies. Please refer to Gannon’s Financial Aid web page under Forms and Documentation for additional policy and procedure information regarding Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) for institutional, state and federal grants and loans.

Gannon University Pass/Fail Election Form

Student Name ______________________________________  I.D. No. ____________________
Major ____________________________________________  Semester/Year _______________ Course Requested for Pass/Fail: ___________________________________________________ (Course Title/Number)

STUDENT: Please read the following statement and sign below indicating that you understand the implications and procedures concerning the Pass/Fail policy.

As the Gannon University catalog states, no course may be taken as pass/fail unless it is an elective. That is, no Liberal Studies course, no requirement in your major nor any cognates, by definition, may be taken pass/fail. Conversely, any course that you now designate as one you wish to take pass/fail will henceforth be treated as an elective, even if you transfer to a program in which this course is a requirement. At that time you would be required to take the course again for a letter grade. If you are a freshman or sophomore and are considering alternative majors, you should reflect on the implications of this decision.

- You are responsible for all of the work of the course as if you were taking it for credit.
- You are not to inform the instructor that you are taking the course pass/fail. The instructor must submit a letter grade for you. When your grades are processed, the computer will automatically convert the letter grade to a "P" or an "F", depending on what you have earned. This is the grade that will appear on your permanent transcript.
- If you receive a "P", it will have no bearing on your quality point average; however, if you receive an "F" it will.
- No course designated pass/fail may revert to a letter grade status after the deadline stated in the schedule of classes.

6.6.3 Academic Forgiveness Information Sheet

Academic Forgiveness is a way to encourage capable, mature students who were previously academically unsuccessful with an opportunity for a fresh start in completing their bachelor's degree.

1. Academic Forgiveness allows a returning student to begin a new cumulative grade point average.

2. Academic Forgiveness is available only to returning students, entering in fall 2003 or later, who have not attended Gannon in the five years prior to applying for re-admission to Gannon.

3. Academic Forgiveness must be requested at the time of re-admission to Gannon.

4. Academic Forgiveness does not change any requirements for obtaining a degree.

5. Students receiving Academic Forgiveness will be eligible to receive academic honors at graduation consistent with the policy applying to transfer students.

Requesting Academic Forgiveness:

When applying for re-admission, eligible students may request Academic Forgiveness by checking the box on the application for Re-admission.

The student must complete 24 Gannon credits with a minimum grade of C in all courses before Academic Forgiveness will be activated.

Upon successful completion of the 24 credits, it is the student's responsibility to complete a form requesting activation of Academic Forgiveness in the appropriate Dean's Office. Only after this notification will the student's transcript reflect Academic Forgiveness.

Resulting Transcript:

The student will retain credits for all previous courses in which a C or better was earned. Please note that while a D earns credits, with Academic Forgiveness any credits for Ds no longer count towards graduation. Essentially, Academic Forgiveness treats a readmitted student the same as a transfer student.

The Coordinator of the 504/ADA Program acts as advocate for students with appropriately documented disabilities who require accommodation of facilities, programs, or services of the University. The more significant services provided by this office include: information on accessibility, identification of required accommodations, liaison with faculty and staff in establishing accommodations, (i.e., equipment, tests, note-taking, etc.) and the provision of auxiliary aides when required.

Students with disabilities seeking accommodations have the responsibility to: 1.) self-identify concerning the disability status in a timely manner; 2.) provide disability documentation that is current; and 3.) request necessary accommodations.
1. The right to inspect and review the student’s education records within 45 days of the day the University receives a request for access. Students should submit to the Registrar, Dean, or appropriate Academic or Administrative Department a written request that identifies the record(s) they wish to inspect. The University official will make arrangements for access and notify the student of the time and place where the records may be inspected. If the records are not maintained by the University official to whom the request was submitted, that official shall advise the student of the correct official to whom the request should be addressed.

2. The right to request the amendment of the student's educational records that the student believes is inaccurate or misleading. Students may ask the University to amend a record that they feel is inaccurate or misleading. They should write the University official responsible for the record, clearly identify the part of the record they want changed and specify why it is inaccurate or misleading. If the University decides not to amend the record as requested by the student, the University will notify the student of the decision and advise the student of his/her right to a hearing regarding the request for amendment. The official in charge of the record will call the hearing and notify the student of the time and place. The hearing committee will consist of the Vice President who has authority over the person in charge of the record and either a faculty member or administrator of the student's choice. The student may also have a person with them to assist in presenting their case. If the decision is still not to amend the record then the student has the right to insert a statement into the record.

3. The right to consent to disclosures of personally identifiable information contained in the student's educational records, except in the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent. One exception, which permits disclosure without consent, is disclosure to those designated by the University as school officials with legitimate educational interests. Gannon has defined a school official as having a legitimate educational interest if the official needs to review an education record in order to fulfill his/her professional responsibility. A second exception is the University's intention to release information from a student's educational record to officials of another school in which a student seeks or intends to enroll.
4. The right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by the University to comply with the requirements of FERPA. The name and address of the Office that administers FERPA is:

Family Policy Compliance Office
U.S. Department of Education

Washington, D.C. 20202-4605

Gannon gives students/parents an annual notice of their FERPA rights and procedures in the Student Datebook/Handbook. The Student Datebook/Handbook is provided online, and all students are required to accept policies each year through the Gannon Portal. distributed to freshmen and is available to everyone in several locations, including the Information Desk in the Waldron Campus Center, the Office of Student Living, and the University Mailroom. The University has designated the Registrar's Office as the office where questions relating to FERPA should be directed and where students should go to request the non-disclosure of directory information to third parties outside of the University. Sexuality as God’s Gift and Our Response to Gay and Lesbian Student Concerns

God is the creator of all persons and things and the origin of all that is good. The living out of our sexuality is a broad and life-long challenge. In a culture that is at times rather materialistic and narcissistic, the fragile beauty of human sexuality can be lost. This pastoral statement is intended to remind members of the Gannon community that human sexuality is a gift from God, a gift that we are to treasure and guard. Certainly, a brief statement like this cannot cover all aspects of a healthy Christian sexuality. However, it can serve to remind us of a small portion of wisdom that appears to be elusive throughout our community at the present time.

This statement focuses in a particular way on the issues dealing with gay and lesbian students and it is intended to serve as a call to accountability for all of us.
7.2.1 Pastoral Imperative

Among the many concerns in the area of human sexuality that call for a contemporary response, several are of particular concern on a college campus: promiscuity, sexual harassment, sexual violence. Although each of these deserves our attention, the focus of this statement is homosexuality and attitudes and negative behavior expressed toward gay and lesbian students.

Sexuality is a gift from God which impels us to be in relationship with others. This gift deserves our respect and reverence. However, it is often misunderstood, misdirected, and abused today by many individuals regardless of their sexual orientation.

Gay and lesbian individuals often find themselves marginalized by society, even harassed and persecuted. On college campuses they frequently experience isolation, loneliness, and the intolerance of homophobia.

The Catholic Church and Gannon University deplore violence, harassment and ill treatment of gays and lesbians, and call for society in general, and the Gannon community in particular, to demonstrate respect and compassion. Thus members of the Gannon community are called to foster an environment which respects all students and assists in their development regardless of their sexual orientation. We are challenged to examine our prejudices regarding sexual orientation, including homophobia, and in doing so, to develop a climate reflective of a Christian community where all individuals accept, respect and value others.

Accordingly, Gannon University attempts to create an atmosphere where learning and making life-enhancing decisions are part of a student's experience. Gannon recognizes the unique difficulties gay and lesbian students experience as they struggle with issues of sexual identity, as well as difficulties associated with the recognition and acceptance of their sexuality. It is during difficult times that support is essential. As a community, Gannon must commit to developing a supportive environment for all students to grow.

At the same time, the Gannon community acknowledges its fidelity to the Catholic moral viewpoint, one that is illumined by faith and is consciously motivated by our desire to do the will of God, our Father. Specifically, the Church believes, and Gannon maintains that God's design for the exercise of sexuality is that it is to be both procreative (open to the transmission of life) as well as unitive (expressive of the love between husband and wife). Any sexual activity that is not procreative and unitive is considered to be a misuse of God's gift and consequently immoral. Therefore, Gannon University, in remaining committed to its Catholic moral tradition, cannot condone a sexually active gay lifestyle which is not God's intention for our gift of sexuality.

At the same time, we must demonstrate a real commitment to the spiritual development of students whose orientation is homosexual. All of us are children of God and are blessed with the opportunity to know love and serve God through the living of our lives. It should come as no surprise that in the process of growth, young people often deal with great struggles and choices and even make mistakes in the area of sexuality. This is true for all students regardless of their sexual orientation. Our Christian and Catholic tradition has always promised the support of grace in making decisions as well as the possibility of forgiveness when we fail.
7.2.2 Gannon's Commitment to Action

In sum, Gannon University faculty, administration, staff and students are expected to foster and sustain a climate where all people are respected and valued, and where people's basic human dignity is staunchly upheld. The Gannon community is committed to:

1. Honestly exploring the meaning of human sexuality in the context of faith;
2. Sincerely endorsing the appropriateness of chastity for all, in accordance with the teachings of the Church;
3. Supporting the spiritual development of gay and lesbian students;
4. Providing a secure and appropriately supportive environment where gay and lesbian students can pursue their education;
5. Developing programs to heighten awareness of and sensitivity to issues of sexual identity.
7.3 Academic Policies
7.3.1 Student Academic Freedom and Fair Classroom Procedure

Students have the right to an atmosphere conducive to learning and to equitable treatment in all aspects of the teacher-student relationship. This right applies to research and learning, both on and off campus, without interference, censure, or punitive action. It also guarantees students the right to hold opinions, including those of a religious and political nature, and to express them freely.

Students, for their part, are expected to inform themselves on their responsibilities and to respect the rights of the members of the University community and to remember that the public may judge the institution by their public utterances and actions. Hence, they should show appropriate restraint and have respect for the rights and opinions of others.

1. Instructors should provide their students with a syllabus for the courses they are teaching following the guidelines and requirements for syllabus construction as set forth by University Academic Affairs. This syllabus must contain the following:
   a. Information about the instructor, including phone number and office location and times when students may contact the instructor outside of class.
   b. Course outcomes, course requirements and the criteria for satisfactory performance.
   c. Assessment/evaluation procedures and the grading system for the course.
   d. Textbooks and materials needed for the course.

2. As a general policy, work assigned should approximate two hours of outside work for each contact hour.

3. All test grades and other minor graded assignments should be promptly made available to students. Return of assignments within a week or ten days should be regarded as the norm. Major assignments (research papers) should be returned within three weeks.

4. Each instructor should maintain up-to-date records of grades of each student enrolled in his or her courses and should reveal the status at the student’s request.

5. Each instructor should make clear to all students the nature, format and coverage of a test or other assignment, and this should be done at least one week prior to the date involved.

6. Periodic assessments should be conducted in all courses and at least three times throughout the semester. Many forms of assessment may be used, depending upon the nature of the course and the approach of the instructor.

7. Textbooks and other materials that students are required to purchase should be, in all cases, utilized as an integral part of the course; otherwise, they should not be required.

8. Tests administered in the classroom should be designed for completion within the scheduled period.

9. Final Examinations
a. Final examinations or their equivalent projects are required for all courses including both undergraduate and graduate courses. Final examinations for undergraduate courses will be administered according to the published Final Examinations Schedule. Final examinations for Graduate Courses will be administered during final examination week on the day and time of the regular class meetings.
b. Deviation from the above schedule may be authorized by the appropriate academic Dean for serious cause. Changing examination schedules without authorization by Deans is a serious infraction of school policy.

10. Attendance at all classes and laboratory sessions is expected of all students and all courses are conducted with this understanding. A student's grades are based upon the general quality of work performed in each course and by such factors as prompt completion of all assignments, papers, and readings, by presence for all examinations, and by participation in class discussion. Ultimately, it is the responsibility of each faculty member to set reasonable attendance policies appropriate to individual courses and to publish those policies on course syllabi. When so indicated on the course syllabus, class attendance may directly influence final grades in a course for upper-class students as well as freshmen. The following policy statements are to assist in a uniform class attendance expectation. Certain University events, such as athletics or particular extracurricular activities, in which the students represent the University in an official capacity, necessitate excused absences from classes. In such cases, it is inappropriate to penalize a student as a result of their absences resulting from their function as University representatives. Faculty then has a responsibility to provide the opportunity to complete any tests, assignments, or other work.

Students should be aware that in the Junior and Senior years of study of some majors, i.e., health professions and education majors, it may be extremely difficult for extensive athletic or other types of extracurricular participation. Student should discuss this with appropriate University officials before selecting a major.

The primary function of Gannon University is the education of its students. Consequently, it is judged to be inappropriate for any arm of the University to request that students excessively absent themselves from regularly scheduled classes in order to function as representatives of the University. Except in emergency situations (e.g., illness or accident), the student is expected to notify the faculty of scheduled course absences one (1) week in advance. Faculty may require verification from appropriate University staff.

Freshmen who absent themselves, whether it be excused or unexcused, from a particular course in excess of twice the number of credit hours assigned to that course may be withdrawn from the course, upon recommendation by the faculty member to the Dean of the student's college. This request would typically result from unexcused absences, but a student with excused absences should also try to adhere to this limit. Although the student may not be penalized for excused absences as defined earlier, a combination of excused and unexcused may result in the same requested withdrawal. The faculty member would need to show the Dean that the student, because of the combination of absences, has not been able to show competency in the course and has no chance of doing so. Students who are active in athletics or co-curricular activities must be responsible for their learning and minimize unexcused absence in times such as sickness or emergencies. Missing an 80-minute class period is counted as one and one-half absences.
In addition, the Office of New Student Services is interested in knowing which freshmen accumulated the maximum number of absences allowable and is prepared to undertake an inquiry aimed at helping the student. Reports on freshmen attendance must be initiated by faculty members, by means of direct contact with the Advising Center department, New Student Services.
7.3.2.1 Scope and Purpose

5. This policy addresses academic grievances only. An academic grievance is defined as a complaint brought by a student regarding the University’s provision of education and academic (only) services affecting their role as a student. Complaints or grievances connected to assigned grades represent a special case to the grievance process. Grading reflects careful and deliberate assessment of a student’s performance by a faculty member. As such, the substance of grading decisions may not be delegated to the grievance process. Nevertheless, the University recognizes that in rare cases the process of grading may be subject to error or injustice. Therefore, a student who alleges an error or injustice in the grading process would follow this policy toward resolution.

6. This policy does not apply to student complaints regarding employment or alleged violations of other policies in the student handbook.

7. It is the intent that this policy to provide an efficient process, allowing for both informal and formal resolution of grievances related to academic concerns, complaints or allegations.

8. A student must initiate a grievance as close as possible to the date of the occurrence of the incident and no later than 45 days after the end of the semester in which the alleged grievance occurred. The three summer sessions are considered as one semester.
7.3.2.2 General Guidelines

Academic grievance procedures should be kept as informal as possible based on principles of mediation and conciliation. Every reasonable effort should be made to resolve any academic grievance at the lowest organizational level possible. In the event that it cannot be resolved informally, the student may seek resolution at the next higher level according to the Formal Resolution procedure.

In the event that the faculty member is no longer employed by the University or is not available within the timelines specified in these general guidelines, the student is to initiate the complaint with the faculty member’s immediate supervisor.

The student filing a grievance may have a third-party advisor, such as the University Ombudsperson; attend any meeting at which the student appears. The faculty member involved in the grievance may also have a third-party advisor approved by the University attend any meeting at which the faculty member appears. Legal counsel shall not be used by either party in this grievance process.
7.3.2.3 Informal Resolution Phase

All academic grievances begin with the informal resolution phase. This first step toward resolution of an academic grievance should begin at the lowest organizational level. The student and the faculty member or University colleague involved should meet to discuss and work toward resolution of the concern. The student should address the grievance to the faculty member or University colleague involved as soon as possible. The student should follow the established protocol regarding the levels of appeal. Formal resolution shall not occur without occurrence of the informal resolution phase.

The student may contact the University Ombudsperson for assistance in initiating the academic grievance process or at any time during the process.
7.3.2.4 Formal Resolution Phase

The formal resolution phase is used by the student when a satisfactory informal resolution has not occurred.

5. The first step in the formal resolution of an academic grievance is to submit a formal written account of the grievance to the appropriate immediate supervisor. Students may consult the Human Resources office to determine the appropriate supervisor.
   a. The written account must be submitted to the immediate supervisor within two weeks after the last meeting of the informal resolution phase.
   b. The written account should include: identification of the grievant, the respondent, the incident – date, time, place, names of witnesses, the existing rule/policy/established practice claimed to be violated and a brief statement of the desired outcome.
   c. Within three weeks of receipt of all written materials, the appropriate immediate supervisor will fact-find from involved parties and render a decision in writing via registered mail to the parties involved.

6. The second step, if needed, in the formal resolution phase occurs when and if the faculty or student is not satisfied with the immediate supervisor’s resolution of the grievance. The student or the faculty member or University colleague involved may then appeal to the next level of the organizational chart by providing a written account of the grievance process and decision.
   a. A written account must be submitted to the next level of the organizational chart within two weeks of receipt of the decision rendered by the immediate supervisor (Step 1).
   b. The written account should include: identification of the grievant, the respondent, the incident – date, time, place, names of witnesses, the existing rule/policy/established practice claimed to be violated, a copy of the decision of the immediate supervisor and a brief statement of the desired outcome.
   c. Within three weeks of receipt of all written materials, the next level of the organizational chart will fact-find from involved parties and render a resolution in writing to the parties involved.

7. The third step, if needed, in the formal resolution process is to appeal to the appropriate College Dean.
   a. The College Dean shall be given a written account of the grievance process to date. This must be submitted within two weeks of receipt of the resolution decision rendered by the next person on the organizational chart (Step 2).
   b. The College Dean shall render a decision in writing to the parties involved within three weeks.
   c. In the event the Dean’s resolution of the alleged academic grievance is not satisfactory to either party, the appeal shall be directed to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience.
8. The fourth step, if needed, in the formal resolution process is to appeal to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience. This step must be initiated within two weeks of receipt of the College Dean’s decision.

a. The Provost and Vice President for Student Experience shall review the written appeal and response(s) to make a determination whether or not there are sufficient grounds to hold an appeal hearing.

b. If there are insufficient grounds to hold an appeal hearing, the decision of the College Dean will be upheld.

c. If there are sufficient grounds to hold an appeal hearing, the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience shall establish an ad hoc grievance appeal panel.

i. A grievance appeal hearing panel would be established on an ad hoc basis and consist of five members for each case. The grievance appeal hearing panel shall be convened by the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience. The panel shall be composed of the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience, or her/his designee (serves as Chair), two faculty representatives chosen from the Faculty Senate, and two student representatives chosen from the Student Government Association. The Provost and Vice President for Student Experience, or her/his designee shall have a vote only in event of a tie.

1. The panel members shall conduct the business of the appeal in strict confidence, and in private. The meetings and deliberations of the panel shall be closed.

2. The panel members shall have access to the written appeals and each person involved in the grievance.

3. The panel decision shall be communicated in writing to the student, faculty member, College Dean and program director.

4. The decision of the grievance appeal panel must be submitted in writing by registered mail to both parties. This communication should include an opportunity for a member of the panel or the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience to debrief or otherwise provide further assistance to either party.

5. The decision of the grievance appeal panel is final.
Gannon University considers the maintenance of academic integrity of utmost importance and stresses that students are responsible for thoroughly understanding this code.

Absolute integrity is expected of every Gannon student in all academic undertakings; the student must in no way misrepresent his/her work, fraudulently or unfairly advance his/her academic status, or be a party to another student’s failure to maintain integrity.

The maintenance of an atmosphere of academic honor and the fulfillment of the provisions of this code are the responsibilities of the students and faculty of Gannon University. Therefore, all students and faculty members shall adhere to the basic principles of this Code. Each student will receive the Code of Academic Integrity publication of Gannon University during Freshman Orientation or entrance into the University. Upon review of the publication, the students will be invited to sign a pledge to uphold the Academic Integrity of their work and the work of their peers.
7.3.3.1 Forms of Academic Dishonesty

7.3.3.1.1 Plagiarism

By placing his/her name on work submitted for credit, the student certifies the originality of all work not otherwise identified by appropriate acknowledgments.

A student will avoid being charged with plagiarism if there is an acknowledgment of indebtedness.

7.3.4 Violation of Academic Integrity-Procedure Procedure

1. If an instructor suspects that a student has violated Gannon University's Code of Academic Integrity, he/she will promptly notify the student involved as well as the department chair responsible for the course in question. At no time during the investigation or appeal process are students permitted to withdraw from the course. Within 10 calendar days of the discovery of the alleged violation the instructor will notify the student of the allegation and invite the student to meet to review the matter and to explain the alleged violation. If the student chooses to meet with the instructor to contest the allegation, this meeting shall be scheduled within 7 calendar days of the notification.

2. If the student is cleared of the allegation, the matter will be dropped. If not, then the instructor will inform the Dean's Office of the violation. (The Dean's Office to be notified is the one responsible for the course.) This Office shall then inform the instructor of the student's number of previous violations of the academic integrity policy, if any. In consultation with the department chair the instructor will then impose a sanction upon the student. A letter detailing the sanction will be sent to the student from the instructor and copied to the three College Deans. The letter shall be sent within 10 calendar days from the date the Dean was notified. The student should be aware that admission of guilt does not eliminate or lessen the sanction imposed by the instructor.

3. The student may appeal the instructor's decision to the Dean of the College in which the course resides. Appeals must be made within 7 calendar days of the date of the instructor's decision. Students are expected to continue to attend class during the appeal process.

4. A hearing will be scheduled within 10 calendar days of the Dean receiving the student's appeal. The hearing will include the Dean, the instructor, and the student. The instructor will present pertinent evidence and the student will be given the opportunity to challenge the evidence and present a defense. The student may have one guest present during the hearing, but the guest is not allowed to speak during the hearing unless permitted by the Dean.

The Dean will issue a finding based upon the evidence presented. If the Dean determines that insufficient evidence has been presented, the matter will be dropped. If the Dean finds the student in violation of the Code of Academic Integrity, he/she may support the academic sanction originally imposed by the instructor. The Dean also has the power to issue administrative sanctions (i.e., separation from the University). In considering the penalty to be imposed, the Dean shall take into account the evidence of the appeal proceeding as well as any documented previous infraction(s). A letter detailing the sanction will be sent to the student from the Dean and copied to the other two College Deans.

5. Following the Dean's decision, the student has 7 calendar days to make a final appeal to the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience with respect to the fairness of the proceedings and/or the appropriateness of the sanction. The Provost and Vice President for Student Experience will issue a decision within 7 calendar days of the appeal. Students are expected to continue attending class during the appeal process. A final letter will be sent to the student from the Provost and Vice President for Student Experience and copied to the three College Deans. (Note: At the Dean's or Provost and Vice President for Student Experience’s discretion, exceptions to the calendar day requirements can be made for unusual circumstances such as Christmas or summer breaks).

6. Once all appeals are exhausted and a final decision has been made the Dean's office responsible for the course will report the finding of academic dishonesty to each of the other Academic Deans.

7.3.4.1 Academic Dishonesty Sanctions
Any student found guilty of academic dishonesty will be subject to penalties, which, depending on the gravity of the offense, may include the following:

1. A grade of "zero" for the assignment involved (as imposed by the instructor in consultation with the department chair). This penalty will generally be applied in the case of a student's first offense. However, the instructor has the right to impose a more severe penalty based on the circumstances of the offense.

2. Failure of the course (as imposed by the instructor in consultation with the department chair). This penalty will generally be applied in the case of a student's second documented offense. However, the instructor has the right to impose a lesser penalty based on the circumstances of the offense.

3. Subject to review and approval of the Dean responsible for the course, separation from the University. This penalty will generally be applied in the case of a student's third documented offense. However, the Dean has the latitude to apply a lesser penalty depending on the circumstances of the offense.
7.3.4.2 Review and Expunging of Records

1. Records of completed disciplinary proceedings are destroyed if the student is acquitted.

2. Records of the completed disciplinary proceedings are maintained by the Academic Dean's Office if the student is found guilty. The records are maintained for a period of three years after the student leaves or graduates from the University.
All students have an obligation to maintain ethical behavior in relationship to their profession.

Professional Behavior

Those behaviors reflecting status, character, and standards of the given profession.

Ethical Behavior

Those behaviors in accordance with the accepted principles of right and wrong that govern the conduct of a profession.

Any student at Gannon University who engages in unprofessional or unethical conduct is subject to disciplinary action which could include reprimand, probation, separation and expulsion from the University.
7.3.6 Sources for Integrity

The format and definitions for the policy on Academic Integrity were adapted from the "Academic Honesty and Dishonesty" brochure produced by the College of Health Sciences, Gannon University, Erie, PA 16541.

The format and definitions for the policy on Academic Integrity were adapted from the School of Hotel Administration, Code of Academic Integrity, and Cornell University.

Proposed by the Faculty Senate - November 17, 1994
Adopted by the University Academic Policy Committee - August 8, 1995
Approved by President's Council - October 10, 1995
7.3.7 Final Exam Policy Governing Three or more Final Exams in a Single Day

Students who have more than two in-class exams on the same day of Final Exam week must take the first two scheduled exams that day. They may choose to take the in-class exam scheduled after the first two exams at another time; however, that newly arranged time must be during Final Exam week. The student must inform the instructor(s) of the need to reschedule a Final exam at least four weeks before the beginning of Final Exam week. The faculty are expected to accommodate the student's request in a way mutually convenient for both the professor and the student.

EXCEPTION: Any lab practicals scheduled during Final’s week must be taken as scheduled. It is not reasonable for lab instructors to have to re-set the lab for the convenience of an individual student. Should a lab practical be the third exam of the day, the student shall have the right to re-schedule either of the earlier exams of that day.

PROCEDURE: The student will obtain a form for rescheduling a Final Exam. This form will be available in all of the Deans’ offices. The student will fill in the date and scheduled times of the three exams and will list potential alternate times to take the third of the scheduled exams. The student will then bring this form to his or her advisor for the advisor’s signature. After this the student will bring the form to the instructor of the third exam, who will then fill in the re-scheduled time for that exam and sign the form. The student will then return the form to the Dean’s office responsible for the re-scheduled course.
7.3.8 Gannon Prohibition Against Harassment and Unlawful Discrimination

In the Christian tradition, the human person is created in the image and likeness of God, as stated in Genesis: "in the divine image —male and female God created them" (Genesis 1:27). Grounded in this tradition, Gannon affirms and seeks to promote the fundamental dignity and respect accorded to all people by virtue of their common humanity.

Harassment and unlawful discrimination violate the basic right of each individual to be treated as a person worthy of respect and is in direct contradiction to the University's mission. In administering its affairs, Gannon University will prohibit harassment and shall not discriminate against any person on any basis prohibited by law.

All aspects of student recruitment, admissions, financial aid, student discipline, and student life conform to this basic policy in order to further the principles of equal opportunity and the spirit of affirmative action.

All members of the Gannon community have a responsibility for maintaining an environment free from harassment and unlawful discrimination. Gannon faculty, staff, and students are expected to treat each other with respect and to avoid any conduct that could be construed as harassment or unlawful discrimination.

Questions or concerns about any type of harassment or unlawful discrimination are to be brought to the attention of a harassment prevention officer by checking the HR website: Click Here, student conduct officer (814-871-7224), or any member of the Human Resources Department (814-871-7145). No one raising a question or concern should fear reprisal. Anyone found to be engaging in any type of harassment or unlawful discrimination or reprisal will be subject to corrective action, up to and including termination of employment.

University Drug Policy

Gannon University prohibits the unlawful manufacture, distribution, possession, or use of any controlled substance or paraphernalia on University property or as part of any University activity. Health Risks Associated with the Use of Illicit Drugs and the Abuse of Alcohol

The use of illicit drugs (and the abuse of licit drugs) has been found to have harmful, potentially serious health effects, which include (but are not limited to) addiction, neurological damage, heart-related problems, heart disease, diabetes, hypertension, depression, hallucinations, toxic psychosis, psychotic behavior, convulsions, nasal passage injury, bronchitis, ulcers, and death. The effects of illicit drug use are summarized in Appendix A, attached hereto and made a part hereof. Appendix A is taken from the Department of Justice Publication, "Drugs of Abuse," 1989 Edition.

Health risks associated with alcohol are described as follows in "What Works: Schools without Drugs," a Department of Education publication: "Alcohol consumption causes a number of marked changes in behavior. Even low doses significantly impair the judgment and coordination required to drive a car safely, increasing the likelihood that the driver will be involved in an accident. Low to moderate doses of alcohol also increase the incidence of a variety of aggressive acts, including spouse and child abuse. Moderate to high doses of alcohol cause marked impairments in higher mental functions, severely altering a person's ability to learn and remember information. Very high doses cause respiratory depression and death. If combined with other depressants of the central nervous system, much lower doses of alcohol will produce the effects just described."

"Repeated use of alcohol can lead to dependence. Sudden cessation of alcohol intake is likely to produce withdrawal symptoms, including severe anxiety, tremors, hallucinations, and convulsions. Alcohol withdrawal can be life-threatening. Long-term consumption of large quantities of alcohol, particularly when combined with poor nutrition, can also lead to permanent damage to vital organs such as the brain and the liver."

"Mothers who drink alcohol during pregnancy may give birth to infants with fetal alcohol syndrome. These infants have irreversible physical abnormalities and mental retardation. In addition, research indicates that children of alcoholic parents are at greater risk than other children of becoming alcoholics."
Gannon University provides a variety of programs designed to promote the prevention of illegal drug use and alcohol abuse, and in resolving student abuse problems. The University demonstrates its commitment to eliminating illegal drug use and resolving alcohol problems through the Student Assistance Program. The services of the Student Assistance Program shall include:

A. Counseling and assistance through Counseling Services to students who self-refer for treatment.

B. Monitoring of students' progress through treatment and rehabilitation by the individual making the referral.

C. Education and training coordinated by Student Development and Engagement to all levels of staff and students on:
   1. the types and effects of drugs.
   2. symptoms of drug use and their impact on performance and conduct.
   3. the relationship of the Student Assistance Program to treatment and confidentiality issues.

D. Maintenance of the confidentiality of treatment records in accordance with the Protection of the Rights and Privacy of Parents and Students (Public Law 93-380).

The Student Assistance Program is administered by Student Development and Engagement and is available to all students without regard to a finding of drug or alcohol abuse. The Student Assistance Program provides counseling and rehabilitation for all referrals, as well as education and training regarding illegal drug use and alcohol abuse. Any student with drug or alcohol abuse problems may be referred to appropriate services.

The Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act requires that, as a condition of receiving funds or any other form of financial assistance under any Federal program, an institution of higher education, state educational agency, or local educational agency must certify that it has adopted and implemented a program to prevent the possession, use, or distribution of illicit drugs and alcohol by students and employees.

As set forth in the statute, Gannon University's program is required to provide at a minimum:

A. An annual distribution, in writing, to each employee and student (regardless of the length of the student's program of study), including:

- Standards of conduct that clearly prohibit, at a minimum, possession, use, or distribution of illicit drugs and alcohol by students and employees on its property or as part of any of its activities.
- A description of applicable legal sanctions under local, state, or federal law.
- A description of health risks associated with the use of illicit drugs and the abuse of alcohol.
- A description of available drug or alcohol counseling, treatment, rehabilitation or re-entry programs.
- A clear statement of the disciplinary sanctions that the University will impose on students and employees.

B. A biennial review by the University of the program to determine its effectiveness, implement needed changes, and ensure that disciplinary sanctions are consistently enforced.
Alcohol

Each student is responsible for conducting themselves in ways consistent with federal, state and local laws, for following University policies and for assisting those impaired by alcohol or drug use in the interests of their health and well-being. Impairment due to alcohol or drug use is never an excuse for misconduct.

Students 21 or older, who choose to consume alcoholic beverages, are expected to do so in moderation and with responsible decision making. Negative actions including loud or disruptive behavior, interference with the cleanliness of the residence halls, or drinking habits which are disruptive or injurious to the health or education of individuals will not be tolerated.

Pennsylvania law requires that individuals must be at least 21 years old to purchase, possess, or consume alcoholic beverages. The following expectations are for all students and their guests:

1. Students of legal age residing in campus housing will follow university standards (including state laws) relating to alcohol use. In order for alcohol to be allowed in the room, at least one of the residents of that room must be of legal age.
2. Anyone under the age of 21 is not permitted to be in a room where alcohol is being consumed unless that person is (are) the roommate(s) of the resident over the age of 21.
3. If a minor is found consuming and/or possessing alcohol in the room ALL alcohol present will be disposed of by the resident and the of-age resident may be held responsible. This rule applies to all residence halls, rooms, and houses.
4. Possession and/or consumption of alcoholic beverages is not permitted in hallways, lounges, stairways, courtyards, community bathrooms, parking lots, patio/balconies, or any public areas on campus. All alcohol transported through public areas must be unopened and concealed in a box/sack.
5. Bars, kegs, Jungle Juice, or other large vessels that contain alcoholic beverages are prohibited.
6. Public advertisement of private gatherings in a resident's room is prohibited.
7. All private gatherings held in student rooms/apartments must be confined to the specific room and the door must be closed.
8. Any games, activities, or equipment that promotes the excessive use of alcohol (e.g. beer pong or beer pong tables, drinking games, and other items similar in nature), are not permitted on University property. Any such items may be confiscated and not returned if found on University property.
9. Residents are responsible for their behavior and that of their guests at all times. Alcohol use/misuse does not excuse disruptive, excessively noisy, or indecent behavior.
10. Empty alcohol containers may not be displayed in rooms as decoration
11. Students are not permitted to furnish alcohol to minors or to provide a place for minors to drink on or off campus.
12. Consuming alcohol, on or off campus, in a manner that results in intoxication or in behavior judged to be abusive, offensive, disorderly, unlawful, or dangerous to others is not permitted.
Drugs

Gannon University regulations on controlled substances are based on Federal and Commonwealth of Pennsylvania laws. Any violation of these laws or regulations on- or off-campus will be grounds for University Disciplinary Sanctions.

The following activities are prohibited and include but are not limited to:

1. The use, possession, sale, or distribution of controlled substances, without a prescription, on University property or housing.
2. The misuse or illegal distribution of prescription and non-prescription medications/controlled substances.
3. Possession or use of drug paraphernalia, including but not limited to pipes, bongs, rolling papers and blow tubes. Hookahs are not permitted on campus and are permitted paraphernalia.
4. Irresponsible conduct under the influence of a controlled substance, on- or off-campus, which brings discredit or disfavor to the University. Also using substances that induce euphoria (huffing as example).

6. Supplying drugs, including methods of using controlled substances, for whatever reason, in whatever amount, and in all circumstances.
7. The smoking of any type of herbal blend or mix. In the case of marijuana, the detection of odor is sufficient evidence to justify a search and/or to constitute a violation of University policy.
8. Being present in a room/apartment in which a controlled substance or paraphernalia is found, possessed, used or sold. All individuals present will share responsibility on or off-campus.
9. Campus visitors found in possession of, supplying, or under the influence of controlled substances in violation of this policy will be asked to leave University property immediately. They can be prosecuted under Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, local or federal law. They are also in violation of University policy. Community members may be liable for the actions of their guests.

Student Sanctions

Any of the rule or regulation violations that occur, on or off-campus, may be subject to disciplinary sanctions by the University or its designee. These regulation violations would include any University, local, state or federal statutes. Sanctions or disciplinary actions can be applied to any of the rules or regulations included in the Student handbook, but are not limited to those that are mentioned therein. Violation of any/all Gannon University regulations may result in disciplinary action including but not limited to: monetary fines, community service hours, mandated educational programming, Official Warning, Official Probation, Behavioral Contract, Official Suspension from University housing, Suspension from the University, and Expulsion from the University.

Students in violation of the alcohol policy may be required to complete a drug and alcohol assessment, depending on the severity or repetition of policy violations. Referral to civil authorities is an option for the University.

The University also reserves the right to record all investigations of any violation or meeting to better protect Gannon students and employees from slander or misrepresentation.

7.7 Student Code of Conduct

Gannon University is a Catholic Diocesan institution that is committed to promoting an environment that is conducive to learning, living, and engaging in student life. The University student accountability process is designed to be both educational and developmental. This process must balance the wellbeing of the individual with while also balancing the wellbeing of the entire campus community.

Each student is a member of the Gannon Community. All members of the community are expected to abide by the standards set forth based on the University’s shared values rooted in the Catholic tradition. Students are responsible for their own behavior, and when reasonable the behavior of their guests and other members of the community.

The student accountability process is an educational process and is different from criminal or civil court proceedings. In the accountability process students may be found responsible for violations of policy if they are found more likely than not to have violated a policy.
7.7.1 Authority

The student handbook contains the University’s community standards and expectations. Students are responsible for knowing the handbook and are provided a link to the handbook each year. The University utilizes GU email as the official mode of communication. Students are responsible for checking their email on a daily basis. A student is defined as any individual accepted at the institution. The University's community standards and conduct process apply to all students including: full time, part time, dual enrollment, graduate, 2 doctoral as well as all student clubs and organizations. Upon admission to the University, students acknowledge their awareness and agree to adhere to the policies and regulations.

The community standards of the University apply to student behavior that takes place on campus, off campus, or at University sponsored events including, but not limited to ABST, TRAVEL, and study abroad. Community standards may be applied to behavior conducted online. Public postings on social media sites, chats, blogs, twitter etc. may lead to allegations of community standard violations. The University does not regularly search for this information but may take action if and when such information is brought to the attention of University officials.

Students are responsible for their guests and may be found responsible for violations of community standards committed by their guest when reasonable. Visitors or guests may report violations of community standards committed against them by members of the community.

When the University becomes aware of a violation of community standards off campus the behavior will be investigated to determine if a violation has occurred.

Alleged violations of federal, state, or local law will be investigated and addressed through the accountability process. This process will typically go forward regardless of any criminal complaint that may come about from the same incident.

There is no time limit on reporting violations of the community standards, however, the longer someone waits to report a violation, the harder it becomes for the University to investigate.

Anonymous complaints are permitted but doing so may limit the University's ability to investigate and respond to the complaint. Individuals aware of misconduct are encouraged to report it as soon as possible to the Office Director of Student Accountability or to Campus Police and Safety. Reports can be made online at: https://cm.maxient.com/reportingform.php?GannonUniv&layout_id=1

7.7.5 Withdrawal Policy

7.7.5.1 Involuntary Administrative Withdrawal

Involuntary Withdrawal is utilized in extraordinary circumstances when a student is unable or unwilling to request a voluntary leave of absence, and such a leave may be necessary because the student's behavior poses a direct threat to the safety of themselves or others or where the student's behavior is disruptive of the university's learning environment.

The involuntary leave will be initiated if based on an individualized assessment, it is determined that there is a significant risk that the student will harm him/herself or others, and that the risk cannot be eliminated or reduced to an acceptable level through reasonable and realistic accommodations and/or on-campus supports. The assessment shall be based on a reasonable medical or mental health judgment, other relevant objective evidence, and the totality of the circumstances. This standard also applies to hearings on the reinstatement of a student who has been withdrawn.

This policy will not be used in lieu of disciplinary actions to address violations of Gannon University's Code of Conduct. A student who has engaged in behavior that may violate the Code of Conduct will be subject to the University Conduct Process.

Before an Involuntary Leave is considered, efforts may be made to encourage the student to take a Voluntary Leave of Absence.

The following procedures will be followed:

The Dean of Student Development and Engagement or a designee shall consult with appropriate University Personnel. The Dean of Student Development and Engagement shall then determine what, if any, immediate action needs to be taken to ensure the safety of the campus community. When safety is an immediate concern, the Dean or his/her designee may remove a student from the campus pending final decision on Involuntary Leave. If this action is deemed necessary, the student will be given notice of the removal and an opportunity to be heard by the Dean of Student Development and Engagement.

Review The following guidelines apply to the review session with the Dean of Student Development and Engagement (or designee)

Legal counsel is not permitted at review sessions with the Dean of Student Development and Engagement.

G. The student and the student's support person may present information for or against involuntary withdrawal and will be given the opportunity to ask questions of others presenting information. The hearing will be conversational and non-adversarial; however the Dean of Student Development and Engagement or other designated person in charge of the review will exercise active control over the proceeding, to include deciding who may present information. Formal rules of evidence will not apply. Anyone who disrupts the hearing may be excluded.
H. The Dean of Student Development and Engagement or their Designee will determine if a direct threat exists when a student poses a significant risk to the health and safety of themselves or others. A significant risk constitutes a high probability of substantial harm. Significance will be determined by:

a. The duration of the risk;
b. The nature and severity of the potential harm;
c. The likelihood that the potential harm will occur; and
d. The imminence of the potential harm.

I. A written decision will be rendered by the Dean of Student Development and Engagement (or designee) within 5 business days, stating the reasons for its determination. The decision will be delivered via their GU student email account. If the student is withdrawn, the notification will include information concerning when reapplication may be made, as well as specifying any conditions of reinstatement.

Course faculty will attempt to contact the student and the student's academic advisor as soon as the student's academic behaviors indicate an intervention needed. If this intervention is unsuccessful the faculty or academic advisor will submit an EARS form to the Student Success Center. If an administrator who is addressing a behavior issue with a student discovers that the student is not engaged academically, the administrator should contact the Director of Academic Advising and Student Success.

If appropriate, attempts will be made by the Student Success Center in collaboration with the student's academic advisor and/or course faculty member to re-engage the student.

If the student does not comply with the recommendations made by the Student Success Center, or if it is determined by consultation with all of the student's instructors that it is too late to pass all of the courses, then the student's academic advisor will confer with the Director of the Student Success Center, the Academic Dean and if appropriate the Dean of Student Development and Engagement about an administrative withdrawal (complete withdrawal) from the University.

Graduate

A student who has never attended, stopped attending, or has not completed a sufficient number of assignments or tests in all of his/her courses to the point that he/she cannot pass all of these courses, will be subject to administrative withdrawal. This policy only applies to situations that involve a student's lack of participation in all classes. The student's final grades for these courses will be consistent with the policies as stated in the academic calendar. The student will be responsible financially for the semester as outlined in University policies as well as state and federal financial aid policies regarding loss and/or repayment of loans or other aid.

Course faculty will contact the Graduate Program Director as soon as a student's academic behaviors indicate an intervention is needed. If an administrator who is addressing a behavior issue with a student discovers that the student is not engaged academically, the administrator should contact the Director of Academic Advising and Student Success.
The Director will contact the Graduate Program Director to begin the above process. If appropriate, attempts will be made by the Graduate Program Director to re-engage the student.

If the student does not comply with the recommendations made by the Graduate Program Director, or if it is determined by consultation with all of the student's instructors and Program Director that it is too late to pass all of the courses, then the Graduate Program Director will confer with the Academic Dean and Dean of Student Development and Engagement if appropriate about an administrative withdrawal (complete withdrawal) from the University.
Gannon University Health Center (also referred to as the Student Health Services Office) is a minor care facility. The office is staffed by a Nurse Director and two staff nurses. A physician is available at scheduled hours during the fall and spring semester. Doctor's visits are by appointment only. Scheduled nursing appointments may also be made. There are no health services hours during the designated vacation breaks; however, office personnel will be available for administrative duties.

All students who choose to use the services of the Health Center must have the Gannon University Health Examination Form on file in our office. This required medical form, with documentation of immunization completed, must be submitted to be eligible to receive health care services in the Gannon University Health Center. All students at the time of their visits who do not have their form on file will be referred for care. All students in the College of Health Sciences will have two separate forms of eligibility: one for their program requirement (mandated) and one for Health Center services.

The Health Examination Form should be enclosed in the student admission packet. Those students who do not receive the form can pick one up at the Gannon University Health Center or on the Gannon University Student Health Services Office website.

Each student properly registered may, as needed, receive such medical care as the Health Center is equipped to provide at the discretion of the medical staff.

The services provided include:

1. Treatment for minor illness or injury and referrals as necessary
2. Promotion of Wellness Program
3. Health education and information
4. Pharmaceutical purchase for some of the doctor-ordered medication (optional)

Student Medical Insurance Plan

All students are encouraged to maintain health insurance plans while enrolled at the University. Students should be aware of their health insurance plan and the scope of coverage. If you are covered by your parent’s health insurance, coverage may be impacted if you change your academic status from full-time to part-time or withdraw from the University.

NOTE: Gannon University has a policy that mandates that all enrolled international students must have Health Insurance coverage; therefore, there will be a charge on their tuition bills for the insurance that Gannon has contracted with an independent insurance carrier to provide. This is an Accident and Sickness Plan. If the International student can provide proof of insurance then he/she will be permitted to sign a waiver and remove this charge.

The University insurance plan is Optional for all other enrolled students. Students who go on internships, rotations, clinicals, etc. need to check with their academic departments to see if there is a requirement to show proof of insurance before going on site. This is particularly true for Health Science majors. Details relating to Gannon University’s health insurance coverage, cost, and enrollment instructions can be obtained from the Student Health Services Office or by visiting their website.
7.8.2 Mandatory Meningitis Vaccine Policy

Mandatory Meningitis Vaccine Policy

All new students who will reside in University-owned housing, which includes residence halls, apartments, and sorority houses on campus, are required by Commonwealth of Pennsylvania law to obtain a meningitis vaccine before admission to housing will be granted. Students may sign a waiver and request an exemption from this mandate if the student (or parent, if the student is a minor) provides a signature as to the reason (i.e., religious or medical reason). Enrolled students are encouraged to obtain the vaccine from their primary care provider/clinic and present the form of evidence of being vaccinated prior to obtaining the room key to their housing unit. Information regarding meningitis and the vaccine may be obtained from the Student Health Services Office or its website.
7.8.3 Medical Excuse Policy

Medical Excuse Policy

It is the policy of the Gannon University Student Health Services Office not to issue a written medical excuse for students related to their absence from classes.

It is the responsibility of the student to communicate with his/her professor and to follow the requirements of the professor regarding the course work missed. Penalties for absenteeism depend upon the policy and discretion of the professor, as outlined in the course syllabus.

Written notification to professors regarding student absenteeism due to illness is provided by the Health Center only when a student is hospitalized or has an extended illness requiring three or more consecutive days of absence or hospitalization. Notification is also provided by the Office of Student Living when a student is hospitalized, has an extended illness, has a family emergency, or there is a death in the family.

Professors wishing to verify other cases of student absence due to illness or injury may call the Director of the Student Health Services Office at 871-7490. Dates on which the student received care can be verified; other health information is confidential. Neither the Director of the Student Health Services Office nor the Office of Student Living provides written notification for individual classes missed due to illness.
Mandatory TB (Tuberculosis) Screening Policy and Mantoux Testing Policy for International Students

All international students must complete a risk assessment questionnaire when the student arrives on campus (during International Student Orientation). If this assessment reveals the student is in the "high risk" category as defined by the World Health Organization and the Centers for Disease Control, the student must provide documentation of a Mantoux PPD skin test completed within six months of enrollment in the university regardless of prior BCG inoculation.

If the results of the Mantoux PPD skin test are negative, the student will be considered in compliance with the university policy.

If the results of a prior Mantoux PPD skin test are positive, the student may submit a copy of a chest x-ray report and any follow-up treatment received written or translated in English. The student will be retested at the Health Center and if that test is positive the student will be required to follow with the Erie County Department of Health.

If the student does not have documentation of a Mantoux PPD skin test, the student must undergo a skin test which will be administered during International Student Orientation or at Student Health Services. The student will be responsible for following the steps required and directed by Health Center staff.

Information regarding tuberculosis screening and the testing policy may be obtained from the Health Center.

This form will be used to assess damages at the end of the semester/year. Appropriate charges must be paid when billed unless they are assessed at the end of the semester. At that time, end-of-the-semester damages will be charged against your security deposit. If the damage charges incurred exceed the amount of the Security Deposit, the difference in charges will be placed on your student bill. The RCF must be returned to your RD within three (3) days of your arrival. Failure to do so will result in your being liable for all damages that are noted at the end of the semester/year. Damages for the building in general common areas can be assessed equally to all students within that residence facility.

The Security Deposit is non-refundable for:

1. breaking a housing contract
2. transferring

Maintenance staff will give advance warning when possible. Fire rounds will be unannounced in order to protect the integrity of the inspections. Staff will enter apartments during breaks to check on windows, appliances and heat. Particular attention will be paid to room cleanliness and garbage. Housing inspections for damages generally occur at the end of each semester and the beginning of mid-semester breaks, but can occur at any time if there is just cause. Violations of these regulations can result in fines, sanctions or dismissal from housing. These requirements will be strictly enforced because of fire, safety (individual and building), and liability issues.
1. It is necessary to emphasize that each student must assume responsibility for his or her room/apartment.

2. Each student is responsible for any activity or any violation that occurs in their room or apartment, whether or not they are present in the apartment.

3. Each student is responsible for the cleanliness of his or her room/apartment.
7.10.25  Sound Amplification

Consideration of others and mutual respect are among the most important aspects for successful communal living. Noise levels, including bass, in and around housing units, which negatively affect study, sleep or other activities will not be tolerated regardless of the time of the day. At all times, especially on weeknights or weekends, the noise level, including bass, in and around on- or off-campus housing, shall be such that it does not disturb neighbors nor keep other students from their right to have quiet for study and rest.
Prudent use of vending machines and any equipment in lounges/recreational rooms must be maintained. Vandalism or theft will result in disciplinary sanctions.
Residents are responsible for their visitor's actions on the campus and in their room/apartment. All visitors are governed by and must abide by University rules and regulations. Parents are welcome to visit at any time. Brothers and sisters are also welcomed to visit at any time with their parents. If your brothers/sisters are not with their parents, they must follow the visitation policies as set for all guests in the Residence Halls. Please inform your roommates and hall mates if you are expecting your parents outside the normal visiting hours.
7.10.27.1 Residential Hall Visiting Hours

Sunday-Thursday  2:30pm-11:30pm
Friday-Saturday  2:00pm-2:00am

Violations occurring after this time will be referred to the building Assistant Director, the Student Conduct Officer or the Director of the Office of Student Living, and may result in dismissal from housing. Hours are set at the discretion of the Office of Student Living. In the residence halls, guests of the opposite sex, other than parents, must be met in the lobby and sign-in at the desk. ALL GUESTS MUST BE ESCORTED AT ALL TIMES, WHEN OUTSIDE YOUR ROOM, INCLUDING THE TIMES WHEN GUESTS PICK UP THEIR IDs. Each resident is limited to two guests at a time. All guests of the opposite sex must use the restroom in the lobby of the respective building. The resident who signs in a guest must remain with the guest at all times.
7.10.27.2 Apartment Visiting Hours

In Gannon apartments, specific visitation hours are not predetermined. If a problem arises, visitation may be limited or revoked upon the discretion of the Office of Student Living staff.

Overnight guests of residents (in apartments only) are limited to staying for three (3) nights in a seven (7) day period and at the discretion of the Office of Student Living staff.
The possession of or use of any firearm, weapon, deadly weapon or other dangerous or flammable material is strictly forbidden on any property owned or operated by Gannon University. "Deadly weapon" is defined to be any firearm, knife, substance or thing which in the manner used, intended to be used, threatened to be used, or, when used, is known to be capable of producing death or serious bodily injury. The above items are also prohibited at any University sponsored or recognized event that is held on- or off-campus.
7.11 University Policies
All losses should be reported to the Office of Campus Police and Safety immediately. Please return all found items to the same office. Articles will not be kept beyond the month of June for the preceding academic year. The University assumes no responsibility for loss of personal property on campus.
7.11.2 Missing Student Notification Policy

In compliance with the Higher Education Re-authorization Act of 2008, a policy has been established to provide procedures for reporting, investigating and making emergency notification regarding any student of Gannon University who is believed to be missing.

Definition - A student is presumed to be missing when his/her absence is inconsistent with his/her established patterns of behavior and the deviation cannot be explained. Before a person is deemed to be missing, reasonable measures should be taken to confirm if that established pattern of behavior cannot be explained. The individual should be reported as a missing after 24 hours.

Policy/Procedure — Any member of the University, including employees or a student who is concerned that a member of the University community is missing should contact the Director of Police and Safety (814-871-5814) or the Director of the Office of Student Living (814-871-7564) immediately.

Emergency Contact

Student (Resident or non-resident) — A student is defined as any student attending classes as a student at Gannon University. Said student needs to provide the University with an emergency contact individual to be notified. It is the student's responsibility to upgrade his/her information. The information will be compiled by the Office of Student Living and shared with the Office of Police and Safety. If a person is missing the local police agency will also be informed.
7.11.3 The University Ombudsperson

The function of the University Ombudsperson is to provide a mechanism for handling student, faculty, and staff concerns for which no established procedures exist, or for which established procedures have not yielded a satisfactory solution. It is not the function of the Ombudsman to replace existing organizational structure, but to assist the student to make proper use of these structures to facilitate their more effective operation.

8.0 Sexual Misconduct Policy (Faculty, Staff, Students)

Faithful to its mission as an educational community and Catholic Diocesan University, Gannon University (hereinafter referred to as “University”) affirms and promotes the fundamental dignity and respect accorded to all people by virtue of their common humanity. Both Scripture and Christian tradition affirm this, beginning with the book of Genesis: “In the divine image…male and female God created them” (Genesis 1:27). Sexual misconduct violates this basic right of each individual to be treated as a person worthy of respect and is in direct contradiction with the University’s Mission.

Gannon prohibits sexual misconduct, which includes sex and gender-based discrimination, sexual harassment, and violence, including acts of sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking, which may also constitute crimes. Gannon has a responsibility to address sexual misconduct in accordance with several federal laws including, but not limited to, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act, the Violence Against Women Act, the Clery Act and the Campus Save Act as well as Pennsylvania state laws.

University programs and activities that receive federal funding must comply with all federal and state laws. No individual shall be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity operated by the University. These programs and activities may include, but are not limited to admissions, recruitment, financial aid, academic programs, student services, counseling and guidance, discipline, classroom assignment, grading, vocational education, recreation, physical education, athletics, housing and student employment.

The University is committed to maintaining a safe environment free from sexual misconduct/discrimination and, therefore, will not tolerate sexual misconduct of any kind. In an ongoing effort to prevent and address sexual misconduct, the University provides education and prevention programs, investigates complaints of sexual misconduct and dispenses corrective or disciplinary action where appropriate. The University will also provide remedies and information about resources, including how to obtain counseling and medical care and pursue criminal and University disciplinary actions. Remedies include interim measures, informal, or formal procedures as described below.

Behaviors that contribute to or constitute sexual misconduct have no place at Gannon University, where people are expected to learn and develop to their full potential. Through the sexual misconduct policy and procedures, the University seeks to provide an adequate, reliable and impartial response in a caring manner that when these behaviors occur within the University community. Support and information will be available to assist students in making decisions throughout the reporting and investigating process.

Gannon treats members of the community who are parties in a sexual misconduct complaint equitably and with dignity and respect throughout the University Process.

All students, faculty and staff, as well as members of the public participating in University activities, have the right to an environment free from sexual misconduct. Violence, abuse, intimidation and/or retaliation directed toward another person violate the University’s Code of Conduct and Pennsylvania State laws. Members of the University community are expected to comply with University policies and guidelines in addition to federal, state and local laws whether on or off campus.
8.0.1 Discrimination based on Sex and Sexual Misconduct

In accordance with Title IX, the University establishes that sexual misconduct incidents are types of sex discrimination. Sex discrimination violates the basic right of each individual to be treated as a person worthy of respect and is in direct contradiction to the University’s Mission.

Gannon University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, creed, age, gender, sexual orientation, religion, national origin, veteran status, physical or mental disability, genetic information or any other basis of prohibited discrimination its programs and activities. This policy extends to employment with and admission to the University.

The Title IX Coordinator has the primary responsibility for coordinating Gannon’s efforts related to the intake, investigation, resolution, and implementation of supportive measures to stop, remediate, and prevent discrimination, harassment, and retaliation prohibited under this policy.

Gannon’s Title IX Coordinator is:
Paul Perrine, Dean of Student Development and Engagement, Title IX Coordinator
Office Location: Beyer 306L
814-871-5680
Perrine004@gannon.edu

Additionally, inquiries concerning Title IX and its implementing regulation can be made to:
100 Penn Square East, Suite 515 Philadelphia, PA 19107-3323; Telephone: (215) 656-8541
Email: OCR.Philadelphia@ed.gov
Title IX and its implementing regulation at 34 C.F.R. § 106.12 provides that Title IX does not apply to an educational institution controlled by a religious organization to the extent that application of Title IX would be inconsistent with the controlling organization's religious tenets. Gannon has identified specific provisions of the law that conflict with specific tenets of the Catholic Church. Title IX and its implementation at 34 C.F.R. § 106.45 (governing the grievance process for formal complaints of sexual harassment) requires advisors to conduct cross-examination of parties and witnesses during a live hearing. It also requires that if a party or witness does not submit to cross-examination, the decision-maker may not consider the information previously provided in reaching a determination regarding responsibility.

We believe that all human beings are inherently sacred and deserve dignity and respect and every community member is expected to be respectful in all interactions as part of the learning experience. Requiring Gannon to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45 would be contrary to and inconsistent with the following tenants of our Catholic Social Teaching. The cornerstone of Catholic social teaching is the defense of human dignity. Every person has innate and infinite dignity imparted by God. All action in and by society may be judged as just or unjust, good or sinful, based on whether they uphold this fundamental dignity intrinsic to every human life. Sexual harassment is a violation of human dignity and having a victim share their story at a hearing cannot only retraumatize a victim but, it is also a violation of the human dignity of the person. The principle of subsidiarity; what individuals can accomplish by their own initiative and efforts should not be taken from them by a higher authority. Gannon has implemented policies and procedures that provide a fundamentally fair process for all parties involved. As a Catholic Diocesan University Gannon has incorporated specific procedures related to the grievance process to ensure the Title IX Sexual Misconduct Policy and Grievance Procedures are consistent with the religious tenants articulated above.
8.1 Glossary/Definitions

Advisor means a person chosen by a party or appointed by the institution to accompany the party to meetings related to the resolution process, to advise the party on that process, and to conduct cross-examination for the party at the hearing, if any.

Coercion: Coercion is unreasonable pressure for sexual activity. Coercive conduct differs from seductive conduct based on factors such as the type and/or extent of the pressure used to obtain consent. When someone makes clear that they do not want to engage in certain sexual activity, that they want to stop, or that they do not want to go past a certain point of sexual interaction, continued pressure beyond that point can be coercive.

Complainant means an individual who is alleged to be the victim of conduct that could sexual harassment based on a protected class; or retaliation for engaging in a protected activity.

Complaint (formal) means a document submitted or signed by a Complainant or signed by the Title IX Coordinator alleging sexual harassment or retaliation for engaging in a protected activity against a Respondent and requesting that the University investigate the allegation.

Confidential Resource means an employee who is not a Mandated Reporter of notice of harassment and/or retaliation (irrespective of Clery Act Campus Security Authority status).

Consent is:
- knowing, and
- voluntary, and
- clear permission
- by word or action
- to engage in sexual activity.

Individuals may experience the same interaction in different ways. Therefore, it is the responsibility of each party to determine that the other has consented before engaging in the activity.

If consent is not clearly provided prior to engaging in the activity, consent may be ratified by word or action at some point during the interaction or thereafter, but clear communication from the outset is strongly encouraged.

For consent to be valid, there must be a clear expression in words or actions that the other individual consented to that specific sexual conduct. Reasonable reciprocation can be implied. For example, if someone kisses you, you can kiss them back (if you want to) without the need to explicitly obtain their consent to being kissed back.

Consent can also be withdrawn once given, as long as the withdrawal is reasonably and clearly communicated. If consent is withdrawn, that sexual activity should cease within a reasonable time.
Consent to some sexual contact (such as kissing or fondling) cannot be presumed to be consent for other sexual activity (such as intercourse). A current or previous intimate relationship is not sufficient to constitute consent.

Proof of consent or non-consent is not a burden placed on either party involved in an incident. Instead, the burden remains on the University to determine whether its policy has been violated. The existence of consent is based on the totality of the circumstances evaluated from the perspective of a reasonable person in the same or similar circumstances, including the context in which the alleged incident occurred and any similar, previous patterns that may be evidenced.

Day means a business day when the Gannon is in normal operation.

Education program or activity means locations, events, or circumstances where University exercises substantial control over both the Respondent and the context in which the sexual harassment occurs and also includes any building owned or controlled by a student organization that is officially recognized by the University.

Final Determination: A conclusion by a preponderance of the Evidence that the alleged conduct did or did not violate policy.

Finding: A conclusion by the preponderance of the Evidence that the conduct did or did not occur as alleged (as in a “finding of fact”).

Force: Force is the use of physical violence and/or physical imposition to gain sexual access. Force also includes threats, intimidation (implied threats), and coercion that is intended to overcome resistance or produce consent (e.g., “Have sex with me or I’ll hit you,” “Okay, don’t hit me, I’ll do what you want.”).

Sexual activity that is forced is, by definition, non-consensual, but non-consensual sexual activity is not necessarily forced. Silence or the absence of resistance alone is not consent. Consent is not demonstrated by the absence of resistance. While resistance is not required or necessary, it is a clear demonstration of non-consent.

Formal Grievance Process is a method of formal resolution designated by GANNON to address conduct that falls within the policies included below, and which complies with the requirements of 34 CFR Part 106.45, and in accordance with 34 C.F.R. § 106.12.

Grievance Process Pool includes any investigators, hearing officers, appeal officers, and Advisors who may perform any or all of these roles (though not at the same time or with respect to the same case).

Hearing Panel refers to those who have decision-making and sanctioning authority within the University’s Formal Grievance process.

Incapacitation: The inability, temporarily or permanently, to give consent, because someone is mentally and/or physically helpless, unconscious, or unaware due to drug or alcohol consumption (voluntarily or involuntarily), or for some other reason. Incapacitation means a person does not have the ability to knowingly gives consent. It is a defense to a sexual assault policy violation that the Respondent neither knew nor should have known the Complainant to be physically or mentally incapacitated. “Should have known” is an objective, reasonable person standard which assumes that a reasonable person is both sober and exercising sound judgment.
Incapacitation occurs when someone cannot make rational, reasonable decisions because they lack the capacity to give knowing/informed consent (e.g., to understand the “who, what, when, where, why, or how” of their sexual interaction).

Incapacitation is determined through consideration of all relevant indicators of an individual’s state and is not synonymous with intoxication, impairment, blackout, and/or being drunk.

Investigator means the person or persons charged by Gannon with gathering facts about an alleged violation of this Policy, assessing relevance and credibility, synthesizing the evidence, and compiling this information into an investigation report and file of directly related evidence.

Mandated Reporter means an employee of the University who is obligated by policy to share knowledge, notice, and/or reports of harassment and/or retaliation with the Title IX Coordinator.¹

Notice means that an employee, student, or third-party informs the Title IX Coordinator or other Official with Authority of the alleged occurrence of harassing, discriminatory, and/or retaliatory conduct.

Official with Authority (OWA) means an employee of the University explicitly vested with the responsibility to implement corrective measures for sexual harassment and/or retaliation on behalf of the University.

Parties include the Complainant(s) and Respondent(s), collectively.

Remedies are post-finding actions directed to the Complainant and/or the community as mechanisms to address safety, prevent recurrence, and restore access to the University’s educational program.

Respondent means an individual who has been reported to be the perpetrator of conduct that could constitute sexual harassment or retaliation for engaging in a protected activity.

Resolution means the result of an informal or Formal Grievance Process.

Sanction means a consequence imposed by the University on a Respondent who is found to have violated this policy.

Sexual Harassment is the umbrella category including the offenses of sexual harassment, sexual assault, stalking, and dating violence and domestic violence.

Title IX Coordinator is at least one official designated by the University to ensure compliance with Title IX and the University’s Title IX program. References to the Coordinator throughout this policy may also encompass a designee of the Coordinator for specific tasks.

Title IX Team refers to the Title IX Coordinator, deputy coordinator, and any member of the Grievance Process Pool.

¹Not to be confused with those mandated by state law to report child abuse, elder abuse, and/or abuse of individuals with disabilities to appropriate officials, though these responsibilities may overlap with those who have mandated reporting responsibility in this Policy.
8.2 Sexual Harassment

SEXUAL HARRASSMENT

OCR further defines Sexual Harassment as an umbrella category, and includes the offenses of sexual harassment, sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking. Allegations of such Sexual Harassment incidents will be addressed by the Title IX Office through the Title IX Sexual Misconduct Grievance Procedures.

Acts of sexual harassment may be committed by any person upon any other person, regardless of the sex, sexual orientation, and/or gender identity of those involved. Sexual Harassment, as an umbrella category, includes the actual or attempted offenses of sexual harassment, sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking, and is defined as:

Sexual harassment – a form of sex discrimination. Unwelcome conduct on the basis of sex (of a sexual nature or otherwise):

(1) by an employee of the member who conditions the provision of an aid, benefit, or service of the member on an individual’s participation in that unwelcome sexual conduct; ²

(2) determined by a reasonable person to be so severe³ and pervasive⁴ and objectively offensive⁵ that it effectively denies a person equal access to the member’s education program or activity; or

(3) sexual assault or dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking based on sex.

² Quid pro quo sexual harassment means “this” for “that”; i.e., unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors or other verbal, nonverbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature, the submission to or rejection of which may result in an adverse educational or employment action.

³Severe: of sufficient seriousness to interfere with the rights, privileges, and legal activities of an individual, as well as actions that would be deemed by a reasonable person to be extreme or life threatening.

⁴Pervasive: conduct existing in or spreading over a large area of an activity or program over a period of time.
Objectively offensive: behavior determined by a reasonable person to be offensive. Offensive: engaging in a course of conduct directed at a specific person that would cause unreasonable harm or distress to another individual or group of people.
8.2.1 Sexual Assault

Sexual assault – an offense that meets the definition of rape, fondling, incest, or statutory rape as used in the FBI's Uniform Crime Reporting system. A sex offense is any sexual act directed against another person, without the consent of the victim, including instances in which the victim is incapable of giving consent. These offenses are defined as:

- Rape: the penetration, no matter how slight, of the vagina or anus with any body part or object, or oral penetration by a sex organ of another person, without the consent of the victim.

- Fondling: the touching of the private body parts of another person for the purpose of sexual gratification, without the consent of the victim, including instances where the victim is incapable of giving consent because of his/her age or because of his/her temporary or permanent mental incapacity.

- Incest: sexual intercourse between persons who are related to each other within the degrees wherein marriage is prohibited by law.

- Statutory Rape: sexual intercourse with a person who is under the statutory age of consent.
8.2.2 Dating Violence/Domestic Violence

Dating violence – violence committed by a person who is or has been in a social relationship of a romantic or intimate nature with the victim.

(a) The existence of such a relationship will be determined based on the reporting party's statement and with consideration of the length of the relationship, the type of relationship, and the frequency of interaction between the persons involved in the relationship.

(b) For the purposes of this definition:

(1) Dating violence includes, but is not limited to, sexual or physical abuse or the threat of such abuse.

(2) Dating violence does not include acts covered under the definition of domestic violence. [34 U.S.C. 12291(a)(10)]

Domestic Violence: knowingly, intentionally or recklessly causing bodily injury of any kind, causing fear of bodily injury of any kind, assault (sexual or not sexual), rape, sexually abusing minor children, or knowingly engaging in a repetitive conduct toward a certain person (i.e. stalking) that puts them in fear of bodily injury. These acts can take place between family or household members, sexual partners or those who share biological parenthood in order to qualify as domestic abuse.
8.2.3 Stalking

Stalking: engaging in a course of conduct directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to

(a) fear for the person's safety or the safety of others; or

(b) suffer substantial emotional distress. For the purposes of this definition:

(a) Course of conduct means two or more acts, including, but not limited to, acts in which the stalker directly, indirectly, or through third parties, by any action, method, device, or means, follows, monitors, observes, surveils, threatens, or communicates to or about a person, or interferes with a person's property.

(b) Reasonable person means a reasonable person under similar circumstances and with similar identities to the victim.

(c) Substantial emotional distress means significant mental suffering or anguish that may, but does not necessarily, require medical or other professional treatment or counseling. [34 CFR 668.46(a)]

Force: Force is the use of physical violence and/or physical imposition to gain sexual access. Force also includes threats, intimidation (implied threats), and coercion that is intended to overcome resistance or produce consent (e.g., “Have sex with me or I’ll hit you,” “Okay, don’t hit me, I’ll do what you want.”).

Sexual activity that is forced is, by definition, non-consensual, but non-consensual sexual activity is not necessarily forced. Silence or the absence of resistance alone is not consent. Consent is not demonstrated by the absence of resistance. While resistance is not required or necessary, it is a clear demonstration of non-consent.
8.3 Additional Sexual Misconduct Definitions

A. Sexual exploitation is an act or acts committed through non-consensual abuse or exploitation of another person’s sexuality for the purpose of sexual gratification, financial gain, personal benefit or advantage, or any other non-legitimate purpose.

The act or acts of sexual exploitation are prohibited even though the behavior does not constitute one of the other sexual misconduct offenses.

Examples of sexual exploitation include:

- Observing another individual’s nudity or sexual activity or allowing another to observe consensual sexual activity without the knowledge and consent of all parties involved

- Non-consensual streaming of images, photography, video, or audio recording of sexual activity or nudity, or distribution of such without the knowledge and consent of all parties involved

- Exposing another’s genitals in non-consensual circumstances

- Knowingly exposing another individual to a sexually transmitted disease or virus without that individual’s knowledge

- Inducing incapacitation for the purpose of making another person vulnerable to non-consensual sexual activity.

B. Creation, possession, or dissemination or child pornography.

C. Engaging in sexual activity with another person while knowingly infected with human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) or a sexually-transmitted disease (STD) or infection (STI), without informing the other person of the infection.

D. Causing or attempting to cause the incapacitation of another person (through alcohol, drugs, or any other means) for the purpose of compromising that person’s ability to give consent to sexual activity, or for the purpose of making that person vulnerable to non-consensual sexual activity.

E. Sexual voyeurism (such as observing or allowing others to observe a person undressing or using the bathroom or engaging in sexual acts, without the consent of the person being observed).
8.4 Online Harassment and Misconduct

The policies are written and interpreted broadly to include online and cyber manifestations of any of the behaviors prohibited below, when those behaviors occur in or have an effect on the University’s education program and activities or use Gannon networks, technology, or equipment.

While the University may not control websites, social media, and other venues in which harassing communications are made, when such communications are reported to the University, it will engage in a variety of means to address and mitigate the effects.

Members of the community are encouraged to be good digital citizens and to refrain from online misconduct, such as feeding anonymous gossip sites, sharing inappropriate content via Snaps or other social media, unwelcome sexting, revenge porn, breaches of privacy, or otherwise using the ease of transmission and/or anonymity of the Internet or other technology to harm another member of the Gannon community.
8.5 Reporting Title IX Sexual Misconduct

Reporting Title IX Sexual Misconduct alleged policy violations, inquiries about or concerns regarding this policy, reporting complaints of sexual harassment and/or retaliation may be made using any of the following options:

1) File a complaint with, or give verbal notice to, the Title IX Coordinator, Paul Perrine, 306L Beyer Hall Gannon University, Email titleix@gannon.edu or 814-871-5680. Such a report may be made at any time (including during non-business hours) by using the telephone number or email address, or by mail to the office address, listed for the Title IX Coordinator or any other official listed.

2) Report online, using the reporting form posted at https://cm.maxient.com/reportingform.php?GannonUniv&layout_id=4. Anonymous reports are accepted but can give rise to a need to investigate. The University tries to provide supportive measures to all Complainants, which is impossible with an anonymous report. Because reporting carries no obligation to initiate a formal response, and as the University respects Complainant requests to dismiss complaints unless there is a compelling threat to health and/or safety, the Complainant is largely in control and should not fear a loss of privacy by making a report that allows the University to discuss and/or provide supportive measures.

3.) Reports can also be made via the LiveSafe app.

The Title IX Coordinator or Deputy Coordinator will explain their role in resolving the complaint and will provide a description of the degrees of privacy that can be provided by campus and non-campus resources.

Additionally, the Title IX Coordinator will explain the grievance process and the individual will be given the option of seeking an informal or formal resolution to the complaint. Gannon can, and will, take prompt steps to protect the complainant as necessary, including providing supportive measures before the final outcome of the investigation. Counseling is available upon request for any alleged victim or alleged perpetrator of an incident of sexual misconduct. Such counseling will be provided by a counselor who does not provide counseling to any other person involved in the incident.

Additionally, in the event that parties to an alleged incident of sexual misconduct are both enrolled in an academic course, such course may be dropped by either party without academic penalty as one of many available supportive measures described below. In the case of an allegation of sexual misconduct that is a violation of the Student Code of Conduct against a student enrolled at Gannon, Gannon will take reasonable steps to protect the student and the alleged victim from retaliation and harassment during the pendency provide the student and alleged victim the following:

1. A prompt and equitable opportunity to present witnesses and other evidence relevant to the alleged violation;

2. Reasonable and equitable access to all evidence relevant to the alleged violation in Gannon’s possession, including:
   1. Any statements made by the alleged victim or by other persons;
   2. Information stored electronically;
   3. Written or electronic communications;
4. Social media posts;
5. Or physical evidence, redacted as necessary to comply with any applicable federal or state law regarding confidentiality.
Gannon has designated a Title IX Coordinator to coordinate Gannon’s efforts related to the intake, investigation, resolution, and implementation of supportive measures to stop, remediate, and prevent discrimination, harassment, and retaliation prohibited under this policy.

The Title IX Coordinator manages the Title IX Office and acts with independence and authority free from bias and conflicts of interest. The Title IX Coordinator oversees all resolutions under this policy and these procedures. All persons of the Title IX Team are vetted and trained to ensure they are not biased for or against any party in a specific case, or for or against Complainants and/or Respondents, generally. To raise any concern involving bias or conflict of interest by the Title IX Coordinator, contact the Dean of Student Development and Engagement. Concerns of bias or a potential conflict of interest by any other Title IX Team member should be raised with the Title IX Coordinator. Reports of misconduct or discrimination committed by the Title IX Coordinator should be reported to the Dean of Student Development and Engagement. Reports of misconduct or discrimination committed by any other Title IX Team member should be reported to the Title IX Coordinator.

Gannon’s Title IX Coordinator is:

Paul Perrine, Dean of Student Development and Engagement; Title IX Coordinator Office Location: Beyer 306L 814-871-5680 Perrine004@gannon.edu
8.5.2 Mandated Reporters

Mandated Reporters (Gannon has a separate policy on mandate reporting of child abuse)

Faculty, Staff, and administrators are expected to report actual or suspected sexual harassment/sexual misconduct to the University Title IX Coordinator. Gannon has created a culture of reporting in order to assist students or employees who may need support or assistance.

Generally, disclosures in climate surveys, classroom writing assignments or discussions, human subjects research, or at events such as “Take Back the Night” marches or speak-outs do not provide notice that must be reported to the Coordinator by employees, unless the Complainant clearly indicates that they desire a report to be made or a seek a specific response from the University.

Supportive measures may be offered as the result of such disclosures without formal University action.

Failure of a Mandated Reporter, as described above in this section, to report an incident of sexual harassment or retaliation of which they become aware is a violation of University policy and can be subject to disciplinary action for failure to comply.

Supportive measures may be offered as the result of such disclosures without formal University action.

Failure of a Mandated Reporter, as described above in this section, to report an incident of sexual harassment or retaliation of which they become aware is a violation of University policy and can be subject to disciplinary action for failure to comply.
8.5.3 Confidentiality

Complainants of sexual misconduct who are not ready to inform the University may contact the psychologists, counselors and nurses at Gannon University’s Counseling and Health Services or priests in the office of Mission and Ministry and the resident campus ministers for confidential support. These campus professionals can legally maintain confidentiality, which means no disclosure unless there is an imminent risk to self or others.

Under a federal law known as the Clery Act, the University is required to maintain statistics of serious crimes reported on or near campus. Confidential resources that are University Employees will submit anonymous statistical information for Clery Act purposes.

Confidential Resources

• Counseling Services 814-871-7622
• Health Services: 814-871-7622
• Campus Ministry 814-871-7435
8.5.4 Procedures to follow if a crime occurred

An individual who believes that he or she is the Complainant of sexual misconduct or has witnessed an incident of sexual misconduct is encouraged to make a report. The University encourages all individuals to seek assistance from a medical provider and/or law enforcement immediately after an incident of sexual misconduct. An individual's physical well-being should be addressed as soon as possible, whether or not that individual wishes to make a report to the University or law enforcement. The University will help any individual to get to a safe place and will provide transportation to the hospital, coordination with law enforcement and information about on- and off-campus resources and options for resolution.

A medical provider can provide emergency and/or follow-up medical services, and meet two goals: first, to diagnose and treat the full extent of any injury or physical effect and second, to properly collect and preserve evidence. Following an incident of sexual assault, evidence is best preserved for proof of a criminal offense within 96 hours of the assault. In the event of a report immediately following an incident of sexual assault, a Complainant is encouraged to seek medical attention as soon as possible, and even before any shower, bathing, douching, brushing of teeth, drinking, or change of clothing. Similarly, any clothing, towels or bedding should remain untouched pending collection by law enforcement. Whether or not an individual has chosen how to proceed at the time of the medical examination, taking the step to gather evidence will preserve the full range of options to seek resolution through the University's complaint processes or through the pursuit of criminal investigation.

Please note that under Pennsylvania law, a medical provider may be required to notify law enforcement of a reported sexual assault under most circumstances. The University encourages the Complainant to report the incident to law enforcement. However, the Complainant may at any time, decline to speak with a law enforcement officer and decide on the extent of his or her participation in a criminal prosecution.
8.5.5 Complainant does not want to proceed

If a Complainant does not wish for their name to be shared, does not wish for an investigation to take place, or does not want a formal complaint to be pursued, they may make such a request to the Title IX Coordinator, who will evaluate that request in light of the duty to ensure the safety of the campus and to comply with state or federal law.

The Title IX Coordinator has ultimate discretion over whether Gannon proceeds when the Complainant does not wish to do so, and the Title IX Coordinator may sign a formal complaint to initiate a grievance process upon completion of an appropriate violence risk assessment.

The Title IX Coordinator’s decision should be based on results of the violence risk assessment that show a compelling risk to health and/or safety that requires Gannon to pursue formal action to protect the community.

A compelling risk to health and/or safety may result from evidence of patterns of misconduct, predatory conduct, threats, abuse of minors, use of weapons, and/or violence.

Gannon may be compelled to act on alleged employee misconduct irrespective of a Complainant’s wishes.

The Title IX Coordinator must also consider the effect that non-participation by the Complainant may have on the availability of evidence and Gannon’s ability to pursue a Formal Grievance Process fairly and effectively.

When the Title IX Coordinator executes the written complaint, they do not become the Complainant. The Complainant is the individual who is alleged to be the victim of conduct that could constitute a violation of this policy. When Gannon proceeds, the Complainant (or their Advisor) may have as much or as little involvement in the process as they wish. The Complainant retains all rights of a Complainant under this policy irrespective of their level of participation. Typically, when the Complainant chooses not to participate, the Advisor may be appointed as proxy for the Complainant throughout the process, acting to ensure and protect the rights of the Complainant.

Note that Gannon’s ability to remedy and respond to notice may be limited if the Complainant does not want Gannon to proceed with an investigation and/or grievance process. The goal is to provide the Complainant with as much control over the process as possible, while balancing Gannon’s obligation to protect its community.

In cases in which the Complainant requests confidentiality/no formal action and the circumstances allow Gannon to honor that request, Gannon will offer Informal Resolution options, supportive measures, and remedies to the Complainant and the community, but will not otherwise pursue formal action.

If the Complainant elects to take no action, they can change that decision if they decide to pursue a formal complaint at a later date. Upon making a formal complaint, a Complainant has the right, and can expect, to have allegations taken seriously by Gannon, and to have the incidents investigated and properly resolved.
8.5.6 Supportive Measures

Gannon will offer and implement appropriate and reasonable supportive measures to the parties upon notice of alleged harassment, discrimination, and/or retaliation.

Supportive measures are non-disciplinary, non-punitive individualized services offered as appropriate, as reasonably available, and without fee or charge to the parties to restore or preserve access to the University’s education program or activity, including measures designed to protect the safety of all parties or the University’s educational environment, and/or deter harassment, discrimination, and/or retaliation.

The Title IX Coordinator promptly makes supportive measures available to the parties upon receiving notice or a complaint. At the time that supportive measures are offered, the University will inform the Complainant, in writing, that they may file a formal complaint with the University either at that time or in the future, if they have not done so already. The Title IX Coordinator works with the Complainant to ensure that their wishes are taken into account with respect to the supportive measures that are planned and implemented.

The University will maintain the privacy of the supportive measures, provided that privacy does not impair the University’s ability to provide the supportive measures. The University will act to ensure as minimal an academic impact on the parties as possible. The University will implement measures in a way that does not unreasonably burden the other party.

These actions may include, but are not limited to:

- Referral to counseling, medical, and/or other healthcare services
- Referral to Employee Assistance program
- Referral to community-based service providers
- Visa and immigration assistance
- Student financial aid counseling
- Education to the community or community subgroup(s)
- Altering campus housing assignment(s)
- Altering work arrangements for employees or student-employees
- Safety planning
- Providing campus safety escorts
- Implementing contact limitations (no contact orders) between the parties
- Academic support, extensions of deadlines, or other course/program-related adjustments
- Trespass, Persona Non Grata (PNG), or Be-On-the-Lookout (BOLO) orders
- Timely Warnings
- Class schedule modifications, withdrawals, or leaves of absence
- Increased security and monitoring of certain areas of the campus
- Any other actions deemed appropriate by the Title IX Coordinator
8.5.7 Written Notice

Following a report of sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking, whether the offense occurred on or off campus, Gannon will provide the student or employee a written explanation of the student’s or employee’s rights and options.

Gannon will provide written notification to students and employees about existing counseling, health, mental health, victim advocacy, legal assistance, visa and immigration assistance, student financial aid, and other services available to victims, both within the institution and in the community. Gannon will provide written notification to victims about available options and assistance in the following, including how to request these changes and who to contact at the institution: academic situations, living situations, transportation situations, working situations, and protective measures.
8.5.8 Promptness

All allegations are acted upon promptly by the University once it has received notice or a formal complaint. Complaints can take 60-90 business days to resolve, typically. There are always exceptions and extenuating circumstances that can cause a resolution to take longer, but the University will avoid all undue delays within its control.

Any time the general timeframes for resolution outlined in the University’s procedures will be delayed, the University will provide written notice to the parties of the delay, the cause of the delay, and an estimate of the anticipated additional time that will be needed as a result of the delay.
8.5.9 Privacy
Every effort is made by the University to preserve the privacy of reports. The University will not share the identity of any individual who has made a report or complaint of sexual harassment or retaliation; any Complainant, any individual who has been reported to be the perpetrator of sex discrimination, any Respondent, or any witness, except as permitted by the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), 20 U.S.C. 1232g; FERPA regulations, 34 CFR part 99; or as required by law; or to carry out the purposes of 34 CFR Part 106, including the conducting of any investigation, hearing, or grievance proceeding arising under these policies and procedures.

The University reserves the right to designate which University officials have a legitimate educational interest in being informed about incidents that fall within this policy, pursuant to the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA).

Only a small group of officials who need to know will typically be told about the complaint. Information will be shared as necessary with Investigators, witnesses, and the parties. The circle of people with this knowledge will be kept as tight as possible to preserve the parties’ rights and privacy.
8.5.10 Jurisdiction of the University
This policy applies to the education program and activities of the University to conduct that takes place on the campus or on property owned or controlled by the University, at University-sponsored events, or in buildings owned or controlled by University’s recognized student organizations. The Respondent must be a member of University’s community in order for its policies to apply.

This policy can also be applicable to the effects of off-campus misconduct that effectively deprives someone of access to University’s educational program. The University may also extend jurisdiction to off-campus and/or to online conduct when the Title IX Coordinator determines that the conduct affects a substantial University interest. Regardless of where the conduct occurred, the University will address notice/complaints to determine whether the conduct occurred in the context of its employment or educational program or activity and/or has continuing effects on campus or in an off-campus sponsored program or activity. A substantial University interest includes:

a. Any action that constitutes a criminal offense as defined by law. This includes, but is not limited to, single or repeat violations of any local, state, or federal law.

b. Any situation in which it is determined that the Respondent poses an immediate threat to the physical health or safety of any student or other individual.

c. Any situation that significantly impinges upon the rights, property, or achievements of oneself or others or significantly breaches the peace and/or causes social disorder; and/or

d. Any situation that is detrimental to the educational interests or mission of the University.

If the Respondent is unknown or is not a member of the University community, the Title IX Coordinator will assist the Complainant in identifying appropriate campus and local resources and support options and/or, when criminal conduct is alleged, in contacting local or campus law enforcement if the individual would like to file a police report.

Further, even when the Respondent is not a member of the University’s community, supportive measures, remedies, and resources may be accessible to the Complainant by contacting the Title IX Coordinator.

In addition, the University may take other actions as appropriate to protect the Complainant against third parties, such as barring individuals from University property and/or events.

All vendors serving the University through third-party contracts are subject to the policies and procedures of their employers.

When the Respondent is enrolled in or employed by another institution, the Title IX Coordinator can assist the Complainant in liaising with the appropriate individual at that institution, as it may be possible to allege violations through that institution’s policies.

Similarly, the Title IX Coordinator may be able to advocate for a student or employee Complainant who experiences discrimination in an externship, study abroad program, or other environment external to the University where sexual harassment policies and procedures of the facilitating or host organization may give recourse to the Complainant.
8.5.11 Time Limits on Reporting
There is no time limitation on providing notice/complaints to the Title IX Coordinator. However, if the Respondent is no longer subject to the University’s jurisdiction and/or significant time has passed, the ability to investigate, respond, and provide remedies may be more limited or impossible.

Acting on notice/complaints significantly impacted by the passage of time (including, but not limited to, the rescission or revision of policy) is at the discretion of the Title IX Coordinator, who may document allegations for future reference, offer supportive measures and/or remedies, and/or engage in informal or formal action, as appropriate.

a. When notice/complaint is affected by significant time delay, the University will typically apply the policy in place at the time of the alleged misconduct and the procedures in place at the time of notice/complaint.
8.5.12 Retaliation

Protected activity under this policy includes reporting an incident that may implicate this policy, participating in the grievance process, supporting a Complainant or Respondent, assisting in providing information relevant to an investigation, and/or acting in good faith to oppose conduct that constitutes a violation of this Policy.

Acts of alleged retaliation should be reported immediately to the University Title IX Coordinator and will be promptly investigated. The University is prepared to take appropriate steps to protect individuals who fear that they may be subjected to retaliation.

It is prohibited for The University or any member of the University’s community to take materially adverse action by intimidating, threatening, coercing, harassing, or discriminating against any individual for the purpose of interfering with any right or privilege secured by law or policy, or because the individual has made a report or complaint, testified, assisted, or participated or refused to participate in any manner in an investigation, proceeding, or hearing under this policy and procedure.

Charging an individual with a code of conduct violation for making a materially false statement in bad faith in the course of a grievance proceeding under this policy and procedure does not constitute retaliation, provided that a determination regarding responsibility, alone, is not sufficient to conclude that any party has made a materially false statement in bad faith.

8.6 False Allegations and Evidence
Deliberately false and/or malicious accusations under this policy are a serious offense and will be subject to appropriate disciplinary action. This does not include allegations that are made in good faith but are ultimately shown to be erroneous or do not result in a policy violation determination.

Additionally, witnesses and parties knowingly providing false evidence, tampering with or destroying evidence, or deliberately misleading an official conducting an investigation can be subject to discipline under University policy.
8.6.1 Amnesty for Complainants and Witnesses

The Gannon community encourages the reporting of misconduct and crimes by Complainants and witnesses. Sometimes, Complainants or witnesses are hesitant to report to University officials or participate in grievance processes because they fear that they themselves may be in violation of certain policies, such as underage drinking or use of illicit drugs at the time of the incident. Respondents may hesitate to be forthcoming during the process for the same reasons.

It is in the best interests of the Gannon community that Complainants choose to report misconduct to University officials, that witnesses come forward to share what they know, and that all parties be forthcoming during the process.

To encourage reporting and participation in the process, Gannon maintains a policy of offering parties and witnesses amnesty from minor policy violations – such as underage consumption of alcohol or the use of illicit drugs – related to the incident.

Amnesty does not apply to more serious allegations such as physical abuse of another or illicit drug distribution. The decision not to offer amnesty is based on neither sex nor gender, but on the fact that collateral misconduct is typically addressed for all students within a progressive discipline system, and the rationale for amnesty – the incentive to report serious misconduct – is rarely applicable to Respondent with respect to a Complainant.
8.6.2 Disability Accommodations in the Resolution Process
Gannon is committed to providing reasonable accommodations and support to qualified students, employees, or others with disabilities to ensure equal access to Gannon’s resolution process. Anyone needing such accommodations or support should contact the Office for Accessibility Services for student requests, or Human Resources for employee requests. They will review the request and, in consultation with the person requesting the accommodation and the Title IX Coordinator, determine which accommodations are appropriate and necessary for full participation in the process.
Federal Statistical Reporting Obligations

Certain campus officials – those deemed Campus Security Authorities – have a duty to report the following for federal statistical reporting purposes (Clery Act):

a) All “primary crimes,” which include homicide, sexual assault, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, motor vehicle theft, and arson;
b) Hate crimes, which include any bias-motivated primary crime as well as any bias motivated larceny or theft, simple assault, intimidation, or destruction/damage/vandalism of property;

c) VAWA-based crimes,\(^6\) which include sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking; and

d) Arrests and referrals for disciplinary action for weapons-related law violations, liquor-related law violations, and drug abuse-related law violations.

All personally identifiable information is kept private, but statistical information must be shared with [campus law enforcement] regarding the type of incident and its general location (on or off-campus or in the surrounding area, but no addresses are given) for publication in the Annual Security Report and daily campus crime log.

Campus Security Authorities include: student affairs/student conduct staff, Campus Police and Safety, coaches, athletic directors, residence life staff, student activities staff, human resources staff, advisors to student organizations, and any other official with significant responsibility for student and campus activities.

Federal Timely Warning Obligations

Parties reporting sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and/or stalking should be aware that under the Clery Act, University must issue timely warnings for incidents reported to them that pose a serious or continuing threat of bodily harm or danger to members of the campus community.

The University will ensure that a Complainant’s name and other identifying information is not disclosed, while still providing enough information for community members to make safety decisions in light of the potential danger.

\(^6\) VAWA is the Violence Against Women Act, enacted in 1994 codified in part at 42 U.S.C. sections 13701 through 14040.

8.8 Grievance Procedures

Title IX Sexual Misconduct Grievance Procedures (“the Procedures”) will include a prompt, fair, and impartial process from the initial investigation to the final result. In a complaint involving sexual misconduct, including sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking, if the Complainant is uninterested in pursuing a formal complaint, or if Gannon does not have the authority over the alleged Respondent, the alleged victim may still be able to receive supportive measures to assist in alleviating the effects of the sexual misconduct. An alleged victim of sexual misconduct has the right to stop the grievance process at any time; however; if the Title IX Coordinator believes there is compelling evidence that an offense may have been committed and that the alleged offense poses a health and/or safety threat to the campus community, the Title IX Coordinator may move forward to investigate and address the matter and take appropriate action to ensure the safety of the campus community even if the complainant does not want the matter pursued.

Gannon will act on any notice of violation of the Title IX Sexual Misconduct Policy ("the Policy") that is received by the Title IX Coordinator or any other Official with Authority by applying the Procedures. Anywhere the Procedures indicates "Title IX Coordinator," Gannon may substitute a trained designee as appropriate.

The Procedures below apply only to qualifying Title IX allegations of sexual harassment, including sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking, as defined by the Policy, involving Gannon students, staff, or faculty members. Sexual harassment allegations that do not meet the Title IX definitions, as described by the Policy, will be referred to Student Accountability or Human Resources, and addressed through procedures elaborated in Gannon student and employee handbooks. The procedures below may be used to address collateral misconduct arising from the investigation of or occurring in conjunction with reported misconduct (e.g., vandalism, physical abuse of another). All other allegations of misconduct unrelated to incidents covered by the Policy will be addressed through procedures elaborated in the student, faculty, and employee handbooks.

Resolution proceedings are private. All persons present at any time during the resolution process are expected to maintain the privacy of the proceedings in accordance with Gannon policy. While there is an expectation of privacy around what Investigators share with parties during interviews, the parties have discretion to share their own knowledge and evidence with others if they so choose. Gannon encourages parties to discuss this with their Advisors before doing so.
8.8.1 Notice of Complaint

Upon receipt of a complaint or notice to the Title IX Coordinator of an alleged violation of the Policy, Gannon initiates a prompt initial assessment to determine the next steps Gannon needs to take.

Gannon will initiate at least one of three responses:

1) Offering supportive measures because the Complainant does not want to proceed formally; and/or

2) An Informal Resolution; and/or

3) A Formal Grievance Process including an investigation and a hearing with the decision-makers. The investigation and grievance process will determine whether or not the Policy has been violated. If so, Gannon will promptly implement effective remedies designed to ensure that it is not deliberately indifferent to harassment or discrimination, their potential recurrence, or their effects.
8.8.2 Initial Assessment

- Following receipt of notice or a complaint of an alleged violation of the Policy, the Title IX Coordinator engages in an initial assessment, which is typically one to five (5) business days in duration. References to the Title IX Coordinator throughout the Procedures may also include a trained Title IX designee. The steps in an initial assessment include.

- If a formal complaint is received, the Title IX Coordinator assesses its sufficiency and works with the Complainant to make sure it is correctly completed.

- The Title IX Coordinator reaches out to the Complainant to offer supportive measures.

- The Title IX Coordinator works with the Complainant to ensure they are aware of the right to have an Advisor.

- The Title IX Coordinator works with the Complainant to determine whether the Complainant prefers a supportive and remedial response, an informal resolution option, or a formal investigation and grievance process.
  - If a supportive and remedial response is preferred, the Title IX Coordinator works with the Complainant to identify their wishes, assesses the request, and implements accordingly. No Formal Grievance Process is initiated, though the Complainant can elect to initiate one later, if desired.
  - If an informal resolution option is preferred, the Title IX Coordinator assesses whether the complaint is suitable for informal resolution, and may seek to determine if the Respondent is also willing to engage in informal resolution.
  - If a Formal Grievance Process is preferred, the Title IX Coordinator determines if the misconduct alleged falls within the scope of Title IX:
    - If it does, the Title IX Coordinator will initiate the formal investigation and grievance process, directing the investigation to address:
      - an incident, and/or
      - a pattern of alleged misconduct, and/or
      - a culture/climate concern, based on the nature of the complaint.
    - If it does not, the Title IX Coordinator determines that Title IX does not apply (and will “dismiss” that aspect of the complaint, if any), assesses which policies may apply Please note that dismissing a complaint under Title IX is solely a procedural requirement under Title IX and does not limit the University’s authority to address a complaint with an appropriate process and remedies.
8.8.2.1 Violence Risk Assessment

In many cases, the Title IX Coordinator may determine that a Violence Risk Assessment (VRA) should be conducted by a sub set of the Behavior Intervention Team as part of the initial assessment. The VRA will determine if there is a need for an Emergency Removal and assess the need for a timely warning.
8.8.3 Dismissal of a complaint (Mandatory and Discretionary)
The University must dismiss a formal complaint or any allegations therein if, at any time during the investigation or hearing, it is determined that:

1) The conduct alleged in the formal complaint would not constitute sexual harassment as defined above, even if proved; and/or
2) The conduct did not occur in an educational program or activity controlled by the University (including buildings or property controlled by recognized student organizations), and/or the University does not have control of the Respondent; and/or
3) The conduct did not occur against a person in the United States; and/or
4) At the time of filing a formal complaint, a complainant is not participating in or attempting to participate in the education program or activity of the University.

The University may dismiss a formal complaint or any allegations therein if, at any time during the investigation or hearing:

1) A Complainant notifies the Title IX Coordinator in writing that the Complainant would like to withdraw the formal complaint or any allegations therein; or
2) The Respondent is no longer enrolled in or employed by the University; or
3) Specific circumstances prevent the University from gathering evidence sufficient to reach a determination as to the formal complaint or allegations therein.

Upon any dismissal, the University will promptly send written notice of the dismissal and the rationale for doing so simultaneously to the parties.

This dismissal decision is appealable by any party under the procedures for appeal below.
These dismissal requirements are mandated by the 2020 Title IX Regulations, 34 CFR §106.45. 24

Such a Complainant is still entitled to supportive measures, but the formal grievance process is not applicable.
8.8.4 Counterclaims

Gannon is obligated to ensure that the grievance process is not abused for retaliatory purposes. The University permits the filing of counterclaims but uses an initial assessment, described above, to assess whether the allegations in the counterclaim are made in good faith. Counterclaims by a Respondent may be made in good faith, but are, on occasion, also made for purposes of retaliation. Counterclaims made with retaliatory intent will not be permitted.

Counterclaims determined to have been reported in good faith will be processed using the grievance procedures below. Investigation of such claims may take place after resolution of the underlying initial allegation, in which case a delay may occur.

Counterclaims may also be resolved through the same investigation as the underlying allegation, at the discretion of the Title IX Coordinator. When counterclaims are not made in good faith, they will be considered retaliatory and may constitute a violation of this policy.
8.8.5 Emergency Removal

The University can act to remove a Respondent entirely or partially from its education program or activities on an emergency basis when an individualized safety and risk analysis has determined that an immediate threat to the physical health or safety of any student or other individual justifies removal. This risk analysis is performed by the Title IX Coordinator in conjunction with identified members of the Behavioral Intervention Team (also known BIT).

In all cases in which an emergency removal is imposed, the student or employee will be given notice of the action and the option to request to meet with the Title IX Coordinator prior to such action/removal being imposed, or as soon thereafter as reasonably possible, to show cause why the action/removal should not be implemented or should be modified.

This meeting is not a hearing on the merits of the allegation(s), but rather is an administrative process intended to determine solely whether the emergency removal is appropriate. When this meeting is not requested within 48 hours of notice of removal, objections to the emergency removal will be deemed waived. A Complainant and their Advisor may be permitted to participate in this meeting if the Title IX Coordinator determines it is equitable to do so. This section also applies to any restrictions that a coach or athletic administrator may place on a student-athlete arising from allegations related to Title IX. There is no appeal process for emergency removal decisions.

A Respondent may be accompanied by an Advisor of their choice when meeting with the Title IX Coordinator for the show cause meeting. The Respondent will be given access to a written summary of the basis for the emergency removal prior to the meeting to allow for adequate preparation.

The Title IX Coordinator has sole discretion under this policy to implement or stay an emergency removal and to determine the conditions and duration. Violation of an emergency removal under this policy will be grounds for discipline, which may include expulsion or termination.

The University will implement the least restrictive emergency actions possible considering the circumstances and safety concerns. As determined by the Title IX Coordinator, these actions could include, but are not limited to: removing a student from on campus housing, restricting a student’s or employees access to or use of facilities or equipment, allowing a student to withdraw or take grades of incomplete without financial penalty, authorizing an administrative leave, and suspending a student’s participation in extracurricular activities, student employment, student organizational leadership, or intercollegiate/intramural athletics.

At the discretion of the Title IX Coordinator, alternative coursework options may be pursued to ensure as minimal an academic impact as possible on the parties.
8.8.6 Independence and Conflict of Interest
The Title IX Coordinator manages the Title IX Team and acts with independence and authority free from bias and conflicts of interest. The Title IX Coordinator oversees all resolutions under this policy and these procedures. The members of the Title IX Team are vetted and trained to ensure they are not biased for or against any party in a specific case, or for or against Complainants and/or Respondents, generally.

To raise any concern involving bias or conflict of interest by the Title IX Coordinator, contact the Dean of Student Development and Engagement, Paul Perrine @Perrine04@gannon.edu.

Concerns of bias or a potential conflict of interest by any other Title IX Team member should be raised with the Title IX Coordinator.

Reports of misconduct or discrimination committed by the Title IX Coordinator should be reported to the Dean for Student Development and Engagement at Perrine004@gannon.edu. Reports of misconduct or discrimination committed by any other Title IX Team member should be reported to the Title IX Coordinator by emailing titleix@gannon.edu
8.8.7 Advisor

8.8.7.1 Right to an Advisor

The parties may each have an Advisor of their choice present with them for all meetings, interviews, and hearings within the resolution process, if they so choose. The parties may select whoever they wish to serve as their Advisor as long as the Advisor is eligible and available. Choosing an Advisor who is also a witness in the process creates potential for bias and conflict-of-interest. A party who chooses an Advisor who is also a witness can anticipate that issues of potential bias will be explored by the hearing Decision-maker(s).

9 This could include an attorney, advocate, or support person. The law permits one Advisor for each party (witnesses are not entitled to Advisors within the process, though they can be advised externally. 10 “Available” means the party cannot insist on an Advisor who simply doesn’t have inclination, time, or availability. Also, the Advisor cannot have institutionally conflicting roles, such as being a Title IX administrator who has an active role in the matter, or a supervisor who must monitor and implement sanctions.

8.8.7.2 Who can Serve as an Advisor

The Advisor may be a friend, mentor, family member, attorney, or any other individual a party chooses to advise, support, and/or consult with them throughout the resolution process. The parties may choose Advisors from inside or outside of the Gannon community.

The Title IX Coordinator will also offer to assign a trained Advisor for any party if the party so chooses. If the parties choose an Advisor from Gannon, the Advisor will be trained by Gannon and be familiar with Gannon’s resolution process. If the parties choose an Advisor from outside of those identified by Gannon, the Advisor may not have been trained by Gannon and may not be familiar with Gannon’s policies and procedures. Parties also have the right to choose not to have an Advisor in the initial stages of the resolution process, prior hearing with the decision-makers.
8.8.7.3 Advisors in Hearings/Gannon-Appointed Advisor

A party may reject this appointment and choose their own Advisor, but they may not proceed without an Advisor. Gannon will appoint an Advisor, regardless of the participation or non-participation of the advised party in the hearing conducted by the decision-makers.
8.8.7.4 Advisors Role

The parties may be accompanied by their Advisor in all meetings and interviews at which the party is entitled to be present, including intake and interviews. Advisors should help the parties prepare for each meeting and are expected to advise ethically, with integrity, and in good faith. Gannon cannot guarantee equal Advisory rights, meaning that if one party selects an Advisor who is an attorney, but the other party does not or cannot afford an attorney, Gannon is not obligated to provide an attorney.
8.8.7.5  Pre-Interview Meeting

Advisors may request to meet with the administrative officials conducting interviews/meetings in advance of these interviews or meetings. This pre-meeting allows Advisors to clarify and understand their role and OL’s policies and procedures.
8.8.7.6 Advisor Violation of Gannon Policy

Because this is an educational process, each party must always speak for themselves. All Advisors are subject to the same Gannon policies and procedures, whether they are attorneys or not. Advisors are expected to advise their advisees without disrupting proceedings. Advisors should not address Gannon officials in a meeting or interview unless invited to (e.g., asking procedural questions). The Advisor may not make a presentation or represent their advisee during any meeting or proceeding and may not speak on behalf of the advisee.

The parties are expected to ask and respond to questions on their own behalf throughout the investigation phase of the resolution process. Although the Advisor generally may not speak on behalf of their advisee, the Advisor may consult with their advisee, either privately as needed, or by conferring or passing notes during any resolution process meeting or interview. For longer or more involved discussions, the parties and their Advisors should ask for breaks to allow for private consultation.

Any Advisor who oversteps their role as defined by this policy will be warned only once. If the Advisor continues to disrupt or otherwise fails to respect the limits of the Advisor role, the meeting will be ended, or other appropriate measures implemented. Subsequently, the Title IX Coordinator will determine how to address the Advisor’s non-compliance and future role.
8.8.7.7 Sharing information with the Advisor

Gannon expects that the parties may wish to have Gannon share documentation and evidence related to the allegations with their Advisors. Parties may share this information directly with their Advisor. Doing so may help the parties participate more meaningfully in the resolution process.
8.8.7.8 Privacy of Records Shared with Advisor

Advisors are expected to maintain the privacy of the records shared with them. These records may not be shared with third parties, disclosed publicly, or used for purposes not explicitly authorized by Gannon University. Gannon may seek to restrict the role of any Advisor who does not respect the sensitive nature of the process or who fails to abide by Gannon’s privacy expectations.
8.8.7.9  Expectations of an Advisor

Gannon generally expects an Advisor to adjust their schedule to allow them to attend University meetings when planned. Gannon not required to reschedule a meeting if the Advisor cannot attend a meeting but may change scheduled meetings to accommodate an Advisor’s inability to attend, if doing so does not cause an unreasonable delay. Gannon may also make reasonable provisions to allow an Advisor who cannot attend in person to attend a meeting by telephone, video conferencing, or other similar technologies as may be convenient and available.
8.8.7.10  Expectations of the Parties with Respect to Advisors

A party may elect to change Advisors during the process and is not obligated to use the same Advisor throughout. The parties are expected to provide timely notice to the Title IX Coordinator if they change Advisors at any time.
8.9 Resolution

Resolution proceedings are private. All persons present at any time during the resolution process are expected to maintain the privacy of the proceedings in accordance with Gannon policy. Although there is an expectation of privacy around what Investigators share with parties during interviews, the parties have discretion to share their own knowledge and evidence with others if they so choose, with the exception of information the parties agree not to disclose related to Informal Resolution, discussed “Informal Resolution”. Gannon encourages parties to discuss any sharing of information with their Advisors before doing so.
8.9.1 Informal Resolution

A complainant may elect to pursue an informal resolution for all allegations of sexual misconduct. An informal resolution is designed to resolve complaints quickly, efficiently and to the mutual satisfaction of all parties involved. Informal resolutions include but are not limited to:

• Mediation of the complaint conducted by the Student Development staff in appropriate cases.

• Agreement in which one or more of the parties involved agrees to accept agreed upon corrective actions in the form of a warning, censure, probation, education, or counseling as may be warranted by the circumstances.

• Both the complainant and respondent must agree to engage in informal resolution. Either party can end the informal resolution process at any time, for any reason, and begin the process to pursue formal conduct proceedings. The Title IX Coordinator or their designee has the discretion to determine if it would be inappropriate to informally mediate any particular sexual misconduct complaint.
8.10 Formal Grievance Process
8.10.1 Notice of Investigation and Allegations

The Title IX Coordinator will provide written notice of the investigation and allegations (the “NOIA”) to the Respondent upon commencement of the Formal Grievance Process. This facilitates the Respondent’s ability to prepare for the interview and to identify and choose an Advisor to accompany them. The NOIA is also copied to the Complainant, who is to be given advance notice of when the NOIA will be delivered to the Respondent.

The NOIA will include:

- A meaningful summary of all of allegations,
- The identity of the involved parties (if known),
- The precise misconduct being alleged,
- The date and location of the alleged incident(s) (if known),
- The specific policies implicated,
- A description of the applicable procedures,
- A statement of the potential sanctions/responsive actions that could result,
- A statement that the University presumes the Respondent is not responsible for the reported misconduct unless and until the evidence supports a different determination,
- A statement that determinations of responsibility are made at the conclusion of the process and that the parties will be given an opportunity to inspect and review all directly related and/or relevant evidence obtained during the review and comment period,
- A statement about the University’s policy on retaliation,
- Information about the privacy of the process,
- Information on the need for each party to have an Advisor of their choosing,
- A statement informing the parties that the University Policy prohibits knowingly making false statements, including knowingly submitting false information during the resolution process,
- Detail on how the party may request disability accommodations during the interview process,
- The name(s) of the Investigator(s), along with a process to identify, in advance of the interview process, to the Title IX Coordinator any conflict of interest that the Investigator(s) may have, and
- An instruction to preserve any evidence that is directly related to the allegations.

Amendments and updates to the NOIA may be made as the investigation progresses and more information becomes available regarding the addition or dismissal of various charges.

Notice will be made in writing and may be emailed or delivered in person. It will be emailed to the parties’ University-issued email or designated accounts. Once mailed, emailed, and/or received in-person, notice will be presumptively delivered.
8.10.2 Resolution Timeline

The University will make a good faith effort to complete the resolution process within a sixty-to-ninety (60-90) business day time period, including appeal, which can be extended as necessary for appropriate cause by the Title IX Coordinator, who will provide notice and rationale for any extensions or delays to the parties as appropriate, as well as an estimate of how much additional time will be needed to complete the process.
8.10.2.1 Appointment of Investigators

Once the decision to commence a formal investigation is made, the Title IX Coordinator appoints investigator(s), typically a team of 2 investigators is used to investigate, usually within two (2) business days of determining that an investigation should proceed.
8.10.2.2 Ensuring Impartiality

Any individual materially involved in the administration of the resolution process [including the Title IX Coordinator, Investigator(s), and Decision-maker(s)] may neither have nor demonstrate a conflict of interest or bias for a party generally, or for a specific Complainant or Respondent.

The Title IX Coordinator will vet the assigned Investigator(s) to ensure impartiality by ensuring there are no actual or apparent conflicts of interest or disqualifying biases. The parties may, at any time during the resolution process, raise a concern regarding bias or conflict of interest, and the Title IX Coordinator will determine whether the concern is reasonable and supportable.

If so, another Pool member will be assigned and the impact of the bias or conflict, if any, will be remedied. If the source of the conflict of interest or bias is the Title IX Coordinator, concerns should be raised with the Dean of Student Development and Engagement.
8.10.2.3  Investigation Timeline Engagement

The Formal Grievance Process involves an objective evaluation of all relevant evidence obtained, including evidence that supports that the Respondent engaged in a policy violation and evidence that supports that the Respondent did not engage in a policy violation. Credibility determinations may not be based solely on an individual’s status or participation as a Complainant, Respondent, or witness.

The University operates with the presumption that the Respondent is not responsible for the reported misconduct unless and until the Respondent is determined to be responsible for a policy violation by the applicable standard of proof.

Investigations are completed expeditiously, normally within thirty (30) business days, though some investigations may take weeks or even months, depending on the nature, extent, and complexity of the allegations, availability of witnesses, police involvement, etc.

The University will make a good faith effort to complete investigations as promptly as circumstances permit and will communicate regularly with the parties to update them on the progress and timing of the investigation.
8.10.2.4 Delays in the Investigation Process and Interaction with Law Enforcement

The University may undertake a short delay in its investigation (several days to a few weeks) if circumstances require. Such circumstances include but are not limited to: a request from law enforcement to temporarily delay the investigation, the need for language assistance, the absence of parties and/or witnesses, and/or accommodations for disabilities or health conditions.

The University will communicate in writing the anticipated duration of the delay and reason to the parties and provide the parties with status updates if necessary. The University will promptly resume its investigation and resolution process as soon as feasible. During such a delay, University will implement supportive measures as deemed appropriate.

University action(s) or processes are not typically altered or precluded on the grounds that civil or criminal charges involving the underlying incident(s) have been filed or that criminal charges have been dismissed or reduced.
8.11 Steps in the Investigation Process

All investigations are thorough, reliable, impartial, prompt, and fair. Investigations involve interviews with all relevant parties and witnesses; obtaining available, relevant evidence; and identifying sources of expert information, as necessary.

All parties have a full and fair opportunity, through the investigation process, to suggest witnesses and questions, to provide evidence and expert witnesses, and to fully review and respond to all evidence on the record.

The University aims to complete the investigation within 30 days. At times the investigation may take longer. The University’s investigative process is not a criminal investigation, and it does not take away the complainant’s right to pursue a criminal investigation. The University process may be conducted separately or congruently with a criminal investigation.

It will be at the complainant’s discretion to make a criminal report.

The University will investigate all complaints of sexual misconduct. The steps of the investigative phase are listed below. The investigative team will meet with the complainant and respondent separately to provide notification of the complaint and the procedures that will follow:

1. The respondent may elect to take responsibility for a violation at the onset of the investigation. The University will still follow the investigative procedures.

2. Respondents may choose not to participate in the investigation; however the investigation will proceed and the findings will be based on all available evidence. Adverse inferences will not be drawn from a respondent’s decision not to participate in the investigation.

3. The Investigative Team will generally take the following steps:
   a. The Investigative Team will meet separately with the complainant and the respondent to gather facts regarding the incident.
   b. The Investigative Team will ask both the complainant and respondent to provide a list of witnesses and other relevant information.
   c. The Investigative Team may meet with other parties who have information regarding the incident as the Investigative Team so elects.
   d. All available information to the complaint will be reviewed, including but not limited to emails, videos, text messages, social media, etc.
   e. The Investigative Team may assist with supportive measures at the request of the Title IX Coordinator.
   f. Identify all policies implicated by the alleged misconduct and notify the Complainant and Respondent of all of the specific policies implicated.
g. Provide each interviewed party and witness an opportunity to review and verify the Investigator’s summary notes (or transcript) of the relevant evidence/testimony from their respective interviews and meetings, allow five (5) business days for feedback or summary is deemed acceptable.

h. When participation of a party is expected, provide that party with written notice of the date, time, and location of the meeting, as well as the expected participants and purpose.

i. Prior to the conclusion of the investigation, provide the parties a secured electronic or hard copy of the draft investigation report as well as an opportunity to inspect and review all of the evidence obtained as part of the investigation that is directly related to the reported misconduct, including evidence upon which the University does not intend to rely in reaching a determination, for a ten (10) business day review and comment period so that each party may meaningfully respond to the evidence. The parties may elect to waive the full ten days. Each copy of the materials shared will be watermarked on each page with the role of the person receiving it (e.g., Complainant, Respondent, Complainant’s Advisor, Respondent’s Advisor).

j. The Investigator(s) may elect to respond in writing in the investigation report to the parties’ submitted responses and/or to share the responses between the parties for additional responses.

k. The Investigator(s) will incorporate relevant elements of the parties’ written responses into the final investigation report, include any additional relevant evidence, make any necessary revisions, and finalize the report. The Investigator(s) should document all rationales for any changes made after the review and comment period.

l. The Investigator(s) shares the report with the Title IX Coordinator and/or legal counsel for their review and feedback.

m. The Investigator will incorporate any relevant feedback, and the final report is then shared with all parties and their Advisors through secure electronic transmission or hard copy at least ten (10) business days prior to a hearing. The parties are also provided with a file of any directly related evidence that was not included in the report.

4. If any changes are made to the report the complainant and respondent will again review the report. Once the report is reviewed by both parties and no additional changes need to be made as determined by the Investigative Team, the report will be presented the SMC hearing panel. The SMC hearing panel may:

- Accept the report.
- Request clarification and ask questions.
- Request that additional information be gathered.
5. If additional information is requested by the decision panel the Investigative Team will gather the information and repeat steps 4, 5, and 6.

6. Once the Investigative Report is accepted by the SMC Decision Making panel, a hearing will be scheduled.
8.11.1 Role and Participation of Witnesses in the Investigation

Witnesses (as distinguished from the parties) who are employees of Gannon are expected to cooperate with and participate in the Gannon’s investigation and resolution process. Failure of such witnesses to cooperate with and/or participate in the investigation or resolution process constitutes a violation of policy and may warrant discipline. Student witnesses and witnesses from outside the Gannon community are encouraged to cooperate with Gannon investigations and to share what they know about a complaint.

Although in-person interviews for parties and all potential witnesses are ideal, circumstances (e.g., study abroad, summer break) may require individuals to be interviewed remotely. Skype, Zoom, FaceTime, WebEx, or similar technologies may be used for interviews if the Investigator(s) determine that timeliness or efficiency dictate a need for remote interviewing. The University will take appropriate steps to reasonably ensure the security/privacy of remote interviews.

Witnesses may also provide written statements in lieu of interviews or choose to respond to written questions, if deemed appropriate by the Investigator(s), though not preferred.
8.11.2 Recording of Interviews

No unauthorized audio or video recording of any kind is permitted during investigation meetings. If Investigator(s) elect to audio and/or video record interviews, all involved parties must be made aware of [and consent to]\textsuperscript{11} audio and/or video recording.
Consent of the interviewer and interviewee is required in “dual-party recording” states.
8.11.3  Evidentiary Considerations in the Investigation

The investigation does not consider:

1) incidents not directly related to the possible violation, unless they evidence a pattern.

2) Questions and evidence about the Complainant’s sexual predisposition or prior sexual behavior, unless such questions and evidence about the Complainant’s prior sexual behavior are offered to prove that someone other than the Respondent committed the conduct alleged by the Complainant, or if the questions and evidence concern specific incidents of the Complainant’s prior sexual behavior with respect to the Respondent and are offered to prove consent.
8.11.4 Referral for Decision Making Panel

Provided that the complaint is not resolved through Informal Resolution, once the final investigation report is shared with the parties, the Title IX Coordinator will refer the matter to a decision hearing.

The hearing cannot be less than ten (10) business days from the conclusion of the investigation —when the final investigation report is transmitted to the parties and the Decision-maker—unless all parties and the Decision-maker agree to an expedited timeline.

The Title IX Coordinator will select an appropriate panel of individuals from the pool of decision makers.
The Sexual Misconduct Committee is the University body charged with resolving complaints of the Title IX/sexual misconduct Policy. The committee is composed of trained staff and administrators. Each sexual misconduct complaint is heard and adjudicated by a decision panel of three representatives drawn from the full membership of the SMC by the Title IX Coordinator. The chairperson of the hearing committee will be designated by the Title IX Coordinator.
8.11.5.1 Religious Exemption/Cross Examination

In line with the mission and religious tenets of Gannon the University will conduct a process that protects the dignity and respect of all parties and witnesses participating in the process.

After reviewing the Investigative Report Gannon will request parties identify any witnesses that they may have questions for at the hearing. With the agreement of the parties, it may decided in advance of the hearing that certain witnesses do not need to be present if their testimony can be adequately summarized by the Investigator(s) in the investigation report or during the hearing.

If neither party has questions for a witness the witness will not be required to attend the hearing. The Title IX/Sexual Misconduct Committee will review the Investigative Report and will also be permitted to identify a witness they may need to attend the hearing.

Parties may submit a list of questions in advance of the hearing to the Title IX Coordinator. The Title IX Coordinator will forward the question on to the chair of the panel who will review for relevancy. Questions that arise on the day of the hearing will be permitted to be asked through the private chat function in zoom to the chair or through text message. The chair will then ask the question to the parties involved.
8.11.5.2 Evidentiary Considerations in the Hearing

Any evidence that the Decision-maker(s) determine(s) is relevant and credible may be considered. The hearing does not consider:

1) incidents not directly related to the possible violation, unless they evidence a pattern.

2) Questions and evidence about the Complainant’s sexual predisposition or prior sexual behavior, unless such questions and evidence about the Complainant’s prior sexual behavior are offered to prove that someone other than the Respondent committed the conduct alleged by the Complainant, or if the questions and evidence concern specific incidents of the Complainant’s prior sexual behavior with respect to the Respondent and are offered to prove consent.

Previous disciplinary action of any kind involving the Respondent may be considered in determining an appropriate sanction upon a determination of responsibility. This information is only considered at the sanction stage of the process and is not shared until then.

The parties may each submit a written impact statement prior to the hearing for the consideration of the Decision-maker(s) at the sanction stage of the process when a determination of responsibility is reached.

After post-hearing deliberation, the Decision-maker renders a determination based on [the preponderance of the evidence; whether it is more likely than not that the Respondent violated the Policy as alleged.
8.12 Notice of Hearing

No less than ten (10) business days prior to the Hearing, the Title IX Coordinator or the Chair will send notice of the Hearing to the parties. Once mailed, emailed, and/or received in-person, notice will be presumptively delivered.

The notice will contain:

● A description of the alleged violation(s), a list of all policies allegedly violated, a description of the applicable procedures, and a statement of the potential sanctions/responsive actions that could result.

● The time, date, and location of the hearing and a reminder that attendance is mandatory, superseding all other campus activities.

● Any technology that will be used to facilitate the hearing.

● Information about the option for the hearing to occur with the parties located in separate rooms using technology that enables the Decision-maker(s) and parties to see and hear a party or witness answering questions. Such a request must be raised with the Title IX Coordinator at least five (5) business days prior to the hearing.

● A list of all those who will attend the hearing, along with an invitation to object to any Decisionmaker on the basis of demonstrated bias. This must be raised with the Title IX Coordinator at least two (2) business days prior to the hearing.

● Information on how the hearing will be recorded.

● A statement that if any party or witness does not appear at the scheduled hearing, the hearing may be held in their absence.

● Notification that the parties may have the assistance of an Advisor of their choosing at the hearing. The party must notify the Title IX Coordinator if they do not have an Advisor, and the University will appoint one.

● A copy of all the materials provided to the Decision-maker(s) about the matter, unless they have been provided already.12

● An invitation to each party to submit to the Chair an impact statement pre-hearing that the Decisionmaker will review during any sanction determination.

● An invitation to contact the Title IX Coordinator to arrange any disability accommodations, language assistance, and/or interpretation services that may be needed at the hearing, at least seven (7) business days prior to the hearing.

Hearings for possible violations that occur near or after the end of an academic term (assuming the Respondent is still subject to this Policy) and are unable to be resolved prior to the end of term will typically be held immediately after the end of the term or during the summer, as needed, to meet the resolution timeline followed by the University and remain within the 60-90 business day goal for resolution.

12 The final investigation report may be shared using electronic means that preclude downloading, forwarding, or otherwise sharing.
8.12.1 Hearing Process

Hearings are conducted in private and are not open to members of the University community or the public.

The University recognizes that participation in a hearing may be difficult for those involved; the hearing can be set up such that the complainant and the respondent will have minimal interaction during the hearing or will not be in the hearing room at the same time.

The order of a hearing will be determined by the Chair of the hearing committee, but will generally follow this outline:

1) The Chair will call the hearing to order and state the purpose of the hearing: to determine whether there has been a violation of the University’s policy.

2) The complainant and respondent may have an advisor present during the hearings. The advisor may assist the party with formulating and submitting questions to the chair, the advisor may also provide support to the party. Advisors are required to follow the rules of the University.

3) Introductions—each person involved in the hearing will be introduced.

4) The hearing panel will asked the investigators any questions they have regarding the investigative Report.

5) The complainant and respondent will be invited to present a brief statement of the facts to the hearing panel, if they so choose. (impact statements are not permitted at this time)

6) Members of the hearing panel may ask questions of the complainant and respondent.

7) The complainant and respondent may ask questions of each other through the chair of the hearing committee. The chair will determine if a question is relevant and appropriate.

8) Witnesses will be called and the Panel, Complainant, and respondent will be able to asked any relevant questions through the chair.

9) The Chair will ask for the members of the hearing panel to determine whether any additional clarification or information is needed from the complainant, respondent, investigator or witnesses.

10) The hearing panel will go into closed session to determine whether a violation of policy was committed.

11) The decision of the hearing panel that a violation occurred or did not occur will be reached by a majority vote utilizing the preponderance of evidence standard (“more likely than not”).

12) If the respondent is found to have violated the sexual misconduct policy the SMC will recommend a sanction. The sanction will be based on consideration of the specific facts of the case itself and relevant factors such as prior disciplinary history.
8.12.2 Deliberation, Decision Making and Standard of Proof

The Decision-maker(s) will deliberate in closed session to determine whether the Respondent is responsible or not responsible for the policy violation(s) in question. If a panel is used, a simple majority vote is required to determine the finding. The preponderance of the evidence is the standard utilized. The hearing facilitator may be invited to attend the deliberation by the Chair, but is there only to facilitate procedurally, not to address the substance of the allegations.

When there is a finding of responsibility on one or more of the allegations, the Decision-maker(s) may then consider the previously submitted party impact statements in determining appropriate sanction(s).

The Decision-maker(s) will review the statements and any pertinent conduct history provided by the appropriate sanction(s) and in consultation with other appropriate administrators, including the Dean of Student Development and Engagement, Director of Human Resources, and the Provost and sue for Student Experience, or designee(s), as required.

The Chair will then prepare a written deliberation statement and deliver it to the Title IX Coordinator, detailing the determination, rationale, the evidence used in support of its determination, the evidence not relied upon in its determination, credibility assessments, and any sanctions.

This report is typically three (3) to five (5) pages in length and must be submitted to the Title IX Coordinator within two (2) business days of the end of deliberations, unless the Title IX Coordinator grants an extension. If an extension is granted, the Title IX Coordinator will notify the parties.
8.12.3 Notice of Outcome

Using the deliberation statement, the Title IX Coordinator will work with the Chair to prepare a Notice of Outcome. The Title IX Coordinator will then share the letter, including the final determination, rationale, and any applicable sanction(s) with the parties and their Advisors within 5 business days of receiving the Decisionmaker(s)’ deliberation statement.

The Notice of Outcome will then be shared with the parties simultaneously. Notification will be made in writing and may be delivered by one or more of the following methods: in person, mailed to the local or permanent address of the parties as indicated in official Gannon records, or emailed to the parties’ Gannon issued email or otherwise approved account. Once mailed, emailed, and/or received in-person, notice will be presumptively delivered.

The Notice of Outcome will articulate the specific policy(ies) reported to have been violated, including the relevant policy section, and will contain a description of the procedural steps taken by the University from the receipt of the misconduct report to the determination, including any and all notifications to the parties, interviews with parties and witnesses, site visits, methods used to obtain evidence, and hearings held.

The Notice of Outcome will specify the finding on each alleged policy violation; the findings of fact that support the determination; conclusions regarding the application of the relevant policy to the facts at issue; a statement of, and rationale for, the result of each allegation to the extent the University is permitted to share such information under state or federal law; any sanctions issued which the University is permitted to share according to state or federal law; and any remedies provided to the Complainant designed to ensure access to the University’s educational or employment program or activity, to the extent the University is permitted to share such information under state or federal law (this detail is not typically shared with the Respondent unless the remedy directly relates to the Respondent).

The Notice of outcome will also include information on when the results are considered by the University to be final, any changes that occur prior to finalization, and the relevant procedures and bases for any available appeal options.
8.13 Sanctions

Factors considered when determining a sanction/responsive action may include, but are not limited to:

- The nature, severity of, and circumstances surrounding the violation(s)
- The Respondent’s disciplinary history
- Previous allegations or allegations involving similar conduct
- The need for sanctions/responsive actions to bring an end to the sexual Harassment and/or retaliation
- The need for sanctions/responsive actions to prevent the future recurrence of sexual harassment and/or retaliation
- The need to remedy the effects of the sexual harassment and/or retaliation on the Complainant and the community
- The impact on the parties
- Any other information deemed relevant by the Decision-maker(s)

The sanctions will be implemented as soon as is feasible, either upon the outcome of any appeal or the expiration of the window to appeal without an appeal being requested.

The sanctions described in this policy are not exclusive of, and may be in addition to, other actions taken or sanctions imposed by external authorities.
Student Sanctions

Responsive actions for an employee who has engaged in harassment and/or retaliation include:

- Warning – Verbal or Written
- Performance Improvement Plan/Management Process
- Enhanced supervision, observation, or review
- Required Counseling
- Required Training or Education
- Probation
- Denial of Pay Increase/Pay Grade
- Loss of Oversight or Supervisory Responsibility
- Demotion
- Transfer
- Reassignment
- Delay of tenure track progress
- Assignment to new supervisor
- Restriction of stipends, research, and/or professional development resources
- Suspension with pay
- Suspension without pay
- Termination

Other Actions: In addition to or in place of the above sanctions/responsive actions, the University may assign any other responsive actions as deemed appropriate.
a. Students: Should a student decide to not participate in the resolution process, the process proceeds absent their participation to a reasonable resolution. Should a student Respondent permanently withdraw from the University, the resolution process ends, as the University no longer has disciplinary jurisdiction over the withdrawn student.

However, the University will continue to address and remedy any systemic issues, variables that may have contributed to the alleged violation(s), and any ongoing effects of the alleged sexual harassment and/or retaliation. The student who withdraws or leaves while the process is pending may not return to the University. Such exclusion applies to all campuses of University. A hold will be placed on their ability to be readmitted. They may also be barred from University property and/or events.

If the student Respondent only withdraws or takes a leave for a specified period of time (e.g., one semester or term), the resolution process may continue remotely and that student is not permitted to return to University unless and until all sanctions have been satisfied.

b. Employees: Should an employee Respondent resign with unresolved allegations pending, the resolution process ends, as the University no longer has disciplinary jurisdiction over the resigned employee.

However, the University will continue to address and remedy any systemic issues, variables that contributed to the alleged violation(s), and any ongoing effects of the alleged harassment or retaliation.

The employee who resigns with unresolved allegations pending is not eligible for rehire with the University or any campus of the University, and the records retained by the Title IX Coordinator will reflect that status.

All University responses to future inquiries regarding employment references for that individual will include that the former employee resigned during a pending disciplinary matter.
8.15 Appeals

Any party may file a request for appeal ("Request for Appeal"), but it must be submitted in writing to the Title IX Coordinator within 7 days of the delivery of the Notice of Outcome to the Dean of Student Development and Engagement or his or her designee.

The Request for Appeal will be forwarded to the AVSPDE for consideration to determine if the request meets the grounds for appeal (a Review for Standing).

This review is not a review of the merits of the appeal, but solely a determination as to whether the request meets the grounds and is timely filed.
8.15.1  Grounds for Appeal
Appeals are limited to the following grounds:

(a) Procedural irregularity that affected the outcome of the matter;

(b) New evidence that was not reasonably available at the time the determination regarding responsibility or dismissal was made, that could affect the outcome of the matter; and

(c) The Title IX Coordinator, Investigator(s), or Decision-maker(s) had a conflict of interest or bias for or against Complainants or Respondents generally or the specific Complainant or Respondent that affected the outcome of the matter.

If any of the grounds in the Request for Appeal do not meet the grounds in this Policy, that request will be denied by the AVPSDE and the parties will be notified in writing of the denial and the rationale.

If any of the grounds in the Request for Appeal meet the grounds in this Policy, then the AVPSDE will notify the other party(ies) and their Advisors, the Title IX Coordinator, and, when appropriate, the Investigators and/or the original Decision-maker(s).

The other party(ies), the Title IX Coordinator, and, when appropriate, the Investigators and/or the original Decision-maker(s) will be mailed, emailed, and/or provided a hard copy of the request with the approved grounds and then be given 5 business days to submit a response to the portion of the appeal that was approved and involves them. All responses will be forwarded by the Chair to all parties for review and comment.

The non-appealing party (if any) may also choose to raise a new ground for appeal at this time. If so, that will be reviewed to determine if it meets the grounds in this Policy by the AVPSDE and either denied or approved. If approved, it will be forwarded to the party who initially requested an appeal, the Investigator(s) and/or original Decision-maker(s), as necessary, who will submit their responses in 5 business days, which will be circulated for review and comment by all parties.

Neither party may submit any new requests for appeal after this time period. The AVPSDE will collect any additional information needed and all documentation regarding the approved grounds. The AVPSDE will render a decision in no more than 5 business days, barring exigent circumstances. All decisions apply the Preponderance of the Evidence Standard.

A Notice of Appeal Outcome will be sent to all parties simultaneously including the decision on each approved ground and rationale for each decision. The Notice of Appeal Outcome will specify the finding on each ground for appeal, any specific instructions for remand or reconsideration, any sanctions that may result which the University is permitted to share according to state or federal law, and the rationale supporting the essential findings to the extent the University is permitted to share under state or federal law.

Notification will be made in writing and may be delivered by one or more of the following methods: in person, mailed to the local or permanent address of the parties as indicated in official institutional records, or emailed to the parties’ University-issued email or otherwise approved account. Once mailed, emailed and/or received in-person, notice will be presumptively delivered.
8.15.2 Sanctions Status During the Appeal

Any sanctions imposed as a result of the hearing are stayed during the appeal process. Supportive measures may be reinstated, subject to the same supportive measure procedures above.

If any of the sanctions are to be implemented immediately post-hearing, but pre-appeal, then emergency removal procedures (detailed above) for a hearing on the justification for doing so must be permitted within 48 hours of implementation.

If the original sanctions include separation in any form, the University may place a hold on official transcripts, diplomas, graduations, and course registration pending the outcome of an appeal. The Respondent may request a stay of these holds from the Title IX Coordinator within two (2) business days of the notice of the sanctions. The request will be evaluated by the Title IX Coordinator or designee, whose determination is final.
8.15.3 Appeal Considerations

- Decisions on appeal are to be deferential to the original decision, making changes to the finding only when there is clear error and to the sanction(s)/responsive action(s) only if there is a compelling justification to do so.

- Appeals are not intended to provide for a full re-hearing (de novo) of the allegation(s). In most cases, appeals are confined to a review of the written documentation or record of the original hearing and pertinent documentation regarding the specific grounds for appeal.

- An appeal is not an opportunity for Appeal Decision-makers to substitute their judgment for that of the original Decision-maker(s) merely because they disagree with the finding and/or sanction(s).

- The AVPSDE/Decision-maker(s) may consult with the Title IX Coordinator on questions of procedure or rationale, for clarification, if needed. Documentation of all such consultation will be maintained.

- Appeals granted based on new evidence should normally be remanded to the original Investigator(s) and/or Decision-maker(s) for reconsideration. Other appeals may be remanded at the discretion of the Title IX Coordinator or, in limited circumstances, decided on appeal.

- Once an appeal is decided, the outcome is final: further appeals are not permitted, even if a decision or sanction is changed on remand (except in the case of a new hearing).

- In rare cases where a procedural error cannot be cured by the original Decision-maker(s) (as in cases of bias), the appeal may order a new hearing with a new Decision-maker(s).

- The results of a remand to a Decision-maker(s) cannot be appealed. The results of a new hearing can be appealed, once, on any of the three available appeal grounds.

- In cases in which the appeal results in reinstatement to the University or resumption of privileges, all reasonable attempts will be made to restore the Respondent to their prior status, recognizing that some opportunities lost may be irreparable in the short term.
Following the conclusion of the resolution process, and in addition to any sanctions implemented, the Title IX Coordinator may implement additional long-term remedies or actions with respect to the parties and/or the campus community that are intended to stop the sexual harassment and/or retaliation, remedy the effects, and prevent reoccurrence.

These remedies/actions may include, but are not limited to:

- Referral to counseling and health services
- Referral to the Employee Assistance Program
- Education to the individual and/or the community
- Permanent alteration of housing assignments
- Permanent alteration of work arrangements for employees
- Provision of campus safety escorts
- Climate surveys
- Policy modification and/or training
- Implementation of long-term contact limitations between the parties
- Implementation of adjustments to academic deadlines, course schedules, etc.

At the discretion of the Title IX Coordinator, certain long-term support or measures may also be provided to the parties even if no policy violation is found. When no policy violation is found, the Title IX Coordinator will address any remedies owed by the University to the Respondent to ensure no effective denial of educational access.

The University will maintain the privacy of any long-term remedies/actions/measures, provided privacy does not impair the University’s ability to provide these services.
8.15.5  Failure to Comply with Sanctions/Remedies/Responsive Actions

All Respondents are expected to comply with the assigned sanctions, responsive actions, and/or corrective actions within the timeframe specified by the final Decision-maker(s) (including the AVPSD).

Failure to abide by the sanction(s)/action(s) imposed by the date specified, whether by refusal, neglect, or any other reason, may result in additional sanction(s)/action(s), including suspension, expulsion, and/or termination from the University.

A suspension will only be lifted when compliance is achieved to the satisfaction of the Title IX Coordinator.
8.16 Recordkeeping

University will maintain for a period of at least seven years records of:

1. Each sexual harassment investigation including any determination regarding responsibility and any audio or audiovisual recording or transcript required under federal regulation;

2. Any disciplinary sanctions imposed on the Respondent;

3. Any remedies provided to the Complainant designed to restore or preserve equal access to the University’s education program or activity;

4. Any appeal and the result therefrom;

5. Any Informal Resolution and the result therefrom;

6. All materials used to train Title IX Coordinators, Investigators, Decision-makers, and any person who facilitates an Informal Resolution process. University will make these training materials publicly available on University’s website.

7. Any actions, including any supportive measures, taken in response to a report or formal complaint of sexual harassment, including:
   a. The basis for all conclusions that the response was not deliberately indifferent;
   b. Any measures designed to restore or preserve equal access to the University’s education program or activity; and
   c. If no supportive measures were provided to the Complainant, document the reasons why such a response was not clearly unreasonable in light of the known circumstances.

University will also maintain any and all records in accordance with state and federal laws.
Gannon reserves the right to make changes to this document as necessary, and once those changes are posted online, they are in effect. This policy supersedes any previous policy(ies) addressing harassment, sexual misconduct, and/or retaliation.

Gannon shall review this policy annually and with appropriate University approval, revise as necessary.

During the resolution process, the Title IX Coordinator may make minor modifications to related procedures that do not materially jeopardize the fairness owed to any party. The Title IX Coordinator may also vary procedures materially with notice (on the institutional website, with the appropriate effective date identified) upon determining that changes to law or regulation require policy or procedural alterations not reflected in this policy and procedures.

If government laws or regulations change – or court decisions alter – the requirements in a way that impacts this document, this document will be construed to comply with the most recent government regulations or holdings. This document does not create legally enforceable protections beyond the protection of the background state and federal laws which frame such policies and codes, generally.

This policy is effective August 14, 2020
